

Eclipse Corner

Weekly Shavings VOL. 829 JULY 21, 1920. Edited by Splinters

WHY IS A BUILDING MATERIAL DEALER?

Because he keeps stocks of the things you need for your buildings. Because he knows where to get the best goods. Because he can help you get the best job for your money. Because he can give you real service. Try the Eclipse and find out.

Every Majestic Coal Chute is burglar-proof; locks automatically when the door is lowered. Pulling an extended chain within the building unlocks it without climbing over dirty coal.

JUST HENS—HOW ABOUT EGGS!

A farmer with 440 hens found that when the poultry house was kept clean the egg production was 212 per day. When he neglected his poultry house for six weeks the production fell to 80 per day.

MORAL—keep the poultry house clean—BUILD IT SO THAT IT CAN EASILY BE KEPT CLEAN; USE CONCRETE FLOORS.

LABOR-SAVING FARM IMPROVEMENTS.

Farmers are continually seeking ways to offset the growing scarcity and the raising cost of farm help. One way is to make a few additional improvements. Half an hour saved per day for each person working on the farm leaves more time for plowing, cultivating, spraying and harvesting. In many cases the saving may be enough to dispense with one or more men.

The next time you are in town drop in and see the Eclipse and have a chat about barn equipment, litter carriers, feeders, and other labor-saving devices. We'll be glad to show you, too, our blue prints of up-to-date farm buildings and give you booklets on a variety of farm buildings that will help insure selection of the most economical type.

GOOD REASON.

Peppery Female—"Why weren't you in the army?" He (with one arm)—"For the same reason, ma'am, that you weren't in the beauty chorus—physical disability."
