

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

Strawberry Point Mail Press On April 10, 1908, Rev. S. D. Holden of this city will participate in the celebration of fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the Baptist church at Lamont. A splendid program is being prepared and a number from here expect to attend.

Hopkinton Leader: The announcement card of E. C. Perkins for representative appears in the county papers this week. It has been known of course for a long time that Mr. Perkins is in the field. In this section of the country he will have almost the solid support of his party, if one may judge by the general sentiment expressed. Mr. Perkins' popularity and worth are accepted without question in the sections where he is well known.

Winthrop News: Lon Doyle and Ed Hood are carrying the belt, side by side, this week in the hog market. Mr. Doyle brought in seven hogs, the bunch weighing 392 and the check for them read $176.40. Mr. Hood also had seven hogs in his bunch and they weighed 4030 and his check for $179.80. In this load was one hog which weighed 800 lbs. They were purchased by Geo. Spangler and he says that his best any bunch of fourteen hogs ever sold at the Winthrop yards.

Winthrop News: A pessimist is a man who looks for worms in his bell. A pessimist is a man who looks for all that ever kicks at the stomach. A pessimist is a man who looks for the neck of progress that can't be used as a collar button. An optimist is a man who looks for a favor with the first row in the balcony. A pessimist clings to the rheumatism as an excuse for grumbling, while an optimist loves a pretty girl for the hugging there is in her. You can't lose a pessimist and as for the optimist no one wants to lose them.

Hopkinton Leader: In asking for re-nomination as county superintendent, F. D. Joseph goes before the primary next June on a record that has been unusually efficient as an officer. It cannot be denied that Mr. Joseph has been one of the best superintendents that the county has had, and his long list of predecessors have been uniformly of the good kind. It is natural that Hopkinton, his former home town, should take more than ordinary interest in his re-election, and without prejudice to his opponent, who also bears a good name and a good record as a teacher.

The Clinton Herald says that the man who carries a bunch of sunshine around with him and who is not afraid to distribute it wherever he goes, is possessed of a wonderful power. The world loves a sunny soul. The man who wears a long face in the name of religion and never cracks a smile for fear people will doubt his holiness is to be pitied. He should change his brand. It isn't the kind that will give him or those around him much comfort nor is it the kind Paul wrote about. To be able to turn gloom into gladness and cheer is a power worth having. If you don't possess it, it is a power worth striving for.

Dyer's Commercial: Miss Olin, Linden Grove, a popular young lady of Elkport met a tragic death last week, the result of burns received while starting a fire with kerosene. The fire was not burning very briskly when she threw some kerosine into the stove from a small vessel. The fire blazed up immediately and caught her apron upon which is supposed some oil had been spilled. In an instant her clothing was ablaze. Her father tried to extinguish the flames, but she being frantic with the pain broke loose from his grasp and rushed out of doors. A brother who was doing chores at the barn ran to her rescue but in her fright and pain she escaped from him also, and ran still farther. When the fire was finally extinguished she was burned so terribly that death resulted in a short time.

Winthrop News: The cement bridge on the Quasson road near the Mallard home collapsed, Thursday. The foundations gave way and the heavy masonry was precipitated into the small stream which it spans. However it might have been worse. Had it gone in the night time, some team might have plunged into it. As it was, it was discovered in time and supervisor Joe Rieley attended to it at once. Teams have been going through the fields and crossing the creek above the bridge and will not repairs be made. It is not decided yet just what will be done with the bridge, but it is probable a steel span will go instead of cement at this point, owing to the condition of the soil which seemingly makes a foundation unstable for cement. This bridge has been in about four years and apparently was good for a century or more.

Dyersville News Letter: The coroner's jury which examined into the cause of the death of Miss Nellie Hamilton of Delhi returned a verdict that her death was caused by criminal operation. The inquest was conducted by the coroner and Dr. L. J. Bowman of Manchester. A number of witnesses from Delhi, Earlville and Milo were called and County Attorney Cloud and Sheriff Hennessey were in attendance. No arrests have been made yet and it is just possible none will be made immediately, that the matter will be allowed to go before the grand jury for more extensive examination.

Miss Hamilton was about 22 or 23 years of age. She has been in that vicinity most of the winter since her mother went South some weeks ago. The company she chose was not always the best and some there who condemned her conduct. She died under mysterious circumstances March 9. It is understood that a woman is held responsible for the alleged criminal operation.

Edgewood Journal: Hon. R. J. Bixby having rejected the nomination for mayor given him at the caucus Tuesday, they were obliged to call another caucus which was held on Thursday, F. A. Peet being nominated.

Edgewood Journal: H. A. Allen, manager of the Iowa Bell Telephone Co., was here last week and made arrangements with J. S. Wait and P. W. Schnack to connect their lines for toll exchange. Their office will be removed from Peicks' Pharmacy to Schnack's restaurant before April 1st and this will enable the farmers to get long distance exchange at very low rates. Farmers, build your own lines and buy your own telephones and be independent of monopoly. For information inquire of J. S. Wait, Edgewood, Iowa.

Edgewood Journal: Edgewood had one of the largest crowds of people Saturday we have had for some time past, the occasion being our first market day. Among the articles sold could be found household furniture, farm machinery, harnesses, wagons, buggies, tread power, lumber, goat, burro, hogs and other stock. Col. Andrews began the sale immediately after dinner but did not get through until about five o'clock. At our next sale which will be held April 11th, the sale will undoubtedly be started about 10 o'clock in order to get everything sold before a late hour.

The merchants all report a good brisk trade and the crowd which was a good natured jolly one seemed to appreciate the efforts put forth.

Keep the next Sale Day in mind and get all the stuff you can spare together and bring it in.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pagel was the scene of a very pretty wedding, Wednesday, the 25th, when their daughter, Miss Minnie was united in marriage to Mr. Frank R. Pope, of Manchester, Iowa, Rev. Baumbach of Lamont, performed the ceremony in the presence of about fifty relatives and friends, at noon.

The relatives and friends from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry White and family, of Morrison, Ill. Mrs. Chas. Whelock and Miss Sadie Pope of Tama, Ill. Mrs. W. A. Durey, Mr. Ernest Durey and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pope, of Manchester, Iowa, Mr. Jay Bloom and Miss Vada Bloom of Oelwein, Iowa.

The bride and groom were attended by Mr. Wm. Pagel and Miss Emma Specht and each carried a bunch of bridal roses and carnations. There was also a very fine list of presents received by the bride and groom and a very fine reception was held all afternoon and evening.—Winthrop Review.

Another Manchester Boy Makes Good. Many Cedar Rapids men are taking much interest in the senatorial fight in Colorado, because C. C. Hamlin, one of the candidates for that office which is about to slip from the shoulders of Senator Teller, is an Iowa boy and has often visited his friend Judge J. H. Rothrock of this city.

C. C. Hamlin is one of the State builders of Colorado and his career is one worthy of emulation by every young man. From the very beginning his life was a struggle against enormous obstacles, chief of which was poverty. It would not be fair to say this was a handicap, however, because Providence evened up matters by giving him a rich endowment of courage and force of will that soon made the stumbling block of life seem puny.

Mr. Hamlin was born in Manchester, Iowa, in 1868, so he is now just 40 years old. His parents were people in very moderate circumstances and as a young boy it was necessary for Mr. Hamlin to go to work. He left home at the age of 15 and went to Des Moines, where he secured a place in the office of a nursery concern.

He started out as office boy. He had to work and study and work hard, at almost menial tasks, but he stuck to the job, with gradual advancement, for four years.

In the meantime he had made up his mind to become a lawyer. His means prohibited a college education and whatever learning he acquired was of the common school variety and by studying after working hours. He went to Evanston, Wyo., where his uncle, Senator C. D. Clark had a law office. Young Hamlin entered the office and took up the study of law. He was there a year, and managed to save enough money to return to Iowa and take up a law course at the university of Iowa, at Iowa City. Then he returned to Wyoming and located at Rock Springs, where he opened a law office.

Business was slow enough in coming to the young attorney, but his friends came rapidly. He was prevailed upon to enter politics, and was elected to the state senate of Wyoming, taking his seat just three days after he had passed the constitutional age requirement of twenty-five.

He was delegate-at-large to the republican national convention of 1896 and was also temporary chairman of the republican state convention in Wyoming that same year.—Cedar Rapids Republican.

Rock Island Closes Shops. Des Moines, Ia., March 26.—The Rock Island has closed its car shops at Valley Junction until April 1, "laying off" all those men who were not unexpectedly discharged three or four days ago. Hiding His Ignorance. An official of the department of justice said in Washington of a rumor brought to him for confirmation by a reporter: "This rumor springs from ignorance, crass ignorance of the law. I am surprised that you should have credited it."

The originator of that rumor is as plainly ignorant of the law as a certain schoolboy was of French. "This boy's father said to him one night at dinner: "Well, how are you getting on with your French, my son?" "Very well, thank you, sir," the lad replied.

"The father beamed with pleasure. "Ask politely in French for some peas," he said. "There was an awkward pause. Then—"But, father," said the boy, "I don't want any peas."

LINING UP IN POLITICS

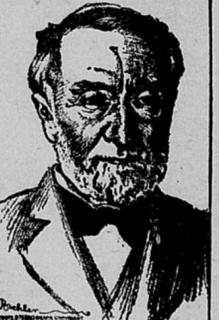

Illinois Republicans Indorse Joseph G. Cannon for the Presidential Office.

FOR REVISION OF THE TARIFF

Indiana and Iowa Democrats Shout for the Nebraskan.

Hoosiers Put Up a New Man for the Vice Presidency and Nominate a Complete State Ticket.

The Republicans of Illinois enthusiastically indorse Joseph G. Cannon as a candidate for the presidency at the Springfield convention, declared in favor of a revision of the tariff, and elected four delegates-at-large to the national convention. The men chosen are United States Senators Shelby M. Cullom and Albert J. Hopkins, Governor Charles S. Deneen and Mayor

SPEAKER CANNON.

Fred A. Busse, of Chicago. The convention also indorsed the administration of Governor Deneen and that of all other officers. The candidacy of Governor Deneen to succeed himself was not mentioned, it being understood that only matters of national import were to come before the convention.

Concluded to Take the Old Word. For the previous two days it had been confidently asserted by the platform builders that the resolutions would favor tariff "adjustment" instead of "revision," it being the idea that "revision" is generally accepted as meaning reduction and "adjustment" might mean the raising of some schedules as well as the lowering of others. In the last moment, however, Representative Henry S. Bontell arrived from Washington, where he had consulted with Speaker Cannon, and other Republican leaders, and the plank adopted was the result.

Tariff Revision Declaration. The plank as adopted: "We recommend to our delegates to the Republican national convention that they urge upon the convention the adoption of declaring for a revision of the tariff to be made at the next session of

GOVERNOR DENEEN.

The Sixty-first congress, to be convened immediately after the inauguration of the next president, March 4, 1909." The plank favors the minimum and maximum rate idea; insists that the protective principle shall prevail in reserving the schedules and declares against any provision that shall encourage illegal or unjust trade.

Deep Waterway Indorsed. The indorsement of French cooks, being asked to give the secret of his success, answered: "The very foundation of all good cooking is butter and onion! I use them in all my sauces and gravies. They have the effect of making a customer come back for more. Butter without onion will drive the customer away after a few days. Boll the onion till it melts or entirely disappears; then add the butter and call the mixture stock."—Exchange.

Artificial Files. Dame Juliana Berners, prioress of the nunnery of Sapwell, near St. Albans, England, was the author of the first book on angling in the English language, printed in 1496. She gives a list of twelve files, and tells of a lapse of more than four centuries, artificial files, constructed after her formula, would prove as successful as any of the up to date contrivances.

Helpless. "Ella—What a beautiful girl she is! Stella—Yes. If somebody should provide the mistletoe and furnish the man she couldn't do the rest.—Canadian Courier.

The Poet's Son. "Why, Freddy, how can you be so, and only yesterday you wrote a verse for papa's birthday, promising always to wash your hands clean." "Well, mamma, that was only a poetic license."—Fliegende Blätter.

Assenting Himself. He—Will you be my wife? She—The ideal! Don't be ridiculous. He—Yes, I know it sounds ridiculous; but, then, I'm not so particular as some men are.—Boston Transcript.

Nothing is impossible to the man who can and will.—Mirabeau.

every plank was one of state application—local option. In this matter the declaration is for a local option law with the city, ward and township as the units, and applause followed the thought that the proposed law should be supplementary to present temperance legislation.

EVERYBODY WAS FOR BRYAN

No Iowa Democratic Voice Raised Against the Nebraskan.

Bryan's name came lustily from every Democratic throat at the state convention held at Cedar Rapids, Ia. Bryanites who have been loyal through all the years were selected as delegates-at-large, the platform adopted was a recast of Bryan's Nebraska platform, and the indorsement of Bryan in the Omaha platform was made stronger and more eloquent by his Iowa admirers. Every mention of his name was greeted with storms of cheers. If there was one among the delegates who was not enthusiastically for the Nebraskan he took pains not to let his fellow delegates know it. When the resolutions committee met it heard a request from Bryan that the ideas of the Omaha platform be indorsed by the Democracy of Iowa.

There was some sentiment in favor of adopting the Nebraska platform in toto, but finally it was rewritten. Delegates-at-large were not chosen until nearly 7 p. m. They are Claude R. Porter, of Centerville; Jerry B. Sullivan, of Des Moines; E. J. Dunn, of Atlantic City, who were chosen on the first ballot, and C. F. Duncombe, of Fort Dodge, who won out in a contest with General Weaver on the second ballot. A special plea for Weaver was made by the ex-standard bearer of the "White" side, but the river counties defeated him because of his former alignment with the Prohibition party.

Taggart Wins His Prize. Taggart was re-elected Democratic national committeeman from Indiana by the newly selected delegates to the national convention.

SHORT MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

President Roosevelt Urges Solons to Take Action on a Number of Measures.

President Roosevelt's promised short special message urging action on a number of important pending bills was sent to congress Wednesday. Among the measures on which is urged are the following: Model child labor bill for the District of Columbia.

An employers' liability bill to conform to recent supreme court decision. Amendment of the law affecting labor relations, including that notice be given before an injunction is issued and hearing of contempt cases by other judges. Amendment of the anti-trust laws to distinguish between good and bad combines, permitting railroad pooling and such organizations as labor unions and granges to conduct their business.

Tariff revision is recommended and it is suggested that this congress take preliminary steps to that end. Immediate repeal of the tariff on wood pulp is urged.

Virginia Judge Removed. The assembly of Virginia adopted a resolution removing Judge J. W. G. Elickson of the Eleventh circuit from office. The grounds upon which this action was based are immorality and gross neglect of official duty. There was but one dissenting vote in each branch. Removal was the outcome after a long and sensational investigation.

More Warships to Haiti. More war vessels were ordered to Haiti, following a conference of officials of the state and navy departments. The Des Moines already had been sent to the scene of the recent outbreak, which endangered the lives of foreigners on the island, the United States will be represented by three war vessels in Haitian waters.

General Horne Acquitted. At Kansas City, Friday, General Richard C. Horne was acquitted of murdering H. J. Groves, managing editor of the Kansas City Post, by a jury in the criminal court here. The verdict nullified the general's arrest on a charge of manslaughter, which was not fully recovered, and commits him to his home.

She Was a Bit Bashful. Mr. Peet, a very different man, was unable to prevent himself being introduced one evening to a fascinating young lady, who, misunderstanding his name, constantly addressed him as Mr. Peters, much to the gentleman's distress. Finally summoning up the courage, he earnestly remonstrated: "Oh, don't call me Peters. Call me Peet!"

The lowest block and working parts are all from solid steel drop-forgings; the barrels are of special rolled steel or of J. S. Thompson's steel.

The Onion in Cooking. The great French cook, being asked to give the secret of his success, answered: "The very foundation of all good cooking is butter and onion! I use them in all my sauces and gravies. They have the effect of making a customer come back for more. Butter without onion will drive the customer away after a few days. Boll the onion till it melts or entirely disappears; then add the butter and call the mixture stock."—Exchange.

When Actors Play to Actors. "When he (Henry Irving) engaged me to play Ophelia in 1878 he asked me to go down to Birmingham to see the play, and that night I saw what I shall always consider the perfection of acting. It had been wonderful in 1874; in 1878 it was far more wonderful," wrote Ellen Terry in McClure's. "It has been said that when he had the advantage of my Ophelia his Hamlet improved. I don't think so. He was always quite independent of the people with whom he played. The Birmingham night he knew I was there. He played—I say they are not above that weakness, if it is a weakness. If ever anything inspires us to do our best it is the presence in the audience of some fellow-artist who must, in the nature of things, know more completely than any one what we intend, what we do, what we feel. The response from such a member of the audience lies across the footlights to us like a flame. I felt it once when I played Ophelia before Eleanor Duse. I felt that she felt it once when she played Marguerite Gautier for me."

The Topsy-turvydom of Religion. At the opening of King Edward VII's first parliament he had to repeat after the lord chancellor an oath which condemned in almost brutal words all things papistical. Yet held aloft by a Protestant peer for all Protestants to reverence was a veritable emblem of papal supremacy—a quaint little bonnet of crimson velvet turned up to examine. This is the why of his maintenance, and so sacred is it that no hands but royalty may finger it. Thus the premier carries, whose hereditary right it is to carry it, balanced it somewhat after the fashion of a conjurer upon a white staff. This cap was granted by Henry VIII. by Pope Leo X. In the middle ages it was held as symbolic of the overlord, only being granted to vassals and feudatories whom the lord wished to honor; so that it implies as nothing else could the supremacy of the pope over the kings of England—London Standard.

The Wily Owl. A party of horsemen were traveling along Bridge creek, a tributary of Bad Water river, Wyoming, when their horses suddenly alighted off the track at the sound of a "rattle." Search was made for the snake, but it was finally found that the sound proceeded from the burrowing owl, which lives in the burrows of the prairie dog, often, it is said, in company with the rattlesnake. Seated on a post the party heard the owl give a third rattle. And whenever they passed the spot it gave warning by its rattle, and the horses always alighted off the track in alarm.—American Naturalist.
