COLESBURG.

We are experiencing the "real thing" in the way of winter weather.

John Nebel is quite sick with an attack of lung fever. Hope he may be better very soon.

Jacob W. Smith was called home from Davenport the first of the week by the serious illness of his father.

Mrs. Edward Cooper of Parkersburg was here Wednesday to attend the funeral services of her grandmother, the late Mrs. M. M. Boomer.

Thomas Taylor took his small son to Dubuque during the week for treatment at the hospital. The child has been suffering from an abscess or something of that nature, just back of the ear and an operation is now deemed necessary. On Friday Nellie Taylor, another child of the family had her arm broken while riding down hill on a bob near their home.

Mrs. Taylor was a patient at the hospital last summer and taken all together, this is what we would call hard luck.

The Brown cemetery association will serve dinner at the L. O. O. F. banquet hall on Saturday, January 21. All are most cordially invited to attend and help along a worthy cause.

Mrs. George Kneec of McGregor has been here during the past week assisting in the care of her brother, D. W. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wordchoff of Dyersville were calling upon Colesburg friends the first of the week.

D. W. Smith has been critically ill during the past week with heart trouble, but at this writing is somewhat improved. "Uncle Dan" as he is familiarly known, has been in declining health for the past three years a fact much regretted by his many friends.

Mrs. George Walker spent the latter part of the week at her sister's home in Dyersville, where her brother, Willard Boomer of Greeley, Colorado, was also a guest.

Dr. Guthrie of Dubuque was called here on Friday in consultation with Dr. Wilson on the case of D. W. Smith.

Miss Agnes Nebel has returned home from Dyersville, where she has been employed for several weeks.

Mrs. Melinda Lyons Boomer died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Walker, at five o'clock on Monday afternoon, January 9, 1911.

She was aged 83 years, 9 months and 4 days. Death resulted from a paralytic stroke which was sustained during the morning. Her condition was considered serious from the beginning and at the close of the day she quietly and peacefully entered into the eternal rest, without having regained consciousness. In June 1905 the deceased suffered a first stroke of paralysis which entebled her, depriving her of the use of her limbs. Since that time she had been unable to walk, unassisted. Yet she was ever patient and uncomplaining, with a cheery word for her friends at all times. Her maiden name was Melinda Lyons and she was born in Worthville, Jefferson county, New York, April 5, 1827. Her marriage to Marvin Boomer occurred in her native town in August 1846. That same year they came to Iowa locating at Dyersville which was her home until six years ago, when she came to this city to spend her declining years with her daughter, Mrs. George Walker. She was the mother of three children who remain to cherish the memory of a truly devoted mother, Willard Boomer of Greeley, Colorado, Mrs. George Walker of this city and Mrs. John Bucknam of Dyersville. She also leaves three adopted sisters, Mrs. Jane Poole of Adams, N. Y., Mrs. Charlotte McCarthy of Oswego, N. Y., and Mrs. Phoebe Root of Waukegan, Wisconsin, also seven grandchildren and one great grandchild. Mr. Boomer preceded his wife in death September 11, 1899. The funeral services were held from the Walker Home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and were attended by many sympathizing friends and neighbors, who had known and loved Mrs. Boomer. Rev. Western officiating, speaking from the text: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord," etc. and paid a fitting tribute to the life and character of the deceased. Interment was made at Oak Hill cemetery. The pall bearers were: Messrs. A. W. Rea, Cyrus Craig, W. S. Page, Ira O'Neal, David Moreland and A. G. Grimms. The relatives from elsewhere in attendance were Willard Boomer of Greeley, Colorado, George McCarthy of Freeport, Illinois, Mrs. Edward Cooper of Parkersburg, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bucknam, son Herbert and daughter, Miss Abbie of Dyersville. Thus one by one the pioneer residents are passing out beyond the reach of time, leaving behind fond recollections and tender memories. Thus, a long and useful Christian life has come to a peaceful close and is receiving the reward of the faithful. Peace to her memory. The family and friends desire to extend their thanks to all kind neighbors and friends for their assistance and sympathy during the illness and death of their beloved.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL PUTS ON FLAGMAN.

The Illinois Central has put on a permanent flagman at Third street crossing on the West Side. This is a move that will meet with general approval. The crossing is a dangerous one to cross and many accidents have occurred there in past years. The Illinois Central is to be commended for supplying what has long been considered by many a necessity.

Rich. Granfield will look after the crossing as flagman.

Mrs. Durt Matthews went to Monicello Monday afternoon for a few days visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Matthews.

The usefulness of "Central."

The telephone subscriber has come to regard "central" as an ever-available bureau of information. The score of the ball game, the latest election returns, the location of the big fire the light from which can be seen on the horizon, and even the exact time, are all points on which the long-suffering operator must be posted.

The other day, according to the Op-erating Bulletin of the Chicago Telephone Company, a man called up a suburban exchange and said, despair in his voice:

"My wife has gone out, leaving with her trousseau, she burnt into my dinner, but I do not know how long to boil it."

The operator switched the subscriber to the supervisor, who had been in cooking-school, and she promptly told the man all he needed to know about the treatment of spinach.

How Prince It Solved a Problem.

When Mme. Sada Maccé, the famous Japanese actress, received the news of the assassination of Prince Itô at Mitô, where she was playing with her troupe, she burst into tears.

"In my frequent quarrels with my husband," said the actress, "we sometimes asked Prince Itô to judge between us. One day, when we had a more than usually violent dispute at Chigasaki, the prince came in unexpectedly, and I asked him to decide on the question.

"He declined, while proposing the following solution: 'Go down into the garden, both of you, and fight it out like wrestlers. The one that wins right'ly will be the one who is in the right.'"

"No sooner said than done! In a trice Kawakami and I were in wrestling trim. My husband was just recovering from a serious illness, and being weak, I soon threw him to the ground. This amused the prince enormously."—Paris Figure

NO CHOICE IS MADE FOR U. S. SENATOR

Favorite Sons Remembered On Initial Ballot

JOINT SESSION WEDNESDAY

Senator Lafayette Young in Lead of Republican Candidates and Claude R. Porter Has Full Democratic Vote—Move by Hammill to Abolish Office of Printer and Binder—Oregon Bills Are Before Both Houses.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 17.—The Thirty-fourth General Assembly of the state convened in the second week of its sessions at 10 o'clock this morning with all the members in their seats and ready for the arduous duties ahead of them. The most strenuous of these duties is that of electing a United States senator to fill the Dooliver vacancy.

The first ballot on that selection was taken at noon today and its result demonstrated that there is little likelihood of the legislature reaching an agreement on any one of the candidates. For the democrats Claude R. Porter is the only candidate who has been generally understood that the minority party would cast their votes for. Hon. Dan Hamilton of the Sixth Congressional district, but at a caucus the sentiment was shown to be strongly for Mr. Porter and Hamilton's name was not presented.

The vote in the legislature today was by the two houses in separate session. The hopeless division of the republicans was shown in the result. The 104 votes of the majority party in the two houses were divided amongst half a dozen candidates with Hon. Lafayette Young, the present senator by appointment of Governor Carroll, leading all others. Considerable strength was also shown by Judge Kenyon and Hon. A. B. Funk of Spirit Lake, while also ran were Warren Garst, H. W. Byers, Carl Franke and Guy Feely.

At noon tomorrow the two houses will meet in joint session and the first joint ballot will be taken. This ballot it is expected will show 54 votes for Porter, 40 for Senator Young and about 10 for Judge Kenyon. Funk will be close to Kenyon with 15 or 16 votes and Garst is expected to muster about a dozen. Then will come Byers with 9 votes, Feely with 5 and Franke with 3.

The result announced will be "no choice" and the joint session will dissolve to be convened again at noon on Thursday and at the same hour each day of the session thereafter until a senator is elected.

To politicians who are giving the matter the closest attention the probability of the legislature choosing a man to fill the Dooliver vacancy is considered very remote. It is pointed out by these observers as pretty certain that if a senator is chosen it will be one of two men—Judge Kenyon or Senator Young. These men are the two strong factors in the contest today, and there is a possibility that a break some day before long may come to one or the other of them, and it is more likely to come to Judge Kenyon than to Senator Young.

If neither Young or Kenyon can be elected there are remaining but two courses open to the legislators. One is to put the whole matter away from them by fixing a law for a special primary, and, failing to do this, the legislature is to continue the joint assembly in deadlock and inaction, leaving Senator Cummins as the upper representative of Iowa in the upper house of congress. And of all the possibilities here outlined it appears that the most probable one is the situation stands at present, is for a final deadlock and only one Iowa senator at Washington.

To Abolish Printer and Binder. Senator John Hammill of Hancock county has introduced a bill, in accordance with the recommendation of the joint assembly, to abolish the office of printer and binder and the putting in vogue in Iowa the contract system of securing printing and binding for the state. Senator Hammill's bill is patterned to some extent after the Wisconsin law. It declares the offices of state printer and binder to be abolished and that the terms of office of E. D. Chassel, present state binder, and Emory H. English, present state printer, shall expire June 30 of the present year. This would cut their third terms in the offices which began the first day of the present month.

The bill also provides that the governor, secretary of state, auditor of state and treasurer of state, the present executive council, shall be the printing and binding commission of the state and that all contracts for work shall be let under their supervision. The method of procedure for the letting of the contracts by the commission is provided in the bill. It is provided that they must prepare and publish specifications for bids in six different papers of general circulation throughout the state and that not more than two of these papers shall be published in Des Moines. All bids must be prepared and made on a per centum rate of discount from the rates fixed by the code. The state's interests are to be safeguarded from irresponsible bidders by the requirement of heavy bonds accompanying each bid and for the faithful performance of the work by the successful bidder. The amount is given full authority to reject any or all bids if in their judgment a combination of the bidders is shown in the offers made. They also have the right under the bill to take work from all over the United States if they find that it is being secured in a satisfactory manner and to let the same in open competition, compelling the contractor if the expense thus incurred is more than it would have been under the original contract to make up to the state the difference in cost. One bidder may be successful in landing the contract for both the state printing and state binding or the work may be given to a number of bidders. The bill provides that the state shall not only furnish all paper stock used under present law, but that it shall also printer material needed by the printer and binder. Provision is also made in the bill for the employment by the council of an expert printer to have charge of the detail work at a salary not to exceed $1,800 a year.

It is understood that this is but one of several bills which will come before the legislature having in view the abolishment of these two offices. Senator Smith of Cass county is said to have such a bill ready to present and Senator Gilliland is preparing one having the same object in view.

Two Oregon Bills Are In. The so-called Oregon primary election bill devised for the purpose of giving the voters direct power in saying who shall represent them in the senate of the United States is now before the legislature for consideration. The other bill, which is said to be ready for introduction in the legislature, is the Oregon primary election bill, which is said to be ready for introduction in the legislature.

In this move the republicans stole a march on the democratic house leader, Representative O'Connor of Chicago, who had a like measure in his pocket, awaiting the action of the Speaker in naming his committees so it could be properly referred when presented. The O'Connor bill was later presented and is to be known as the democratic measure, having the approval of the party caucus. It provides as follows: That the code be amended by adding to section 1087 the following: "In case an elector seeks the nomination for office of senator or representative in the general assembly, he shall be furnished on application to the secretary of state an affidavit blank form as required herein, save that there shall be printed on blank form and on the same sheet of paper, by way of addition thereto, the following statement: 'I hereby declare that I seek the nomination for office of senator or representative in the general assembly of the United States with out regard to my individual preference.'"

Statement No. 1.—"I hereby declare that if elected to the office which I seek I will during the term of my office always vote for the candidate for senator in the congress of the United States who has received the highest number of votes for that office in the general election next preceding the election of senator in the congress of the United States with out regard to my individual preference."

Statement No. 2.—"I hereby declare that if elected to the office which I seek I shall consider the vote of the people for senator in the congress of the United States as binding on me and I will vote for the candidate who has received the highest number of votes for that office in the general election next preceding the election of senator in the congress of the United States with out regard to my individual preference."

Under the name of each candidate for the legislature on the official election ballot there is to be printed the substance of whichever of these two statements which he shall sign.

The O'Connor bill also amends the present law so that a party convention can be assembled to fill a vacancy in the legislature on a caucus or otherwise.

Bill Numerous in Early Days. The first four days of the session last week saw the beginning of the flood of bills which will come before the assembly for consideration.

Among the bills was one by Harding for the legislature on the special primary for the nomination of a candidate for the United States senate. The bill is general in its scope and while it applies to the condition now existing in Iowa, will also if adopted in the future, give the governor power to call a special primary at date not less than thirty days after it shall have been adopted by the legislature and have become effective by publication.

TO REOPEN BALLINGER CASE

SENATOR PURCELL WOULD FORCE VOTE ON REPORT.

Declares He Will Press Resolution to Have Findings of Investigating Committee Balloted On.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Renewal of the fight on Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, is contemplated by a resolution introduced by Senator Purcell of Idaho today.

The resolution seeks to force out into the open the report of the joint congressional committee that investigated the charges made against the cabinet officer by Gifford Pinchot, former chief of the conservation department. The report has been in the possession of the senate and house for some time, but no action has been taken on it, both branches apparently being willing to let the matter remain as it is.

The resolution in part reads: "It is the sense of the senate that the findings and conclusions reported by certain members of said committee to the effect that Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, has not been true to the trust reposed in him as such secretary, that his administration of that office has been marked by a lack of fidelity to the public interests and that he is not deserving of public confidence and should no longer be retained in that office, are based upon and in substantial conformity with the evidence reported by the committee."

Senator Purcell is a member of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee and in response to an inquiry he said that it was his purpose to press the resolution to a vote if possible.

Architects in San Francisco. San Francisco, Jan. 17.—Architects from all over the United States arrived in this city today to attend the sessions of the American Institute of Architects. A brief business meeting was held this morning and then the members scattered for sight seeing for the rest of the day. Tonight the Fairmount hotel, and tomorrow the real work of the convention will be taken up. There will be many social events and excursions during the week that the convention lasts.

Woman Author at Home. Home-made jam is gradually disappearing from the twentieth century European household. And yet 60 years ago George Sand, who treated most of her domestic duties somewhat lightly, was discovered by a visitor wearing a cotton dress and a big apron, and skimming a panful of fruit destined for the jam-pot. "It is not easy work," she remarked. "I find it harder to make good jam than to write 'Valentine' or 'Mauprat'; but there are some tasks one cannot leave to others."

Dying by Haives. By falling from a cart, a Chinaman, whose life was insured for a large amount, was seriously hurt. There was some doubt as to his ever getting better, and at length one of his friends wrote to the insurance company: "Hong Wang Lee half dead; likee half money!"—Tit-Bits.

The Mind's Power. "Zola," said a psychologist, "once wrote in a lady's album that his favorite amusement was writing; and his favorite wish a sudden death." Zola died suddenly. "And it is a strange thing," said the psychologist, "that those who prefer a sudden death usually have their preference gratified."
