CHAIRMAN MACK CONFIDENT.

Willis J. Abbot in the Chicago Tribune says the following concerning the campaign. The last month of the presidential campaign opens with vim and vigor. I will not quote the famous motto of Senator Foraker in full. It was "vim, vigor, and victory" that pushed him to the front. Now that he has been violently kicked out of the republican organization I doubt whether the last word remains part of the maxim. Victory will this time be inscribed upon the democratic banners.

Chairman Norman E. Mack returned from New York yesterday to complete the campaign at the national headquarters in Chicago. Said Mr. Mack: "The state of New York was never in such good shape for the democratic ticket as it is today. We are going to have another experience like that of 1892. I do not know one prominent democrat in the Empire state or in the states bordering upon it who is not enlisted heart and soul in the Bryan campaign today."

Says Republicans Are Split. "As opposed to this situation the republicans in New York, as in other states, are sadly split up in their organization. "New York is normally a democratic state. It has never failed to give a swinging democratic majority except at some times when the democrats were thoroughly divided among themselves. This year they are thoroughly united. Consider the enormous vote that carried Cleveland into the office of governor. It was built upon conditions which almost exactly parallel those of today. At that time a president attempted to dominate the New York republican organization and ticket. The organization resented it and the ticket went down in defeat.

"President Roosevelt has not been content with forcing upon the republican national ticket the man whom he hopes to have for his successor, but he has compelled an unwilling body of New York republicans to nominate Hughes for governor."

Says Harrison Forced His Defeat. And now again let me cite a little history. In 1892 at the Minneapolis convention of the republican party the officeholders by the direction of the then president, Benjamin Harrison, forced his renomination. What happened as a result was his defeat by a most overwhelming majority.

This year the condition is almost parallel. President Roosevelt, it is true, did not renominate himself, though his son-in-law has promised that honor to him in 1916. But he did pick out the man whom he hopes to have succeed him. Therefore, the republican party this year is in exactly the position it was in 1892; it has a candidate whom it did not choose, but who was chosen for it by a power greater than the party—namely, the president, who controls the profitable jobs.

John Hays Hammond, one of the chief members of the Guggenheim smelter trust and a man reported to receive the largest salary paid anywhere in the world, has become president of the Republican League of Clubs. Furthermore, Mr. Hammond is going on the stump for Mr. Taft.

Calls Hammond a Trust Servant. Guggenheim is at the head of the most oppressive trust which bears up on the interest of the miners, the prospectors, and the workmen of the great west. The Guggenheim domination over that particular branch of American industry is as complete as that of the Standard Oil company over its chosen field. The Standard Oil company controls one resource given by nature to mankind, namely, petroleum; the Guggenheim trust controls the deposits of precious metals deposited by kindly nature in the earth for the good of all.

Mr. Hammond is the paid servant of the Guggenheim trust and naturally the president of National League of Republican Clubs and a speaker for Judge Taft. This in itself is sufficiently curious. Mr. Guggenheim is a republican senator of the United States and is also actively engaged in this republican presidential campaign.

BULGARIA. The action of Bulgaria in declaring her independence from Turkey threatens the peace of all Europe. It is so situated that any change of its position politically seems to disturb the equilibrium of the powers. The following information concerning the country is interesting at this time.

BROTHERHOOD.

By Edwin Markham. The crest and crowning of all good, life's true state is Brotherhood. For it will bring again to earth Her long lost Poesy and Mirth; Will send new light on every face, A kindly foot upon the race, And, till it come, we men are slaves, And travel downward to the dust of graves.

Come, clear the way, then, clear the blind creeds and kings have had their day. Break the dead branches from the path; Our hope is in the aftermath—Our hope is in heroic men, Star-led to build the world again. To this event the ages ran; Make way for Brotherhood—make way for Mm.

and the export trade by the Black Sea. The government is Christian. There is a national militia, and military service is compulsory. The Bulgarians were originally a Tartar nation, which in the 4th century were settled on the Volga. The ruins of their former capital may still be seen in the neighborhood of Kazan. Their kingdom, which occupied a part of the Asiatic Sarmatia of the Greeks, was called Great Bulgaria, and is now comprehended in the Russian government of Orenburg. They afterward removed to the countries between the Bog and the Danube, and called their territories Second Bulgaria. The first Bulgarian kingdom south of the Danube was founded in the latter half of the seventh century, but the Bulgarians who established it were comparatively few in number, and after their adoption of Christianity in the 9th century they became completely mixed up with the Slavonic inhabitants, though the whole became known as Bulgarians. The greatest ruler of this kingdom was Symeon (888-927), who subjugated the greater part of the peninsula, and raised the Archbishop of Bulgaria to a position independent of the Patriarch of Constantinople. Under the son of Symeon this empire fell to pieces. The western half broke off and founded a separate kingdom, with Ochrida in Macedonia for its capital, and the eastern portion was subdued by the Byzantine Emperor, John Zimisces, who reincorporated it with the empire.

The western Bulgarian kingdom existed only until about 1018 when it all was subdued by Basil II, "the slayer of the Bulgarians." Toward the end of the 12th century, however, the Bulgarians revolted and managed to establish a third kingdom between the Balkan range and the Danube, which, sometimes weak and sometimes powerful, continued to exist till the advent of the Turks. The last ruler of this kingdom was conquered by Bajazet I about 1390, and for nearly 500 years the Turks ruled supreme. In 1876, on account of the atrocities of the Turkish soldiers, an insurrection broke out. Russia took the part of Bulgaria against Turkey, and the war of 1877-8 followed. By the first article of the Treaty of Berlin, July 13, 1878, the principality of Bulgaria was constituted, made tributary to Turkey, and placed under the suzerainty of the Sultan. In 1879, Alexander of Battenburg, a German prince was chosen sovereign of part of Bulgaria, the rest being made a separate province called East Rumelia, to prevent Bulgaria becoming a strong state. In 1885 there was a revolution in East Rumelia, which annexed itself to Bulgaria. Serbia intervened, and Alexander was forced to abdicate.

Against Russia's will, Ferdinand of Saxe-Coburg accepted the vacant throne in 1887. The government is that of a hereditary prince as chief executive, with responsible ministers and legislative assembly (one for every 10,000), elected directly by the people for three years. It pays annual tribute to the Sultan. Population (1900) 3,733,189, about 74 per cent Bulgarians, 19 per cent Turks, the rest Spanish Jews, with a sprinkling of Greeks. Seventy-seven per cent are of the faith of the Orthodox Greek church, only 2 1/2 per cent Moslems.

BRYAN AND BUSINESS. Nathan Straus of New York, the noted philanthropist, says: "I feel sure that Mr. Bryan will be elected, and I say as a business man, one who is as much interested per haps as any, in the general prosperity of the country, as one who is bound to feel personally any lack of prosperity among the masses, that I believe his election will be a benefit to all the country, and to all the people."

"Mr. Bryan will make a safe, reliable, conscientious president for all of the people, the rich and the poor, the big man and the little. He will represent the American people, not any class, and for that reason I shall work for him until election and vote for him on election day."

THE UNIVERSAL OPINION. John W. Kern, Bryan's running mate, voiced a popular idea in a speech at Ashville, North Carolina He said: "Patriotic men everywhere will agree with me that the third term idea is no more hateful to the minds of the American people than that of the president of this great nation should undertake to name and dictate his own successor."

TRUSTS FAVOR TAFT

SHELDON OFFICIAL FAT PRIER List of Those from Whom He Got Contributions.

Chicago, October 1.—(Special)—In connection with the committee which the President has raised as to whether the trusts and financial concerns are most interested in the election of Mr. Taft or Mr. Bryan, the Democratic National Committee calls attention to a few of the controlling spirits in the Republican Committee who are actively interested in trusts and monopolies.

At the head of the list stands George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National Committee. Mr. Sheldon's selection for this important post of official fat prier was made upon recommendation of Wm. Nelson Cromwell, the great corporation lawyer of Wall Street, attorney for the Panama Canal Company, E. H. Harriman, the Standard Oil Company, the Sugar Trust, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers and brokers, and other favored interests.

Most immediately after his appointment, Mr. Sheldon is reported to have received a contribution from Mr. Cromwell, amounting to $50,000. Mr. Sheldon is a multi-millionaire, the active head of the banking firm of W. C. Sheldon & Co., 2 Wall Street. According to the "Directory of Directors," for the present year, Mr. Sheldon's name appears as a director in the following 21 corporations:

- American Locomotive Company. American Locomotive Automobile Company. Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Cincinnati Northern Railroad Company. Detroit Edison Company. Electrical Securities Corporation. Laclede Gaslight Company. Locomotive and Machine Company of Montreal (limited). Locomotive Supply Company. Metropolitan Trust Company. Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. Milwaukee, Light, Heat and Traction Co. National Copper Bank. New Jersey Terminal Dock and Improvement Co. North American Co. Republic Steel & Iron Co. of New Jersey. Rogers Locomotive Works. St. Louis Transit Co. Union Bag & Paper Co. of New Jersey. Union Electric Light & Power Co. Union Electric Light & Power Co. of St. Louis.

Mr. Sheldon's connection with the Locomotive Trust places him in close connection with the railroads of the country, where he is able to procure their campaign contributions. He is also a confidential agent of J. Pierpont Morgan in his Wall Street deals, and assisted in the formation of the Shipbuilding trust. His North American company controls the traction interests of St. Paul and Minneapolis. He is president of the Union League club, of which Rockefeller, Morgan, Carnegie and other powers in Wall Street are also members. He is also said to be a member of 20 other clubs whose membership includes practically all of the operators in Wall Street.

In 1906 Mr. Sheldon was treasurer of the New York State Republican committee, and succeeded so well in frying the fat from the interests that Mr. Cromwell recommended him for the job of Director of Directories of St. Paul and Minneapolis. He is president of the Union League club, of which Rockefeller, Morgan, Carnegie and other powers in Wall Street are also members. He is also said to be a member of 20 other clubs whose membership includes practically all of the operators in Wall Street.

Flagler, Standard Oil, 500. Arbuckle Bros. Coffee Trust, 500. Henry Clews, Wall street banker, 250.

This is only a partial list of the trust magnates and financiers who contributed to Mr. Sheldon's fund. An index as to how much more Mr. Sheldon may be able to raise from these interests for the national campaign, the fact may be cited that Mr. Cromwell gave $1,000 to the state fund, and increased the amount to $50,000 for the national campaign.

Fred W. Upham of Chicago is assistant treasurer of the Republican National committee. He is a millionaire several times over, and a member of the County Board of Review of Illinois, which passes upon the amount of taxes which corporations and large estates shall pay in that state. He is a director in several corporations and is in charge of the collection of campaign funds in the west.

On August 21, 1908, after his appointment as Assistant Treasurer of the Republican committee, Mr. Upham sent out thousands of letters to prominent officials whose tax returns pass upon as a member of the Board of Review, urging them to contribute to the Republican fund as "individuals," and requesting them to bring this matter to the attention of your business associates. The suggestion implies a regard as significant.

Five of the nine members of the Republican committee are: Charles F. Brooker, Connecticut millionaire, member of N. Y. Chamber of Commerce, and vice-president New York New Haven Railroad Co., against which a government suit is now pending, and one of the leading spirits in the brass trust. Frank O. Lowden, multi-millionaire, vice-president Pullman Palace Car Co., which is a monopoly.

E. C. Duncan, director Atlantic & North Carolina railway, and other corporations, member of Seaboard Air Line and official dispenser of patronage in North Carolina. T. Coleman DuPont, controlling factor in Powder Trust, against which the government has a suit now pending for dissolution.

Boies Penrose, political boss of Pennsylvania, head of the corrupt republican organization in Philadelphia, and conspicuous in many corporations. Roy O. West, chairman of the Republican State Committee of Ill., is also chairman of the County Board of Equalization, which passes upon corporation taxes.

Fred A. Sims, acting chairman of the Republican State committee of Indiana, is also chairman of the State Tax board, which passes upon the taxes levied against corporations. Mr. DuPont has been forced to resign from the executive committee because of his trust connections, but Mr. Brooker, against whose company the government has a suit, is still a member of the committee.
