

Not Currency at All.

When will the papers which support the gold system in this State, see that a paper currency had no more to do with the financial crisis in the East than Captain Jack. When will they discover from their own files, that on the closing day of the panic a dollar in greenbacks was worth just exactly as much gold as it was a week before the crisis took place.

From these two causes there was no faith in bonds left in the people. They were unwilling to invest in stocks which experience had proved unproductive. They were unwilling to trust any man's word or bond, when they saw corruption winked at by those in high places, and stalking unpunished.

The Coming Fair.

It has been asserted by a few individuals of contracted intellects that the association is giving too much money for horse prizes, and not enough for agricultural products. Probably not one person who is of this opinion ever subscribed a dollar, or owns a cent of scrip in the association.

The County and the Railroad.

The Bulletin urges Los Angeles to exact a guarantee for the completion of the Southern Pacific railroad to San Francisco within the specified time, and of the connection with Anaheim, before transferring the bonds of the county.

Grangers and Railroads.

Whether the Western Grangers have been indiscreet or not in the wielding of their immense influence, yet their bitterest opponents admit the strength of the organization. If the HERALD thought that the publication of the following article could for an instant damage the prospects of the Granges, it would consign it to the waste-basket; but it is so thoughtfully written, and recognizes so thoroughly the good of the Farmers' Unions, that its words of warning as to the care with which their power should be wielded, are not misplaced.

The sturdy blows given by western grangers to railroad interests, all over the Union, have not been delivered without producing some reactionary effect. Immense masses of grain and other domestic products remain almost hermetically sealed up in western granaries and store-houses, and this, too, at the very moment when they could command the highest prices in markets of consumption, and when the whole country is in need of money to the point of actual, wide-spread suffering.

Exchange Specimen.

San Diego World—For an article written in bad taste against a contemporary journal vide this paper of the 7th. From the beginning to the end, it is full of fight and abuse of McCoy and "other paper." Sorry that so thorough a gentleman as its editor finds such warlike measures necessary.

The Santa Barbara Press says of the HERALD:

We have received the first copy of the Los Angeles Daily Herald. It is a fair, large sheet, containing a great quantity and variety of reading matter, and its object is well expressed in the introductory, as follows:

To help Los Angeles and Southern California, and to better the condition and enlighten the minds of its inhabitants, is the HERALD'S mission. In this may it receive the best wishes and assistance of all well-disposed and well-minded people.

Without forming a Mutual Admiration Society, the HERALD can honestly say of the Press, that it is a good newspaper, edited with great ability. It contains a notice to the effect that Madame Anna Bishop will shortly visit the South. Tant Mieux. She will be assisted by Alfred Wilkie, English tenor; L. G. Gottschalk, eminent baritone, and brother to the late celebrated pianist, and Frank Gilder, brilliant American pianist, all of whom are spoken of very highly by the press.

The Havilah Miner says that it has a new laundry, plenty of trout and lots of rich ore; goes for McKee and after his chief, the world renowned De Witt C. Lawrence, and objects to supplying him with coin to rusticate. It also has the following item about Hammel & Denker: Mr. Henry Hammel, of the U. S. Hotel, Los Angeles, accompanied by his wife, has been in town during the week, on a visit to his partner, Mr. Denker, of the Bella Union Hotel.

Col. Lever, an American by birth, now in the services of the Mexican Government, is in San Francisco, endeavoring to enlist the sympathies of merchants in the opening of trade with the new port of Managua, in the State of Michoacan, Mexico. This port, recently opened by Mexico, and provided with a Custom House, is about midway between Acapulco and Manzanillo, on the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Nordhoff the author of the celebrated work on California is in Santa Barbara with his family. As a benefactor of this district Mr. Nordhoff is entitled to the gratitude of every man who owns a dollar of stock or a foot of real estate in Southern California.

Putting up new dwelling houses is the order of the day in Kernville. The town is supplied with stores and shops. Murphy, Brown and Green, are the principal merchants. Two fine hotels, the Kernville Hotel and the Olympic. The town is apparently well supplied with mechanics of different trades. The new discoveries being made astonish the "oldest inhabitants," who thought the place finished.

SAN DIEGO.

The Delegation of the Pima and Maricopa Indians—Death by a Fall—The Military Telegraph to the East at Fort Yuma—Arrest of a Deserter—Escape of Pancho Lohese.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 8, 1873. J. D. Walker arrived last night with the delegation of Pima and Maricopa chiefs, en route to Washington. They leave on the steamer Orizaba for San Francisco.

The Mexican who fell at the Mission breaking both legs, died from the effects of internal injuries.

The construction party from Fort Yuma East on the military telegraph have built thirty miles. Superintendent Haines and Capt. Price, started a fourth party of construction from Yuma to Maricopa Wells, to-day.

Capt. Chas. Wheaton, commanding officer at Yuma, sent a sergeant and a private here with a requisition to the civil authorities to deliver to them the man Malcolm C. Walker, the deserter who robbed Dr. Rose at the Fort and beat a Chinaman nearly to death. He is held here on a charge of burglary.

The Union says four prisoners escaped from the jail of Dr. Castillo, by digging out, on the night of the fourth. Two officers, commissioned by the Governor, pursued and caught two inside the Mexican lines, the other two escaped into this county. One is the notorious Pancho Lohese, alias Pizarbas. He is wanted in both countries for robberies.

LETTER FROM SANTA BARBARA.

EDITOR HERALD: Our town is flourishing, and we voted against subsidy.

More buildings have been erected here within the past two months, than in any other two months of our history. Houses are springing up in all parts of town with wonderful rapidity. On State street, adjoining Rice & Porter's stables, Mortimer Cook is erecting a two-story brick store, 25 feet front. J. M. Anderson's fine two-story brick building, is fast approaching completion, and when finished, will be the finest building on the street. In the post-office block, G. W. Stanley, and Dr. Wood, of the Index, are each building, side by side, two-story brick stores, which will add much to the appearance of that portion of State street. The Santa Barbara Lodge of Free Masons are negotiating for a lot, on which they hope to erect a handsome three-story brick building, to be used as a lodge-room, store-rooms and offices.

After some delay, the Mission Water Company have made glad our hearts by introducing the pure, soft Mission water into town, and the horses respectfully return thanks for the water-troughs erected at a number of street corners.

Our city fathers—bless 'em!—have made arrangements for again lighting State street with gas. In view of this, a meter has lately been put at the post on the corner of State and Ortega streets.

The steamer Ventura landed 63 passengers last Monday morning, and some 20 landed from the Mohongo on Monday.

It is announced that our music-loving people are soon to have the pleasure of listening to a number of concerts to be given by the justly celebrated Madame Anna Bishop.

Messrs. Terry & Co. intend opening, on the 11th, a dry goods and furnishing store in the building opposite the Occidental Hotel.

LETTER FROM LOS NIETOS.

LOS NIETOS, Oct. 8th, 1873.

EDITOR HERALD:—We think that the readers of your valuable paper, may not know that there is such a place as Gallatin, situated in the center of the beautiful and fertile valley of Los Nietos. This is the Egypt of Southern California, and we have the finest corn growing section of country about here. The town of Gallatin is situated one mile northwest of the Los Nietos Railroad Depot, and has one hotel, one wagon and blacksmith shop, one drug store, one livery stable, two dry goods and grocery stores, one boot and shoe shop, two butcher shops, and a fine district school building, with a flourishing school of over one hundred pupils. There are also two saloons, where, if you should come this way, you may revive the inner man, either with benzine or lager.

The Judicial Election, although close at hand, is exciting but of little interest. McKinstry court appears to have an upward tendency. The candidates for District Judge are well known throughout the county, and men have generally made up their minds how they will vote. King for County Judge, appears to be the choice of the voters of this precinct.

We also have six candidates for Justice's honors, all of whom are presumed to be good and well qualified for the position to which they aspire. Frankl Bros. are opening the largest stock of dry and fancy goods, clothing, boots and shoes ever offered in this this valley for sale.

Corn crops are up to an average, and farmers are expecting fair prices for the incoming crop. Barley is mostly gone, only a few crops on hand. Of porkhogs, there is a good supply, but not in the market on account of low prices. Hay is to be had in sufficient quantities to supply the demand.

A convict from Siskiyou county, on his way to San Quentin in charge of Sheriff Morgan, on the night of the 4th, took advantage of the darkness and made a leap from the stage down into the brush, about thirty miles from Yreka, and was not recaptured at last accounts, though the Sheriff and two citizens were holding him at bay in the brush until morning, when they anticipated an easy conquest.

The Pacific Mail steamer Colonia sailed for San Francisco on the 1st. This is one of the vessels recently built.

General Elliot of Benicia is soon to go east on a leave of absence.

Wools in the East are quiet. Sales for the month, 1,895,000 pounds.

The Mountain Top.

EDITOR HERALD: This is the season of the year to visit the mountains. The scenery up our cañons is most beautiful—we do not think sublime is too strong a descriptive adjective. In the cañon one can see the same character of vegetation that flourishes in the country East of the Sierras.

The beech, the maple, the white oak, and many other deciduous trees that are not dreamt of by the low-land Californians are to be found, spreading their broad and generous shade over vast spaces that need no shade from the sun's rays—being already sufficiently protected by the shadows cast from the misty mountain heights.

Such a cañon we have above about Santa Anita Rancho. In former years Hon. B. D. Wilson made a road up the side of the cañon to the top of the mountain, where an inexhaustible supply of good timber covers the table land.

No more inspiring, or health and strength-giving trip can be found on the face of the earth or in the mid-mountain air.

If you don't believe it, go and see, and be satisfied.

You newspaper men have no idea what beauty and loveliness is to be found near the city. Proclaim a general holiday, and go out and see such spots as are above described.

Yours, &c.,

TEGMINSE FAGEL.

[Probably all the newspaper men in the city would enjoy a little reunions sub teguine fagi. Perhaps the writer will come and edit the morning and evening papers in their absence. ED. HERALD.]

Scalping and Rescalping.

Scalping is a very insignificant operation, when it is considered that a little charity will replace the desired hair. The following story, though slightly Yankee, has been given to the HERALD as true:

The narrative says: That for some time past a process in surgery has been going on at New Haven, Connecticut, attracting much attention. During the early part of August Mrs. Ann Farley, employed in Davies' shirt factory, was unfortunate enough to brim her head in contact with a swift revolving shaft. The set-screws caught in her hair, and almost instantly her head was bereft of its flowing locks and of the flesh which propagated them. For a time it was thought the poor woman must die, for mental derangement and great physical prostration followed the scalping. After a while, however, the surgeons employed adjusted the scalp where nature designed it to be; but they only succeeded in demonstrating that a scalp, once taken from the head, could not by any aid of man be made to attach itself again.

The agony she suffered cannot be told in words. The friends of Mrs. Farley were anxious to have her hair restored, and to please them she submitted to the treatment in question. The surgeons, Drs. Smith and Park, determined to do what they could, and accordingly set to work. They took small portions of flesh from the arms of such as were willing to make the sacrifice, and applied them to the head of the patient. A few days sufficed to cause them to knit and grow. This operation has been performed over 40 times, flesh being taken from as many different persons, and the lady now has much more than one-half a scalp, with good prospects of getting a whole one.

The parties contributing the flesh say the pain attendant on the cutting is quite insignificant, and after an irritation of but short duration, the skin grows over the wound and "Richard is himself again." Forty persons can point with pride to the cranium of Mrs. Farley and say, "A piece of my flesh adorns that head." When flesh is wanted, the doctors advertise the fact, and the rush, as witnessed Tuesday, is immense. It is yet too early to determine whether Mrs. Farley will live or die from the effects of her injury. The operation through which she is now passing is a novel one, and never before adopted here, and by reason of its novelty, plenty of applicants are daily found willing and anxious to contribute their mite to the general reconstruction of the suffering patient's head.
