The announcement that the excellent play "St. Elmo" will be given at the City Opera house next Saturday evening, November 26, will be received with interest by an unusually large percentage of the population, for practically every one has read this stirring work of fiction. The book from which the play has been carefully taken, was written by Augusta J. Evans more than forty years ago, but notwithstanding the lapse of time, it is still a highly prized volume in every library, and today at every book store runs the "six best sellers" a close race for popularity. Three generations have praised St. Elmo and it is a curious fact that theatrical producers have not before appropriated it to their uses. It is less than a year ago that Grace Hayward, the popular actress-dramatist, and author of the play, "Graustark," undertook a dramatization of the famous old novel. The present play is the result of more than six months' labor, and that the time was well spent is evinced by the instantaneous success of the play, Miss Hayward's version. The play is a genuine triumph both from an artistic and financial point of view. In fact, among theatrical folk, it is the talk of the year. The quarterly meeting of the Methodist church was held Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The District Superintendent, Dr. Billingsley, gave a lecture on Friday evening. The quarterly conference Saturday afternoon and communion with union service Sunday morning.

The literary societies of the high school are giving some very interesting programs on Friday afternoons.
THORPE.
Mrs. Dan Sark and daughter Kity spent Sunday at Edgewood with H. A. Kane and family.
Mrs. Fred Worthington called on Mrs. George Keith of Thorpe.
Andy Thompson and family have moved into the E. Mungar house in Thorpe.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson of Manchester visited with their sons, A. and J. Thompson of Thorpe.
Mrs. Charlie Daisy was in Manchester shopping.
Mrs. Clarence Schomock called on her sister, Mrs. G. Stuel.
Florence Chambers and Isabell and Lucie Daisy called on their friend, Kity Sark, last Friday.
Dan Sark and daughter made a trip to Manchester last Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fause and children were in Manchester on business Friday.
Sidney Simons and family drove to Manchester last Saturday.
Mrs. Jeanette Preussner visited for a few days with Bert Bowers and family.
John Billhorn was in Thorpe Wednesday.
A dance will be given at Thorpe hall Thanksgiving night. Everybody come.

LENOX COLLEGE.

The foot ball team had arranged to go to Dubuque on Thanksgiving day for a game but owing to an injury to one of their number in their practice the game was called off.
A very interesting entertainment is announced for Monday evening by the departments of music and expression, under the direction of the teachers, Miss McCuskey, Miss Peterson and Mrs. Palmer. Those who take part are Misses Tesar, Brooks, Probert, Trevor, Copeland, Parkhill, Joseph Weber, Joslin and Orcutt and Messrs. Bridwell, Doolittle, McNeilly and Hucker.
Miss McCuskey has not been able to attend to duties the past week owing to illness.
Arrangements are being made for the second agricultural short course in connection with Lenox college to be held January 9 to 14. A meeting was held by the business men to assist in the arrangements and the officers selected were the same as last year. President, F. E. Williamson, vice president, J. J. Kirkwood, treasurer, R. G. Brooks, secretary, W. S. Beels. These men with Prof. Hendricks of Lenox college comprise the executive committee and will complete the arrangements. A subscription paper has been circulated for subscriptions to guard against expenses but it is hoped it will not be needed as there was a surplus last year. There was a large attendance and it is expected to be still larger this year in both the farmers and domestic course.

Flowers fade but money in the bank keeps on growing.

FLOWERS FADE BUT MONEY IN THE BANK KEEPS ON GROWING

Take all the beautiful things in life. The flowers—they wither away and youth departs, and our joys vanish. But there is one thing upon which time leaves no corroding mark—money. Let's have some growing.
