A letter received yesterday from Mrs. C. H. Day by a relative here says her husband is better and "now it certainly looks as if he is going to get well. His mind is now clear and he sits up all day. His physician thinks the improvement is only temporary, but I am quite sure he is mistaken."

Will S. Beels, of the Leader, will soon assume aldermanic proportions. He has been nominated, and will of course be elected, a member of the town council of Hopkinton. Ed. Raymond, the Beels, a former member of the Democrat force, is an alderman of Independence, a suburb of the Dairy City.

Pierce one of the best known men in the county, and thoroughly conversant with the business, has been secured by Mr. Hamlin to assist him in the business.

Mr. Abner Dunham, of Manchester, was in Dubuque last night to confer with Capt. L. M. Langstaff, chairman of the state G. A. R. encampment committee. Mr. Dunham is president of the Twelfth Iowa Infantry association and his visit here was to arrange for holding a reunion of the veterans of the regiment in Dubuque in connection with the state G. A. R. encampment in June. Capt. Langstaff assured Mr. Dunham that the local committee will do all in their power towards making the visitors comfortable. This shows that much interest in the encampment is manifested by the old soldiers of the state, and nearly all of them will attend.—Dubuque Herald.

Patrons of the rural free delivery routes should be on the lookout for the gang of swindlers, referred to in a circular issued by the postoffice department which says in part, that "information has reached the postoffice department that a gang of swindlers have been traveling about the country, over the rural free delivery routes, representing themselves as inspectors. Their scheme is to pretend to inspect rural free delivery mail boxes and demand from the patrons the sum of $5 or $4. Patrons should turn a deaf ear to such designing schemes and report such conduct to the postmaster. As a general rule the impostors have confined their operations to the patrons of routes recently established. As the patrons are not familiar with the requirements they are easily led to believe that it is necessary to pay the rental."

A. E. Peterson, of Manchester, as will be seen by his card elsewhere, is announced as a candidate for the nomination for treasurer at the May primaries. Mr. Peterson is a member of the firm of Peterson Bros., grocers at Manchester and there is not a man in the county who is better qualified for the office. He is not only an upright and straightforward citizen but a thorough and progressive business man who enjoys the acquaintance and confidence of a wide circle of friends throughout the county. His candidacy is bound to meet with a cordial response from the districts where he is best known, and even in other parts where his reputation will recommend him now that his name is in the field. He is a staunch republican, has served on the city council at Manchester with credit to himself and the city, but has never been a seeker for office before this. Years of personal acquaintance with Mr. Peterson enables the writer to vouch for his integrity and ability, and if he should be successful among the field of good men there will be no cause for apprehension as to the proper conduct of the affairs of the office.—Hopkinton Leader.

For several years past Dyer ville has been more or less bothered with a large number of Manchester people who come down here to quench their thirst. The drug stores at that place have always sold liquor for medicine, but now that has been stopped and we suppose that the saloonkeepers here will do a wholesale business with the boys up the road.—News Letter.

We call attention to a statement, in another column, by Mr. C. E. Smith in which he makes right an unintentional wrong. It is not always an easy thing to say "I am wrong." But when a man becomes convinced of it and goes about it as Mr. Smith has done to right it, such action can not fail to convince even the skeptical that back of it all lies the principle of true manhood.

George E. Lee, of Collins Grove, and Miss Lois Smith were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John N. An Observer suggests to the readers of the New Hampton Courier, that "if some stranger comes with a load of flaming mills or a bunch of lightning rods and wants to store them in your barn for a short time only," as the house for which he is working had and deny called him in, just let him put them there, and sign a receipt for the goods so that the stranger can show the house where the goods are. Soon after, your note will be notified in time where to find your note when it is due. You will then be owner of the goods and can sell them at your own price."

It is reported that Robt. Hewitt, until recently in the employ of F. C. Flint on his dry line in this city, is in duance vile at Cleveland, Ohio, charged with bigamy. Report says that some years ago he married a daughter of Mrs. Margaret Williams, and that afterwards, while that marriage remained in force he married his mother-in-law and came with her to this city, where they lived together as husband and wife for two or three years. Last fall they returned to Cleveland and his first wife had him arrested on the charge above stated. The latter part of the afternoon was spent in the impromptu program of songs and recitations in which several of the older members were kind enough to take part.

The entertainment given by the Junior League of the Baptist church in their house of worship last Friday evening was well received by a full house. The little folks surely acquitted themselves in a manner befitting older minds and we predict the ability displayed is evidence of useful citizenship in the future. Special mention is made of the rendering of the solo by Lloyd Ballard, the instrumental music by Florence Tunis, the duet by Alice and Angi Pierce and the recitations by Arthur Coking, Donna Scothorn, Ruth McIntosh and Chester Langridge. All did well and deserve much praise.

A Correction. Editors, Democrat—Permit me through your columns, to make a statement in regard to testimony given by me in the late cases against the druggists of this city. I testified to the effect, that within the past year I had seen Mr. M. Powers intoxicated. I want to say that I made the statement because I believed it was true and had been sworn to tell the truth. Shortly after this I had conversation with Mr. Powers, at which time, in a very kindly and gentlemanly manner he told me he was sure I had mistaken another man, a relative of his, who in very many ways resembled himself, for him. I promised to investigate the matter, I have done so and am convinced that it was a case of mistaken identity. I am very sorry that I have done Mr. Powers this injustice and take this method to make right what I have made wrong. Having had no feeling in this matter I make the correction most cheerfully and gladly.

Very Respectfully, C. E. Smith.

Another Railroad Victim. Friday afternoon the trainmen on freight train No. 91, which arrived here about three o'clock, reported the finding of the remains of a man on the railroad track near Potter's crossing, 3 1/2 miles east of this city. Coroner Lawrence and Sheriff Fishel were notified and immediately proceeded to the scene of the accident.

From papers found on the dead man it was learned that his name was Henry Gollnick and that he had formerly been in the employ of Ed Catron on the latter farm near Almor.

When last seen Mr. Gollnick was in a bad state of intoxication and it is thought that he fell and was unable to regain his feet.

Last Wednesday Mr. Gollnick declared his intentions of going to Chicago, but it is supposed that he got no further than Dubuque as his relatives in Chicago had seen nothing of him and a card of a Dubuque hotel was found in his pocket. When he left Mr. Catron's he had $54 in his possession of which but 50 cents was found on the body.

Mr. Gollnick had agreed to go to work for Tom Evans in Collins Grove township last Monday morning, and it is supposed he was on his way there when he met his death. The remains were brought to this city and his father and brother-in-law of Chicago notified, who arrived here Sunday and returned Monday with the body to Chicago where interment will be made.

At the inquest the engineer on 91 testified that he saw the man lying on the track but thinking the object to be a pile of clinders did not slow down until it was too late to stop the train before the engine and several cars had passed over the body completely severing the head, left arm and one leg. The train was separated and he and the crew removed the remains and placed them in the position found by the coroner.

The jury found "that Gollnick came to his death by being run over by an Illinois Central train through no negligence of the employees."

The Injunction Cases. The cases brought against the druggists of this city to enjoin them from selling intoxicating liquors have been settled, the defendants having surrendered their permits and paid the costs. Evidence on the part of the plaintiffs was taken in three of the four cases, and while no intentional violation of law was proven, yet in each case in which evidence was taken, technical violations may have been shown. Any one familiar with the statutes of this state as interpreted by the supreme court, knows that it is practically impossible for a person to sell liquors very long without technically and unknowingly violating the law, and we do not except from this statement the plaintiffs, however good temperance men they may be. The general rule is that an intent to do wrong must be shown before punishment will be inflicted for the violation of a criminal statute, but this rule has been abrogated in this state as to violations of the laws relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors. It is possible that as these cases were brought on the equity side of the dock it, the court might have disregarded technicalities, yet in view of the evident intent of the prosecutors to push the cases regardless of costs, the defendants felt that it would be financial ruin for them to attempt to make further defense, and that under all the circumstances their best interests would be subserved by complying with the demands and terms imposed by the committee. Messrs. A. W. Gaul, C. A. Highfield and C. E. Smith, who represented the nominal plaintiffs.

A Pioneer Gone. Mr. Paul Steger died at the family home on the farm in Bremen township on Tuesday morning, March 12, 1901, of old age.

Mr. Steger was born at Klein-schwand, Bavaria, Germany, August 8, 1825, and was therefore a little over seventy-five years old. He came with his parents to America in 1846, and after living in St. Louis a year, the family moved to near Centralia, this county, where they settled on a farm. He was married in 1853 at Centralia, to Miss Katie Schuster who died in 1860, and soon after was married to Miss Maggie Nachtmann. In 1866 they moved onto their farm in Bremen township where they since resided.

The deceased was one of the pioneers of this vicinity, was a thorough christian and a devoted husband and father and as a citizen he was highly esteemed for his many characteristics, honesty and integrity. The bereaved family has the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.—Dyersville Commercial.

DANGEROUS FAKES. Tricks to Introduce Alum Baking Powders which should be Exposed.

There has recently been attempted at some of our grocery stores, and also at dwelling houses, by agents who are trying to sell alum baking powders, what the exhibitors call a baking powder test.

This pretend to show by some boiling test that their cream of tartar baking powder contains something which every woman of intelligence knows they do not.

It does not need a chemist to expose this trick. Cream of tartar, which is the chief constituent of the best and most wholesome baking powder, is originally a clear, white crystal. This is ground into a fine, creamy flour, in which form, mixed with baking soda, it is present in the baking powder. Cream of tartar, when mixed with water and boiled simply returns to its crystalline form, and that is all there is to the so-called test.

The matter of special interest to the public is to know what these people offer in place of cream of tartar powder of well-known purity and established reputation against which these slanders are directed. They are offering a baking powder which official analyses have repeatedly shown is made from alum, a drug so well recognized by physicians and scientists as injurious to health that in many countries its use in bread is entirely prohibited! So cheap and inferior are the ingredients of this powder that it costs to make less than three cents a pound. No prudent housewife will knowingly put such stuff as this into her food.

A suit for $10,000 damages has recently been brought against a Pittsburg dealer who sold an article which injured the health of the purchaser. It is a question how far the grocer's responsibility goes who grants the use of his premises for the sale of goods by deceptive practices. Certainly he cannot by so doing otherwise than discredit his business methods generally in the minds of his patrons.

MILES BANK IN A BAD WAY. Missing Cashier Now Charged with Forgery Aggregating $100,000.

Niles, Mich., March 14.—The directors of the suspended First National bank yesterday filed a declaration against Charles A. Johnson, the missing cashier of the bank, alleging that forgeries amounting to $100,000 against leading citizens of this county have been committed by him. It was found that there was great quantity of forged paper held by the institution. Bank Examiner Selden filed papers with the county clerk at St. Joseph, attaching all of Johnson's property, but it will not cover the shortage by many thousands. No trace of Johnson has been discovered.

Of the forged paper found $20,000 was against T. L. Wilkinson, of St. Joseph, a member of the abstract firm Dick & Wilkinson, which did a large business with the bank. So many local manufacturers and business firms are embarrassed by the suspension of the bank's affairs he settled up with all possible speed.

Columbus, O., March 18.—Charles A. Johnson, cashier of the First National bank of Niles, Mich., was arrested here on a charge of working that institution. He was placed in the emergency hospital at the police station because of his physical condition. He was surprised at his arrest, but promptly confessed his guilt and expressed a desire to return to Michigan as soon as possible. He is badly broken in health, much emaciated and very nervous, due partly to the severe nervous strain of the last ten days and partly to excess in drinking.

The injured: Stephen Collins, proprietor of the hotel, both legs badly burned, deep burn in neck; burned about face and arms, condition very serious, but not necessarily fatal; W. B.
