

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

MONDAY, MAY 22, 1871.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

"To show the very age and body of the Times."

The banking house of Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Company, of London, has been designated by the Secretary of the Navy as foreign financial agent of the Navy Department.

A dispatch from San Francisco says:—"The certificate of incorporation of the California, Pacific and Eastern Extension Railroad will be filed to-morrow. The capital is fifty millions, and the incorporators are Milton S. Latham, J. Friedland, W. F. Roeloffs, Col. J. B. Frisbie, and Julius May, of San Francisco, and Randolph Sulzbach, of Frankfort-on-the-Main."

The funeral of the two miners killed near Scranton was attended on Friday by a procession of some 8,000 persons. Kearns, the laborer who fired the shot, is in jail at Wilkesbarre. Mr. Scranton announces it as his intention to stand by Kearns, and no expense will be spared to justify the shooting and acquit him.

The official reports of the military authorities on the late massacre of Apaches at Camp Grant are published by order of the department commander. They charge that the Indians were peacefully engaged on their reservation, and were entitled to the protection of the United States as prisoners of war, and that of the whole number killed only eight were men, the others being women and children.

In the Germania, arrived yesterday, was brought over from Germany the statue of Lincoln, which is to be placed in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia. This work of art, modelled by the sculptor Rogers, is a seated colossal figure in bronze, of imposing proportions.

The controversy between Morgan & Sons and J. F. Tapscott, in New York, both claiming possession of the ship Wm. Tapscott, is assuming serious dimensions. On Saturday, by order of the U. S. Commissioner, a body of U. S. Marshals, with a platoon of marines from the Navy Yard, took forcible possession of the ship at her wharf, to be towed to the Navy Yard to await the action of the U. S. Commissioner.

There is authority for saying that a recent telegram, dated San Francisco, and purporting to give details of a gigantic railroad combination on the Pacific coast, under the control of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company, has no foundation whatever in fact.

The Democratic Executive Committee of Hamilton county, Ohio, have endorsed the Vallandigham platform promulgated by the Montgomery county committee. At the Butler county Convention, called to appoint delegates to the State Convention, the new departure was ignored.

The Lackawanna Railroad is now bringing an average of six hundred car loads of coal daily, or about the same as last year, and will run a thousand car loads daily by the middle of next week.

The action against the Central Bank of Brooklyn, N. Y., which failed some time since, brought to recover deposits at the time of the failure, has resulted in the Directors being declared liable for losses sustained by such depositors.

Jules Favre has notified Mr. Washburne, our Minister at Paris, that the French Government intend to revive the passport system which was done away with by Napoleon.

Mr. Treilhard, the French Minister, has obtained leave to return to France. Mr. De Bellon, who arrived here a few days ago, will act as Charge d' Affaires.

John Henning has recovered $10,000 from the New Orleans and Chattanooga Railroad Company for damages sustained by falling through an opening in the company's wharf.

The room of Senor Pio Eychenique, at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, was robbed of $6,000 worth of gold and jewelry during the owner's absence. There is no clue to the thief.

SINGULAR SHOOTING ACCIDENT.—The morning papers furnish us with accounts of the accidental shooting of a young gentleman by a young lady, which are in substance correct. The young lady who had the misfortune to shoot the gentleman, had been presented sometime before with a small single-barrelled cartridge pistol, which she kept either in her trunk or bureau.

Wm. H. Clark, news editor of the Baltimore Sun for the past twenty years, died at his residence in that city yesterday afternoon, aged 53.

Col. Charles S. Todd, of Kentucky, President Tyler's Minister to Russia, died at Baton Rouge Wednesday.

Leonard Scott & Co., New York, have republished the last number of the Westminster Review. Contents.—Aristophanes: the American Republic, its strength and its weakness; Thomas Hood; Battles in the Church; Public School Teaching; France and the Chinese Massacre; Ste. Beuve; Army Organization; Contemporary Literature. The subjects are all interesting. The article on the American Republic is a very able one.

LOST RELICS OF THE PAST.—Among the saddest losses that the country has had to mourn for some time is the destruction of the old colonial and revolutionary buildings by fire at Alexandria, Va. The country is just getting old enough to cherish warily the memories and relics of its young days, and when it is known that among the houses destroyed by this fire were the Masonic lodge of which Washington was the Master, and the old Colonial Court House, in which his provincial troops were quartered in 1754, from the door of which Braddock marched to his defeat in 1755, and in which ex-President Washington gave his last vote, in 1799, a feeling of genuine sorrow is likely to come over our hearts.

NARROW GAUGE RAILROADS.—On Wednesday last, Col. White and James D. Armstrong, of Hampshire county, and Wm. M. Randolph, of Hardy county, West Virginia, called on the President of the B. & O. Railroad Company, and held a brief interview in reference to the subject of narrow gauge railroads. The question being asked Mr. Garrett as to what extent the B. & O. Railroad would aid in the construction of a narrow gauge road through the valley of the South Branch of the Potomac, as a feeder to the Main Stem, he replied by saying:—"I am happy to see you in the spirit of modern improvement, you are in the right direction. I should be glad to have our Chief Engineer, Mr. Randolph, (who was present at the meeting) make a reconnaissance, and give you such information as you desire respecting the estimated cost. If you will raise by subscription half the necessary amount, and have your counties issue stock for the other half, and vote to pay the interest annually, our Company will recommend them to capitalists and dispose of them for you. We will also furnish you with the rolling stock for the road."

LETTER FROM THE ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE. (Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.) LEXINGTON, May 18.—The events of the last few days have been of enough general interest to justify your "occasional" in breaking the silence he has so long preserved. On Monday, the 15th, memorial services were held at the Institute Hall, in honor of the cadets who fell at the battle of New Market in 1864, when the corps under Gen. Breckinridge did good service in assisting to rout Sigel. Gen. Pendleton opened the services with reading and prayers and a hymn; he was followed by Gen. Smith, who read a short address, giving a detailed account of the battle and a full list of the killed and wounded. Col. Preston, who had been selected to deliver the address for the occasion, told in few words how the first corps left the Institute in 1861 under Stonewall Jackson, with the admittance from him "never to forget the Virginia Military Institute, and in every battle field during the whole war, how they showed that 'her' teaching had not been forgotten, and then the last enacting the example of their elder comrades, fought so gallantly and bled so freely on the hills of New Market. "Now," he said, "war with its horrors is past, but you who are here have just as imperative duties to perform, and struggles just as heroic, though not so brilliant in the eyes of the world, to pass through: let their examples urge you on to a faithful performance and endurance." It was intended after the services to proceed to the vault a few hundred yards in rear of the Institute, where the bodies of five of the killed are deposited; but a violent shower prevented most of those present from going. Some few waiting until it was over, went to carry their offerings of flowers and evergreens to the memorial services for the Southern dead, were conducted in the Chapel of Washington Lee University, by Rev. Gen. Pendleton, Messrs. Pratt and Cross, consisting simply of an appropriate chapter, prayer and hymn with the benediction, after which the large concourse moved in informal procession to the grave-yard, to decorate the graves there. Gen. Lee's tomb under the Chapel was very beautifully decorated. Scores of bouquets and crosses, anchors, and stars of immortelles were tastefully arranged on and around the tablet. Gen. Jackson's grave at the cemetery was also elaborately decorated.

LETTER FROM THE ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.

LETTER FROM THE ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE. (Continued from page 1.) The examinations at the University have been going on for several days; those at the Institute do not commence for a fortnight yet. The cadets who were injured by the accident last week are beginning to hop about on crutches, and you can see them almost every where hobbling about, looking as happy as can be at being excused from drill and dress parade; every old cadet will appreciate this.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

The Fairfax News says.—On Saturday, Elder Turner Thompson, living near this place, while at work in his field noticed his dog being lame, and while examining the foot of the dog, was bitten on the hand by the animal. Suspecting something wrong he set the dog out, which soon showed symptoms of some derangement, and was taken with spasms and died the following Monday. In the meantime he bit another dog on the place, which was killed by one of the family. He also bit, or attempted to bite one of Mr. Thompson's sons.

The Danville (Va.) Times of the 25th states, that parties interested in the Pennsylvania Central railroad have concluded a purchase of a large part of the State's interest in the Richmond and Danville road. The Times is gratified at this, as it will insure a great through line from New York to New Orleans through Danville. But it says it may be borne in mind that the extension of the Orange and Alexandria railroad from Lynchburg to Danville, now under construction, accomplishes the same end over a shorter route.

A coal mine has been discovered on the lands of Judge G. A. Wingfield, near Liberty in Bedford county, which the Lynchburg News says is apparently inexhaustible, and the coal of the purest quality.

COMMERCIAL.

Allow me to suggest to the authorities that an investigation ought to be made at once into the circumstances attending the late fire, by which such heavy loss was sustained, and, as is generally alleged, most needlessly. Charges are loudly and indignantly made, by some, of a short supply of water; and by others of the mismanagement of the fire engines. The chairman of the Water Company provides "that in case of calamity by fire it shall be the duty of the Company, their officers and agents, under proper and convenient regulations made for the purpose, without hesitation to throw open and make easy of access any reservoirs, water-plugs, hydrants, or other fixtures, containing or affording a supply of water, for the purpose of enabling the citizens of said town, fire companies, or others, the more readily to extinguish the flames, free of any fee, charge, or demand whatsoever." It would seem that, under this provision, the company has subjected itself to liability, if it be true that there was not a sufficient supply of water in the case referred to.

However, it is certain there was a "serew loose" somewhere; and the public believe that there was no more necessity for the destruction of the public buildings than of the capitol at Washington; and the truth should be known. It is humbly hoped I have not uttered anything treasonable towards the fire companies.

COMMERCIAL.

The communication published in your valuable issue of the 20th inst., signed by us all, "Citizens," is one worthy of consideration by us all. A great calamity has befallen us: the spot our fathers and grandfathers have oft looked upon with interest: where the hallowed memories of the great Washington, relics of a century ago, have laid in state; where we, ourselves, have oft lingered and parted, is now a scene of sad destruction. But it is useless to weep over what is gone. What we want now is a new Market House—and to get it we must work and not weep.

Let a public meeting be called. Let all classes meet together for action, not mourning; let every one subscribe; no matter how small the amount, receive it with thanks.

To begin with, we have at least four thousand dollars worth of old bricks; ten thousand dollars insurance money in two of the most reliable and prompt fire insurance Companies represented in our midst; a total of $14,000 nearly one-third of what we need.

Now, let each one of our citizens subscribe according to his ability, and we will have an amount nearly sufficient to complete the work. The rest can be raised by our Council without trouble, and our Market House will be rebuilt.

COMMERCIAL.

We cordially second the suggestion of "A Citizen" in Saturday's Gazette. Let the people take hold of the matter and they can easily accomplish it. Half-dozen gentlemen have spontaneously offered three or four thousand dollars, and it is believed that forty thousand can be raised easily. Let us have the public meeting by all means, and raise the money at once, if we can, instead of adding taxes, to be paid indefinitely.

LIFE INSURANCE PAID.—On the 27th January, 1870, Wm. H. Townsend of Chantilly, insured his life for $1,000 in the St. Louis life insurance, payable to his wife. He paid $8.75 for fifteen months and died. In that time the dividend on his policy amounted to $10.03, making the value of his policy at his death $1,010.03.

On Thursday last Messrs. G. K. Witmer & Co., the general agents of the company, sent the widow, Mrs. Jane J. Townsend, a check for the amount.—Fairfax News.

Mr. Bonner has accepted the challenge of the owner of the much-talked-of San Francisco horse for a trot, the match to be for $50,000, and to take place at Chicago in June. Probably he will bring out Dexter, although this is not stated.

The Presbyterian General Assembly at Chicago on Saturday received a report on the paid agency results, and adopted measures to bring the principles of the Presbyterian system into full operation, and to simplify and consolidate the benevolent operations of the Church.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Household Tonic.—The efficacy of Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters is a specific for restoring the enfeebled body and cheering the desponding mind has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvelous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased, and it is now the most popular of the family contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as Hostetter's Bitters. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York, "The Bitters are the most stimulant and the safest tonic we have." But the uses of this great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a preparatory antidote to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of Hostetter's Bitters. It is the household tonic of the American people, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The magnitude of the demand for it, and the fact that it is so emphatically the medicine of the masses, is proved by its vast and ever increasing sales.
