SCOUTS OF IOWA ENGAGE IN FINE PIECE OF WORK.

Scout Master L. L. Platt of this city is in receipt of the following communication from E. E. Barclay, state representative of the Iowa Near East Relief Grain Committee, telling of the fine work which the Boy Scouts of the state have undertaken in behalf of the stricken peoples of the Near East.

"Seven thousand Boy Scouts of Iowa have joined hands across the Sea with the Boy Scouts at Alexandria, Armenia to send them 75,000 bushels of corn from Iowa.

"To do this efficiently, the State Grain Committee of Near East Relief, Governor N. E. Kendall, Chairman, Major E. E. Barclay, State Representative have appointed Saturday, November 12, as Boy Scout day in Iowa.

"Your troop is requested to take part in this movement because forty thousand boys in the Bible Lands are starving to death this winter unless they are rescued and saved by help from America. Arrange with the truck and automobile owners of your community for transportation on November 12th. See the Farm Bureau Agents for information concerning roads and central receiving stations. Secure enough trucks to reach all the central points or elevators in your county. Enough cars to carry your boys to the fields. The trucks are necessary when corn has been gathered to get same to the elevators, the cars or light trucks being used all corn from the fields to the trucks.

"Each boy should carry his own sack of corn and his own sack of corn. Going to a farm they will make their plan for corn to be sent to the mills for preparation as Food Products for overseas and either get permission to go into an unharvested field and pick as much corn as the owner will allow or if his crop is harvested, solicit a donation from him. While the light trucks or cars are on their way to the large truck the second sack to be filled in the same way, the first sack being returned after being emptied in the large trucks.

"The Chamber of Commerce and Community Clubs are assisting in the transportation question.

"Direct all communications to Major E. E. Barclay, 521 Securities Bldg, Des Moines, Iowa."

Farmers in the vicinity of Manchester are urged to offer certain amounts of corn and leave word with Scout Master Platt at Tracey & Platt's office or with the County Agent, Mr. Robert Combs. Tell these gentlemen how much corn you are willing to donate to this worthy cause, and a squad of husky boys scouts will be on hand on November 12th to husk the corn. Business men of Manchester who own motor trucks are urged to offer the services of their trucks so that the Boys Scouts will have a way to get the corn to the station. Mr. Platt tells us that it is hoped to procure at least a car load of corn from the farmers of Delaware county for the starving people across the water. Here is offered a real opportunity for service to stricken mankind, and let everyone help. No one is asking for money; it is food that is needed, just plenty of good Iowa corn.

"TRIAL OF HEARTS"

The preparations for the great dramatic production "Trial of Hearts" to be given by Manchester dramatic talent on Thursday and Friday evenings, November 3 and 4, at the Armory for the benefit of the Women's Auxiliary are being completed and from present prospects, a large audience will fill the theatre both nights to greet the players.

The cream of musical and dramatic talent has been sifted out to secure an extraordinary cast for the play and the actors have readily responded to the coaching of the directors, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Choate.

When the curtain rises on the first act, the audience is taken to the farmyard of the New England home of Squire Barter, played by Mr. Choate. Mrs. Baxter, played by Miss Jessie Maley, is doing the daily churning with the old fashioned dasher shurn when the Squire enters for a few moments rest from his farm work. He sits reading his Daily Farm Journal when the usual quiet hour is broken by the morning call of Matilda Simpkins, the village gossip, played by Miss Ethel Hare, who brings a number of "small bits of news." Professor Pearling, the "new summer boarder," Emmons Campbell, runs into the yard for the purpose of catching a butterfly resting on Matilda's head, but in so doing, catches an introduction to Matilda.

David Baxter, the noble son, Floyd Evans, comes to his father to report that the berries are picked and ready for the market, when in the distance is heard the Berry-Pickers quartette.

June Baxter, Miss Marjorie Holbert, the pride of the Squire's heart, returns from college and great happiness exists among the household when onto the scene appears a stranger, Dora Dale, played by Mrs. Harry Choate. She is seeking a home and work which is about to be denied her on account of the strict New England customs, when the Squire is reminded of the Golden Rule, and his iron will permits her to remain. No sooner is she made glad over this newly found home when into her life again comes the man who has betrayed her into a mock marriage, Lester Anderson, Louis McFadden, a man of wealth and social standing.

The remaining member of the household is Si Perkins, the country chort, played by Clarence Kenna. His jokes and antics are many and will bring many a laugh from the audience.

During the third act there is a New England snow storm and the supper scene during this is most interesting. Come and see the actors eat a real meal on the stage. We'll not tell you any more about the story for we want you to come and find out how many interesting situations there are. Come and be prepared to enjoy every minute from the rise to the fall of the curtain. Mrs. Choate, who is a professional reader, will give some selections. Special music will be rendered between acts by Otille's orchestra, and Mrs. Robt. Harris will sing. Adults 50 cents. Children 25 cents. War tax extra. Reserved seats on sale at Philipp's Drug Store without extra charge.

OH YOU GREELEY BOYS.

Our neighboring town of Greeley can rightly boast of a bunch of able bodied young fellows who do not propose to let a bunch of Manchester boys "paint their town red." On Monday night a half-dozen or more young fellows from this place drove to Greeley with the avowed purpose to stage a full sized Hallow'een party, and when they reached their destination the boys were met by a number of "Greeley boys." A conference was held as to where a wagon might be obtained to haul to Manchester and someone in the crowd suggested that "Bill" Odell had just such a wagon in his yard. Well, Bill happened to be in the crowd. He and six strong armed fellows were "laying" for the boys when they reached the yard to get the wagon. What happened then is too sad to be told. While the Manchester boys were given a good sound thrashing in the Odell yard, other Greeley boys were busy with the local boys' car. When the battered Manchester boys were ready to go home they found the air out of the tires and the gasoline tank filled with water.

We have been informed on very reliable information that one or two of the boys in the deal on Monday night had this lesson in discipline coming to them, for the manner in which they had conducted themselves at recent dances in Greeley. Judging from the amount of property destroyed in Manchester on Monday night, it might not be a bad idea for this community to organize a vigilance committee such as Greeley organized on short notice. Harmless Hallow'een pranks are permissible, but when grown up fellows deliberately destroy property, such as was the case in Manchester, we fail to see the funny side to such a performance.
