Third Wreck at Irvington Within Two Weeks.

In a wreck that occurred at Irvington, Neb. this morning fireman J. A. Madden of this city had his arm broken and several other trainmen suffered injuries of a minor nature.

At present the direct causes leading to the wreck cannot be ascertained.

James Evans, and Fireman John Maden, left South Omaha early this morning, in engine number 225, running light to Fremont. Through a misconstruction of orders on the part of one of the engine men, near Irvington collided with the rear end of freight train number 47, in charge of Conductor Hurst.

In jumping from the engine, Fireman Madden had one arm broken and sustained several other injuries. The engine was almost totally wrecked as was also the caboose of train 47.

Miracure Hold Up.

Late last night two men, strangers in the city, called upon the police and asked for the assistance of the latter in recovering a sum of money and a railroad ticket that had been stolen from them while they were at the Union depot waiting for a train. The men furnished complete descriptions of the two men and within an hour the police had under arrest two local characters, having in their possession at the time, the goods lost by the strangers. Before placing a charge against the prisoners the police deemed it advisable to investigate the matter leading to the affair and soon ascertained that the two under arrest came into possession of the goods by other means than highway robbery. The crowd had been together almost all day tickling their noses with variegated fluids which to a marked degree have caused the town of Miracure to be famous, and as the two strangers upon the recovery of the property refused to prosecute, the entire affair was dropped.

Donal Ison Escapes.

The district court may propose, but so far as Robt. Donaldson, convicted at the last session of the district court in this county of committing a murderous assault, man disposes.

Donaldson in an altercation with Willard Girton a few months ago which arose from a discussion concerning the possession of a piece of farm land, shot the latter in the middle of the back with a shot gun. In the course of events Girton swore out a warrant for the arrest of Donaldson, charging him with having attempted to commit murder, and at the last session of court Donaldson was sentenced to serve a term of five years at hard labor in the state penitentiary at Madison. D. E. Ball, deputy sheriff, left Sunday for the prison city taking Donaldson with him, but before reaching the end of their destination Donaldson gave Ball the slip and as yet has succeeded in eluding the officers who are scouring the country for him.

W. T. Popejoy and Frank Hurst Bound Over for Offense Before Grand Jury.

Onawa Democrat: A warrant for arrest was sworn out last week before Justice Ross by Iver P. Moe, a farmer who resides on the Orwick farm on the West Fork in Ashton township, for the arrest of W. T. Popejoy and Frank Hurst charging them with extorting money from him by malicious and false representations.

Popejoy and Hurst were arrested and brought before Justice Ross on Saturday, but their case was postponed until Monday, in the meantime their bail was fixed at $600 each. Hurst could not find bail and was placed in jail. W. C. Willey went on Popejoy's bond until the preliminary trial.

On Monday the preliminary trial was held. Mr. Moe testified that Popejoy and Hurst had come to his home in the afternoon of November 23, and that Popejoy said that Hurst was a United States officer and that they had come to take him to Sioux City, because he had written two letters. These letters it is understood were to an insurance company and did not speak respectfully of Popejoy. They got Moe into the buggy and started for Omaha, but had not gone far until Popejoy, according to Moe, offered to make a settlement if Moe would pay him $5.00 for the first letter and $7.00 for the second letter. Moe had not the money and was let out of the buggy. Other witnesses for the plaintiff corroborated Moe's testimony as to Popejoy and Hurst being at his place and that Hurst was represented as a U. S. marshal and that the three men went off together.

The court bound the defendants over to appear before grand jury and placed them under bonds at $600 each. Marion Caster went on Popejoy's bond and up to today Hurst has been unable to give bond, but his friends expect to secure them for him.

Death of J. H. Blinkiron.

Laurel, N.-b., Dec. 11.—Last night Editor Charles S. Harris of the Belden News shot and almost instantly killed J. H. Blinkiron of Arkison, a stockman who has large interests in this county and well known throughout eastern Nebraska. The trouble arose over the article which Harris published in the News relative to some trouble which Blinkiron had a few days previous with the Belden bank.

When the article came out in the News Blinkiron became enraged and went to the printing office and demanded that Harris retract. This the editor refused to do. Blinkiron is supposed to have started for Harris, who told him to stand back or he would shoot him. The assailant told Harris to shoot.

Upon his coming still closer Harris said: "Don't you come a step farther or I'll shoot you." Blinkiron said: "Shoot, I am not afraid of your gun."

Tommy, the 11-year old son of W. F. Nieland, a merchant of Belden, was in a room back of the printing office and heard the fracas. It is supposed that Blinkiron advanced toward Harris after uttering his last sentence because a pistol shot was heard instantly and Blinkiron walked out on the street about twenty feet and dropped dead. Mrs. Chris Larson and others saw the shot fired. They were across the street.

Harris went immediately to a farmer's house about a mile distant from town, borrowed a pony and rode to Hartington and gave himself up to the authorities. Public sentiment seems to be in favor of the editor. The funeral of the dead man will be held at Randolph at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY.

Hartington, Neb. 11.—At the coroner's inquest held this evening over the body of Hark Blinkiron, who was shot last night at Belden by Editor Harris, it was found that the shooting was done in self-defense.

The real trouble which led up to the shooting occurred the middle of the week when Blinkiron had trouble with the Belden bank over an overdraft and tried to close up the institution. The editor wrote up the affair in his paper and to this Blinkiron took offense and undertook to have it retracted.

There was no one present when the shooting took place but Harris and Blinkiron. Harris was seen at the county jail this evening while he was not disposed to talk very much yet he seemed cheerful and confident that the public, when acquainted with the facts, would justify the shooting on the grounds of self-defense.

The sheriff has the revolver which was used in the shooting. It was an old-fashioned horse pistol. The Blinkirons are among the wealthiest families in this part of the state and will fight the case to the bitter end. The preliminary hearing will probably occur Friday before the county judge.

The good service rendered by John A. Traver, county attorney, deserves more than passing mention from us. When he was nominated THE OBSERVER did not look upon the nomination as a good one. Did not consider that John would be much of an improvement on Mr. Bailey. But we were mistaken. He forsook the habit for which we were opposed to him and has attended strictly to public business using good judgement in safe guarding the interests of the public. As a public prosecutor he has been successful in convicting the guilty. We see no good reasons now why John should not succeed himself. Now this has been written not from any spirit of dictation or desire to forstate the action of the next Republican county convention but to do a single act due Mr. Traver.—Observer.

The addition to the Odd Fellows' hall has been brown coated. The cornice has not yet come. Dwight Cadwell has the contract to put in the furnace to heat the store room and banquet hall. This will add much to the comfort of lodge life in our town.—Observer.

Another "Vested Right."

Mr. John F. Bass, Manila correspondent of Harper's Weekly, recently contributed a letter bearing upon the agreement made between General Bates and the sultan of Sulu. It is admitted by the administration that Bates did make an agreement with the sultan, and that that agreement did mention slavery. Shortly before election it was indignantly denied. Mr. Bass gives an interesting picture of life in the Sulu islands, and in mentioning the system of slavery existing there says:

General Bates showed exceeding great tact in the clause of the treaty concerning slavery. Slaves may purchase their freedom for $20. Mexican money. Only slowly can slavery be eradicated from a country without doing great wrong to property owners, and it is to be hoped that congress, when it comes to act, will see the advisability of letting the present treaty stand as it is—at least for the present. Polygamy is an institution so connected with the Mohammedan religion that the clause of the treaty protecting the religion of the country practically protects polygamy.

The declaration, "Only slowly can slavery be eradicated from a country without doing great wrong to property owners," has a familiar sound to those old enough to remember the troublesome times prior to the civil war. "Vested rights" is a familiar expression these days, and a little more than a generation ago a slave was a "vested right." Slave owners declared that slavery was a divine institution, and then fell back upon the declaration to free the slaves without compensation would be to do a great injury to property owners.

The argument that it is poor policy to do right because the doing of it might cost money is becoming altogether too common in this country. We are advised to let the Bates treaty stand for a while, slavery, polygamy, and all, all because we would be injuring property owners by abolishing them. Today the United States of America is the only civilized nation that recognizes slavery, and Harper's Weekly, "a journal of civilization," advises Americans to let slavery alone lest by abolishing it we injure property owners. Shades of William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Owen Lovejoy and Abraham Lincoln! Shades of all the martyred dead who died to make the flag of America a living truth! In this year of our Lord, 1899, we are advised to recognize and pay a salary to a polygamist in Sulu and refuse to recognize and pay a salary to a polygamist at home. Is it not about time to quit making fish of one and fowl of another lest we "injure property owners" and begin to do right because it is right?

The supposition is that it was made in Spain and the marks of the silver smith are plainly visible to this day.—Boone Democrat.
