PULASKI AND WAYNE.

We have recently made a visit to these two "mountain" counties, and until we did go, we had no idea of having enormous impressions concerning them. At least our ideas previously were not correct as to their real worth and beauty.

A man from the "bluegrass" goes down there expecting to find a mountainous, sterile region, with people living there who are not "up to snuff," as the boys have it, he will return with some very large scales knocked from his eyes.

In this respect we were not surprised ourselves, for we knew enough of that section before hand to satisfy us that these two counties are the best in South Eastern Kentucky; but there are people who have no correct idea of them.

All that is required is the completion of the Cincinnati Southern railroad through them, and then, as if by magic, their towns will increase in population, their lands in price, and millions of dollars worth of coal, lumber, cattle, and other stock will find a ready market.

The hundreds of fine beef cattle grazing over the fertile slopes of the Cumberland—the hogs, sheep, &c., which are fattened upon the rich bottoms of the water-powers afforded by bold rivers and streams. The countless timber, the finest coal and iron beds, will all add millions of wealth to their people.

The finest wheat region of Kentucky lies along the numerous valleys of all the streams, and fruit of all kinds grow to great perfection and in great abundance.

The slopes of the Cumberland are the finest in the world for vineyards and orchards; and the garden vegetables, especially sweet potatoes are found growing in great size and quantity.

Somerset, the chief town and county seat of Pulaski, and Monticello, the chief town and county seat of Wayne, each has a large and flourishing seminary or college of learning, which is under the care of able and merciful boards of trustees and principals, so that the youth of that section finds at home every educational facility.

Many fine residences and easy cottage houses adorn the corporate limits, and sobriety of their citizens is the rule, while drinking is the exception. We did not see an intoxicated man during a week's visit among the people.

The scenery along the Cumberland river is as grand in many places as along our famous Hudson. The people are proverbially hospitable, and the stranger is made to feel at home. The entire population male and female, so far as our observation extended, are thrifty, hardy, and industrious.

Numerous school-houses and churches in every section, speak more eloquently for their general intelligence and piety, than any word of ours could. Between these two counties and our own there should be still greater and closer intercourse by trading and visiting.

The list of over one hundred names we secured as subscribers to our paper, on our recent trip assures us that they know the value of a good weekly newspaper in their families. We are satisfied that our new subscribers there will aid us still further in extending our circulation in their midst, and we assure them that our best efforts shall be used at all times to promote their welfare, and advance their interests; believing, as we do, that the separate localities are more or less interested in the success of each.

Whatever we may be able to do in causing the building of a railroad through them, shall be done with whatever energy we have, and any project which may be put on foot, looking to the development of all their varied resources of wealth and happiness, shall find in our columns a firm and unflinching advocacy.

Our efforts shall be correspondingly great to give them a still better paper. No effort on our part shall be wanting to make this paper all that a country weekly should be—of interest alike to all classes of men, and the family friends.

We have entered upon the last half of our year and a few of our subscribers' time has expired with the first six months, as they desired to try our paper for that length of time, and then continue, provided we gave them a good paper. We flatter ourselves that we have fully complied with our part of the contract, and now we expect you to comply with your part. We have not yet heard a single complaint about our Journal from any source, but on the contrary, every one seems to be satisfied with it. We trust you will renew at once, and not wait for our solicitors to call upon and urge you to do it, as this would require time, labor and money, neither of which we can well spare.

Those of our citizens especially who are not subscribers, and others where our paper circulates, are earnestly invited to send us their names accompanied with $2, and if we don't give you more than value received, we will cheerfully refund the amount at the end of the year.

There is not a business man or woman in our county who will say that we have not done all within our power to advance the interests of this section of the State. We can and will do still more, if you subscribe and pay for our paper. Every dollar you pay us shall be expended on our paper if it becomes necessary to do so in making it, or trying to make it, second to no other weekly Journal in the land.

Reader, this article is meant for you. Don't read it carelessly and then throw the paper aside; but if you are not a subscriber, or your time is about to expire, or you have not yet paid for it, attend to the matter without delay.

Off the Track. Hon. C. F. Burnham, after making the Radical nomination for Congress, now declines to prosecute the canvass further; saying that he can't afford to neglect his clients. Ab. Curt, that nint the reason.

Horace Greeley Coming. The coming President of the United States, Hon. Horace Greeley, by invitation of the managers of the Louisville Exposition, will arrive in that city next Saturday, and remain over until Monday when he will make a brief tour of some of the western States. Let the people turn out in a full mass to greet the old hero, and let him have a real old-fashioned Kentucky greeting. We would be glad to grasp his manly hand one time, and hope to be able to do so.

STATE NEWS.

Jed Paine, of Cloverport, attempted suicide on Friday last. The Ohio river is lower at Louisville than any time this season. A weekly paper will soon be started at Barksville, by R. P. Baker.

Hog cholera has made its appearance near Hostonville, in this county. A one day's horse fair will be held near Georgetown, on Saturday the 28th. A national convention of short-horn breeders assembled at Lexington yesterday.

The drought is severe in Fayette, Scott, Shelby and other counties in the State. The Colored Fair of Madison county cleared some $300, despite the slim attendance.

Judge Samuel Miller, of the United States Supreme Court, is visiting Madison county. Diphtheria is prevalent in Harrison county, and flux and typhoid fever in Grant county.

James Christian, formerly a saddler of Carlisle, is now a wealthy lawyer of Lawrence, Kansas. James W. Bullock announces himself as an independent candidate for Congress in the Tenth district.

Col. William Duke, of Boyle county, recently purchased a $30,000 farm of 974 acres in, Missouri. There are now but four newspapers in Kentucky which use the "patent" or "ready-made" cut-outs.

Judge Apperson, of Montgomery county, has a document bearing the signature of George Washington. The trial of J. M. Sinclair, for killing Elijah Romans, in Scott county, resulted in the acquittal of the defendant.

Hon. J. M. Bigler has been appointed Elector of the First District in place of Hon. O. A. King, recently resigned. There are 644 convicts in the penitentiary at Frankfort, of whom a majority are negroes. Forty-three are women.

W. P. Campbell, a former citizen of this place, now in his 27th year, is judge of the Walnut Valley district of Kansas. Woodford county has a bachelor who has courted one lady unsuccessfully for twenty-seven years. "This will do to tell the Marries."

The Woodford Weekly says Versailles has a working man's club, composed chiefly of men who never did a lick of work in their lives. In the Louisville Exposition there is a piece of human hair seven inches long. It was cut from the head of a peasant girl in Switzerland.

The order of Good Templars now numbers 22,300, a gain of over eighty per cent during the past year. G. W. Bain, G. W. C. T., has instituted 100 lodges and initiated 7,000 members. A reward of $250 is offered by the Governor, for the arrest of Lewis Jones, who murdered Michael Donley, in Pendleton county, on the 25th of July last.

The Lexington Press says at the late Annual State Mission of the Christian Church, the members were about equally divided on the question of organ music in the church. William Showers, of Elizabethtown, who visited Cincinnati a week ago with nine or ten thousand dollars on his person, is missing, and is believed to have been murdered. Bill Carter the negro who killed a soldier in Lexington last spring, and who was convicted of murder, has been sentenced to be hung on Friday, October 11th, in that city.

John Uterback, of Fayette county, lost his Blackwood colt, by pneumonia, for which he had been offered $5,000, and which took premiums at the recent Emigration and World's fairs. The negro who shot Miss Saunders at the toll gate near Nicholasville some time last year, was arrested in Cincinnati a few days ago, and will be returned to Jessamine county for trial.

The Clark county Democrat says a fine bull belonging to D. A. Gay was strangled by the fumes of lucifer matches, while being transported on the Big Sandy railroad, a few days ago. James Sapp of Marion county, aged 72 married Miss Peggy Brown of Taylor county, aged 73, last week. "No goose so gray but soon or late, will find some honest grader for a mate."

According to the Lexington Gazette, the apple crop of Northeastern Kentucky has been larger than during the present season. There being no accessible market for the fruit, most of it is manufactured into brandy. Kentucky civilization has again been belied. A man in Henderson received thirty-nine lashes on his bare back the other day for some trifling offense. The law permitting such an outrage is atrocious and a disgrace to any code.

Hon. John D. Young was nominated by acclamation in the Democratic Congressional convention at Mayfield Tuesday, and it is not probable will have any considerable opposition. The race will be little more than a walk-over. A severe storm of hail and rain passed over Grant and Boone counties last week, doing considerable damage to corn and tobacco. Fifteen acres of tobacco belonging to Thomas Lemon, near Dry Ridge, Grant county, was almost entirely destroyed.

The Democratic State Central Committee have made the following appointments: Albert S. Berry, Esq., of Newport, to be assistant Democratic elector for the State at large; Col. John H. McHenry, of Owensboro, to be elector for the county of Daviess. A city paper states that a young gentleman was surprised in the shades of the Exposition groto, last night, kissing a young lady "from the interior." How would he go about performing the operation from the interior? That's the easiest thing imaginable to a man "that's been dug up."

As we go to press we learn from Dr. Keller that the Hon. Garret Davis has rallied somewhat in the last few hours, and his condition is more comfortable, although but little hope is entertained of his recovery. He was brought home from Mr. Sterling about ten days since but has been very low for some days.—T. W. Kenkelton.

In response to inquiries made by letter, we will state that the Journals and Acts of the last General Assembly, together with all the public documents required by law to be distributed, have been sent off, the contract for distribution having been taken by the Adams Express Company. The legislative documents could as well have been distributed two months earlier, but the law providing for it requires other matter to be distributed at the same time, which cannot be sooner made up.—Yocum.

The Lexington Observer and Reporter of the 14th says: "As one of the Slaker wagons was returning home from this place, the horses became frightened at something near Pleasant Hill ferry and commenced backing. The road at that place was descending the Kentucky river cliffs and consequently not the best place in the world for such performances. The driver jumped out, like the sensible Slaker that he was, and saved his life. A wagon was hurled over one hundred and fifty feet right down was crushed into fragments."

Death of Hon. R. H. Rousseau. This gentleman, a brother of Gen. L. H. Rousseau, died in Louisville the other day, in the 57th year of his age. He was born in this county in 1815, and was a part of his youth resided in our town, where his father owned a small mill on the town branch, near the bridge on the Somerset pike. Mr. Rousseau was one of the leading lawyers of Louisville at the time of his death.

Public Speaking. R. C. Warren, Esq., Assistant Democratic Elector for the 8th Congressional District, will address the people at the following times and places: Williams' Store, Casey co., Tuesday, Sept. 25. Liberty, Casey county, Wednesday, Sept. 26. Menard's Store, Casey co., Friday, Sept. 27. Hostonville, Lincoln co., Saturday, Sept. 28. Speaking each day at 2 o'clock P. M.

Resigned. Mr. J. Q. Chenoweth, State Senator from the Harrodsburg district, has resigned his place and removed to Texas. There will be an election in a few weeks, to fill the vacancy. We would vote for Nat. Gaitner if we lived in the district. He would make an able representative of any people.

O'Connor. Postively declines to accept the nomination tendered him by the Democrats at Louisville. They will vote for him anyway, so the Radical papers assert.

A RUMOR is current in New York that Goldsmith Maid is a mare formerly bequeathed to Mateo Gill, Esq., of Garrard county Kentucky. She was supposed to have been stolen some four or five years ago, at the time his stable in Nicholasville was burned up. The report has it that Gill's trainer saw her in the hands of her present owner, and recognized her, and that suit is to be instituted for her possession.

The trial of Mrs. Laura D. Fair, before the Supreme Court, at San Francisco, is progressing very slowly, many days have been spent in expending a jury not yet completed. Rarely has a murder case been tried, involving greater interest, whether considering the prominence and social position of the victim, the beauty and rare history of the accomplished murderess, or the openly defiant manner in which the crime was committed.

The Peace Jubilee on the 11th and 12th, drew an immense concourse of people to Louisville. The principal speakers were Col. Eli Shorter, of Alabama; Gens. B. H. Hill and John B. Gordon, of Georgia; Hon. L. D. Campbell, of Ohio; and Gov. Vance, of North Carolina.

The Geneva Tribunal of Arbitration awarded to the United States, by a majority of four, the sum of fifteen millions five hundred thousand dollars in gold indemnity, for the satisfaction of all claims referred to the board of Arbitration.

The next elections will take place October 8th, when State officers and Congressmen are to be chosen in Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, and a congressional delegate is to be elected in the Territory of Dakota.

SUMMER is in Europe. He was nominated by the Liberals in his State a few days ago for Governor, but he will not accept.

BALTIMORE had quite a sensation last Friday, caused by the failure of five large firms, with liabilities aggregating two million dollars.
