at four mills tax for the educational fund, while in other places a tax of eight, twelve or eighteen mills is being paid, and says that teachers get more than he does now, ought to quit farming and go to teaching. Mr. Clute, we believe it was suggested the non-building of front fences both to lessen expense, and increase loafs. Charley Hoag brought out the fact that something ought to be provided for the little folks playground and so the afternoon was pleasantly and profitably spent by all present who I am sure went away feeling that if this meeting was to be a precedent of others that are to follow in other townships that much needed good will result in the educational circles of Delaware county. Reception for Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Pratt. A reception will be given to Rev. H. O. Pratt and wife in the M. E. church parlors on Wednesday evening Oct. 12th. He promises to send the Democrat a number of other letters descriptive of his trip to the east and none of our readers should miss reading a single one of the series. The Manchester colony at St. Petersburg, Florida, will be composed this winter of James Toogood and the Messers and Mesdames W. H. Hutchinson, Geo. Y. Keiser, Wiley Acers and A. M. Sherwood. While at Biloxi, Mississippi, Mr. and Mrs. William Barr and daughter, Edna, Mesdames E. Hoag, J. J. Hoag, and Mary Bradford will forget the chills of an Iowa winter. Mrs. Webber, who recently came from her home in New York to visit in the home of her cousin, Rev. H. W. Tuttle, in this city, has been very ill and Dr. H. R. Chislett of Chicago was called to assist her attending physician, Dr. P. E. Triem, in an operation this Tuesday morning. Nurse Miss Welch accompanied Dr. Chislett and is caring for the patient who is, we understand, resting easy at this time. The Globe Journal of Dubuque says, "One of the largest and most enthusiastic rallies ever held in this section was that of yesterday at the court house when the people of Manchester and a large number of the farmers from the county heard Congressman Birdsall on the issues of the campaign." Now the fact is that the republican county committee hired a brass band to try to get a crowd, and succeeded in corraling to hear the congressman, only 108 persons, by actual count, and not to exceed fifty of them were voters. It was a clear case of general apathy.

Dyersville-New Vienna R. R. Talk. The construction of the Dyersville New Vienna railroad promises to be the formal beginning of the development of the extensive country surrounding the immediate vicinity of the road. The promoters of the new line have great plans for the future. The road now being built between Dyersville and New Vienna is the first stepping stone in carrying out the plans of wealthy farmers and capitalists, who have long cherished the hope. Although the length will be only six miles it will have as terminal points two of the most flourishing locations in the vicinity. Dyersville is much larger than New Vienna and it is the contention of the New Vienna residents they have been handicapped in the past by lack of direct railroad communication with the outside world. When the plans for the Dyersville-New Vienna road were first discussed several moneyed men of New Vienna saw in the proposed line an opportunity for their town's advancement. The industrious spirit manifested by Jacob Kerper and other residents was to a great extent instrumental in the success of the venture. New Vienna will be the headquarters for the company. It is hopefully anticipated by the managers of the new road the opportunity will be presented soon to extend the line northward from New Vienna to embrace the territory of Georgetown, Holy Cross, Luxemburg and other important villages. Because of the country's wealth it is thought the line would provide a distinct success. The residents in the vicinity of Holy Cross, Luxemburg, and Georgetown are clamoring for the extension. Without railroad connection they are compelled to drive many miles to reach either Dubuque or Dyersville. The senti-
