

Fred Dewey is in Waterloo.

S. E. Turner spent the day last Wednesday in Dubuque.

Miss Joe Powers visited Elder friends several days last week.

R. A. Kelly, of Webster City, is visiting old acquaintances here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Patten are entertaining Mrs. E. J. Deal, of Charleston, Missouri.

Thos. W. Robinson is again actively engaged in buying horses for the eastern market.

Mrs. Williams, of Milwaukee, is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Geo. Hatch, in this city.

Joe Taylor, Waterloo, spent a few days the latter part of the week with friends in this city.

Wm. Hanel of Coleburg was in the city one day last week visiting his cousin, Jno. Morley.

Henry Zbor, of Adams, transacted business in this city Friday, and was among the welcome callers at this office.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Anders and Mrs. A's father, J. J. Burdett, spent Friday last in their former home, Earlville.

Miss Florence Day returned last week from her visit in Des Moines with Deputy Auditor and Mrs. Chas. H. Day.

Robt. Fiebel, county sheriff, and F. B. Blair, county attorney, were in Masonville Friday last on business official.

The Quaker Mill Co. in its advertisement gives the reasons why everyone in this county should use the flour made at its mill.

A special meeting of Manchester Lodge A. F. and A. M. this week Friday evening. The attendance of each member is requested.

The Reporter predicts that there will be a hot time in Ryan on February 15th, the day fixed for deciding the incorporation question.

Mrs. J. Ross Cameron was in the city last week visiting relatives and friends. She returned Wednesday to her home in Strawberry Point.

Mr. S. Grovo has been appointed general advertising agent of the C. G. W. Ry., vice Geo. H. Mead who has resigned to engage in other business.

Frank J. Whitney has sold his residence property on Main street to Thomas Wilson, of Onondia. The consideration paid by the purchaser was $2,750.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fie, of Hazel Green, were in town Saturday. They have rented their farm and will become residents of this city about March 1st.

W. J. Bowen and son, Richard, were in Nashua a part of last week on business connected with the Woolen Mills at that place, recently purchased by Mr. Bowen.

Many items of local interest have been crowded out of this issue of the Democrat. We couldn't very well print on the margin and that was all the space there was left.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Phillip spent Tuesday last week in Earlville with Mr. Phillip's parents. Geo's father, who has been very ill for several months is about the same at this writing.

M. F. LeRoy, A. J. Collinge, and O. A. Dunham are in Newton, Iowa, attending the Millant Council, I. O. O. F., the last named gentleman being a member of the commandery staff.

Mrs. Harriet E. Rollins visited her sister, Mrs. Hadley, and other relatives, a guest in the A. C. Phillip home, in Manchester last week, returning to her home in Dubuque Wednesday evening.

Ralph Dumont, engineer on the Omaha Division Illinois Central, was in the city last week visiting his mother and other relatives and friends. Mr. Dumont makes his home at Dennison, Iowa.

Cal. Martin attended "What Happened to Jones" as played in Independence last week Wednesday evening. Mr. Martin had a friend in the cast of the Company giving the play in Independence.

Mrs. G. W. Drybread, of Emmetsburg, and daughter, Mrs. Geo. Staehle, jr., of Earlville, were guests last week in the John Malven home in this city. Mrs. Drybread and our happy-go-lucky Deputy Sheriff are sister and brother.

The following letters for the week ending January 29th, remain unclaimed for at the post office in Manchester: Mrs. Jennie Egan, Mrs. Samuel Pat, Mrs. Hornbush, Miss Rowle E. Dunne, C. H. Robinson, Dr. C. W. Roberts, A. C. Roberts.

Last week Wm. Ball sold his eighty acre farm in Delhi township to Frank J. and Henrietta C. Stoddard for $4,880, or 861 per acre. Mr. Ball has bought the C. B. Lont residence property in Delaware, and will hereafter make that place his home, and enjoy the rest that long years of toil entitle him to.

Henry Peters, who was the efficient night clerk of our popular hostelry, the Clarence House, resigned his position, the resignation taking effect last Friday. Mr. Peters and his wife visited over Sunday with friends in Yankee Settlement, returning here the first of the week. They will depart the latter part of the week for Milwaukee, where Henry's parents reside.

A change in the proprietorship of the M. & O. Lunch counter was among the business transactions of last week. Ed Luther selling to Geo. Ferguson, until recently the proprietor of the Commercial House on the west side. Mr. Luther departed the first of the week for Kingsley, Iowa, where he will be the guest of his sister, his plans for the future to be formulated after his visit.

The Greeley Home Press says: Sheriff Fiebel was "down" from the county seat yesterday. "Bob," in answer to the question whether he would again make the race for sheriff, said: "It all depends on the decision of the Supreme Court whether it will be necessary, but if there is a primary and election, I will be a candidate." We do not think the gentleman will have any opposition but if he should it be of small consequence as Bob has made a splendid record.

Miss Alderson was a Manchester business visitor from Strawberry Point Monday.

Mrs. H. L. Graham returned Saturday from a visit of several days with friends in Mt. Pleasant.

Frank C. Groves has taken the position of night clerk of the Clarence house in the place of Henry Peters.

Regular Meeting of Olive Branch R. A. M. No. 48 this Wednesday evening. All members should attend.

The Minaret Company, who have promised us a rattling good performance some time in March, are beginning their practice this week.

Joe. Edwards, and employ in the A. Miller barbering house, is laid up from work by a badly sprained wrist. Will Dewey is working in his stead.

Mrs. Shady who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Thos. Oliver, on Franklin street, is lying very low as we go to press. Tuberculosis is the complaint.

Miss Stella Spears, of Westgate, is a charming guest in the A. D. Brown home in this city. Miss Spears arrived Saturday and will remain through the week.

Joe. Odenbaugh, formerly of the O. K. barber shop in this city, departed for Dundee Monday morning. He will establish a barber shop of his own in that little town.

Secretary Champion and Physical Director Newton, of the Independence Y. M. C. A., and Will Jarne, vice of that city, were spectators at the game Friday evening between Dubuque and Manchester.

Those who heard Monday night the Carter de Haven Company playing at Central opera house the first three nights of this week, were well pleased. The singing is especially attractive and all in all the raucous is rarely entertaining.

Michael Halsey has rented his farm and will remove to this city about March 1st. Next Wednesday he will dispose of his cattle, horses, hay, grain, farming utensils, etc., at auction full particulars of which will be found in another column.

The two basket ball teams playing Friday evening last, were right royally entertained at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Kennedy after the game. The guests were served light refreshments and the evening was spent in a happy interchange of anecdotes and in various games.

Revel meetings began at the Baptist church Sunday evening. Rev. W. P. Canine, of New Hampton, will assist the pastor, A. W. Cull, in the meetings. There will be good preaching, good music and interesting meetings. The public are cordially invited. The meetings will begin each evening at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ford hospitably entertained the members of the T. D. W. club last Thursday evening. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ford, other than club members, were Mr. and Mrs. Will Hogan, Mr. Fred Cary, and Miss Myrtle Whitney. A dainty supper was served at the conclusion of the usual games, and the T. D. W.'s have their host and hostess to thank for a very delightful special evening.

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Hipfield, while attending a delightful gathering of friends at the Paddock home in this city last Tuesday evening, were visited by a majority of their parishioners, and when the Reverend gentleman and his clergy wife returned they found they were receiving a severe pounding at the hands and hearts of their congregation. Pounds of everything, even dress goods, were presented to the pastor and Mrs. Hipfield and later in the evening, an oyster supper supplied the immediate necessities of the inner man.

Percy Langridge has accepted the position lately filled in the Hiddell & Co. store by E. A. Atwater, the latter having resigned to enter business it is likely for himself. Mr. Langridge and family have moved here from Maquoket, and will occupy the McIntosh house on Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Langridge are both well known here. Mrs. Langridge being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Holmes, and this was their former home, so they are coming among warm personal friends in their removal to Manchester.

Last Wednesday Mrs. C. Belknap entertained the Four Leaf Clover Club at half past one o'clock luncheon in honor of her mother, Mrs. Magill of Clinton, Illinois. Mrs. Belknap in no wise allowed her reputation as an extraordinarily capable cook suffer and the dinner was of the best. The afternoon was spent in the manner of the Clover Club members and was of unusual pleasure. Those sitting at table with the hostess and guest of honor were Mrs. Preussner, Mrs. Pirrell, Mrs. Atwater, Mrs. Waugh, Mrs. Clemans, Mrs. Kenyon, Mrs. Losh, Mrs. Livingston, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Wittout.

Mrs. Mary B. Richmond died at her home in Earlville last Sunday morning of heart failure at the age of 85 years, 5 months and 4 days. Her maiden name was Mary B. Brooks. She was born in Madison county, New York, August 29, 1815; was united in marriage with Joseph H. Richmond, in 1839; they came to this county and settled on a farm near Earlville. Mr. Richmond died several years ago and since then Mrs. Richmond has resided in Earlville. She was the mother of seven children, only two of whom survive her—Mr. M. L. B. Richmond, of this city, and Mrs. C. S. Barrie, of Earlville. The funeral services will be held this (Wednesday) afternoon at the late residence of the deceased.

A jovial bob load of passengers from this city with tooting horns and merry song stormed the Sherman Harbison Castle, six miles south west of town Monday night. Due warning had been sent the prospective host and hostess and the guests were warmly welcomed at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Harris. The evening hours were spent in song services and at the gaming tables. The younger members also indulged in the usual childish amusements and a happier crowd of young people would have been hard to find. A palatable oyster supper was announced at twelve, after which a social visit kept the guests until the morning hour of one when the bob again filled and homeward bound was the watchword.

Saturday was Candlemas day.

E. Hutcheson went to Winthrop Thursday for piano tuning business.

That is an unique advertisement that Wells and Eldridge have in this issue.

This week Friday night the Entrens club members danced in Pythian Castle.

H. R. Eaton advertises a special blanket and robe sale at reduced prices for this week. See his local.

Roy Morse, of Coggon, attended the basket ball game here Friday, returning Saturday morning to his work.

Miss Taylor returned to her home in Golden after her visit here in the home of Alvin Clark and wife.

Miss Lannie Warren, of Dyersville, spent Sunday with Miss Mattie Smith, of this city, returning home Sunday evening.

Joe. Hutchinson and E. M. Carr were Chicago business visitors last week the former returning Friday and the latter Saturday evening.

Miss Jessie Russell visited relatives and friends here a few days last week, returning to Lenox College duties Tuesday of this week.

February 14th is St. Valentines day, and Kalamity announces that as usual he is prepared for it, and you can be by calling at the Plunder store.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hutchinson will entertain a limited number of friends laterally tonight, the occasion being the fifth anniversary of their marriage.

J. K. Dennis, of Red Oak, who has been visiting in this city during the week past, a guest in the Col. Miles home, departed yesterday for his home.

Mrs. C. E. Segar returned the first of the week from a winter visit in the nation's capital city of Washington. Enroute home she spent a few days with Dubuque relatives and friends.

Walter Sedgwick spends today (Wednesday) in Central City completing his final arrangements for embarking in the mercantile business in that place. The family will not move to Central City until the first of March.

The Rathbone ladies are to have an evening especially attractive this (Wednesday) evening. The committee have made great preparations for the entertainment of their comrade Rathbones, and the meeting is an assured success.

Lawrence Lattimer came over Saturday last from Sterling, Illinois, where he has employment in a newspaper office, for a few days visit with home relatives and friends. He returned Tuesday morning to his work in Sterling.

At a recent cattle sale in Kansas City, F. H. Carothers of Adams township this county bought several head of Herefords. For Lucretia and her calf he paid $550, for Lizzie and calf $700, Lady Stradellan $800 and for Sparkie $205.

Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Malven are entertaining a aunt of Mrs. Malven, Mrs. Geo. Stanton, and daughter, of Davenport. Mr. Stanton was here over Sunday also but left Monday evening for Waterloo, where the Company for which he travels has his home office.

W. A. Roe, a former resident of this city and well known hereabout, and who is now a traveling salesman for the Rock Falls Mfg. Co. of Sterling, Illinois, slipped on the pavement in that city last Saturday and in his fall sustained a dislocation of one shoulder. His friends here will be sorry to hear of this and hope that Mr. Roe will not be confined long by the accident.

A party of fourteen young people from here went merry making nine miles into the country Saturday evening. The home of Miss Ora Cates was the objective point of interest, and a jolly evening was spent under her guidance. Those present were: Blanch Lawrence, Susie Con, Belle Young, Alice Walters, Gertrude Leman, Agnes Warner, Hilma Johnson, Mable Waters, Harry Austin, Ira Cunningham, Frank Belknap, Willard Colttam, Charlie Mead, Fred and Earl Taber.

Miss Katherine Goddell and Miss Florence Atwater, teachers in the first and second grades of the Central school, chaperoned a bobbing party of their little pupils last Thursday afternoon. School was dismissed at half past three and the youngsters, well wrapped and bundled, with merry glee piled into two big bobs provided and for over an hour the old town rang cheerily with the children's fun. At five they had all been delivered at their respective homes. Sacks of popcorn helped to enliven the hour and Master Charley Malven also treated his companions to a liberal outlay of fancy candies.

Agricultural Society.

It has been decided to hold our next county fair from Sept. 14 to 27th inclusive. The Secretary's salary for the year has been fixed at $100.

The Superintendents of the various divisions are C. E. Sager; Superintendent of grounds; H. R. Robinson, tickets; O. C. Clark, track; M. D. Hutson, marshal; T. Wilson, Div. A; horses; R. D. Graham, B, cattle; Jasper King, C, part 1, sheep; Wm. Crookes, C, part 2, swine; J. A. Morse, D, fruits etc.; L. G. Clute, E and G, art hall; H. F. Sabin, F, poultry and machinery.

Entry fees and passes in all classes and divisions except speed department and booth holders have been abolished. The premium list has been revised by a committee consisting of L. G. Clute, R. D. Graham and O. C. Clark.

From the South Land.

Bloom, Miss, Jan. 30, 1901.

Manchester Democrat.

Will you please send our paper to this place until further notice.

Undoubtedly you thought when opening the envelope containing this that, well, here's another one of A. M.'s money fish yarns, and I'm sorry to disappoint you, but as we have been very busy since our arrival here Monday night, I haven't had a chance to give "try 'n' luck." May be able to give you a bonker later on. We found Mrs. E. Hoag and grandson, Ned, and the A. A. Anderson family all well, and we are now enjoying the Gulf "summer breezes" in January. We are located within 200 feet of the beach and have a splendid view of the Gulf to the south, no land being in sight in that direction, except in a very bright clear day we can see the outlines of ships and Cats Islands. Wishing more of our Manchester friends were here to enjoy these pleasures with us, I am yours truly

A. M. HERWOOD.

Manchester vs. Dubuque.

The Y. M. C. A. basket ball team was defeated at Manchester Friday evening by a score of 12 to 9. A crowd of three hundred witnessed the game and made the walls of the Central opera house ring from the start to the finish by their constant cheering. In comparing the teams on their merits, Dubuque was as good as their opponents, but they were at a great disadvantage on account of playing in a strange hall and also appearing before a hostile audience. A feature of the game that made it unpleasant for the spectators was the continuous fouling and rough playing practiced by both sides, especially Manchester. The umpires were much to blame for this, as they allowed foul after foul without penalizing the team making them.

The game started in a good lively manner, both teams playing hard, and after two minutes Manchester scored their first goal. Shortly afterward Hansen fouled and Ibach scored one point. The game continued through for first half until Manchester struck the score up to 9 to 6. The second half was characterized by vicious and hard playing. Manchester incidentally took the lead and ran the score up to 12 to 9. The game ended in a tie, 12 to 12. During the latter part of this half there was a mixup which might have ended seriously if it had not been for the prompt action of the officials. Stoppage of the game was made by the referee, and it slipped from under them. At the same time, Hansen fouled and Ibach scored their first goal. Hansen fouled and Ibach scored their first goal. Hansen fouled and Ibach scored their first goal.

The basketball game at Manchester Friday night, when the local Y. M. C. A. was defeated by a score of 12 to 9, was a very interesting one. The incident connected therewith was a somewhat unusual one. The referee, who was a local Y. M. C. A. gymnast Saturday. That the Dubuque team and those who accompanied them are disgraced is being put mildly. They report that no such disgraceful treatment was ever accorded a visiting team in this city during the week past, a guest in the Col. Miles home, departed yesterday for his home.

Mrs. C. E. Segar returned the first of the week from a winter visit in the nation's capital city of Washington. Enroute home she spent a few days with Dubuque relatives and friends.

Walter Sedgwick spends today (Wednesday) in Central City completing his final arrangements for embarking in the mercantile business in that place. The family will not move to Central City until the first of March.

The Rathbone ladies are to have an evening especially attractive this (Wednesday) evening. The committee have made great preparations for the entertainment of their comrade Rathbones, and the meeting is an assured success.

Lawrence Lattimer came over Saturday last from Sterling, Illinois, where he has employment in a newspaper office, for a few days visit with home relatives and friends. He returned Tuesday morning to his work in Sterling.

At a recent cattle sale in Kansas City, F. H. Carothers of Adams township this county bought several head of Herefords. For Lucretia and her calf he paid $550, for Lizzie and calf $700, Lady Stradellan $800 and for Sparkie $205.

Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Malven are entertaining a aunt of Mrs. Malven, Mrs. Geo. Stanton, and daughter, of Davenport. Mr. Stanton was here over Sunday also but left Monday evening for Waterloo, where the Company for which he travels has his home office.

W. A. Roe, a former resident of this city and well known hereabout, and who is now a traveling salesman for the Rock Falls Mfg. Co. of Sterling, Illinois, slipped on the pavement in that city last Saturday and in his fall sustained a dislocation of one shoulder. His friends here will be sorry to hear of this and hope that Mr. Roe will not be confined long by the accident.

A party of fourteen young people from here went merry making nine miles into the country Saturday evening. The home of Miss Ora Cates was the objective point of interest, and a jolly evening was spent under her guidance. Those present were: Blanch Lawrence, Susie Con, Belle Young, Alice Walters, Gertrude Leman, Agnes Warner, Hilma Johnson, Mable Waters, Harry Austin, Ira Cunningham, Frank Belknap, Willard Colttam, Charlie Mead, Fred and Earl Taber.

Miss Katherine Goddell and Miss Florence Atwater, teachers in the first and second grades of the Central school, chaperoned a bobbing party of their little pupils last Thursday afternoon. School was dismissed at half past three and the youngsters, well wrapped and bundled, with merry glee piled into two big bobs provided and for over an hour the old town rang cheerily with the children's fun. At five they had all been delivered at their respective homes. Sacks of popcorn helped to enliven the hour and Master Charley Malven also treated his companions to a liberal outlay of fancy candies.

Agricultural Society.

It has been decided to hold our next county fair from Sept. 14 to 27th inclusive. The Secretary's salary for the year has been fixed at $100.

The Superintendents of the various divisions are C. E. Sager; Superintendent of grounds; H. R. Robinson, tickets; O. C. Clark, track; M. D. Hutson, marshal; T. Wilson, Div. A; horses; R. D. Graham, B, cattle; Jasper King, C, part 1, sheep; Wm. Crookes, C, part 2, swine; J. A. Morse, D, fruits etc.; L. G. Clute, E and G, art hall; H. F. Sabin, F, poultry and machinery.

Entry fees and passes in all classes and divisions except speed department and booth holders have been abolished. The premium list has been revised by a committee consisting of L. G. Clute, R. D. Graham and O. C. Clark.

From the South Land.

Bloom, Miss, Jan. 30, 1901.

Manchester Democrat.

Will you please send our paper to this place until further notice.

Undoubtedly you thought when opening the envelope containing this that, well, here's another one of A. M.'s money fish yarns, and I'm sorry to disappoint you, but as we have been very busy since our arrival here Monday night, I haven't had a chance to give "try 'n' luck." May be able to give you a bonker later on. We found Mrs. E. Hoag and grandson, Ned, and the A. A. Anderson family all well, and we are now enjoying the Gulf "summer breezes" in January. We are located within 200 feet of the beach and have a splendid view of the Gulf to the south, no land being in sight in that direction, except in a very bright clear

Teachers' Normal Institute.

The Delaware County Teachers' Normal Institute convened in the Court Room in this city Saturday last, the session being called to order at ten o'clock by the president, H. J. Still, of the Earlville school.

A song opened the program, after which still spoke of the changes on the program and the necessity of making it of interest to some who were on the program.

Attention was then turned to the subject, "Moral Training of Young Children" as outlined by R. W. Moore, of Manchester, who emphasized the importance of this training in our schools, it is a branch not taught enough. The average teacher reports that this provision calls for more time than the curriculum allows. A thorough preparation of the youth for a life complete and finished, Man has a physical, a mental and a moral nature, and the development of the mental to the exclusion of the physical and moral natures will not be a fulfillment of a teacher's duty. As the teacher is morally sound, the child will be morally sound. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem. Cleanliness and tidiness, two things in kind much in the morality of the child, can also be stimulated by example. The teacher should always be open to the possibility of being wrong. The child should be taught to forgive, not to obey through fear because it is right. This quality order and law. Kindness and control should be instilled into the child's character. In this day when the mother with her ethics and societies, her charities and her social life, is almost entirely responsible for bringing up her child to the shoulders of the teacher, these things must be carefully weighed. Honesty is an essential in the pupil, and without a teacher who is honest, the child will become a grave problem.