DEMOCRATS OPEN MEET AT ST. LOUIS

Convention Called to Order by Chairman McCombs.

HALL FILLED TO CAPACITY

Party's Keynote Sounded by Former Governor Glynn of New York—Praises Wilson for Keeping U. S. Out of the War.

St. Louis, June 14.—The Democratic national convention was called to order this morning in the Coliseum by William F. McCombs, chairman of the national committee, and entered on its formal business promptly and smoothly. The hall, which was quite elaborately decorated with the American flag and with bunting, was filled to more than the limit of its seating capacity, despite the fact that several thousand additional seats had been provided by the construction of a mezzanine balcony.

As the members of the national committee and the delegations took their places there was hearty applause for the many notables whom the audience was quick to recognize. Several members of the cabinet and, of course, many United States senators were among these distinguished attendants.

When Sergeant-at-Arms John I. Martin and his assistants had brought about quiet in the big assemblage, Chairman McCombs stepped forward, bowed in applause. He formally declared the convention opened, and after the divine blessing had been invoked and the call for the convention read Mr. McCombs announced the selection of Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York, as temporary chairman.

Glynn Sounds the Keynote.

Mr. Glynn is an eloquent and forceful speaker, and in setting forth the issues of the campaign as the Democratic party sees them he evoked the frequent cheers of his audience. Especially did he emphasize the success of President Wilson's policy in keeping the American nation from being embroiled in the European war. The policy the president has pursued, he asserted, is the same that has been followed by many of his predecessors, from Washington down, who by skillful diplomacy avoided war without sacrificing the nation's honor. Instance after instance he cited, and said: "To maintain our national honor by peace if we can, by war if we must, is the motto of the president of the United States."

This led the speaker to the subject of preparedness, and in this connection he claimed the present administration has done more for our army and our navy than any administration in our history. Preparedness for defense, not preparedness for aggression, he said, was what the Democratic party advocated.

On American Loyalty.

Turning to the matter of Americanism, Mr. Glynn asserted that the convention must make it plain that all divisions among the American people end at the ocean's edge, and that the world must be made to know that we are a united people. "High above every other issue that this convention offers to the American people," he said, "we must therefore write a vindication of American loyalty."

The chairman then took up the subject of domestic policies, and briefly set forth what he called the great landmarks which chart the change from government for the fortunate few to an even-handed government in the interest of all, credit for which he gave to the present administration. These included the federal reserve act, the creation of a trade commission and the Underwood tariff law, which, he declared, is the best and fairest ever enacted.

Mr. Glynn closed with an impassioned eulogy of President Wilson, predicting that when the history of these days of war is written his name will represent the triumph of American principles over the hosts of darkness and of death.

Formal business occupied the time of the rest of the first session, and the convention was then adjourned until Thursday.

"Golden Lane" of Suffragists.

The spectacular feature of the day was the unique demonstration made by the army of woman suffragists. This took the form of a "walkless parade," the women, thousands of them, standing in lines on both sides of Locust street, down which the delegates proceeded from their headquarters to the Coliseum. This was called the "Golden Lane," from the colors of the suffragists, and, though the demonstration was talkless as well as walkless, its proportions and the evident earnestness of the great number of women taking part seemed to have its due effect on the delegates. Every woman in the long line wore a yellow sash and carried a yellow parasol. "Suffrage Plank," the donkey mascot of the St. Louis Suffragists, was a feature that called forth loud cheers, especially when he grew restless and let his heels fly about a bit.

The climax of the women's demonstration was a tableau at the old Art Museum, where Liberty stood on a pedestal in the center of a pyramid of beautiful ladies.

"The True Patriot Does Not Reserve His Patriotism Until He Has A Chance To Die For His Country---He Lives For Her."

On the Fourth of July every patriotic citizen the country over will display an American flag to commemorate the 140th anniversary of our country's freedom.

It is a source of satisfaction to the officers of this institution that many of the flags displayed in this community will have another significance—they will designate the homes of citizens who in their every day lives carry out the principles of true patriotism through the practice of thrift.

If you have not already secured the large American flag and the small home savings bank which we are offering, do so today by opening an account. With an initial deposit of $25 or more, both are immediately available; or, the account may be started with less, the small bank as an aid to home saving secured at once and the flag as soon as the account reaches $25.

Let the flag you display on the Fourth indicate that you are on the one sure road to financial independence—the bank book road.
