Wool Conservation.
Save wool for the soldiers:
Keep the old clothes going.
Do the needed sewing.
While the boys are far away,
And the bills come home.

If there's still a lining
Through the old clothes shining.
Turn the old suit inside out
Till the boys come home.
There will be an exhibition of children's clothes made over from old garments in the public library for one week, Monday, October 14th, to Monday, October 21st. Call and see it. It is surprising how ingeniously and patriotically mothers have saved wool for soldiers.

Are you interested in the tailor's way of sewing on a button? Can you mend a bad tear so that it is hardly noticeable? Have you succeeded in pressing woolen clothes so that they won't become shiny? Mr. Jacobsen, the tailor, will show us his method at his shop, 119 Franklin, on Monday, October 21, and November 1, at 3 o'clock.

Do you want to know how to sew on or fit in a pocket? How to make a tailor's placket? How to match and combine materials? Mrs. Sabin, for many years a tailoress in Chicago, will be glad to tell you. Come to the office of Mrs. Sterling, the home demonstration agent, second floor of the court house, on October 24th and 31st, at 2 o'clock. Bring your furs and fur trimmings, etc., which you want re-lined or cut over, to Mrs. Sterling's office on Thursday, October 24th. Mrs. Enoch Allen will give directions for this work and help you with it.

Miss Janet Cation, clothing expert from Ames, will demonstrate the use of machine attachments October 25th. Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock she will talk on household accounts and budgets.

Do you want to buy a serge suit for $1.50? We have a very good one listed on our garment exchange at the office of the livery barn opposite the court house. On November 3 there will be many other garments, hats, coats, dresses, suits and men's shoes. Several mothers have asked for men's suits which can be cut down into boys' suits. Bring anything you have which you cannot use and would like someone else to use to the office mentioned not later than October 31. Everything will be thoroughly fumigated and sold at the exchange on November 3. Money derived from the sale will buy Thrift Stamps to be used as prizes to be made at the made-over garment exhibition. Have you heard about the exhibition? There is to be an exhibition of made-over garments the last week in November in A. C. Philipp's window. Prizes of Thrift Stamps will be given for the best one-piece dress made from a suit. Best child's suit made from adult's coat; best child's dress made from adult's dress; best boy's suit made from old suit; most neatly repaired garment and garment showing the most ingenuity. There will also be posters on wool-saving by the school children and a prize for the best poster.

MRS. W. D. WORK CRITICALLY ILL.
Mrs. W. D. Work lies critically ill at her home on Union street, suffering from pneumonia. Mrs. Work and her two daughters were stricken with Spanish influenza last week, and in the case of Mrs. Work, pneumonia of the most violent form developed the latter part of the week. For several days her condition was such as to cause the greatest concern to her family, and while her condition today is somewhat improved, she still remains in a very critical condition. We hope that this good wife and mother may be spared to her family, and that the progress of the disease may be checked.

ONEIDA MAN FACES SERIOUS CHARGES.

If anyone in this neck-o'-the-woods thinks it is safe to indulge in idle talk about the United States' part in the world war, and whether it is necessary for everyone to support the government at this time, just read this from the Dubuque Telegraph-Herald, and see what a predicament one Delaware county man finds himself:
"For giving an entirely new version of the cause of the war and the reason why no American should buy Liberty bonds, Bradford Fenner, of Oneida, Delaware county, was arrested Saturday upon information filed by United States Attorney F. A. O'Connor, before Commissioner McCabe, and was committed under the provisions of the espionage act Saturday night."
"The information charges the prisoner with stating that the war was unjust and that the responsibility for it rested with President Wilson. He claimed the United States to be in the war solely for the purpose of regaining Alsace-Lorraine for France, and that he would not buy government bonds even if he had his property condemned. The charges filed against Fenner were for obstructing the sale of Liberty bonds and other government securities."

"All persons found guilty of obstructing the sale of United States bonds, by advice or public utterance, or whose act is shown to be prejudicial to the sale of the securities, will be dealt with in a manner that is sure to furnish results and have a wholesome effect upon the guilty parties."
"United States District Attorney O'Connor has issued a request that each and every person who has been overheard making seditious remarks about the bonds, or suggestions that other people, especially the wealthy, should be made to buy bonds before requesting the poor people to do so, be reported to his office, when ample steps will be employed to have the talker deliver his petition to the four walls of the prison cell. Many persons do not know that to influence another person not to purchase securities from the government is a crime under the provisions of the espionage act, but the law presumes all know the facts, and the plea of ignorance will not excuse any guilty person."

—B. F. Hedlund, who moved from Manchester to Madison, Nebraska, about six months ago, writes us that he is about to move to Neligh, Nebraska, where he has accepted a position in a large shoe store owned by Wolfe Brothers. Mr. Hedlund was in the employ of P. F. Madden for several years.

—Miss Jennie McCarren, a teacher in the public schools of Minneapolis, arrived home Sunday morning, and will remain here until the epidemic of influenza has subsided sufficiently to warrant opening the schools of the Twin Cities.

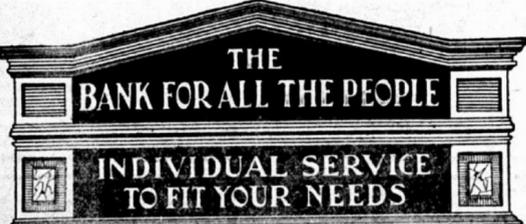

—W. W. Worden, the genial salesman for the Black Cat Hosiery company, and who has made this territory for a great many years, spent a few hours with friends in Manchester Friday evening. Mr. Worden suffered a nervous break during the summer, and was obliged to take a vacation, which he spent in the lake country in Minnesota.

—A benefit dance will be given at the Armory on Friday evening of this week, the proceeds to go into the fund for the benefit of the soldiers from Delaware County. Carpenter's Orchestra will furnish the music. The public is cordially invited.

Mr. Bateman is a skilled workman, and will move his family to Manchester as soon as he can find a suitable residence. His family consists of his wife and two children. Manchester people will cordially welcome this new family.

—Dale Holroyd, little five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Holroyd of Lamont, met with a terrible injury Monday noon. It appears that the little fellow was watching his father unhitch the team from the mowing machine, and before the team was unfastened from the machine they started to run away and dragged the cutting bar over the little lad's body. One of his limbs was terribly lacerated by coming in contact with the sickle. The child was brought to the hospital in this city as quickly as an auto could bring them, and the little one's wound was dressed. It is believed that the child will not be permanently crippled, although it will take some time for the injury to heal
