Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it swells and shuts off the hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; hence cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh of the Eustachian Tube, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by local applications, is cured by the

John Deere Spreader
The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle

The Simplest Spreader Made
No Clutches No Chains No Adjustments

Easy to Load Light Draft

Decided Improvement in Spreader Construction

Up to this time every spreader on the market has been constructed along the same lines. It is entirely new and there is nothing else like it on the market.

All the working parts are mounted on the axle. There are no struts and stresses on the sides of frame and no clutches or chains to get out of order.

The John Deere Spreader is low down, ready for business. It cannot get out of order.

There are at least two reasons why the John Deere Spreader is the best spreader made. One is that it has four sets of roller bearings in the front wheels and two on the main axle and beater. They reduce the draft materially.

Another reason is that the John Deere Spreader has few parts. It has about 150 less types of castings than the simplest spreader heretofore made. It is only natural that the fewer parts a machine has, the easier it will operate. When the John Deere Spreader is out of gear, it is simply a wagon.

Changes of load is accomplished by a double axle which is moved from the front to the rear by a simple lever. This also determines the number of teeth the ratchet engages at each stroke. The John Deere Spreader has a variation of from five to twenty-five loads to the acre.

Both the side sills in the John Deere Spreader are of high carbon channel steel with the channels turned to the inside. Into these hollows are fitted four large wooden cross bolts. These cross bolts are bolted to the side sills and are bolted to the axle. Built Like a Steel of frame of time.
