MRS. OWEN McMAHON ENTERS INTO REST.

The many friends of Mrs. Owen McMahon were deeply grieved when the sad news was learned that she had passed away on Thursday morning, May 17, at one o'clock at her home in Prairie township. Deceased had been in failing health for the past four months but her condition was not considered serious until the last two weeks, when she began failing rapidly. Death, robbed of its sinister aspect by the strength of her faith, came to her in the hush of the midnight hour. Ellen Anna Barry was the third eldest of a family of twelve children, and was born in New Haven, Connecticut, Jan. 8, 1856. In 1858 she came to Iowa with her parents, her father locating at Bankston, where she grew to womanhood, and on July 9, 1878, was united in marriage to Owen McMahon, after which they moved to Prairie township, to the home where they have since resided. Besides her husband, seven children, four brothers and four sisters are left to mourn her death. Mary, Eva, William, Harry, Richard, Grace and Helen, all of whom live at Masonville with the exception of Harry, who resides at Marysville, California. William Barry, of Masonville; Mrs. Wm. Page, of Geneva; Mrs. Henry Meis, Breckenridge, Minn.; Frank Barry, Farley; Richard Barry, St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. Jos. Heiberger, Ryan; and Mrs. Alice Jennings and Jos. Barry of Waterloo.

The funeral was held Saturday morning at 9:30 at St. Mary's Catholic church at Masonville. Requiem mass was solemnized by Father Lonergan and sung by St. Mary's choir of Manchester. The church was thronged with the friends of this Christian woman, who had assembled to honor her memory. In the course of the service Father Lonergan paid an eloquent tribute to the virtues of the departed woman and offered consolation to the grief stricken husband and children of this Christian wife and mother.

The cortege which was an exceedingly long one, moved from the church to St. Mary's cemetery, where she was tenderly laid to rest. The pall-bearers were her six nephews, Wm. Barry, Louis Mulvehill, Roy McMahon, Richard Barry, and Arthur Heiberger. Those who attended the funeral from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. R. McMahon, Mrs. J. King, Mrs. T. Connell and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berry, of Farley; John McMahon and sons, Roy and Ray, and daughter, Rachel of Bankston; P. Higgins, Mrs. Kane, Misses Agnes and Mae McMahon, Miss Jettie Deegan, Miss Rose McMahon of Dubuque; Mr. and Mrs. Murphey and Miss Eliza Page of Worthington; Mrs. Stark of Cedar Rapids; Miss Frances Shekleton of Lawler; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Duffy of Dyersville; Mr. and Mrs. P. Ferring, of Bankston; Mrs. J. Kie-man of Farley; Mrs. John Manley of Dyersville; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McGowan of Dyersville; Mr. T. Dunn, Mr. J. Daley of Farley; Mrs. T. Barry and son and daughter of Cedar Falls; Mrs. Schares and daughter Margaret of Gilbertsville; Miss Christina Nemmers of Waterloo. Mrs. McMahon was an ideal type of noble womanhood, which can not but win for itself admirers and friends. She was of a warm and generous nature and her first devotion has ever been to her home and to those who were near to her. But regardless of this she had ever time to turn an ear of quick sympathy to those outside of her own who chanced to know the visitations of misfortune and there is many a one who will bless her memory as a benefactress for she went along day by day, quietly lightening a burden whenever she could. The deceased was ever bright and cheerful of disposition and no matter what difficulty might beset her way, she had ever a word of hope and trust that all would yet be well. This beautiful trait she inspired in those about her so that those who were associated with her felt always the sustaining comfort of hope and trust. Those who knew Mrs. McMahon best are the ones who will miss her most. By her upright, womanly qualities

Legal Holiday--Bank Closed

IT IS altogether fitting that the deeds of our fellow countrymen who died that our nation might live should ever be fresh in the hearts of American people.

"Honor to Whom Honor is Due."

On the day dedicated to the memory of our country's patriots, the officers of this institution urge every man, woman and child to register anew the highest vows of personal patriotism.

Let us be strong with the inflexible spirit of Washington for liberty and firm with the insistence of Lincoln for unity. We are advocates of humanity's plea for peace but only with equity and justice.

WHAT MANCHESTER PEOPLE ARE DOING AT HOME AND ABROAD.

REVIEW AND FORECAST OF WEEK

Items of a Personal and General Nature Picked Up About the City.

—A. R. Le Roy is in New York city on business this week.

—Supt. F. P. Walker spent Sunday in Fayette the guest of his parents.

—John Koelker and two children of Dyersville, spent Thursday in Manchester.

—Rev. J. F. Moore of Waterloo was a business visitor in Manchester last Tuesday afternoon.

—Ed Snell of Helena, Montana, was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Etta Loomis, several days last week.

—M. H. Williston left last week for Seattle, Washington, near which city he has a fruit ranch, which he visits each season.

—We understand that Charles Edmunds is contemplating the erection of a new and modern residence in this city this summer.

—Manchester friends of Nelson J. Atwater of Waterloo regret to learn of his illness, which has confined him to a hospital in Waterloo for several weeks.

—State treasurer E. H. Hoyt was a visitor in Manchester one day last week, en route to St. Paul, where he attended a meeting which was addressed by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. Mr. Hoyt went as the representative of Governor W. L. Harding.

—H. L. Main, F. E. Williamson and Arlo Sheppard of Hopkinton were in Manchester on Monday to attend the annual meeting of the Manchester-West Union Pike association.

—Mrs. Anna King of Chicago is the guest this week of her mother, Mrs. Anna Glissendorf. Mr. King is expected to join his wife later in the week for a short visit with friends here.

—Tom Wade, until recently cook in the Bowen restaurant, and Miss Vera Forrester were married in Chicago on Friday of last week. The young couple will make their home in Chicago.

—Editor W. S. Beels of Hopkinton was among the good roads enthusiasts from the southeast part of the county who attended the annual meeting of the Manchester-West Union pike, on Monday.

—Mrs. H. A. Granger, who has been spending the winter in Jacksonville and other points in Florida, is expected to arrive in Manchester about June 1st, and will remain here during the summer months.
