

The Wickedest City in the World

The Cossacks Left One Evening About Dusk With the Gold They Had Been Assigned to Guard.

IRKUTSK, Siberia.—There is no doubt about it—this is the wickedest city in the world! One would hardly come to Irkutsk for a rest cure. With a population of 50,000 persons crammed into a couple of square miles on a bend in the Angara river, it produces 500 murders a year, with an average of one arrest for each 50 killings, and for each ten arrests there are but five convictions. This is not unbecomingly a transcription from the city's criminal records. In one day this month there 22 murders and attempted murders within the city limits! Then the few citizens who didn't quite like so much conspicuous murder began to talk of leaving the vigilance committee for a much smaller sum. They are not, however, those whose memories harked back a little disquieted them, writes a correspondent of the New York World.

"The vigilantes are worse than the murderers!" was the burden of their arguments, which were only too true. A handful of law-abiding citizens got up the idea of a vigilance committee not so long ago. The plan was enthusiastically received by Irkutsk's ex-convict population and they associated thugs themselves. They controlled by the score, got together a compact organization and volunteered their services. The governor granted them exceptional power—oh, now crime would be stamped out in short order!

Now there is a great deal of deference between an Irkutsk policeman and a western guardian of the peace. The difference is in price; the Irkutsk policeman turns his head the other way for a much smaller sum. But then he only gets $10 a month and he needs the extra money, no matter how little it be.

New Vigilance Committee Worked. Well, the first thing the new vigilance committee did was to get the police on their side—which was easy. Then began the shooting of rich merchants in broad daylight, under cover of "house-inspection" and "penal confiscation" burglary blossomed forth on every hand. Very soon it took all the power the government commanded to rid Irkutsk of this vigilance committee which was only vigilant for its own best interests.

"Well," says Irkutsk's none too large law-abiding population, "they were no worse than the Cossacks," which is strictly true. For example, a few years ago all the gold mined in eastern Siberia had to pass through the government laboratory at Irkutsk. As a matter of fact only about 40 per cent of it did. The other 60 per cent went to the local Chinese "dealers in gold" and journeyed back to the celestial empire in many and devious ways—quite a quantity packed in the corpses of coffined Chinamen being returned to the east for burial among their ancestors. In spite of that gold was transported free of freight charges from St. Petersburg and Moscow in steel cars labeled "Powder"—cars militant with painted imperial eagles and Cossack guards. At Irkutsk the powder cars were shunted off to the barracks and the gold was put in a perfectly safe place at the end of the rails entering the officers' mess store shed in the barracks west of the big girder bridge over the Irkut river. A colonel of one regiment openly boasted in the Metropole restaurant the other night that more champagne was drunk in Irkutsk in one month during the Japanese war than is sold on Broadway, New York, in half a year.

The fun at Irkutsk starts at midnight; the city is as dead as a Sunday in an hour before. Then the moving picture shows, of which there are three to a block on the Bolshoi'skaya, spin off their last films and the miners and mining engineers—for all the world goes to moving picture shows in the towns of Siberia—crowd into the restaurants.

Gay Life at Night. You enter a pair of swinging doors, kick off your felt snow boots, hand your furs to an attendant, and pass into a long room thronged with diners, gay with the uniform of the garrison, and women in smart Parisian costumes. At the far end is a small stage on which a score of girls in a minimum of skirt and a maximum of ermine go through double shuffles and dances executed with a degree of incompetency that would bring a blush to the damask cheek of a Bowery soubrette. A turn finished, the performers or singers skip down the aisle with the audience, scattering around the tables and ordering the costliest fruits and rarest wines that the management surpasses itself in providing. Gay music, crude vaudeville—crude, but going with a genuine nerve and snap which is lacked by many a better show—fine fare after the unpeppable desolation of the frozen Siberia wilds, keeps up until dawn.

Here, too, the sons of Uncle Sam keep the old flag flying. Last year there were, for instance, the young Harvard graduate of a burg in the north of Pennsylvania and his friend the clergyman's son. They sojourned here for three hectic weeks, spending $25,000 in our hotel during that time. The Harvard man disbursed $1,000 in one day, and another day had $2,500 stolen from his person. The parson's son always kept, and showed good sense in keeping, a loaded Browning in one hip pocket, but he spoiled this display of prudence, by keeping a wad of 20,000 rubles ($10,000) in the other, to clinch by the ready money lure any rich bargain in mines that he might chance to run across.

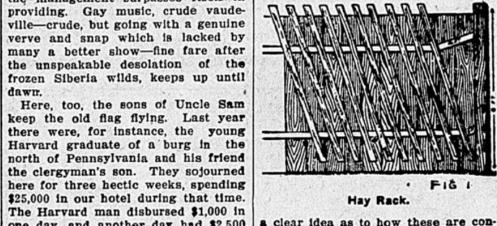

The management of the Metropole must have a curious admixture of interest and thankfulness for our Americans. The last Yankee staying here was a professional "ossified man"; and the manager is informing all the guests this week, much to their fascination, that one of us is Wilbur Wright's brother. We hoped to extend a good interview to a reporter of the "Siberian" giving the latest news of our departure—not before, as there

LIVE STOCK

RACKS AND BUNKS FOR FEED

Dominion of Canada Live Stock Commission Issues Bulletin on Beef Production.

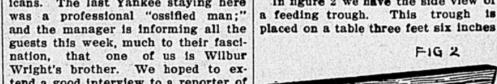

A bulletin recently published by the Dominion of Canada live stock commissioner on the subject of beef production is intended to throw light on every detail of the stock feeding business. Among other things the question of feed bunks and feed racks is taken up and the accompanying illustrations taken from this bulletin give a clear idea as to how these are constructed.

In figure 1 we have a hay rack that has been made on a corrugated fence. It is made of 1x4 battens, these being high enough so that the cattle cannot bring much pressure on them. A space of about six inches is left open at the bottom between the battens and the fence, the purpose of this being to allow the old uneven hay and rubbish to fall out, thus keeping the racks clean.

wide with a 2x4 or 2x6-inch scantling around the edge to keep the meal from falling or blowing off. It should be elevated 2 1/2 or three feet from the ground and placed so that the cattle can feed from both sides. Twelve feet is a convenient length, though there is

PROTECT STOCK FROM FLIES

Excellent Mixture to Keep Troublesome Insects From Milk Cows and Other Farm Animals.

To protect milk cows and young stock and horses from the common house fly and the more troublesome wood fly the following mixture may be used without injury to the animal to which it is applied. It is an excellent and economical remedy. It is as follows: One gallon of fish oil, four ounces of turpentine, one pint of coal oil, one ounce of the oil of cedar and one ounce of carbolic acid. Mix thoroughly. Stir the contents before using. Spray a small quantity of this or apply with a paint brush to each animal once a week. A small quantity will answer.

The following formula is recommended by Professor Whipple, of the Cornell Agricultural College: Resin, one and a half pounds; laundry soap, two cakes; fish oil, a half pint, and water to make three gallons. Dissolve the resin in solution of soap and water by boiling together. Add fish oil and brush.

Matteson's formula is: Fish oil, three quarts; crude petroleum, one quart, and carbolic acid, one ounce. Mix well. One-half pint will cover a horse and a cow; but on a spray pump. These formulas are all good. Their use will prevent the cows from being annoyed by the flies when at pasture or in the stable. Cows so treated will keep in better flesh and they will give more milk.

Tender-Mouthed Horses.

For tender-mouthed horses use a large, smooth mouthpiece, with leather check pieces, so as to let the bit rest on the corners of the mouth, and not in the mouth. If this does not answer, wind the bit with a piece of chamois skin, first saturating it with tannin or alum, to harden the mouth.

Trees Afford Comfort.

A few trees in the pasture add greatly to the comfort of the sheep, because of the shade they afford. If you can't have them, set up a few posts and cover a bit of ground over for a shed.

Disease Spreads Fast.

Diseases get a fast hold of many a flock of sheep through foul drinking water. Never give stagnant water if you can help it.

Special Asparagus Knives.

Special asparagus knives are on the market and are generally used by extensive growers.

HAY AND HOG RACK COMBINED

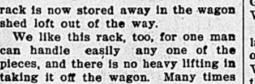

Found Very Satisfactory to Ohio Farmer Who Has Been Using One for Fifteen Years.

We have been using for the past 15 years a combination rack, which we think very well of, writes Geo. W. Brown of Hancock county, Ohio, in the Farm and Home. It is 15 1/2 feet long and 7 1/2 feet wide when wings are attached, all made from dressed red elm, painted well with venetian red paint.

The side (a) are 2x8, and cross-sills (c) 2x5, and to each cross-sill, as shown, are clips (d) attached for setting the side wings upright (as shown in cross-section, Fig 1), in using it for a hog rack, hauling corn, pumpkins, etc. These cross-sills are 4 1/2 feet long, and the clips set to the ends in order to make a good width for the stock rack.

For use as a roughage rack the wings (e) are slipped in over the main sills, and beneath the planks (b) fitted to underdrive cross-sills, making a rack bottom with wings flaring upward (as shown in cross-section, Fig 2), sufficient to make a very nice rack for loading baled hay or straw. The bottom of the rack is made of 1x2 compact together, rather than outward, as when hauling upon a flat-bottom rack.

The same end gates (f) are used in all events, and fit snugly into clips provided at each end of the rack. Both the end gates and side wings are made interchangeable, and in putting the rack together for use there is no fixed rule for fitting the pieces. Our rack is now stored away in the wagon shed left out of the way.

We like this rack, too, for one man can handle easily any one of the pieces, and there is no heavy lifting in taking out of the wagon. Many farmers use only the center portion upon the low wagon for hauling fodder.

BLOAT OF CATTLE OR SHEEP

Disease is Excessive Accumulation of Gas in Paunch—Relief Afforded by Trochar and Canula.

(By DR. F. R. HADLEY, College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin.)

From now until the close of the pasturing season, cattle and sheep will be subject to bloat and hovers. This disease is an excessive accumulation of gas in the paunch, and is usually brought about by permitting animals to pasture on clover or alfalfa which is wet from early dew or rain. Large quantities of water are also given to the animals, especially in the spring following winter feeding on dry foods, or in the late summer when the herds and flocks are turned into the second crop after the usual pastures are dried up or closely cropped.

Bloat of the paunch is a distension of the paunch noted in the left flank. Relief, which must be immediate if effective, is best afforded by the trochar and canula. This instrument should be in the hands of every stockman. The proper place to insert the instrument is on the left side in a center of the triangular area bounded in front by the last rib, above by the lower edge of the loin muscles and behind by the hip bone. Leave the canula in position 10 or 15 minutes, reinserting in a freshly made opening if necessary. Medicinal treatment is of minor importance as a rule.

Prevention is easily carried out either by cutting the time at pasture to a few minutes each day until the stock becomes accustomed to the change of feeds, or by feeding large quantities of dry hay in the morning before they are turned out to the green pasture. In either case care should be taken that no moisture is present.

Scrub Sheep.

Scraggy, breedless scrubs are becoming scarcer every year. It has taken a long time to prove to the public that it costs no more to maintain a flock of first-class grades than a flock of scrubs, and that money returns from better sheep are far in excess of those realized from scrubs, says a writer in an exchange.

Poorly Balanced Horses.

A horse with a long back and slack loins is usually very poorly balanced in his action. His hind legs seem to be going one gait and his front ones another.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations proves the fact that ninety-eight per cent of the women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when you consider the number of women who are afflicted with these ailments, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first specialist in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising wrapper, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

50,000 NEEDED TO HARVEST WESTERN CANADA'S CROP

Will Take 160,000 Altogether to Take Care of Yield of Prairie Provinces.

One hundred and sixty-two thousand farm hands will be required this year to harvest the grain crops of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Of this number the Canadian help will provide about 112,000, which will leave about 50,000 extra farm hands. There is, therefore, a great demand for this class of laborers in all parts of Western Canada. In order to meet the requirements, the harvest has been arranged to grant very low railway rates from all boundary points reached by Canadian railways. In order to secure these rates it will be necessary for you to call on one of the following authorized agents for the Canadian government: M. V. McInnes, 176 Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Michigan; C. A. Laurier, Marquette, Michigan; J. S. Crawford, Syracuse, N. Y.; J. Thos. Hetherington, Room 202, 73 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.; H. M. Williams, 418 Gardner Bldg., Toledo, Ohio; Geo. Aird, 216 Tractor-Terminal Bldg., Indianapolis, Indiana; C. J. Broughton, Room 412 Merchants' Loan & Trust Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; Geo. A. Hall, 2nd Floor, 125 Second Street, Milwaukee, Wis.; E. T. Holmes, 315 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.; Chas. Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, N. D.; J. M. MacLachlan, Box 197, Watertown, S. D.; W. V. Bennett, Room 4, Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb.; W. H. Rogers, 125 West 9th Street, Kansas City, Mo.; Benj. Davies, Room 6, Dunn Block, Great Falls, Montana; J. B. Carboneau, Jr., 217 Main Street, Bldgford, Me.; J. N. Grievie, Auditorium Building, Spokane, Wash.

This will give to intending harvest laborers a splendid opportunity to look over the magnificent wheat fields of Western Canada and will give them the best evidence that can be secured of the splendid character of this country from the farmer's standpoint. There will be at least 200,000,000 bushels of wheat harvested within the area of the three provinces above named this year and it is expected that the yield will run from 15 to 25 bushels per acre. Many farmers, this year, will net, as a result of their labors, as much as $8 to $10 per acre and many of them will deposit as profits as much as $8,000 to $10,000.

The wide publicity that has been given to the harvest has resulted in a large number of immigrants being raised in central Alberta and southern Alberta, central Saskatchewan and southern Saskatchewan, and also in Manitoba, will increase the price of lands in these three provinces from $5 to $5 per acre to $10 per acre. The man who was fortunate enough to secure lands at from $12 to $20 per acre will have reason for gratification that he exercised sufficient forethought to be sure to make his application to any of the agents above mentioned that may be in your territory at as early a date as possible. Harvesting will commence about the 26th of July and continue for five or six weeks, when threshing will begin and there will be plenty of work until November.

Notwithstanding the great addition to the acreage this year over last and the large crop that will be ready for harvest by the time a homestead is allowed that the harvest will not be reaped successfully. There will be a great demand for these low rates during the next couple of months; be sure to make your application to any of the agents above mentioned that may be in your territory at as early a date as possible. Harvesting will commence about the 26th of July and continue for five or six weeks, when threshing will begin and there will be plenty of work until November.
