

The Municipal Election.

It is high time that the citizens of Los Angeles were looking around for suitable men to fill the vacancies which will occur in the city government. The election will take place early in December, and a canvass should immediately be made, not to see who wish to be candidates for Councilmen, and the various other offices, but to find what good men, able men, energetic men, public-spirited men, will accept. These offices, although little salary is attached to them, are very important. The life of the city depends upon their being well filled. They should be filled by broad men, generous men, who will not place their own personal interests before the interests of the entire city. The city government needs new life, and it is depending upon the coming election to fill this want.

Improvements are demanded in all sections. Streets need renovating. The new demands arising from the new character as a railroad and commercial centre, must be provided for. In ten years Los Angeles must triple in population and in wealth, and men must be nominated and elected who will take in this situation, and act accordingly.

Los Angeles street should be continued by the cutting out of the Chinese tenements back of the Pico House and the Bella Union. The right of way can be bought cheaper now than at any time hereafter. In other places the streets should be straightened, trees should be planted, and energy infused into the sleepy inhabitants of every Sleepy Hollow.

Winter in the East.

The telegraph brings fresh news of commercial failures every day. First from one State, then from another comes an unexpected crash. Mills are stopped and manufactories suspended, banks fail and merchants close up. The main portion of the distress will fall on the thousands dependent for support on their weekly wages. Every luxury has its prole, therefore every economy on the part of the rich must entail a corresponding suffering on the poor; and however commendable the retrenchment may be, it necessitates a want of employment somewhere.

Although money is by no means easy here, there seems to be no reason why, at the approach of Winter, subscription boxes should not be placed in the banks, or in the stores of responsible citizens, which in the depth of the cold weather, might be found to contain tangible and well timed help. As things stand, it seems impossible to hope for anything short of extreme distress in the East during the next four months. Many a man who would not care to see his name on a list for a subscription of fifty cents or a dollar, would gladly deposit that small amount for the benefit of Eastern operatives in a state of starvation. The subject is not one to be trifled with, and is at least worthy of discussion. Two months hence, all California may be called upon to come to the rescue of distressed workmen. Famine produces riot, and riot bloodshed. A little timely and unostentatious preparation may save untold misery, and it will not be to the discredit of Los Angeles to have been foremost in thoughtfully instituting some such means of help.

Compare for a moment the state of our country from its incipient settlement with that of the East. Though money is not perhaps plentiful, and business through competition is brought down to a fine point, yet we have no such masses of poor people here as they have in the East; and, if we had, the climate is such that they could not suffer here as they do there. The matter should not end here. There are many thoughtful minds amongst us, who, while they grasp the idea, may be able to conceive some good and practical means of securing the aid for the East that will so surely shortly be demanded.

Curiosity Concerning our Resources Abroad.

A short letter was handed the HERALD yesterday, making the following inquiries in reference to the great beehive, described in the recent work by our fellow townsman, W. McPherson, Esq.—it comes all the way from Serrebonne, Louisiana.

"Please be so kind as to give me the address of some one living near the great beehive you mention in your work on Los Angeles county, California; that I may get a more full description of the locality and nature of the rock, and situation of the hive, and store of honey, and to whom it belongs."

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—It is considered certain that a change will soon be made in the California Surveyor Generalship. It is believed that Senator Sargent will name Von Schmidt as Hardenburgh's successor.

Richardson denies to-night, emphatically, the rumor that he has resigned, and says that he has recently taken a house in Washington, and expects to make a considerable stay.

President Grant stated to-night that he did not desire Richardson's resignation, and had made no such request.

VIENNA, Nov. 1.—Negotiations for the settlement of difficulties between Austria and Turkey are progressing favorably. Turkey is disposed to give complete satisfaction.

A REMARKABLE WELL.—The San Jose Mercury of October 29th makes this mention: Many of our citizens yesterday visited the premises of Maloney, on the Alviso road, about a mile and a half from this city, to see a new artesian well which discharges an immense stream of water with such force as to carry it many feet in the air, often throwing out very large quantities of gravel and very large pebbles. The well is only three hundred feet deep, and the flow is indeed remarkable. All who have seen it express the belief that if pipes were placed in the well the water could be carried to a height of forty or fifty feet. It is one of the most remarkable wells of which we have ever heard, and is really worth seeing.

NEVADA.

Great Excitement About Rich Mines at Belmont.—From the Nevada Miner Assay as High as $3,000 Per Ton.

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. Reports from Belmont to-night state that intense excitement prevails there in consequence of the recent strike, and developments since made, in the Belmont mine ledge. At the point of discovery the ledge has widened out upwards of ten feet, and present developments establish beyond a doubt that an immense vein extends in one unbroken body for a distance of 275 feet in length, and in all probability a much greater distance.

tanee. Cross cuts have been run into the ore body, eight and nine feet at short distances apart. Assays from all points give various results from $1,000 to $3,000 per ton. Samples taken from different parts of the vein are of the same description, heavy black sulphurets, thickly interspersed with silver wire.

SALT LAKE.

Memorial to Congress.—A Mass Meeting. SALT LAKE, November 1. A memorial to Congress is now receiving signatures, setting forth the evils and abuses of Mormon rule, and praying for the passage of laws to give the memorialists protection and free government, and bring Utah into harmony with the Federal authorities and Republican institutions. A mass meeting was held last night on this subject.

Exchange Saucepan.

The San Diego Union says: The Galsh boys, of Monserrate, got another big grizzly bear last week at their place, called "Agua Tepid." Ky-tan did the shooting. He killed a large grizzly in the same locality last year.

Nearly three thousand pounds of honey was brought from Monserrate last evening by S. Goldbaum. He ships it to San Francisco to-day.

The World records an accident to Judge Porter, by which his shoulder was dislocated. He is recovering.

Louis Begard, of Monserrate, assisted by 72 men, sheared his flock of 8,000 sheep this fall in three days. It required an ox to provide provender daily.

The new Socorro placer diggings give promise of extensive gold beds and brilliant rubies.

The Grass Valley Union contains an account of the death of William Stridger, who accidentally shot his little son, on the 2d ult. It says that he slowly pined away from grief and remorse, and died of a broken heart. Typhoid fever set in at the last, and hastened his end. It contained also an account of a boy who brained and old man while asleep, in White Pine, dug his grave, buried him and sold off his property. The boy has been found guilty of murder in the first degree, but an Eastern Nevada jury are in doubts about hanging him because he has "an engaging appearance and his eyes are mild."

The Santa Barbara Index says: Among the proceedings of the board of Supervisors of Santa Barbara county, published in the Times we find this item: "The petition of E. N. Wood and J. A. Johnson, for a subsidy to the Santa Barbara Press, was formally rejected, the Board having no authority to appropriate the public money for such purposes."

It is superfluous to say that E. N. Wood did not apply for any subsidy to the Press, or have anything whatever to do with such an application.

Miss Brown, formerly employed upon the Press, has departed for the city of Angels, and is now at work on the Los Angeles Herald.

Credit for Our Freight.

EDITOR HERALD:—Referring to the article on "Credit for Our Freight and Passengers," in this morning's issue, particularly to the statement of the San Francisco Chronicle that the fault complained of is with the pursers, let me ask how the Post can publish the manifest as they should be, if the pursers do not furnish such manifests? The manifest is given to the Merchants' Exchange, and copies are obtained from that office by all reporters who desire. This is the custom. Yours, etc.,

ENTERPRISE.—The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has decided to take regularly 100 copies of the Weekly HERALD to place in Eastern hotels and libraries. Several firms in the city are ordering 20, 30 and even 50 copies each, for the same purpose. That is the correct and only way to get with "big" city or town wants their particular locality brought into notice. Santa Barbara set the example and now San Diego, Anaheim and Los Angeles are following suit. If a little such kind of energy and enterprise could be chucked into the heads of our San Bernardinoans, our town would not long continue to lag behind her sister towns and cities in Southern California. There is no other source possible for a town to make itself known abroad, except through the columns of its local papers.—[San Bernardino Guardian.]

A POINT.—The Placerville Democrat raises this point: Have they overshot themselves? We refer to our Republican friends and the point they raised by the nomination of Brunson. The returns show that if any other than McKinstry is elected to the Supreme Bench, it is McKee, who is far ahead of Dwinelle and Brunson, and if the Brunson point is worth anything it will redound to the advantage of McKee, who was not as particular as Dwinelle and Brunson were, but was running for "everything there was in sight."

SAN BERNARDINO ITEMS.—The Guardian, of the 1st inst., furnishes the annexed items: A line of carriages will connect Riverside with the terminus of the railroad on or about the 1st of January. A protracted meeting of the M. E. Church South will be held at San Bernardino next week. A gentleman named Byrne proposes to light San Bernardino with gas. The subject of a Court House is under discussion.

Mrs. Jay Cooke displays true heroism. She promptly relinquishes her dower-right, to meet the pecuniary liabilities of her husband. Any relief to this dark picture is, of course, most welcome, and it is certainly to be found in the contrast here presented of woman's self-sacrifice with man's turpitude.—[Brooklyn Argus.]
