

LATEST FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, July 16.—A very serious collision occurred yesterday, between the military and the rioters in east 19th street. At one time the military were driven back, but the rioters were repulsed eventually with great loss.

The number injured is estimated at between 200 and 300.

During the day several negroes were caught and hung to the lamp posts.

The Times and Tribune are the only papers that have dared squarely to denounce the mob and sustain the conscription law.

There has been no disturbance this morning, as far as we can learn, and many places of business that have been closed up are again open.

Although quiet prevails this morning to a comparative extent, the mob cannot be considered as put down.

NEW YORK FIREMEN.—While all other classes of citizens were laboring under intense excitement—while confusion reigned supreme, and a popular frenzy seemed to take possession of the city—the firemen preserved throughout their calmness, nerve, and, intrepidity. The labor they have performed during the last two days has been great. Flames were bursting forth from every quarter of the city. Here, there, and everywhere, the engines were clattering over the pavements, and the strong arms of the firemen were incessantly at the brakes, yet never a murmur escaped their lips, and no man thought of flinching from the toil. They had to contend not only with the devastating element, but also with the fury of the populace, yet with a self-possession that seems incredible they continued to ply their generous vocation, while bullets were whistling around them, and angry crowds were brandishing their weapons.—N. A correspondent of the New York Herald who was taken prisoner by the Confederates near Hagerstown, and subsequently made his escape says the retreat of the Confederates was conducted in the most orderly manner.—“The Southern troops are in no manner demoralized; they are eager for fresh encounters. Do not think Gen. Lee’s army has been defeated, although this campaign of invasion has ended in the manner stated. I write this from facts without being influenced by any other consideration other than a desire to report the pure and simple truth, known to be the truth from actual observation, and an unprejudiced criticism of what I saw and heard. General Longstreet is not dead, but once more safely on the sacred soil of Virginia. General Hampton is recovering from his wound.”

It is not true, as reported, that Gen. Kemper was killed at the battle of Gettysburg. He is now lying at Brean’s Mill, three miles from Gettysburg, having been shot through the breast the ball lodging in his back. He is considered in a fair way of recovery.

Richmond papers of the 8th contain the following prices current:—Bacon $1.45 per lb.; Butter $1.25 per lb; Coffee $3.25 per lb.; salt 45 cts. per lb.; Sugar 1.25 cts. per lb.; Flour $31 per barrel; Corn $9.50 per barrel, &c.

A few acting master’s mates are wanted for the navy. The applicant must be between twenty and thirty years of age, and have seen three years’ service at sea, or forward to the Navy Department suitable testimonials.—An examination will be ordered at the New York or Boston navy yards.

The Norfolk correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer states that “the late proclamation of Gen. Dix granting the people of Norfolk the privileges of civil law, is not absolute, but limited; therefore martial law is not altogether abolished, and this being the case the trial of Dr. Wright will be by a military commission.”

On Tuesday a portion of Col. Farnsworth’s First Connecticut Regiment who were reconnoitering back of Harper’s Ferry, encountered a body of Confederates and captured their commanding officer and six others. On the other hand the Confederates captured the Federal commander with twenty-five of his men.

Mr. Crouse, of the New York Times, denies the statement that he telegraphed the capture of General Stuart on Sunday night.—No such capture has taken place, and if his name has been appended to any such dispatch it is a forgery.

General Forey had suspended all publications in the city of Mexico, and issued a proclamation offering the co-operation of France to establish a government in Mexico.

Capt. Chichester, engineer, aid to Gen. Rhodes, Confederate army, has recently been taken prisoner near Ashby’s Gap, and sent on to Washington.

At the launch of the iron gunboat Winnebago, at St. Louis, Attorney General Bates said: “I have lived in St. Louis when gentlemen of great intelligence supposed it an impossibility that even a steamboat could come there. I stood on the lower banks at St. Louis fifty years ago, and saw the first steamboat that ever stemmed the giddy torrent come up to St. Louis. This was, I believe, in 1816. There were gentlemen then who thought that was a miracle—a thing that could not be accomplished; and now we see boats transporting 1,500 or 2,000 troops to battle, on which 1,000 tons the product of your labor, can be sent to distant markets. We see miracles wrought around us every day; and if we look into the vista of the future, we shall see science, art, labor, skill, and educated industry subdue and transform the resources of this land into new and wondrous creation. Look into your machine shop, where every appliance is used that once would have been thought impossible, and see what is accomplished. Solid plates of iron, pierced with the ease with which a boy punches and attaches the papers in a lawyer’s office. Your grandchildren may live to see the day when the dominant power of the earth will be located in this valley.”

The damage to the meadows and crops in Prince George’s county, Md., by the recent rains is very great. Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of stock, fencing &c., were destroyed, and many persons had their fields of wheat which had just been cut, entirely ruined.

Yesterday afternoon the guard at the Old Capitol detected two young ladies named Nellie Wood and Clara Vance making signs to a prisoner in the Old Capitol. They were detained at the Central Guard House about two hours and then released.

DIED.

At his residence in Prince George’s county, Md. on Sunday evening, July 12th, GEORGE W. GRAHAM, in his 53d year.
