FRENCH CRUISER TORPEDOED BY AUSTRIAN SUBMARINE IN THE ADRIATIC.

REAR ADMIRAL IS MISSING

Leon Gambetta Sunk in Ten Minutes—One Hundred and Thirty-Six Rescued by Italian Vessels—Many Survivors in Dying Condition.

Paris, April 30.—The French cruiser Leon Gambetta was sunk by an Austrian submarine, with the loss of 578 of her crew of 714, in the Straits of Otranto, near the entrance of the Adriatic sea, which was officially announced by the ministry of marine on Wednesday.

The official announcement of the sinking follows: "The Leon Gambetta was sunk while cruising off the entrance of the Otranto canal. She went down in ten minutes. All the high officers died at their posts. One hundred and thirty-six sailors and petty officers were saved by Italian boats."

The Leon Gambetta had on board a crew numbering 714 men, including twenty-two officers. A majority of the men were asleep at the time the cruiser was struck. Those saved were virtually without clothing.

They were taken from the water in a pitiful condition. Some were wounded and others were almost unconscious, while all suffered from exposure.

The Gambetta parted company with the French cruiser Jules Ferry Tuesday night to cross the Straits of Otranto, with a view to co-operating with French ships in an attempt to block the Austrian fleet if it should seek to leave the Adriatic.

The submarine U-5 launched two torpedoes against the Gambetta, both of which were effective.

The Austrian submarine U-5 which sank the Leon Gambetta was commanded by Lieutenant George Ritter von Trapp.

Lamenting the loss of the Leon Gambetta, the Temps says: "The cruiser was a valuable unit of the French fleet."

The Leon Gambetta was engaged with other French cruisers in guarding the strait to prevent the passage of Austrian submarines to attack the allied fleet at the Dardanelles. The cruiser displaced 12,416 tons.

TWIN CITIES CASE DECIDED

Interstate Commerce Commission Rejects Proposal of Railroads East of Mississippi to Raise Rates.

Washington, April 30.—The interstate commerce commission on Wednesday rejected the proposal of railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio to establish a ninety-cent scale of class rates on rail-line and rail traffic from New York and the east to St. Paul and Minneapolis. The eighty-three cent scale was ordered to be maintained.

The proposal of the railroads to charge a twenty-cent scale on Wednesday differentials to Minneapolis and St. Paul over the rates to Duluth, also was rejected and a twenty-one cent scale ordered maintained.

This means that on traffic from the East twenty-one cents will be added to the rate to Duluth on Wednesday, and that on traffic to Minneapolis and St. Paul over the rates to Duluth, also was rejected and a twenty-one cent scale ordered maintained.

The case, known as the "Twin Cities Case," was one of the most important recently decided by the commission, as it affects a large volume of traffic over practically all western railroads.

James Gosson Appointed Successor—R. V. Newton Named to Succeed Judge Thomas Smith.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 27.—Donn M. Roberts, mayor of Terre Haute, was removed from office by impeachment of the city council, the vote being 7 to 3. The trial, which lasted nearly two days, came to an end shortly after two o'clock Thursday.

One ballot found Roberts guilty of the thirteen charges, including one that he was convicted in the federal court of election conspiracy, for which he is now in the Leavenworth prison, and the other was on impeachment.

The motion for impeachment was made by Ohm and seconded by Moninger. The motion to find Roberts guilty was made and seconded by the same men and the vote was the same on both.

James Gosson, acting mayor, addressed the council and promised his best service while in office. "I have nothing whatever to say," declared Donn M. Roberts, at the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., when informed of the action of Terre Haute city council in impeaching him.

Voorhees Newton judge of the city court of Terre Haute to succeed Judge Thomas Smith, now serving time in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., issued a statement at Indianapolis in which he expressed confidence that "former conditions, so much to be regretted, will never again be permitted in that city."

GREED OF THE CUTWORMS

"Cutworms are true burglars. As long as the day lasts they remain in hiding under sticks, stones or trash—or even below the surface of the ground; and as soon as night falls they come forth to steal the lives of tender plants. It is a wise precaution on the part of these insect burglars to hide during the day, for they are smooth and plump and just the sort of food titbit birds are always looking for. If these night prowling rascals would only stop and satisfy their hunger by eating the plants as they cut them down, they would be less rascally. But no! They go on appeasing their voracious appetites with merely what they bite out in cutting down the plants; thus a dozen plants lie flat and withered in the morning sun, sacrificed for one late dinner. "In this respect the cutworms resemble dogs which kill more sheep in a flock than they can eat." You can feed anybody flattery if you keep a sober face.

TAUGHT BY MOVING PICTURES

Students in Medical Schools Have a New and Valuable Course of Instruction.

The motion picture has invaded the realm of medical school instruction. The specialists in diagnosis have discovered that there is no other way in which they can so vividly present to medical students the difference in diagnosis between similar physical appearances as by means of the moving picture. Dr. J. Ivan Dufur, professor of nervous diseases at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, is the originator of this method of teaching which, it is believed, will revolutionize medical instruction. Doctor Dufur has, as the result of a year's labor, succeeded in preparing a set of reels, including demonstrations of actual cases of every one of the principal nervous diseases. Harrowing experiences were necessary in the preparation of some of these reels. Doctor Dufur and the photographer were locked for four hours at one time in a room with a dozen insane epileptics waiting for a characteristic fit. The osteopathic practitioners are greatly interested in this method of diagnosis and these reels are being exhibited at state conventions of that school of practice and are being used in their colleges.—Scientific American.

WILL REMAIN NEUTRAL

ITALY TO KEEP OUT OF THE GREAT CONFLICT.

Important Dispatches Sent Home by Teuton Ambassadors After Conference at Rome.

By BRIXTON ALLAIRE. International News Service Correspondent.

Rome, April 28.—Italy will not participate in the war. By remaining neutral she will win a greater victory than would be possible were she to enter either one of the hostile camps. This statement was made to the International News Service by the respondent by an official of the Italian government. For obvious reasons, he requested that his name should not be used.

A kaleidoscope change in the situation has developed during the last 24 hours. No stronger evidence of this fact than the foregoing statement. It came from an official who is in close touch with Italian and foreign diplomats.

Important code dispatches were sent to Berlin and Vienna by the German and Austrian ambassadors. These are believed to contain an important conclusion upon Italy's foreign relations, as their transmission followed a conference between Foreign Minister Sonnino and Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador. This meeting took place at the foreign office, and at its conclusion Prince von Buelow hurried to the Austrian embassy where Baron von Macchia, the Austrian envoy, was awaiting him.

The official who stated that Italy would not enter the war said that a full statement of the international situation as it involved Italy would be made by Signor Sonnino to parliament when it convened on May 12.

"This statement is expected to prove most satisfactory to Italy," he added. "In view of what is now known is almost impossible to conceive of parliament taking any stand in opposition to that which will be recommended by the government."

SAYS HUGHES CAUSED ROW

Colonel Roosevelt Asserts Fight on Barnes Was Undertaken at Request of the Governor.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 29.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt's fight on William Barnes in the Saratoga convention in 1910 was undertaken at the request of Gov. Charles E. Hughes, according to testimony given by Roosevelt in indirect examination in the $50,000 libel suit brought by Barnes. The colonel also admitted that his motive in consulting "Boss" Platt was to get the most "affirmative good legislation" he could at Albany.

"On many points I found Mr. Platt's advice invaluable," he said. "I consulted with him because of his wide experience. I became convinced in my own mind that the majority of the senate was under the control of the organization and that to get any affirmative good action I would have to go to the controlling power—Platt."
