Last Call!

Last Time!

Last Chance!

This is positively the last opportunity that you will have to buy merchandise at such dazzling and startling price reductions. The important thing for you to remember, when you come here to buy the things men and boys need for winter, is that you will not have to pay the peak prices. Our policy all through the war period has been to buy far enough ahead to protect your interests as well as our own; and never has the judgment of our merchandising been so clearly proven as it is right now in the values that we have been giving you during our Pre-War Price Clothing Sale. Prices will be lower, but we cannot definitely state when the minimum will be reached.
