

DASTARDLY ASSAULT UPON LESLIE L. HOYT

STRUCK BY A CHICAGO THUG AND PROBABLY FATALY WOUNDED.

ASSAILANT ARRESTED AND IN JAIL

Injured Man in Paralyzed Condition in Emergency Hospital in Chicago.

Leslie L. Hoyt, who had been in Chicago for a week or ten days prior to last Thursday on business connected with the settlement of his uncle's estate, was murdered as he sat at a table in a restaurant at a thug, called Butch.

At the time of the assault, Mr. Hoyt, was on the sidewalk just across the street from the Kaiserhof Hotel, which is near the Chicago post office, and in one of the best lighted and most frequented sections of the city. A saloon in that vicinity was being closed for the night, and two men, one of them the notorious Butch, accompanied by two women came out of the saloon and some of the party spoke to Mr. Hoyt. No angry or insulting words were exchanged, but Butch, who was somewhat fired by liquor, probably wanted to demonstrate his slugging abilities before his woman companion, who, by the way, was the young wife of another man, struck Mr. Hoyt a savage blow which felled him to the sidewalk, he being striking upon a stone and causing, probably fatal injuries. A man who was repairing the street car line, and only a few feet away says, that one of the women tried to lift Mr. Hoyt's head up after he fell, and when she discovered his limp and apparently lifeless condition, cried out that he was dead. The two couple then ran to the first street corner where they got into an automobile, and started away at a rapid speed. The street car man followed them to the automobile, and tried to hold on behind the machine until he could secure their arrest, but the street was so rough that he was thrown off, and for a time Butch succeeded in making his escape. The street car man, however, gave a good description of the two couple to the police, and materially assisted the officers in arresting Butch, who is now in jail where he will be held without examination until further developments in Mr. Hoyt's condition.

Butch is a character well known to the police. We are informed that he is a professional slinger, who takes on jobs, such as strike breaking, and at times engages in other work of a more questionable nature. The women have made statements to the officers in which they fully exonerate Mr. Hoyt from in any manner provoking the assault which was made upon him by Butch.

With his face covered with blood, and in an insensible condition, Mr. Hoyt was immediately taken to an emergency hospital where every thing possible is being done to save his life. The doctors think that there is a clot of blood in the base of his brain, which is paralyzing one side of his body. The clot is located where relief cannot be afforded from an operation, and his condition is exceedingly serious.

Tuesday forenoon, February 28, Mr. M. F. LeRoy of this city received the following dispatch from Senator Hoyt, who is at his brother's bedside:

"Bad turn during night. Doctors much discouraged this morning. Ned."

And just before this paper went to press the following message was received:

Chicago, Illinois, Feb 28, 1911.

M. F. LeRoy,
Manchester, Iowa.

Leslie's condition very desperate. Doctors give almost no encouragement. Ned.

1:19 p. m.

Immediately after the receipt of this last dispatch Mr. LeRoy started for Chicago to join Senator Hoyt at the bedside of their stricken kinsman.

And after Mr. LeRoy had started for Chicago the following message was received:

February 28, 1911.

M. F. LeRoy,
Manchester, Iowa.

Leslie cannot last the day. Come in. E. H. Hoyt.

3:08 p. m.

A COMMERCIAL CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED IN MANCHESTER.

A number of Manchester business men met in Joseph Hutchinson's office Monday evening for the purpose of considering the advisability of organizing a commercial club in this city. After a liberal exchange of views it was decided to call a public meeting to be held at the Council Rooms next Friday evening at 7:15 P. M.

A committee consisting of A. S. Blair, H. L. Rann, J. F. Moore, E. E. Gilder, F. D. Joseph and Webb Lammman was appointed to make arrangements for the Friday evening meeting.

There is no good reason why Manchester should not become a city of at least 5,000 population during the next ten years. No city in the state can offer better or more healthful home surroundings, and shipping facilities are all that any manufacturer could reasonably desire.

We understand that at the present time there are several industries knocking at the doors of the city for admittance, but that there is no one here authorized to extend to them an official hand of welcome, or invite them, on behalf of the city, to come in and abide with us.

CATHOLIC FAIR.

The annual Catholic fair held at the Central Opera House Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of last week was a grand success.

The local thespians rendered the play in a very creditable manner and the characters from top to bottom were well taken care of. Wm. Evans, who had the play in charge, is deserving of considerable credit for the success attained.

On Thursday and Friday evenings, large numbers attended the dances, which were the principal amusements furnished for these evenings. Carpenter's Harp orchestra furnished excellent music for these occasions.

TWO ECLIPSES DURING 1911.

The second, an annual eclipse of the sun, will be invisible in America. The Easter season will come comparatively late this season. March 1st will be Ash Wednesday. Palm Sunday will be on April 9th and Easter Sunday on April 16th. Hence Pentecost will be on June 4. Memorial day and the Fourth of July will fall on a Tuesday this year. Labor day will be on September 4. Christmas, December 25, will be on a Monday.

PIONEER BUSINESS MAN PASSES AWAY

DAVID R. LEWIS SUCCUMBS AFTER ILLNESS OF SEVERAL MONTHS.

DEATH OF MRS WILLIAM PEMBLE

Funeral Held From Home Sunday and Interment Made in Oakland Cemetery.

DAVID R. LEWIS.

In the death of David R. Lewis which occurred on Wednesday of last week, Manchester lost its pioneer business man. He engaged in the jewelry business here with his brother Charles in 1857, under the familiar firm name of D. R. Lewis & Bro. Charles Lewis preceded his brother in death several years ago but the firm name has remained unchanged until the present time. Mr. Lewis was actively engaged in the jewelry business here for fifty-four years, a record for continuous business service which is not equaled in this community by any living man.

Mr. Lewis has not been in good health for several months although he was able to be about until a short time before his death. The funeral was held on Friday afternoon from the residence of his son J. W. Lewis, Rev. J. F. Moore officiating. Interment was made in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Lewis was born in Keene, Essex county, New York, May 14, 1832, and as a young man came with his parents to Waukegan, Illinois, where he served a thorough apprenticeship as a watchmaker. This was about 1851. In 1856 he and his brother Charles, who died here in 1898, came farther west on a prospecting tour, visiting various points in eastern Iowa and finally settling in Leota in Manchester, where they did in 1857, opening in partnership the jewelry store which all these years has retained the heading of D. R. Lewis & Bro. On December 28, 1883, Mr. Lewis was married to Miss Catherine C. Manning, of this city, and to that union the two surviving sons, J. W. Lewis and Jess G. Lewis were born. Mrs. Lewis died in 1876 at the age of only 21 years. Mr. Lewis was the last of his family. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. Lodge.

Through all of his long business career in this city the deceased maintained a reputation for honesty and fidelity that was never questioned. He was popular among his friends, a kind and indulgent father, and a man of the best impulses. The many who have known him for so many years and also the younger ones of the community with whom he was a favorite deeply regret the passing of this pioneer resident.

MRS. WILLIAM PEMBLE.

The death of Mrs. William Pemble occurred at her home in this city on last Thursday evening, February 23, 1911, after a lingering illness caused by Bright's disease. The funeral services were held from the home on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. Black, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. Interment was made in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Pemble was born in Birmingham, England, on July 19, 1843, and came to Delaware county thirty-two years ago and making her home in Manchester ever since. Miss Jane Smith was united in marriage to William Pemble on February 17, 1865. Mr. Pemble's death occurred in this city on July 26, 1910. The deceased was survived by three daughters and one son, Alice, May and Edith Pemble, all of this city, and Alvin Pemble of Greeley, Iowa.

Mrs. Pemble was a faithful member of the Methodist Episcopal church. She was a good woman, and a kind and affectionate mother. The members of the family have the entire sympathy of their friends in their bereavement.

SCHOOL ELECTION, MARCH 16TH

Directors of the local independent school district to succeed J. S. Jones and W. D. Hoyt will be chosen at the school election to be held on March 16, the terms of the two members of the board, only expiring with the present year. J. J. Lindsay, H. C. Smith and F. E. Richardson were chosen for terms not closing with the 1911 election, and F. E. Dutton was elected treasurer for the two-year term in 1910.

An important matter which comes up in discussion of the Manchester schools has arisen through the inadequacy of the present High school building for the present greatly increased enrollment. With an assembly room seating capacity of 120 students the enrollment now reaches 175.

By way of merely informal discussion of the demand for enlarged high school quarters, patrons and those associated in the school work have suggested that eventually changes in the building will be found necessary.

There still remains outstanding High school bonds to the amount of $7,000, and according to estimates it will require some three years to wipe out the indebtedness.

Phelps, division passenger agent for the Illinois Central at Dubuque, has been appointed general passenger agent of the Northern and Western lines of the company with headquarters in Chicago, succeeding S. His many Manchester friends will be pleased to learn of Mr. Morrissey's advancement which brings him and his family to Dubuque.
