

... OUR ...

HOG REMEDY

For Worms and Thumps has been used with good results by farmers in this county. Hogs are especially liable to be troubled with worms at this time of the year, on account of being fed on new corn. Hogs in this condition will not do well, but if you will use our Hog Remedy it will remove the worms and the hogs will do much better.

Best for Women and Children.

On account of its mild action and pleasant taste Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup is especially recommended for women and children. It does not nauseate or gripe like pills and ordinary cathartics. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup aids digestion and stimulates the liver and bowels without irritating them. Remember the name ORINO and refuse substitutes.—Anders & Philipp.

Boardman Cooley of Strawberry Point, former editor of the Mail Press, narrowly escaped drowning recently near Fargo, North Dakota, while boating on the Wild Rice river with two companions. The boat became entangled in a snag and upset, throwing the occupants into the stream. Mr. Cooley could not swim and sank. His companions swam to the shore not seeing the precarious situation into which their companion had fallen, and had it not been for a man on the shore who sprang into the stream and rescued him, he would have been drowned.—Lamont Leader.

The following item, taken from the Fort Dodge Post, concerning J. L. Sullivan who several years ago was General Traffic Manager of the M. & O. Ry. in this city, will be of interest to his many friends here.

City agent J. L. Sullivan, of the Chicago Great Western, received tender of a promotion last Saturday to be traveling agent, to travel on the lines of the M. & St. L., the N. & N. W., and the D. M. I. F. & N. roads looking out for the interests of the Great Western company. Mr. Sullivan will continue to reside here, to fact his host of friends will much appreciate. He has made himself of much value in this community to his company, and all who know him will be glad to learn of his promotion, and to congratulate him thereon.

Cal Beard captured old Mrs. Fox one day last week, and the night following secured one of her young ones. He is after the rest. The nest of the family was full of all kinds of bones of animals, such as foxes are fond of—chickens and other fowl, gophers, birds, etc. He made a long rifle shot, at a venture, and cut her nose so that she was helpless in her rear legs. The animal had been chased by one of Knutson's hounds, and had out-run the dog. When the dog gave up the chase and started on the back track, the fox turned and began chasing the dog, nipping his tail until he ki-yed.

It was a most curious feature of fox hunting, and is accounted for by a surmise in the fox's mind that the dog was going back to the den where the whelps were.—Decorah Republican.

Friday, last, Mrs. John Gaffney and Mrs. Eber Newton and baby were driving east from Independence, Iowa, on a road when an automobile with two men in it approached from the east. Both ladies and the baby got out and Mrs. Gaffney held the horse by the bits. They waved their hands and screamed for the men to stop, but the men came on just the same. The horse reared and plunged and threw Mrs. Gaffney in the barbed wire fence which made ugly gashes on her throat. The men never stopped to see what damage had been done but sped on and out of sight, leaving the ladies to their fate. Is it any wonder here that a feeling against the automobile? Not all autists are like these two men, but such actions injure them, even, and all machines are classed alike. This paper does not do this, but it feels that too many chauffeurs are selected who feel that they own the earth.—Wintrop News.

Death of John Lee.

The death of John Lee, one of Delaware county's oldest settlers, occurred at the home of his daughter, Teresa, on Wednesday, May 16, at noon. John Lee was born Sept. 4, 1817, in Fayette county, Ohio, and was married to Hattie Winkelback in the year 1839. To this union seven children were born, of which five are still living, Lydia Lett and Alzina P. Neil of Delhi, Tressa J. and J. P. Lee of Dundee, and Wm. P. Lee of Lamont, March 5, 1902, and James H. Lee died at Richmond Center, Wis., Aug. 13, 1896. His wife preceded him to the great beyond July 15, 1875. John Lee moved from Ohio to Delaware county, Iowa, in the year 1850, and has resided in the county up to the time of his death. His chief occupation was farming which he followed until he was compelled to give up on account of his age. He had always been a robust man but had been gradually failing for the past five years. He was a member of the Christian church, which he joined in the year 1840, at Amity, Ohio. His father, grandfather and great grandfather, all died at the age of 77 years. The funeral services were held at the Wesleyan church, Thursday at 2 p. m., being in charge of I. M. Gibson of Greeley. The text was taken from I. Cor. 15-21. Interment was made in the Marion cemetery.—Strawberry Point Mail Press.

Goldsmith's Showy Clothes.

Goldsmith was ludicrously fond of showy clothes. When he sought to take orders in Ireland he tried to dazzle his clients with a coat of scarlet breeches. While studying medicine in Edinburgh he wore "rich sky blue satin," "fine sky blue shalloon" and silver hat lace. Before Johnson, Reynolds and Garrick he strutted about bragging of his brilliant looks, and when his reputation had been made by his two principal poems he blazed forth in purple silk small clothes, a scarlet greatcoat and a physician's wig. He was a member of the Standard Oil company, and a sword hung by his side, and on a disproportionate to his diminutive stature that a coxcomb who passed him in the strand called out to his companion to "look at that fly with a long pig stick through it."—Satirical Art Journal.

A Woman in Morocco.

All the life of a woman in Morocco is really passed behind the walls of her private house. She sees nothing, she knows nothing, is wholly sunk in ignorance. She has no social life, no affection. "At home." A writer says: "Most of the ladies' calls are roof to roof visits, and very unkind and men are getting over the low partition walls, even dragging a ladder up and down with them if there are high ones to be crossed. The reason is that the roofs, or rather, terraces, are especially reserved for women to talk and meet, and are never allowed to go up except to do repairs, when the neighboring houses are duly warned."

Strange Pledges.

London pawnbrokers are frequently asked to take strange things in pawn. The other day a Holborn pawnbroker lent 100 on a fine horse, which one of his daughters had bought while she was quite young. On April 5, 1855 she was united in marriage to Henry Armitage, of Athens, Ohio, and they made their home for two years near Westville, Ind., and then moved to Greeley, Iowa, where they resided for nearly eight years. From there they moved to Almorat, Iowa, where they built up a happy home and spent a greater part of

Her active life.

Six children were born to them, five girls and one boy, viz., Nora, Lora, Jennie, Amy, Gertrude and Chas. H. Nora, Jennie and Chas. died in childhood and Gertrude, Mrs. J. A. Slick, died Nov. 1901.

Beside her husband Mrs. Armitage is survived by two daughters, Lora and Amy, now Mrs. Fred Seger; two sisters, Mrs. Wm. Catterton of Washington, and Mrs. J. B. Taylor of Earlville; one brother, Wm. Eahart of California and nine grandchildren.

Her last words to her children and grandchildren were words of admonition, a pious christian hope. She was a pious christian and member for many years of the Congregational church at Almorat. Mrs. Armitage was kind and true, faithful to her home duties and her ambition was to please her loved ones. She is gone, but a loving memory will always remain.

Last Sunday she sent for her children and grandchildren and said to them, "Now I am going home. All be good, I am going home, I am ready, I am willing." She then asked them to sing for her and they sang, "O sweet to trust in Jesus." Rev. Keeler called to see her and offered prayer thanking God for her life of usefulness and her love.

The funeral services were held Wednesday, May 23, from the Congregational church, conducted by Rev. Keeler. Interment was made in Fairview cemetery.—Earlville Phoenix.

Spotted His Scheme.

Among the creditors of an insolvent firm was a New Yorker who had a balance of $250 coming to him. This man wanted his money. He was a good talker and persuaded the firm to pay him off in case he could get the other creditors to grant an extension of time. So he called a meeting of the creditors and talked to them eloquently about the prospects of the firm getting on its feet again if it only had time. He seemed to have won out when a little old man in the back of the room rose and in a squeaky voice declared that he, for one, wanted his money and did not want to wait for it. "Don't you think it rather selfish of you to interfere with this plan, in which all of the other creditors have agreed?" asked the first man. "We are willing to wait for the amount of our claims. Every one of us, including myself, believes that this firm should have plenty of time. How much is your claim, anyway?" In the same piping voice the little old man answered: "They owe me $185,000. How much is your claim?"

The Tomb Spider.

The people of Italy believe in the existence of a wonderful creature which for the want of a better name is called the tomb spider. The entomologist who knows nothing of this queer beast and declare that it only exists in the fancy of the superstitious persons and those whose curiosity or business makes it necessary for them to explore old ruins, tombs, etc. According to the popular account, the tomb spider is of a pure white color, has wings like those of a bat, a dozen horrid crooked legs and a body three or four times as large as that of the largest tropical American tarantula. The accounts of this queer insect and his out of the way places of abode are by no means common, and on that account the information concerning him which we will be able to give you is of great interest. Any Italian will tell you that such a creature exists, however, and that he is occasionally met with in old mines and caverns as well as in tombs and subterranean ruins.

State Senator Emery said the Standard Oil did not invent pipe lines—did not invent anything—always stole what others had invented. He told the trouble his company had in building a pipe line in the section—trouble made by the Standard Oil—and said his company is today the only competitor of the Standard, which "tried to buy our stock" but was defeated in that. He had a fight with the Standard, which he raised his oil rate 5 cents per 100 pounds. With his fighting clothes on he said he had invaded the general office of the Pennsylvania company and after being refused admittance to several offices, finally reached one of them and had a heated controversy with him. By threatening to bring the matter before the interstate commerce commission he obtained the desired rate in a few days. Frank B. Fretter said that in 1896 he nearly had a contract closed to lubricate the Rock Island road for a year when General Manager Treasdale found that a Standard Oil man was director in the Rock Island company and refused to make the contract. He said to sell to the Santa Fe, but Paul Weston told him: "There is no use asking words. You could not begin

Independence, Gedney Hotel, Tuesday June 26.

Philadelphia, May 25.—Additional evidence of discrimination by the Pennsylvania railroad in the distribution of cars in the soft coal field was presented to the interstate commerce commission, John Lloyd, a banker and coal operator of Altoona, who is one of the members of the banking firm of Cassatt & Co., testified that the Columbia Coal company was forced to sell the Alexandria mine because of the shortage of cars, and George E. Scott, of the Puritan and Crescent Coal companies, declared that he paid for the use of railroad cars when he failed to secure his allotment, and that during a period of twenty-three days the railroad had furnished him with only one car.

Fairly Rated, but Got Few Cars.

"We were fairly rated," said Scott, "but we got so few cars that we were forced to purchase individual cars. I complained to Mr. Trump he told me to use no more to bring up the railroad white company, but that the railroad determined to protect that company at all hazards. When I told him that cars were being sold to other parties he said he would be in charge of the cars to the right of the line. I complained to Mr. Creighton, but he was indifferent."

"Did you pay for the use of any of their cars?" "I did."

Could Not Connect Cassatt.

During the time that Lloyd was on the stand counsel for the commission made persistent effort to force an admission that he had been associated in a business way with President Cassatt. Lloyd, however, said that his only relations with Cassatt were through Cassatt & Co., with whom President Cassatt carried a personal bank account. The railroad company had for many years been a depositor with the First National bank, of Altoona, of which Lloyd is president. Lloyd also gave testimony concerning the organization of various mining companies in which he is interested, stating that he considered it good business policy to have railroad men among the stockholders of the coal companies.

Vrooman "Needed the Money."

Frederick Vrooman, an assistant trainmaster, told the commission that he had received gifts of money in amounts from $5 to $20 from various coal companies which he did not grant. He took the money, however. He said: "Well, if there was money to be given out I was there to take it," and that had always been and was now his position.

Statesman Escapes by the Collar.

The commission received a telegram from a process server who went to Irwin, Pa., the home of Representative George F. Huff, who it has been repeatedly testified made gifts of stock to shipper. The jury considered the case of Thomas and his associates only thirty minutes before reaching a verdict. The defendants may be punished by a fine of from $1,000 to $10,000 and imprisonment for two years.

Attempt to Draw It at the Des Moines Assembly Is a Failure—Body Has Adjourned.

Des Moines, Ia., May 28.—The attempt to draw the color line in the Presbyterian church in the United States, Smith McPherson in the United States district court, George L. Thomas, a freight broker, and L. B. Targatz, a clerk working for Thomas, were found guilty of conspiracy to give illegal rebates to shippers. The jury considered the case of Thomas and his associates only thirty minutes before reaching a verdict. The defendants may be punished by a fine of from $1,000 to $10,000 and imprisonment for two years.

Was Wasting Away.

"I had been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years," writes Robert R. Wats, of Salem, Mo. "I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well."

During the summer kidney irregularities are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure.—Anders & Philipp.
