Mammoth Celebration MANCHESTER, JULY 4

Speaker of the Day
SERGEANT R. E. BULGER

Sergt. Bulger was a member of Britain's first expeditionary army, the famous "contemptibles," who fought against such terrible odds in the early days of the war. He was at Ypres, Festubert, Gevenchy, Messines Ridge and on other blood-soaked fields, and has a thrilling story to tell. This will be one of the finest war lectures ever heard here and none should miss it.

"Spoonerisms."

A "spoonerism" is a turned-around word. For instance, a clergyman recently told his congregation that he owed them a "deep grat of debitude," and at a wedding a young man asked if it was "kisstomary to cuss the bride."

Origin of Cotton Boll.

The pink boll worm, the worst enemy known to the cotton crop of India, probably originated there. Later it was found in Burma, Ceylon, Egypt and in almost every other cotton district on the globe.

The State and Liberty.

The design of the state is not to transform men into animals or automata from reasonable beings, but rather that citizens may develop their minds and bodies in security. . . . The true design of the state, then, is liberty.—Spinoza.
