

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1871.

An article in a late number of Lippincott's Magazine remarks that it is sickening to see the assumed potentiality of some of our vulgar rich men, who figure in public and in the public prints, and really mournful to notice the absence of good manners in some of those who are recognized generally as celebrities.

The New York Express says: "The events of the past week in financial circles were of a more important and varied character than for many weeks past. The most prominent changes were the decline and quick recovery in the gold premium; the further depression of the Foreign Exchanges; the firmness and advance in Government Bonds; and the increased activity and upward tendency in speculative securities on the Stock Exchange.

The Baltimore American says: "Secretary Boutwell has withdrawn from the market, for the present all the new Government loan, except the fifty million five per cents, which have been offered to the National banks, in accordance with the circular issued last week.

A dispatch from Louisville, Kentucky, says: "The Pennsylvania Company, which is the bureau representing the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company's interest west of Pittsburg, has completed negotiations for the lease of the Jeffersonville, Madison and Indianapolis Railroad, and also secured a controlling interest in the Ohio river bridge at this place.

In a recent trial in Massachusetts for damages in a railroad collision, the Judge charged that the jury "were to consider, in awarding the plaintiff damages for permanent injuries, to take him as he had stood with all his accomplishments, professional, intellectual and other, and to say what diminution the injury has produced in them, and to give him compensation therefor."

A letter from the Western part of New York, speaking of the cultivation of the vine on the islands in Lake Erie, and the gradual introduction of domestic wine into that region, says: "Catawba plain, or compounded into 'cobbler's' and such like drinks, seems to be superseding brandy and whiskey, and the miserable demoralizing compounds made from such fiery liquids. The result is a decided gain to the community—less drunkenness and vice, fewer disturbances of the public peace, and fewer candidates for inebriate asylums and mad-houses."

Reports have been received at the U. S. Signal office showing that extensive fires are now raging in the woods on the shores of Lake Michigan, destroying telegraph lines and everything in its route. The fire commenced on the 5th of August, and has been burning since that date. A dense smoke has prevailed in that whole region of country for several days past.

A meeting of a Real Estate Agents' Convention of the country, was held last week in Hartford, Conn., which was numerously attended. Its business is connected with the sale of real estate, and matters relating thereto. Mr. John W. Green, of this place, was elected one of the Vice Presidents of the Convention from this State.

The following are the names of those from the Seventh Congressional District, who are members of the present State Central Radical Committee of Virginia:—B. S. Shatchee, I. B. Sener, W. B. Downey.

We are indebted to U. S. Senator Johnston, of this State, for copies of public documents. Leonard Scott & Co., New York, have republished the July number of the Westminster Review. Lieut. James Collins, First U. S. Cavalry, having been tried by a court-martial and found guilty of conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline, in having induced a soldier to discharge his carbine at a target before which trumpeter Keesey was standing, and by which the trumpeter was killed, has been dismissed the service.

The newspapers report that Louis Napoleon and Queen Christina of Spain are talking about coming over to this country, to live. We do not believe they will—but we hope they may. We are in favor of the introduction of capital, and we suppose they would bring over a large supply of that article.

The British House of Lords recently passed a vote of censure on the present ministry for abolishing the old "purchase" system in the British army. But the vote of the Lords seems to be very little regarded—and in this case is a mere "brutum fulmen."

It is said that the Russian Grand Duke is certainly shortly to visit this country. It is also said that Mr. Fish, the Secretary of State, has asked for the recall of Mr. Catacazy, the Russian Minister, on grounds of personal objection.

The Pittsburg and Connellsville Railroad Company are trying a new air brake. It is called the Smith patent, and is claimed to be a better one than any now in use. This apparatus, it is asserted, can stop in a few seconds a train of cars at full speed.

The Revenue officers have been gathering up out of the druggists' stores in Richmond, whatever of small unexpired articles they could find, so as to come down upon those having these articles for one hundred dollars each.

The Baltimore Sun says that the four new iron steamers to be built in Philadelphia for a line of steamers between Philadelphia and New York, will cost very much more than if they were built in Great Britain.

A little child, in Chicago, aged one year and nine months, was bitten by a dog, about a month ago, and died last week, from hydrophobia.

The passenger travel on the O. & A. & M. R. R., both coming and going, is said to be large and increasing, at this time.

Advice is given to all persons to abstain from exposure to the sun's rays, during the heat of the day, as much as possible.

There is considerable sickness and mortality in New York city now—but no yellow fever and no cholera.

To-day is the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Sir Walter Scott.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

Batavia papers give an account of a frightful calamity which has visited the small island of Tagolonda, in the Malay Archipelago. A volcanic eruption, accompanied by a rise in the ocean, swept four hundred and sixteen persons from the island.

Rio advices to the 23d July, received yesterday per cable via Lisbon, report an advance in coffee there since July 7th, the date of the previous telegraph, of 1 to 2 of a cent per pound, with heavy shipments, and a considerable increase in the stock.

Most stringent precautionary measures are to be enforced by the Danish Government for the prevention of the introduction of the cholera into that country.

The weather throughout England is favorable to the crops.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.—The venerable Mrs. Chase Barney was struck with paralysis in her right side yesterday. She has been confined to her bed for the past eighteen months from the effects of a paralytic stroke. This venerable lady, now in her 88th year, is a daughter of Samuel Chase, of Maryland, a Judge of the Supreme Court, and a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and is the last surviving child of any of the signers.

Yesterday afternoon Robert Klotz, a son of Charles Klotz, of this city, and a little son of Henry Lichau, residing on a farm at Minor's Hill, Virginia, while engaged at the latter place in loading and firing a miniature cannon, were seriously injured about their heads and faces by the premature explosion of a package of gun powder. Surgical assistance was promptly rendered, and Mr. Klotz's son was at once taken to the home of his parents in the first ward, where he lies in a dangerous condition.

The trustees of the Columbian College have recently authorized the expenditure of $20,000 for improving the libraries and philosophical apparatus, and procuring all that the modern art of instruction requires for complete scientific and classical culture. A number of vacancies in the board of trustees have been filled.

Last night one Dennis Darden shot and killed a man named John McCarthy, near the corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue. They had had an old quarrel, and in the encounter previous to the killing, Darden was much injured by his antagonist. [McCarthy lived in Alexandria during the war.]

TALK TO PIRKS BY DOGS.—A little boy, seven years old, entered the tan-yard of his father, in Cincinnati, on Tuesday evening after the departure of the workmen, and was set upon by a fierce and howling set of dogs, thirteen in number. He was quickly thrown down and rolled in the filth of the yard until a blanket of humanity had left him. All semblance of life and dying, he hung with his face downward to the earth with the energy of despair. The cries of the dogs attracted the attention of the neighbors. A bold man sprang over the fence to the rescue, but was soon driven off by the new demoralized brutes. Then other persons entered with pitchforks, and people driving on the avenue stopped and went to the rescue with knives and pistols. It was brief and bloody work. The dogs were all slain. The little boy, scarcely alive, was taken to a house near by. The flesh, it was found, had been torn from his scalp; there were great ugly gashes in his forehead, cheeks and lips. Ghastly holes, their edges lacerated with toothmarks, were under his arms, and other parts of his delicate body bore wounds beyond description in their ugly nature. There is scarcely a possibility of his recovery.

DR. JAMES C. HILL, of Alexandria who is one of the leading spirits in the extension of the Washington and Ohio railroad, has written a letter to the Washington Republican, setting forth the advantages to be gained by the citizens of Alexandria, Washington and Georgetown by the extension of this road, and urging the passage of a bill by the Territorial Legislature, appropriating $1,000,000 to assist in the extension. Dr. Hill has labored hard and zealously for this enterprise, for which he deserves the thanks of our people. We have a few such men as Dr. Hill, whose services the people should recognize and reward by putting them in positions where their valuable services could be more effective.—Fairfax News.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

To show the very eye and body of the "Liar."

In the indictments found against Mrs. Wharton, one charges her with the murder of Gen. Ketchum on the 28th day of June, and the other charges her with attempting to poison Mr. Eugene Van Ness at various times between the 19th and 28th day of June. The indictment for murder, charges her with administering the poison in a dose of yellow jasmine, in some tea and in a glass of lemonade. The indictment in the case of Mr. Van Ness alleges that she attempted to poison him on the 19th, 20th, 24th and 28th days of June, by administering the poison in beef, tea and milk punch.

Meara, who was lynched recently at Onarga, Illinois, for whipping his son to death, is discovered to have committed other crimes scarcely less atrocious. Some years ago a boy adopted by him mysteriously disappeared, and there is no doubt now that he was murdered. Still later another lad, working for the same man, was unaccountably missing and the daughter of Meara now states that her father killed him with an axe.

The recovery of the money stolen at the late robbery of Adams' Express Company's safe in St. Louis, is a curious revelation of the way in which the employees of the Company are bribed to become confederates with professional thieves, and give the latter the facilities for committing the crime.

A telegram from Columbus, Ohio, says that Mrs. R. T. Colburn will be arrested on the charge of poisoning Mr. Buffenberger, but will be immediately admitted to bail until Monday next, when a preliminary examination will commence. This arrangement was made because the counsel of both parties yesterday.

The inspection and stamping of coal carts of the city retail dealers, according to the act of the Legislature, began in Philadelphia yesterday. Henceforth all coal carts are to be of the capacity of a long ton 2,240 pounds. Those of a smaller size are not to be used in the trade.

J. C. Bancroft Davis will be appointed agent or attorney of the United States, under the British Treaty, to aid in the prosecution of the American claims at Geneva. Other counsel are also to be employed.

By the explosion of a steamboat boiler near Mayville, New York, yesterday, five persons were killed and a number seriously injured. The cause of the explosion is not stated.

KLEPTOMANIACS.—The instances of official corruption in the Southern States, under the present regime, have become so numerous that it begins to look as if the whole political foundation there was honeycombed with rascality. In some States the Administration seems to have scoured every neighborhood for kleptomaniacs, great and small, and clucked them into office. As one instance among many, take the following glorious record of Government officials, male and female, in the First Congressional district of Georgia, as we find it in a late issue of the Savannah Daily Advertiser. Let it be borne in mind that a few of the guilty officials down there have been brought to justice and that by its neglect to prosecute, the Government not only fosters the mania for filching, but breeds discontent among the people who are obliged to stand the fleecing.—Washington Herald.

First on the list we have ex-U. S. Marshal W. G. Dickson, who walked off the victim of $17,000. His brother John vanished at the same time, leaving also a large circle of interested friends and creditors.

Next we have the elegant Waddell, Revenue Assessor, and his brother at Thomasville, Assistant Assessor. Both of these parties while they did not owe the Government for any balances, were so heavily indebted to the world at large in various ways, that their names will never fade from the memory of those who footed the bills. Following these gentlemen, come in triple order the three postmasters at Thomasville. All of whom were defaulters about $300 each. These are very small fry, and we pass them by. Arriving at Valdosta, we find that the colored postmaster there is $400 behind in his accounts. We pass on and bring up against the huge proportions of Fatty Harris, who once lorded or harled it over our post office. Fatty is set down in Government books, we are told, for a balance of $23,000, and yet this does not deter him from manipulating the State road. In fact his importance has increased since that postal expense. At No. 17, A. and G. R. R., the postmistress captured all the available property belonging to Uncle Sam, and in one short night gathered up her tent like the Arabs and silently got up and got! She was one of your good old souls, and believed in doing nothing in a half way manner.

Our present excitement is, as everybody knows, Wellman and Robb, to the tune of $11,000.

One poor devil, A. E. Porter, Assistant Assessor in Camden county, was sent to the penitentiary, but has since been released.

Holcombe, the Assistant Marshal in Byron county, will shortly come to trial for malfeasance, as reported.

Last, but not least, we have Collector Gould, who withdrew, to coin a polite word, with $59,000. His was a ten-strike, but he failed to earn the game satisfactorily to himself!

SOUTH CAROLINA PHOSPHATES.—Several years ago an underlying deposit was discovered around Charleston, S. C., which, upon analysis was found to be phosphoric rock, composed largely of bones of extinct animals and fishes. Its fertilizing qualities have lately made its prominence among the commercial manures of the day. This rock, when ground fine, is said to equal calcined bone, having seven per cent. of organic animal matter, highly nitrogenous, and yielding one and a half per cent. of ammonia.

Fifteen companies, with an aggregate capital of over two millions of dollars, are now engaged in manufacturing commercial fertilizers from this material. It is ground fine and mixed with sulphuric acid, which, by abstracting a portion of its limy base, leaves it a superphosphate. A little Peruvian guano adds greatly to its value. In 1867 five tons of this manure were shipped to Europe for experiment, and in 1868 this export arose to thirty tons, and in 1869 to 8,000 tons. Companies are now shipping 1,000 tons per day, mostly to England. One company has a contract to deliver 200,000 tons. The State collects a duty of one dollar per ton on the manufactured article.—Washington Chronicle.

AN UNTIMELY ACCIDENT.—The Chicago Times publishes an account of an accident at a funeral:—"The parlor where the coffin was resting were exceedingly full of people, so that the unusual weight upon the floor caused it to give way during the address of the minister, and precipitated the whole crowd, coffin, minister, and mourners, into the cellar. The room below was used as a pantry or store-room and dairy, and contained a number of pans of milk, jars of butter, jam, preserves, &c., so that almost every one was accommodated with a liberal dabling of one or more of these articles.—The Chicago lady who informed the writer of the catastrophe was particularly fortunate, managing to get one foot into a jar of butter, another into a pan of milk, while a shelf of honey was deposited in her lap. To add to the confusion the coffin was broken by the fall and the corpse landed in a barrel of soft soap."

The vine disease prevails in Portugal, and the wine crop, in consequence, it is expected, will be short.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

The Petersburg Progress of the 12th instant says:—"The First National Bank of this city has recently increased its capital stock to $200,000, and contemplates a further increase in a short time to the amount of $100,000, which will make the capital of this bank $300,000. The Merchants National Bank of this city will also increase its capital stock in a few days to $400,000, and probably to $500,000."

In the U. S. Circuit Court for the Richmond district a suit has been instituted by C. W. Pairo, Mary Jane Pairo, and others, for the possession of Montpelier, in Orange county, the homestead of President Madison. It is asked that a deed executed by Thomas J. Carson to Frank Carson, for the sale of Montpelier, be set aside.

The Lynchburg News learns that Captain William H. Tardy, a well-known citizen of Campbell county, who resided near Leesville, was shot and instantly killed on Saturday by a man named Henry Ward, of Pittsylvania. It appears that an old difficulty existed between the parties.

Gov. Walker has determined to take no action in the Chahoon case—an application for C's pardon, until the matter is disposed of by the Court. The case is expected to be before the Court of Appeals at the Fall term.

The Fredericksburg Herald says:—"It is predicted that more corn will be made in Stafford this year than the aggregated crops of the last three years."

The R. F. & P. Railroad company have completed their track to the bridge which crosses Aquia Creek at the Hope wharf.

All of the license tax in Richmond, amounting to $40,000 has been collected except $40.

There was a large crowd in attendance upon "August Court" in Leesburg yesterday.

The amount of the State debt funded up to yesterday was $7,841,326.75.

Bilious fever and chills prevail to a serious extent in the lower part of Stafford.

MARKET HOUSE.—These papers publish the following which appears in the Washington Chronicle, relative to the proposed Market House in Washington city:

"The Washington Market Company is having a hard time. Without knowing much of the points in controversy I trust that no action will be taken compelling them, or allowing anybody else, to build in this District a public market with a hall or any room or story over it.

The best markets in the world are those which, within the last fifteen years, have been constructed in Philadelphia. They replace the old sheds which so long occupied and obstructed the widest and best streets.

They are all of one single story, with lofty open roofs, having skylight, and ventilators in the roof as well as windows in the free sides, very much like large railroad depots, but free from smoke and dust.

When their projector began the reform which has ended in abolishing the old street markets, he built one or two of these halls, either in two stories or with galleries. But the upper floors and galleries proved to be very objectionable, and they have, I believe, in every case been long since removed.

The famous markets of Paris, the "Central Halls," are dingy and dirty in comparison with those of Philadelphia, and I believe that Stuttgart, in Wurtemberg, is the only European city whose markets I inspected which has a market at all comparable with the lofty, airy, beautiful, and appropriate structures of Philadelphia.

Let us follow the good example of Philadelphia, which has always been famous for its markets, and which is still ahead of the world in public and private market buildings. M. C. MEIGS."

SIX POTATOES GROW FROM ONE POTATO.—Mr. Sterling Salling, of Mansboro', (N. C.) tells us how he grew 800 potatoes from one potato, as follows:

The original potato was bedded last March 15th. On the 20th of April it had 12 sprouts large enough to set out, which were put in the ground the next day. On the 5th of May it had 10 more sprouts, which were clipped and set out the same day, making 22 hills of sprouts. On July 5th, 12 vines were cut from the first 12 sprouts; and on the 28th of July, from the last ten sprouts. These vines were divided up and set out in hills, which, in all amounted to 200. They all matured well yielded 4 large potatoes to the hill, besides a half bushel of slips for bedding the next year, and quantity for hog feed.—Who can beat this?—Wilmington Journal.

MISS FENNIE C. CLAPIN, the younger of the well-known female brokers of Broad street, has announced herself as a candidate for Congress from the Eighth Congressional District in the fall of 1872. The German-American Progressive Society has announced the determination of its members to support Miss Clapin, and last night she delivered an address before the Society, in which she asserted her right to vote and hold office according to the Fourteenth Amendment, article 1, section 1, which reads: "All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside." The speech was received with loud applause, and the Society afterward serenaded Miss Clapin at her residence, No. 15 East Thirty-eighth street.—N. Y. Commercial.

AN ODD COMPLAINT.—Some of the city officials sometimes receive very odd communications. Those connected with the Board of Health of Philadelphia are no exception to this rule, and one of the Inspectors has just received the following communication:—"Will you please call on me on one of the following days, before 8 o'clock A. M., if this time is convenient for you. I like to see you about reviewing the walls in several rooms, that are infested with bed bugs. Four of my boarders have left already on that account, and two others intend to do so, if there will be nothing done against it. It can not remain in this state of things, as it runs down my business and will bring it an ill name. Hoping you will come soon and convince yourself of what wrote, I remain yours truly."

About one hundred thousand baskets of peaches arrive daily in New York.

Sales of small lots of Rye at 63, 64, are dull and lower; offerings of 1808 bushels, with sales at 42, 43 and 44.

ASTRACHAN COAL TRADE.—The Philadelphia Ledger says: "The anthracite coal production continues large, though for the past week does not aggregate quite so much as that of the previous week. The anthracite coal trade among coal operators at the discrimination of 20c per ton made by the Reading Railroad Company in favor of all coal shipped east of New Brunswick, has the effect of giving the Southern market, Richmond, Norfolk, Alexandria, &c., the while at about $4.25, local at 4.35; 40 eggs 40c; 50, 50c; 60, 55c; 70, 50c; 80, 45c; 90, 40c; 100, 35c. To points other than those east of Bordentown rates are 20c per ton higher than the foregoing quotations. Coastwise vessels have not been plenty, but freight to the east has declined."

TEXAS CATTLE TRADE.—The Fort Scott, Kansas, Monitor gives a discouraging account of the cattle trade. "Notwithstanding the high price in the Eastern markets, at Baxter Springs and the sources of supply, there is absolutely no market. There are now 40,000 head of cattle within a few miles of that city, and fresh herds are constantly arriving. Not half the cattle are being sold yet, and the few that are, at Baxter Springs, are after six weeks of tedious driving over the plains from Texas, fighting the flies by day and the cattle stampeding nightly every night, cattle owners arrive at Baxter Springs to find prices so low at St. Louis and Chicago that they will not take the loss. At Baxter Springs now there is no stated price, and there are no offers of cattle. They usually sell at about 2c per pound. Last year they brought nearly 2c."
