WAR CONDITIONS IN NORTH WALES

RELIGIOUS SERVICES ARE CONDUCTED IN CAMPS FOR THE MEN.

SOLDIERS PREPARING FOR THE FRONT

Songs of Every Kind Are Sung and Many Sad Scenes are to Be Witnessed.

Rhyl, Wales, August 24th. We have been here for over a week now, and as I sit writing this article, I am wondering if I am becoming so accustomed to conditions over here, that I am in danger of passing over many things.

We are here, to conduct religious services in the camps for the men, and have already met with a wonderful response, hundreds of the soldiers having enrolled in the army of the King of Kings.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR THE WEEK.

The union evangelistic meetings will be held in the Congregational church for the rest of the week, beginning each evening at 7:30.

Men's Meeting.

Next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 Dr. Mahood will speak to men and boys, on the subject: "Drifters."

Scout Night.

On Tuesday evening the Boy Scouts of Manchester will have their service. All Scouts, former Scouts, parents of the Scouts, and all their friends are cordially invited to this meeting.

Scout Night.

As I have previously stated, Rhyl is given over to the soldiers, probably half the private houses in the town have been commandeered, and soldiers billeted there, which means that the owners must move out to make room, and also provide food for the men, and take care of them, for which service they receive ample compensation.

Scout Night.

Our street has been filled with the soldiers, and early in the morning we hear the bugles awaken-
