PRIMARY CANDIDATES HAVE BUSY DAY.

county when no candidate has been nominated, by reason of the failure of any candidate to receive thirty-five per cent of all the votes cast by such party therefor and it may also fill such vacancies as may occur after the primary election and before the holding of the county convention.

The county convention is held on the fourth Saturday following the primary election, convening at 11 o'clock a. m. As the primary election this year falls on June 7 the county conventions will be held on Saturday, July 2.

A question which has doubtless concerned many is how tightly are you bound by your declaration of party affiliation made two years ago. As will be remembered all the voter had to do then was to walk up to the judges of election and demand a republican or democratic ballot, regardless of his previous political record.

The ballot he asked for was given him and for the purposes of the primary law he was then classified as a democrat or a republican. The choosing of your ballot two years ago was as the primary law calls it, "a declaration of party affiliation" that is you are a democrat or a republican in the eye of the law according to the ticket you voted two years ago.

Now the system of voting is different. When the voter presents himself before the election board this year and requests a ticket, the clerk will look up his name and pass out a ticket of the party he voted with in 1908.

Every man can however vote the ticket of his choice. Let that be clearly understood by all voters.

While the primary law is designed to hold the voters to their party yet the law makes ample provision for allowing the voter to participate in the primary election of any party of which he may declare himself to be a member.

There are two ways a voter may change the record of his "party affiliation." One is by filing a written declaration to that effect with the county auditor at least ten days before the primary election and the other is by making oath in the required form before one of the judges of election at the voting place in his precinct on election day.

The sections of the primary law relating to the changing of party affiliation are as follows:

"Any elector, who, having declared his party affiliation, desires to change the same, may, not less than ten days prior to the date of any primary election, file a written declaration with the county auditor of such change on the poll books of the last preceding primary election in the proper column opposite the voter's name and on the voting list.

Any elector whose party affiliation has for any reason not been registered or any elector who has changed his residence to another precinct, or a first voter or citizen of this state casting his first vote in this state, shall be entitled to vote at any subsequent primary election in the same manner and upon the same terms as provided in section seven of this act, and the clerks of the primary election shall record his party affiliation and the county auditor shall add his name to the alphabetical lists for use, in subsequent primary elections, as provided for in section 7 of this act."

"Each political party shall be entitled to have two party challengers present at each polling place, to be appointed by the respective party committees. Any judge or clerk of the primary election or any party challenger may challenge any voter upon the grounds mentioned in section 15 of the code and such challenge shall be determined as provided by this act and who desires to change his party affiliation on the primary election day, shall be subject to challenge. If the person challenged insists that he is entitled to vote the ticket of the political party to which he has transferred, his political affiliation and the challenge is not withdrawn, one of the judges shall tender to him the following oath: 'You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you have in good faith changed your party affiliation and do desire to be a member of the party. And if he takes the oath he shall thereupon be given a ticket of such political party and the clerks of the primary election shall change his enrollment of party affiliation accordingly.'"

APPORTIONS DELEGATES. Auditor Fixes Ratio of Delegates to County Convention.

As required of him by the primary law, the county auditor has fixed the number of delegates to the democratic county convention which are to be delegated from each voting precinct at the primary election on June 7th.

The number of delegates is based on the vote cast in each precinct for the head of the ticket in 1908. The number of democratic delegates from the various precincts was fixed as follows:

Table listing precincts and number of delegates: Adams 10, Bremen 13, Coffins Grove 16, Colony 13, Delaware City 2, Delaware township 2, Delhi 8, Earlville 4, Elk 4, Hazel Green 7, Edgewood precinct 3, Thorpe precinct 1, Hopkinton 1, Manchester First Ward 6, Manchester Second Ward 6, Manchester Third Ward 6.

BLOW FANFARE IN SILVER TRUMPETS. England's New King Proclaimed With Medieval Rite. GEORGE V. HAILED BY PEOPLE. Funeral of Edward VII. Set for May 20 and Body Will Lie in State Three Days.

London, May 10.—With the time-honored ceremony of a brilliant and impressive character, George V, was proclaimed king of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas defender of the faith, emperor of India.

It was announced at Buckingham palace at noon that Queen Mother Alexandra was well and bearing up bravely. Rumors were current that in a paroxysm of grief the mother of the king had broken a blood vessel and that her condition was serious.

Friday, May 20, has been fixed as the date for King Edward's funeral. The body will be moved May 17 from Buckingham palace to Westminster hall, where it will lie in state for three days. It will be taken on the evening of the third day to Windsor for interment in St. George's chapel on the following day.

The body will be borne on a gun carriage through the streets of London to Paddington station and again through the streets of Windsor to the castle. The procession will be similar to that on the occasion of the funeral of Queen Victoria in 1901.

Above the coffin will be placed the royal insignia—the crown, the orb and the scepter. King George, mounted, will ride immediately behind the casket, followed by other male members of the royal family, foreign monarchs and special ambassadors.

Four heralds blow fanfare. At the city gates four heralds heralded the king's funeral procession heavily braided with gold, mounted the balcony of friary court at St. James' palace, where Queen Victoria presented herself to the people on the opening of her memorable reign, and blew a fanfare through their long silver trumpets. The precincts of the palace were filled with a mass of people, many of whom could obtain only horse guards were stationed. The royal carriages of the duke of Norfolk, Sir Alfred Scott-Gatty and the officers of arms, followed by General French, with the headquarters staff and a troop of cavalry, drove north from St. James' palace to Charing Cross.

Thousands See Procession. Thousands who had waited since early morning watched the stately progress of the heraldic procession. At Charing Cross there was such a crush that the police and troops had difficulty in keeping a space clear for the heralds.

The royal announcers again blew a fanfare and Sir Alfred read the proclamation. Again the people sang the national anthem, their voices being accompanied by the music of military bands.

Along the Strand the procession crowded through lines of troops and columns of people to Temple Bar, at the boundary of the city, where the lord mayor, the sheriffs, the aldermen and officers of the city, all in their robes of office, awaited the earl marshal.

City Bares the King's Men. The ceremony here was long and more elaborate, the city of London retaining its ancient privilege of barring the entrance of the king's men to the square mile in which its officers rule. In place of the barred gates of olden times a red silken rope placed across the street halted the procession.

The lord mayor having been informed of the presence of the royal herald and having given his permission for entrance to the city, the herald stepped across the boundary and handed the chief magistrate the privy council's order that the proclamation be made.

The through which crowded the narrow street stood in silence, watching the proceedings. The lord mayor alighted from his carriage, read the proclamation and declared that "our high and mighty Prince George has now become our only lawful and rightful liege lord, George V."
