Keagy, Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey, the Mesdames Cornelia Atwater and Rebecca Carpenter and Miss May Denton.

—The announcement by D. F. Hennessey that he will retire from the livery business about October 1st comes as a surprise to his friends and will be regretted by those who have long patronized his stable. The building occupied by him was last week sold to Messrs. John Hetherington and Reuben Pinch, who we understand do not intend to engage in the livery business having bought the barn only as a good investment as rentable property.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dutton departed Tuesday for North Dakota, where Mr. Dutton has a business proposition in view. Should they like it there, they will remain permanently.

—Three marriage licenses were issued during the past week, G. A. Logan and Josephine Kinniry, Alfred B. Sloan and Jennie B. Cooper, Andrew Fessler and Mary Papke being the applicants therefor.

—There will be no services in the Congregational church next Sunday, owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. Tuttle, on his summer vacation. However, the Sunday following, regular Sabbath services will be resumed.

—Mr. and Mrs. Sherm Harris are entertaining this Tuesday evening at their home south of town, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Trask. A "great big time" is anticipated as the Harris home is noted for its pleasurable entertainments.

—Letters addressed to Mrs. Katharine Barchy, Mrs. Miny Dage, Mrs. Hattie Myers, Mrs. M. Reed, Mrs. Sweeney, Miss Besse Allen, Chas. Eodler (2), Lawrence O'Meara and J. W. Harkness are advertised as unclaimed at the post office.

—Last Wednesday Roy Cooley sold his grocery stock to Wm. Laferty. Mr. Laferty has been clerk in the grocery store for a number of years and understands the business so thoroughly that he doubtless will meet to the fullest, the expectations of his friends for a successful business.

—The Misses Grace and Faye Ford were gracious hostesses last Friday evening to a party of twelve, the Misses Rigby and Wilson being the honored guests. Three tables of whist were "quartered" off and those enjoying the hospitality of the Misses Ford report a most pleasant evening.

—One of the little girls who came out with the children from Chicago has received a letter from her father saying that she may stay until cold weather. She is a remarkably sweet child about ten years of age and although she is no way an invalid and she has been a great comfort in the home she entered here. Anyone desiring to take her for the remainder of the summer will get the best of references. Apply to the Committee, Helen Grainger, Nina Carhart, or Lillian Terrill.

—A number of the young people of our city who are, at the same time, old enough to know better have been spending their nights lately—or at least a night of each week—in a home of some one member of the company. The dawn of day has been the only thing that could bring to any of them even a passing memory of home and breakfast is always eaten before departures are taken. Such all night visitations have been made upon the Mesdames J. W. Lewis and E. N. Wolcott, and last Thursday evening about twenty of the Owl met about previous invitation upon the part of the hostess, with Mrs. H. H. Lawrence. The perpetrator had a previous engagement with a small company being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Steadman but she was called home, introduced to her kindly intended friends and was finally persuaded that her hospitable presence was needed more at home than abroad. Six handed euchre was played; prizes being awarded for most games won. The writer, who, because of the marvelous science displayed by such of her partners as Geo. Storey et al. was enabled to receive with perfect equanimity and clear conscience the magnificent sum of fourteen punches. Neck and neck and pushing the leader hard, the Mesdames G. W. Storey and H. M. Bradley displayed thirteen vacant periods in their respective cards and upon a cut the prize fell to the first named. A banquet was served in the midst of these festivities, from the epicurean quality and quantity of which, together with the services of the doctors in attendance, no one of the guests have yet recovered enough to know just what happened before or has occurred since. Suffice it to say that each member, male and female, of the Owl aggregation will avoid with suspicion any advances that portend a "nigger in the bush" about their immediate premises though we presume to state no grunting club would be organized to do away with the nigger even were he found lurking about their respective homestead as stated.

Thursday the 27th will be the day of special interest to residents of this city and vicinity, as the Manchester ball team will play the Cedar Rapids team on that day and a special train has been arranged for.

—A keg of beer was the cause of a serious misunderstanding last Saturday night. It seems the trouble brewed from the loss of a keg by John Sawyer, Fred Helrich and Price Houser. They suspected Bert Hockaday and George Simmons of the theft of same and started out on a still hunt after the boys. Upon finding George, they administered a fistic chastisement upon his person so that when they announced their intention of finding Bert and trouncing him also, the young man decided to forestall such a purpose. By a sharp flank movement, he reached Bert first and appraised him of the intended onslaught. Hockaday, who is an M. & O. man, immediately secured the services of John L. Sullivan, who fortunately is the General Traffic Manager of the aforesaid road, and together the two repaired to the chairs in front of the Globe Hotel. Here a little later the enemy found them. Sawyer, who seemed to be the sorest over the loss, attacked Hockaday, and Helrich, who is a bad man from Badville, undertook the job of cleaning out "Sully." We have not been able to ascertain whether the last named gentleman was going on the pugilistic reputation of his name or not, but in justice to him we feel bound to assert that he didn't turn tail and fly until guns, razors and other weapons of a like hue were brought into action by the assailants. The revolvers were taken from Sawyer and Hockaday before any damage was done. Information was filed against the former and at the trial of the case Monday morning before Justice Pearce he plead "not guilty" and was released on a $300 bail to appear Friday morning for the continuance of the trial. The charge is that of carrying concealed weapons.

—"Waving Plumes," the musical hit of the season in an instrumental line, came to our desk Monday and it certainly merits the marked success it has attained as a pleasurable number either as a piano solo, a band piece or an orchestral tune to delight the heart of the dancer. Mr. F. F. Miner is the author of "Waving Plumes."

—The Bulletin-Journal's write-up of the editorial meeting at Mason City, said this: L. W. Chandler, of the Fonda Times, sleek and healthy, read a paper before the meeting on Friday morning on how to increase the circulation of a newspaper. Chan is a good fellow with the Upper Des Moines boys, and was warmly received. Mrs. Chandler was also present to take him home in time for the next issue of his paper. Will Beels, who stood for years at the Conservative and Bulletin cases, now owns the Leader at Hopkinton. He could easily pose for a living picture of success. All questions as to the howness are answered when he introduces his better half. Some men are certainly favored in this world.
