

THE WEEKLY "HERALD"

Will be published this afternoon. It will contain 36 columns of reading matter, well selected. It has letters from Los Nietos, Wilmington, Soledad and other places of interest. It has the latest telegrams, and very full local intelligence.

The Sausal Redondo Decision.

Our dispatches this morning announce a final decision by the Secretary of the Interior, of the very important land case involving the title to about 25,000 acres of land adjoining this city. The decision gives the settlers and those persons who were associated with General Rosecrans in the location of school lands, the lands in controversy.

The importance of this decision will be better understood by a brief review of the history of the contest of the past five years.

The Rancho Sausal Redondo y Guapita was granted to Antonio Ygnacio Abila by the Mexican Government about 1840.

In 1858 the grant to Abila having been confirmed by the United States, the Rancho was surveyed by Major Henry Hancock, Deputy United States Surveyor General. This survey was generally recognized until March, 1868. From 1858 to 1868 the land between Sausal Redondo and the Rancho Tajanta was taken up by settlers, claiming the land under the pre-emption and homestead laws of the United States.

Among the early settlers were Alexander Nelson in 1858, E. W. Squires in 1860, George Wright, Andrew Fogal and others in 1861.

In 1868 General Rosecrans came to this county and being satisfied that he could secure considerable land that was unoccupied by settlers and not included in the surveys of Sausal Redondo or Tajanta in 1858, made arrangements to locate School Lieu Land Scrip.

On further investigation he learned that the survey of Sausal Redondo had never been confirmed, and he procured a new survey, which reduced the area of the ranch about 8,000 acres. This land he covered with Lieu Land scrip locations.

Robert Burnett had purchased the title of most of the heirs of the original Mexican grantee, and he also had a survey made which extended the area of the grant about 20,000 acres.

The survey made by George Hansen, Deputy U. S. Surveyor General, in 1868, and generally known as the Rosecrans Survey, was finally confirmed by the Secretary of the Interior in October, 1871.

Robert Burnett and Tomas Sanchez, then applied in the United States Land Office, of this District, for the land, that had been included in the survey made in 1868, by Geo. H. Thompson, Deputy United States Surveyor General, and excluded by the Rosecrans survey.

The case was decided adversely to the claimants in June 1872, by Henry C. Austin, who was then Register of the Land Office.

Last spring the Commissioner of the General Land Office, gave his decision against the claimants, and the Secretary of the Interior has now given a final decision.

Some of the best agricultural land in the county was covered by this claim, and the unsettled title has been a blockade to the growth of this city and county.

Business will now be brisk in the United States Land Office, where the settlers will make their proofs and secure a title to their homes. The survey made by Major Hancock was more in accordance with the Diseno than either of the later surveys, and probably if that survey had not been disturbed the settlers would have had a title to their homes years ago.

Messrs. Burnett and Sanchez, in their testimony in the United States Land Office, stated the facts in reference to their purchases fairly and honestly, and in several instances injured their claim by such statements. They no doubt believed they were entitled to considerable of the land that they claimed.

With the settlement of this case the land will be subdivided and settled in small tracts. At present there are probably eight hundred to one thousand people living on the land.

The number of children between five and fifteen years of age in Green Meadows and La Dow School Districts last June was about 350, and nearly all of them had their homes on the disputed territory.

The Herald's machinery and its force of workmen, so busily engaged, last evening, were admitted by a large number of visitors. Between 5 and 6 o'clock this afternoon, the "little giant" will be working off the WEEKLY HERALD, and a general invitation is extended to friends of the establishment to call and see it in operation.

The power press of the Los Angeles Herald is now up and running. The last number of that journal was printed on it, and it has a quite artistic appearance. A little more railroad, Col. Scott, and the World will go and do likewise.—[San Diego World.]

Other Failures.

Verily, moneyed men stand on slippery places. No name is secure. Hoyt, Sprague & Co., of Providence, than whom no business firm stood higher, have failed and entailed endless suffering in Rhode Island and its factories. Sprague of this firm was reputed to be the wealthiest man in Rhode Island, and one of the wealthiest in New England. Ten millions of dollars was said to number his coin.

The financial storm seems to have spread wider than supposed at first. From the stock room it has gradually extended itself to the solid industry of the country. Mill after mill is gradually succumbing; factory after factory is hauling in sail in order to weather the storm. Currency is daily becoming scarcer, and consequently the market for manufactured goods is less. This factory now discharges 500 operators; that reduces its days to three or four of the seven. Others stop entirely; the end no man knows.

Absolute want—starvation will stand in many homes in the east this winter, and the suffering will be terrible if the season be as severe as was the last. Crime will be rampant, for men thrown out of work must eat; and they prefer to steal than starve.

The government should immediately take steps to remedy, as much as in it lies, the difficulty which is now upon the nation. Large quantities of paper and coin, $80,000,000, lie idle in the treasury. This should at once be put upon the market, and made to relieve the wants of a circulating medium.

A lesson should be learned from 1873 and its financial history. It is this—improvement carried on with a speculative impulse, and not because the needs of the country demand it, is suicidal. Railroads should not be built faster than the country demands, and they should not be built when they withdraw from this country to another money. Where a country or State can build railroads or make any other improvement from the capital of the State itself, then all is well; when it is necessary to go to foreign lands and sell bonds at enormous discounts that roads may be built through unhabited regions, then the country must look out for a crash, and a crash that will interfere with every and all classes of people.

Credit for our Freight and Passengers.

The letter and resolutions concerning freights and passengers, sent by the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, have produced some effect, though not all that has been desired. The Chronicle in reply says:

We are in receipt of a communication from the Secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, complaining that the published manifests of freight and lists of passengers from the southern coast counties do not give Los Angeles its proper credit. The Los Angeles people must see that the omission complained of is not the fault of the papers, but of the pursers of the steamers. If they will furnish the manifests in the way suggested we shall be glad to print them.

This is at variance with a letter from the steamship company, read at the last meeting, which asserted that the pursers of their steamers, in the manifests, credited each town with its exports. The Chronicle, though, promises to remedy the wrong in the future, which is something gained.

The Bulletin does partial justice and lumps all the freight received per the Pacific Mail under the head of "San Diego, Anaheim Landing, San Pedro, and Santa Barbara."

The Call, in sublime indifference, passes by the resolutions without even a respectful salutation, and in its manifests of the Orizaba's cargo credits all to "San Diego, etc."

The Alta publishes the resolutions, and speaks thus concerning them, which is a lordly way of doing, but it does not remedy the credit. If, as it says, Los Angeles is the metropolis of Southern California, and it is just as easy to credit its freight properly as to San Diego, why in common sense justice is it not done.

In accordance with a request from Los Angeles, we print some resolutions adopted by the Chamber of Commerce of that town, requesting that the exports and imports of Wilmington be published separately from those of San Diego; but it was scarcely necessary. Californians of intelligence generally, and especially business men, fully appreciate the fact that Los Angeles is the chief centre of business in the southern part of the State, and will probably remain so until a transcontinental railroad changes the condition of affairs. San Diego's greatness prospective, that of Los Angeles is an actuality; and there is room for both to expand.

The Examiner passes by the subject in silence; it publishes no manifests, and is not interested. But the Post, true to justice and to truth, publishes the manifest as it ought to be published. It states the port from which goods were received, and also the name of the consignee and the goods consigned. This act of justice should result in a large subscription list to this paper from Los Angeles city and County.

The Sacramento Bee charges that for nearly two years past one L. Schroder, a resident of San Francisco, has drawn regularly from the State Treasury $150 per month as clerk of said Treasury, and that he has never given any time to the duties of that office. The body of Alfred Wainright, well known in San Francisco, where he resided some years, was found October 25th in Charles river. He is supposed to have committed suicide.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 31.—J. T. & W. H. Daley, 49 New street, in the Southern shipping trade are among the latest failures announced.

A Washington special says Secretary Richardson will soon give place to Governor Morgan, or some one else if he is not eligible. The change, it is stated, will be agreeable both to the President and present Secretary.

Mrs. Anna E. Park, of Brooklyn, who from the moment of Lucette Meyers' arrest, on the charge of complicity in the Goodrich murder, interested herself in her behalf, and took her to her own house after her discharge, has made public Lucette's confession, of which the following is a summary: "Lucette was followed home, on Stanton street, New York, by Goodrich, and he frequently visited her afterward. Roscoe and Beach also visited Lucette. Kate Stodard called several times on Lucette to learn whether Goodrich visited her and manifested jealousy. Roscoe was also jealous and threatened to kill Goodrich. One night Lucette and Beach went to Goodrich's house, entered with false keys and hid in a closet. Kate Stodard and Goodrich entered soon afterward and quarreled for some time. Then Lucette heard a shot and three or four more in rapid succession. She burst from the closet and saw Roscoe, pistol in hand, leaning over Goodrich, and Kate wiping blood from his forehead. Roscoe threatened to shoot Lucette, but let her off on her swearing secesy. She then wandered home. The feeling in Wall street this morning is not good, although there was no apparent inclination towards a panic. Prices of stock are lower.

Private advices from Havana state that in the recent storm, three Spanish gun boats were lost at Guatemala and two at Batabano, and one at Sagua la Grande.

A Washington special says further conversation with the President by members of Congress, confirms the statement already telegraphed that he will favor the issue of new bonds bearing a low rate of interest, convertible into greenbacks at the will of the holder.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Secretary of the Interior affirmed the decision of the Commissioners of the General Land office, rejecting the application of Robert Burnett and Tomas Sanchez, to purchase under the seventieth section of the act of July 23d 1868, a certain large tract of land excluded from the Rancho Sausal Redondo, y Guapita, contiguous to the city of Los Angeles. The claim thus finally defeated, covers 25,000 acres of valuable land, which is occupied by hundreds of settlers, who will now be able to acquire a title under the pre-emption laws.

According to the Resolution of the Clearing House, pooling operations associated with the banks were stopped to-day. Different bankers expressing the opinion that a cessation of pooling will not affect very seriously any bank nor interfere with any legitimate business.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Mr. Dent the father of Mrs. Grant, is lying dangerously ill, with no prospects of his recovery. The clergy of Washington have arranged for general collections for the relief of the yellow fever sufferers in Memphis.

FOREIGN NEWS.

BELFAST, October 31.—John L. Gordon, to-day, pleaded not guilty to the indictment charging him with the murder of his brother's wife at Thorn-dike on the 16th of June last. His trial begins November 10th.

PARIS, October 31.—It is reported that in consequence of the position maintained by Count De Chambord in his letter to De Chesnelong, all hopes of the restoration of monarchy are abandoned. It is probable that the conservative deputies will vote in favor of prolonging the term of President MacMahon.

MADRID, October 31.—The Government forces besieging Cartagena have been reinforced by 5,000 men.

NEVADA.

The Loss at Reno by Fire—Celebration at Virginia City—Rich Mines Discovered. VIRGINIA, Nev., October 31.

The thirty anniversary of the admission of Nevada into the Union was celebrated in this city and Gold Hill to-day with great pomp by the societies of Pacific Coast Pioneers and Veterans of the Mexican War. The procession formed on B street at noon, and after marching through the principal streets of the city, proceeded to Gold Hill. Judge Will Campbell delivered a brief oration. The stars and stripes floated from all the public buildings, stores, hoisting works and private residences. The celebration concluded this evening with a grand ball at the Odd Fellows' hall.

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.

Wonderfully rich developments have been made in the past few days in the Belmont mine. At a depth of 400 feet, a ledge was struck with a pay streak four feet in width, the assays from which gave results of from $1,000 to $3,500 per ton. Mr. Cassell, the Superintendent, arrived in town to-night, on his way to San Francisco. He reports the vein increased in width to nine feet, without any signs of a well yet, and steadily increasing in richness. The mine is open to the public. No secrecy has been observed. The strike is undoubtedly the richest ever made in eastern Nevada.

RENO, Oct. 31.

The total number of buildings burnt is 99, principally business houses. The loss is estimated at fully $150,000, with very little insurance. Probably $20,000 will cover the amount. Property to-day has changed hands for more money than was asked for it with the buildings before the fire. The merchants now propose to build fire-proof stores as soon as the material can be obtained. Several brick and stone buildings have been purchased at Washoe City to be taken down and rebuilt here.

ASHLAND, Oct. 31.

A serious cutting affray occurred here last night, in which a man named J. C. Perry, alias Texas, was seriously if not fatally stabbed by a man named August Walters. Whisky was the cause.

SAN DIEGO, October 31.

A LARGE FIRE.—We have just learned that John Saviers, who resides on La Colonia, lost by fire last week his barn, filled with hay, and fourteen valuable horses. Mr. Saviers' loss is estimated at $4,000. None of the property was insured. The fire was caused by some boys shooting blackbirds near the barn, the sparks from the gun having set fire to the hay, and there being a strong wind prevailing at the time the fire could not be extinguished.—[Santa Barbara Press.]

That "Put Up Job."

Ed. HERALD.—A morning's paper intimates that the award of contract for printing the Constitution and By-Laws for the Chamber of Commerce, was a "put up job." Does this journal imagine that the quality of work is not taken into consideration when contracts are awarded? Can he see no difference between the "ancient and fish-like" styles and the much-worn materials of the other papers, and the new, fresh and brilliant types and mechanism of the HERALD? In all deference to the Mirror office, whose proprietors are first-class workmen and princes among gentlemen, I believe there was no intention in the Board to undertake or slight them, and that the work was given to the HERALD only because the Mirror had not the particular style of type desired for this work.
