WORKERS' FRIEND TO LECTURE HERE

George L. McNutt, Whose Peculiar Experiences Taught Him Wisdom.

TO TELL HIS STORY HERE.

Was on Redpath-Vawter Circuit Ten Years Ago and Comes Back.

Ten years ago, when Keith Vawter began the operation of Chautauque, he engaged George L. McNutt as one of the attractions for his first circuit program. He chose him then because of his sterling worth as a lecturer and has ever since had a desire to get him again.

This season Mr. Vawter was fortunate enough to secure McNutt and grabbed him up in a hurry. It is appropriate that there should appear on the tenth anniversary program one of the attractions of Vawter's first season. McNutt has grown stronger and more popular as the years have gone by. He still talks about the dinner pail, but he has sounded the depths of the human heart in ten years of labor and research among those who work with their hands.

The action of this preacher, laying aside his Prince Albert, substituting overalls and jumper and taking up the hard manual toll of the laborer in order to study his problems at close range, gives a peculiar charm to McNutt's message.

It is only a narrow mind which refuses to listen to reasonable argument. The broad mind is always open to conviction. This is a well-known fact, and yet every one of us numbers among his acquaintances at least half a dozen "bocksure" persons. This trait of being too positive is sufficiently unpleasant in a man, but it is infinitely worse in a girl. In the first place, it is incompatible with the gentleness of real femininity; in the second, it is irritating and annoying to friends and acquaintances, and in the third, it is an indication of a narrow mind, which should in itself be sufficient to keep any girl from cultivating this trait.—Exchange.

Dangler Wick Blue Flame Oil Stoves

Dangler Stoves speak for themselves on points of convenience, economy and durability.

They're convenient because the flame is just at the desired height from the floor to make cooking easy.

A glance at the glass tank tells just how much oil is on hand, and you can readily see when it needs refilling.

The glass tank used is the best indicator ever put on a stove. It shows at a glance the supply of oil. Mechanical appliances get out of order, and you never feel that they are absolutely perfect. A glance at the glass tank tells the story.

Then there is the reinforced cooking top which heavy cooking utensils cannot cause to sag in the middle—an ungainly sight so common in other makes.

In addition to these special features, the stoves are made throughout of the best material obtainable.

The Dangler represents the highest quality obtainable—absolute reliability—variety, with exclusive features which make them quickly preferable in the judgment of the careful buyer.

Come to our store and allow us to demonstrate this stove to you. You will be convinced at once that this is the stove for use during the summer months, especially.
