

ANNUAL MILITARY BALL THURSDAY EVENING

SIXTH ANNUAL EVENT OF COMPANY WILL BE HELD AT ARMORY.

IOWA DAIRY SPECIAL COMING

A Program Will Be Given at City Hall During The Evening.

The Sixth Annual Military ball given by Company D, Iowa National Guard of this city will be held at the Armory Thursday evening, February 2. The military balls of the past have always been largely attended and the one of this year will undoubtedly meet with at least as great success as those of previous years.

The company has been to considerable expense in re-arranging the Armory. A new assembly room and a room for new officers have been made and the building has been decorated in a suitable manner for the occasion. Carpenter's orchestra, consisting of six pieces, which has always been a favorite with the dancing public of this section has been secured to furnish the music and will give a concert preceding the commencement of dancing. The concert will begin at 8:30 sharp.

Supper will be served at the G. A. R. hall by the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps. Tickets to dance, $1.00. Spectators 25 cents. Ladies free. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

COUNTERFEIT BILLS.

Advices from Washington are to the effect that a bad spot in President Harrison's whiskers in a portrait of him on a $5 bill has betrayed a gang of counterfeiters. The secret service men have picked up the new $5 note. It is a counterfeit of the Citizens National Bank, Waterbury, Conn. It was made by a photo mechanical process and is of a fair quality of paper. It has none of the silk threads, and it will be very easy to detect.

FOUR YEAR TERMS IN COUNTY OFFICES.

The county officials of this and other Iowa counties are very much interested in the work of the legislative committee of the District Court Clerk's Association of Iowa, which is back of a movement to get a new law providing for four-year terms for all county officers instead of two.

The county officers claim that increasing the length of terms of office will result beneficially in many ways. They maintain that the efficiency in office will be greater, because officers will not be worrying over whether or not they will be replaced by some one else at the end of their first terms. A saving in election expense is also cited, from the fact of reducing the length of ballot. To combat the statement that, should an incompetent officer be elected, it would be too long before he could be replaced by another, the county officials state that the primary generally insures the selection of good men. The officials claim that four-year terms would invite more competent men to seek office than under the present arrangement, and cite the experiences in other states where the four-year term has been adopted.

In creating a new law the county officials would have uniformity in all county offices, making the supervisors' terms four instead of three, and all others four instead of two. It is claimed that the different officers would be satisfied with four-year terms and would not run for reelection after finishing one term. The point is also made that the new law would be especially beneficial in the offices of clerk of the district court and sheriff that their terms might coincide with the office of district judge, which is at present a four-year term.

G. S. ACRES BUYS VACUUM CLEANER.

G. S. Acres has purchased a Little Giant House Cleaner which is considered one of the best vacuum cleaners on the market. The cleaner is run by a six horse power engine and is warranted to do first class work in every respect. The machine will clean walls, upholstered furniture, mattresses and in fact nearly everything in which dust or dirt can find lodgment. Mr. Acres will use the machine to do custom work and can thoroughly clean a house in a few hours time without the bother of moving the furniture from the rooms in which it is situated and at a less cost than where the work is done by hand. One advantage claimed for the vacuum cleaner is that the wear on articles cleaned is not nearly so great as where they are cleaned by the old method of pounding. Your attention is called to the advertisement of Mr. Acres which appears in another column of this paper.

MRS. JOHN MOSIER.

Mrs. John Mosier, one of the early settlers of this county, died at Rockham, South Dakota, January 22, 1911, and the remains were brought to this city for burial last Wednesday.

In 1856 she and her husband moved to this county and settled near Spring Branch, where they resided until 1870 when they moved to Howard county. Mr. Mosier died in 1880 and since that time Mrs. Mosier has made her home with her son and daughter, C. H. Mosier and Mrs. G. N. Kenyon, who formerly resided at Masonville, but who are now located at Rockham, South Dakota.

We have not heard the extent of his injuries.

At the William Flashaar home on Tuesday morning, January 24, occurred the death of Mrs. Sophia Helmbrodt, Mrs. Flashaar's sister. Her death was very sudden and unexpected. She had been ailing for less than a week with a cold. On Monday she was stricken with paralysis. She sank rapidly until death came. She was a widow and had made her home here with her sister, by whom she will be greatly missed. The remains were taken to Dubuque for her former home for burial.

SALT ON SIDEWALKS IS UNHEALTHY.

And now comes an announcement that the practice of putting salt on icy sidewalks to melt the ice is not only hard on the feet of pedestrians, but it is also unhealthy. A neighboring county newspaper, after noting that the practice is prohibited by ordinance in some cities, says: "The putting down of salt converts the snow and ice into a slush that threatens health and the destruction of shoe leather, rubber and the hoofs of horses. A physician of a nearby town speaking of this matter says that to sprinkle salt on the sidewalks over which many pedestrians pass each day was a common way to breed pneumonia and diphtheria germs and it is also the opinion of physicians, he said, that when the salt adheres to one's shoes, and when they become saturated with the mineral, the salt acts as a preservative of cold the same as it does in freezing ice cream. Once the salt has penetrated the soles of shoes it is there to stay, and not only will it cause the wearer of the shoes much discomfort, but it lessens the life of the leather. There are dangerous walks in town and it requires something to make them safe for pedestrians, but instead of using salt for that purpose, a little sand or ashes will have a much better and healthier effect. Where the walks have been treated with salt, it is readily seen by pedestrians and the wet snow resulting is traced half a block away, clinging to rubbers and leather shoes."

PREFERS HIS IOWA FARM.

Texas Stands Up For Iowa in Letter.

"I have a twenty-two acre farm in Iowa and I would not sell it for $15,000. I would rather have this little farm than four sections of Panhandle land."

From Texas this letter came to an agricultural paper in Des Moines and yesterday a copy of it was forwarded to the Greater Des Moines committee.

The former Iowa left his native state for the south four years ago. According to his letter if he had not accepted a farm paper's advice to keep cattle he would not have been able to make a living in the "semiarid country."

"It is too hot for comfort about six months in the year," was the statement in a letter received from an Illinois man who settled in Arizona after leaving college. He said that he was compelled to send his wife north two or three months of the year. He had retired of the Greater Des Moines committee where he can find a "good, live place" in the north in which to locate.—Register and Leader.

NO HOPE OF FRUIT CROP.

C. E. Mincer of Hamburg, Iowa, an expert fruit raiser who was practically the only orchardist in Iowa who produced apples last year, having expended a large sum in the use of oil burners in his orchards, gives out a doleful report on the fruit prospects of the state for this year, predicting a repetition of last year's almost total loss of fruit.

Mr. Mincer says that the peaches are already killed and that the apples are in a fair way to be killed also. He says also that reports indicate there will be no peaches in several adjoining states. "The warm fall caused the apple buds to develop quite rapidly," says Mr. Mincer, "and this warm weather is causing still further development, and many kinds look as if just a short season of warm weather would put them in bloom. It certainly looks like a repetition of last spring, for they will be in bloom early and a slight frost will kill them." — Register and Leader.

WHAT THE FEBRUARY WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION CONTAINS

The February number of Woman's Home Companion is a delightful St. Valentine number. There is a special valentine song, valentine ideas, and a valentine booklet. The fiction includes another part of "The Admiral's Niece," a story by Kate Douglas Wiggin and her collaborators, which is making a big hit; "In the Land of Tomorrow," by Maude Radford Warren is now in its second part and is proving most exciting. Short stories in this number are contributed by such well-known authors as Alice Brown, Hubert Footner, Owen Oliver and Mary Heaton Vorse.

The third part of "Spain's Royal Love Story," by Kollogg Durand is devoted entirely to the story of the three little children of the King and Queen of Spain and is a charming and homelike tale. Frank A. Waugh opens our eyes to the beauty of the winter forest in an article entitled "My Tree Friends in Winter." Kate V. Saint-Maur in a short article entitled "The Care of Cage Birds," gives us valuable information concerning our feathered pets. "American Portrait Painters," by J. Nilsen Laurik, is the first of a new series on art in America, and love scenes from the most popular plays of the season are shown.

The Home Decoration and Handicraft Department is even more comprehensive than usual, taking up the questions of the small apartment and the country house. "Daddy Darling and the Kewpies" still makes fun for the children, and "The Adventures of Jack and Betty" form one of the most enthralling of little folk's adventures. Miss Gould's Fashion Department is excellent with modish and useful suggestions.
