

CITY AND SUBURBS.

G. W. Morgan has money to loan. The Constantine will sail for San Francisco, Tuesday June 16th.

Mike Madigan has enrolled nine hundred children on the school census. The water suit before Justice Gray yesterday was dismissed, as there is no law meeting the case.

Splendid five-acre lots for $650. Located one mile this side of the race track. Apply to Kimball & Croft.

Mr. H. Campbell has moved his saleroom of the Howe sewing machines from the former location on Commercial street to Signore's new building on Main street.

Mr. S. Levy yesterday purchased five fleeces of wool sheared from Vermont sheep, which weigh twenty-four pounds each. The sheep came from Ohio, and were purchased of Mr. Patrick.

We learn from the Secretary of the Los Angeles Guards that the company intends to drill three times a week, so as to make a respectable appearance in the Fourth of July procession which is talked of.

The contested land case of A. B. McDaniels and A. C. Bronson involving right to enter lands in the vicinity of El Monte, under Homestead Act, was commenced in the United States Land Office yesterday.

A little unpleasantness arose yesterday between a saloon keeper on Spring street and a certain collector. It was all over a note; and paid or unpaid, that was the question. The fine will be paid to-day, and the dispute left where it first started.

A fine gold watch and chain valued at two hundred dollars, will shortly be raffled off at Wolf and Bross's saleroom. One hundred checks at two dollars each will be sold; of these, forty-three are already taken. The watch would be a nice thing to have, and two dollars would be a very small price to pay for it.

The Southern District Agricultural Society held a meeting yesterday morning to adapt the special programme for the Fall races. The programme has already been published, and we understand that it was adopted without alteration. Birds were opened on the printing of the society for the fair, and the contract was awarded to the HERALD as the lowest bidder.

A marriage notice which appears in this morning's paper announces the fact that on the 7th instant Mr. M. J. Newmark was united in matrimonial bonds to Miss Sophie Cohen. The ceremony occurred in San Francisco, at the residence of the bride's parents, and was conducted by Joseph Newmark, Esq., father of the groom, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Eckman. Mr. and Mrs. Newmark have our best wishes for their health and happiness.

We would direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement appearing in another column. Mr. Saxon has labored long and persistently for the good of his scholars, not only in drilling them so thoroughly against every disadvantage, but also in furnishing this entertainment for the benefit of the school. To our citizens we promise a most enjoyable affair next Saturday evening in Mr. Saxon's entertainment.

The biggest thing out is the huge turtle which was yesterday displayed in front of the Lafayette Hotel. Its weight is three hundred sixty-seven pounds, and it measures between four and five feet in length, with a circumference of twelve and a half feet. The "beast" was caught from the ocean below San Diego, and was brought up on the Monterey Tuesday. The proprietor of the Lafayette purchased it at a high price, and to-morrow will regale his boarders with delicious stews and soups from its loins.

Turn-Verein Hall was crowded to its utmost capacity last night on the occasion of the benefit of Miss Anna Elzer. That young lady must certainly value the compliment paid her by our citizens; for none more hearty has ever been given to anyone on the stage in Los Angeles. Every part of the entertainment was well received by the audience, and the hall rang again and again with encores, while the stage was showered with bouquets, at the end of each piece, more than usually attractive. Among the rest, two beautiful white pigeons were presented to Miss Elzer after the singing of the Italian aria, "La Sonnambula." We must not neglect to mention with words of commendation our own amateurs. Mr. Mendel Meyer and Señor Arevalo, who acquitted themselves with great credit in the vocal parts, and the "Grand Duchesse," receiving hearty encores. The entertainment in every respect was a complete success, and one of the finest which has ever been given in Los Angeles.

We, the undersigned, citizens of Los Angeles county, being desirous of seeing the coming anniversary of American independence properly observed and celebrated, do hereby request that all persons residing in this county meet at the District Court Room, in the city of Los Angeles, on Friday, June 12, 1874, at 8 o'clock P. M., to then and there devise ways and means for a proper celebration.

Kerosene vs. Gas. "Down with grinding monopolies." This seems to have always been the cry and encouragement of the development of the resources of our country is the duty of every American citizen, not only to patronize that industry, but to fully establish to his mind, that such industry is of a nature that will promote the most good to himself and his fellow man. The San Fernando Oil Wells, only a few miles from Los Angeles, will produce such an inexhaustible amount of the crude material that brings the very first quality of illuminating oils within the reach of all and at prices to the satisfaction of the poorest of our inhabitants. The consumers of gas in large quantities have at last arrived at the conclusion that they have a remedy at hand that will not only save them a vast amount of money every year, but will also tend to encourage audible enterprises. We have already seen this remedy exemplified in some of the leading saloons of this city, by turning oil in preference to gas at the present rates. And many more are preparing to follow their example, for which an innumerable amount of reasons could be given, prominent among which the city has been in total darkness for the past two years or more, even to the sacrifice of life and limb of her citizens in going to their homes on dark nights. The cost under the present rates of the Gas Company, amounts to $720 per year for lighting a first class saloon, whereas no more lamps are necessary to produce the same amount of light, and so far they give better satisfaction, at the small cost of only $240 per year (including tending and cleaning), a difference of $480 to the consumer. THE MURDER.

Coroner's Inquest on the Body of Mendioroz—The Borevold Family.

Coroner Richardson summoned a jury Tuesday night to investigate the circumstances connected with the murder of Mendioroz, but owing to the confusion which prevailed and the utter inability of the murdered man's family to furnish their testimony which was most important, the inquest was postponed until 10 o'clock yesterday morning. At the appointed time the jury met at the house of Mendioroz where the body lay and proceeded to take all the testimony bearing on the case which could be secured. The facts elicited are substantially as follows:

TESTIMONY. Angela Mendioroz, sworn: The deceased is my father; he was killed by being shot by one Fernandez; Fernandez lives here in the same house that we live in; he rents and lives in a room to himself, here; he had, on several occasions, insulted my mother, sisters and myself; he used some rough talk to us yesterday, and my mother told my father about it yesterday, and in the evening my father met Fernandez at the front door and talked to him about it; they were talking about it about ten minutes; my father did not appear to be mad, but told him not to insult his family any more, but if he had anything to say to come to him. After they had talked about ten minutes, Fernandez said to my father that he could insult him and shoot him, too; and at the same time that he spoke those words he drew his pistol and fired, shooting my father. My father then drew his knife and tried to follow him, but could not; he only lived about five minutes after he was shot; my father had no weapon in his hand when he was shot, nor made any attempt to draw any weapon until after he was shot, and Fernandez went down the steps and was going off. This all occurred near the house, on Olivera street, Los Angeles city, yesterday evening. This, June the 10th, 1874.

ANGELA MENDIOROZ, mark. JUANA MENDIOROZ, THE ELDER DAUGHTER. Gave testimony strongly corroborative of her sister's. From the evidence it appeared that Fernandez was of a morose, quarrelsome temperament, and on many previous occasions he had manifested his ill-will towards different individuals. An instance cited was that of a young man who lived in another part of the house, and who was accustomed occasionally to furnish music for the edification of himself and his friends. This had so incensed Fernandez that he had made an attempt to take the young man's life some time previous to this occurrence. The evidence was all given positively and fully, laying the full blame of the affair on the head of Fernandez, and the statements of the two young ladies corresponded in every particular. A verdict was rendered to the effect that deceased came to his death by a pistol shot, fired from the hand of one Jaime Fernandez.

THE SORROWING FAMILY. During the sitting of the Jury, the pitiful moans and cries of the bereaved wife could be distinctly heard throughout the building. For twenty-six years the two had been united, hardly being out of each other's company a day during that long period. It was pitiful to hear the expressions of agony from the heart-broken woman. Besides his wife, Mendioroz leaves a son and two daughters, the eldest, Juana, a young lady of prepossessing appearance, is about twenty years of age; Angela, aged fifteen, and Aureli, a lad of fourteen years. To see the grief-stricken family, one cannot avoid wishing that the just retribution of Heaven may fall upon the wretch who has wantonly deprived them of the greatly loved husband and father.

THE MURDERER. Is a painter by trade, as stated, and of his evil disposition enough has been said. He is a man probably fifty years of age, and a native of South Spain. Why he should have committed the bloody deed, which was seemingly so unprovoked and unwarranted, is known only to the lurking demon that apparently lurks within him.

The Fourth of July. We are glad to know that the question of a celebration on the coming Fourth has been brought before our people in a substantial manner, and there is now a likelihood that our National holiday will be duly honored. The following petition was circulated yesterday:

We, the undersigned, citizens of Los Angeles county, being desirous of seeing the coming anniversary of American independence properly observed and celebrated, do hereby request that all persons residing in this county meet at the District Court Room, in the city of Los Angeles, on Friday, June 12, 1874, at 8 o'clock P. M., to then and there devise ways and means for a proper celebration. E Bouton, P. P. Temple, J. J. Smith, J. G. Nichols, Aaron Smith, L. J. Rose, J. W. Gibson, W. H. Swan, Arthur Bullock, Albert J. Johnson, J. P. Widney, Geo. Hansen, S. Benjamin, I. Harris, M. Kremer, Eugene Meyer, Wm. B. Rowland, Chas. Sacriste, C. C. Lips, J. W. Gillette, and 70 others. Los Angeles, June 10, 1874.

EDITOR HERALD: In conversation with many citizens, members of organizations civil, fire and military, the general desire is to celebrate the Fourth of July in a manner fitting the position of Los Angeles as a rising and prosperous city. It only requires a meeting of leading citizens to arrange the programme, when every well meaning citizen will respond with alacrity with their means and their presence. No time is to be lost. We talk large of our resources; now on the Fourth of July let us show our patriotism. M. P.

School Examinations.

THE BATH STREET SCHOOL.

Under the charge of Mr. Saxon, yesterday morning the object of attention from Dr. Lucky, and the corps of visitors. The examinations passed off very satisfactorily, doing credit to the scholars and their teacher. About forty pupils were present, all of the Spanish race. In their instruction Mr. Saxon has been obliged to encounter peculiar and most embarrassing difficulties, the principal of which was the lack of appreciation of school advantages by the class of people whose children he had to deal with. The attendance was very irregular, and the interest in study on that account greatly wanting. Besides this there were the many troubles attending the teaching of a language whose idioms, words and pronunciation is entirely strange to most of the scholars. But, notwithstanding all these drawbacks, Mr. Saxon has labored assiduously with his school, and has accomplished results which are truly wonderful. There were no exercises from the scholars, as in the other departments, being restrained for next Saturday evening. The school is ungraded, and the studies comprise everything in the schedule from primer to fourth reader. While the pupils evinced good progress in reading and spelling they were particularly forward in those, being somewhat in advance of the scholars of the same class in other schools. Those who attained the highest standing were: Juan Carabajales, Christine Willhart, Augustine Olivera and Margarita Willhart.

MISS JEWETT'S CLASS. The fifth grade, occupies one of the lower rooms of the High School building. The scholars evinced a competent knowledge of their studies, and showed that they were well disciplined. The programme of the exercises was as follows:

Singing—"The Dear old Home." Geography. Speaking—"The Children's Hour," by Emily Kremer. Mental Arithmetic—135 to 2. Spelling—"Country Children," by William Singing—"Now I lay me Down to Sleep." Gymnastics. Recitation. Singing—"Come let us Ramble through the Woods," by the entire school. Speaking—"Trust in God and do the Right," by Caspar Cohn. Written arithmetic from 250 to 135. P. M. Speaking—"How to Speak," by Della O'Melveny. Natural history from 3:15 to 3:30. Speaking—"The Cat and the Bird," by Adela Behr. Speaking—"Scatter Seeds of Kindness," by Lily Campbell. Reading from 3:40 to 3:50. Speaking—"The Rainbow," by Charley Johnson. Singing—"Don't be Sorrowful, Darling," by Augusta Deiner and Adela Behr. Speaking—"Dilly Dally," by Ella Lechler. Singing—"Joy, Joy! Happy are We."

Following is a list of scholars promoted from this to the next higher grade, with the standing of the most proficient: Romona Galeren, 90; Adela Behr, perfect; Augusta Deiner, 100; Lily Brown, over 90; Delle O'Melveny, 91; Emma Fleishman, 90; Julia Martinez, Cordona, Potts, Lula Glassell, Lula Campbell, Jenny Levy, Charley Johnson, Caspar Cohn, Hypolite Galeren, Nathan Fleishman, Walter James, perfect; Danny Pennessy, Richie Stassforth, Charley Conan, Fred Perry, Cordona, Freddy Griffith, Ramond Junge, Ideofuso Sepulveda, Robbie Williams, Franklin Wolf, Albert Mullay.

MISS HATTIE SCOTT'S CLASS. The sixth grade, also occupying one of the rooms of the High School building, were examined in reading, spelling, arithmetic and geography. The pupils all did finely, and for those of their age showed a somewhat remarkable proficiency. In reading, particularly, they excelled; giving evidence of the best training in minding their pauses with a nicety that would shame many an older reader. The exercises were as follows:

"Three Robins," Emma Smith; "Ten Little Ducks," Jennie Lazar; "Little Mouse," Ella Newman; "Casanova," Judge Addez; "Voice of the Grass," Julia Fernandez; "Moses in the Wilderness," Julia Breer; recitation by Meta Potts. The following named pupils were promoted to the fifth grade: Louisa Herbig, Julia Fernandez, Addie Page, Maggie Graham, Julia Breer, Laura Meyer, Jennie Lazar, Eliza Gonzalez, Julia Martinez, Flannell Corillo, Francisco Solano, Eddie Gorman, Theodore Seabolt, Wilbert Collier, Willie Kline, Willie Roberts, Juan Martinez, Julian Chavez, Tommy Hall, Jimmy O'Donnell, Mike Nand, Frank Stoddard, Fred Perry, Charlie Simons, Philip Anker, Wallace Woodworth, Eddie Bradley, Aaron Abbott.

TO-DAY. The examinations will be conducted as follows: Morning—Miss Bixby's and Miss Howard's schools, High School building. Afternoon—Mr. Saxe's school, High School building.

Shooting Affray. Another affray of the kind now becoming so frequent, happened on the old Caluenga road Tuesday, involving high words, angry demonstrations, and an unfortunate shot from a revolver. Constable Sam Bryant, riding his horse along the road returning to the city, when about four miles from town, was set upon and greatly annoyed by a vicious dog belonging to Frederick Schmidt who lives in that neighborhood. Becoming angry at the brute for his persistency in attempting to bite the horse, Mr. Bryant drew his revolver and shot the canine. This act seems to have aroused the ire of Schmidt, who, with a companion, was in sight at the time. After first setting his two or three remaining dogs upon Bryant, he accosted him, demanding an explanation of his actions. One word led to another, until Schmidt became very abusive, as Mr. Bryant says, and made use of all available opprobrious epithets and angry threats. Bryant, however, still held the revolver in his hand with which he had shot the dog, and by bringing it to the conspicuous notice of Schmidt, somewhat overawed him for the time. Still Schmidt was not satisfied, and after Bryant rode off he took his revolver, mounted his horse, and pursued him. Schmidt demanded from Bryant that he should dismount, and that the two, delivering their fire-arms to the third party, should have personal satisfaction on the spot. The brute refused to do this, but gave the man his name, and told him that if he chose to accompany him to town they would have the matter settled, or that they could repair to a neighbor's, to whom he was known, and there adjust the difficulty. Neither proposition was satisfactory, it seems, but Schmidt still followed Bryant, and riding up to the officer's left, with one hand on his revolver attempted to grasp the rein of Bryant's horse with the other. Upon this, Bryant turned and fired upon him, the ball taking effect in his right cheek and coming out of the neck just under the right ear. Bryant then came to the city, where he has remained ready to answer any charge that might be brought against him.

Schmidt also came to town and took up his quarters at the United States Hotel where he received proper attention for his wound. We visited him yesterday to ascertain the character of his injury and also to hear his version of the affair. The wound is a very slight one; the ball entered the cheek as stated, glanced on the jaw-bone and came out of the neck without doing any injury more than inflicting a painful flesh wound. Schmidt says that Bryant was the one who used bad language, and was the aggressive party in every instance; that he (Schmidt) was willing to come to town and have the matter settled, and was riding up by Bryant's side with no other than that intention, when he received the shot. He denies attempting to catch the rein of Bryant's horse, and also disclaims having his hand on his revolver; says that it was a little thing which wouldn't shoot worth a cent, and besides it had slipped down his boot where it was out of reach. He claims that his dogs were only puppies, and wouldn't bite, and emphatically denies setting them upon Bryant. It is very evident that this question like all others, has two sides; and who shall decide when doctors disagree?

PIPIFAX. This remarkable curative herbal preparation is entirely unlike and greatly superior to any other recuperant ever discovered. It strengthens the living vital nervous principle, and gives energy to the muscles, nerves, filaments, membranes, and all tissues of the internal organs. PIPIFAX—Keeps the skin in a supple condition; the cuticle pliant; the pores open; and brings the blood to the surface; thereby enabling the system to contract these baneful atmospheric influences. PIPIFAX—Passes through the blood, carries off by perspiration and other excretions the effete and injurious materials of the body. It is soothing, alterative and detervative. Used methodically and rationally, aided by suitable diet, it produces most important changes in the system, contributing to the reconstruction of tissues, and removes vitiated matter which has become not only useless but injurious. No other article has ever been introduced which combines in such an extraordinary degree the principles of an efficient antibilious agent and tonic. Try it and be convinced.

THE Mutual Aid Association. Prominent among the enterprises that have been started in this city during the past year and have become a fixture of the country, is the Southern California Mutual Aid Association. This Association was incorporated last October, and has since been re-incorporated under the new law passed by the last Legislature. The object of the Association is to secure pecuniary benefits to the families of deceased members. This is done in a simple, cheap, and yet substantial manner, by the following process: Persons become members by paying annually from three to ten dollars, according to age, or by making a single payment of from ten to fifty dollars. From the amounts thus accumulated the running expenses of the Association are paid, while the balance is invested in the interest of which is placed to the credit of the members on the 1st of October of each year. Whenever a member dies, an assessment is levied for the benefit of his family; if there are less than six hundred and sixty-seven members, the assessment worked up to nearly two hundred dollars, making the benefit under the above plan about $500. As the membership is now rapidly on the increase, the Association will soon be able to pay the full two thousand dollar benefit which a member dies. As yet the Association has lost but one member, Mrs. Cower, who died near Los Nietos last February; her family promptly received the benefit due them, although at that time it was small.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors, held last evening at the Secretary's office, Richard Melrose of Anaheim resigned his position as a member of the Board, on account of his inability to attend its meetings, and Judge Thos. H. Smith of this city was elected to fill the vacancy. The Board of Directors is composed of the most faithful men, the names of whom are a sufficient guaranty that the affairs of the association will be honestly conducted; and this feeling of confidence pervades this and every other community where the managers are known.

The Mutual Aid, a neat four page paper is issued monthly by the Association, under the management of the Secretary, L. M. Holt, and is an able exponent of this system of co-operation. The paper is now widely circulated, and is considered by a large extent the mouth-piece of the Grange movement in this part of the State, and has a sufficient revenue to make it self-sustaining. Mr. Holt, the Secretary of the Association in Los Angeles, is well known as a man of sterling business qualities, of the most honest integrity. Those who wish to assure themselves of the benefits of life insurance, cannot do better than to place their confidence and money in the Mutual Aid.

The Herald Official Directory. We publish to-day on the fourth page an official directory for our city and county, with National appointments, etc. This fills a great want in the absence of a City Directory. It will stand in our daily and weekly as a guide to our citizens, as to the names of the lawyers, visitors and tourists, business men from neighboring towns and cities, and country people—all will find it a great convenience. We intend it to be perfect, full and complete; if it is not so, if there are errors named by the owners of business, we will correct, as suggestions are made. We call special attention to this new feature of our paper, and it will be our aim to make the HERALD fill every want and supply every demand of our people as far as a public journal can, and make it truly the people's paper.
