The Stack-O'Hara case, before the Master in Equity at Williamsport, Penn., was concluded yesterday by an argument of three hours by W. S. Priest esq., of Philadelphia, in favor of Father Stack. The argument of this case has been of considerable interest, and developed more of the history, legislation and discipline of the Catholic Church in this country than has perhaps ever before been brought together.

Bethel Alexander, of St. Louis, charged with forging cotton warehouse receipts, yesterday made a full statement of his affairs. He said that the first forged receipts were made last December to prevent his suspension or failure in business, and that none have been issued since April. The total amount of forged receipts now out, he says, is $167,000. His assets are, he asserts, worth $280,000; his liabilities are $312,000. He acquits his partners of blame entirely, saying they know nothing whatever of his fraudulent transactions.

Ernest Smith, a negro boy about sixteen years of age, will to-day suffer the extreme penalty of the law at Eastern, Md., for the crime of rape. As there have been many reports circulated that the colored people would attempt the rescue of Smith, the Sheriff made a call upon the Governor for assistance to preserve the peace, and the Adjutant General ordered Col. Clarence Peters and two companies of the Sixth Regiment to Eastern to prevent any breach of the peace or riot.

AUGUST COURT.—This day of famous memory is again upon us. It will be ushered in on Monday next, but whether attended with the pomp and circumstance "of days long since, ye ideal suitors note. Time was when August Court was one of the institutions of Loudoun; and from every section of the county friend met friend, face to face, on the Court-green, and the whole town was one vast auction room, wherein was exposed for sale wares of every imaginable description, from the heaviest thrasher to the inevitable small-beer, ginger-cake and watermelon,—and as the shades of evening gathered over the busy scene, the motley crowd dispersed, each one feeling that it was good to have been here. But time and circumstances have wrought sad changes in the manners and customs of the people since those halcyon days of the past. Not only have many of those who gave life and zest to these annual reunions been gathered to their fathers, but the very features of our system that rendered an August Court necessary have been so distorted by the innovating hand of legislation that they are scarcely recognizable.

But a truce to the past. Court-square has been greatly enlarged and improved, and the county-seat generally so thoroughly renovated in many places, that were a citizen of the past generation to revisit the scenes he once knew so well, he would scarcely know them now. Let us, therefore, on Monday, have a genuine, old-fashioned outpouring of the people, and symbolize in appearance, at least, what we lack in substance of an August Court in Loudoun. Let us—

POTOMAC AGRICULTURAL CLUB.—A meeting of the Potomac Agricultural Club was held at the residence of John H. Suttle, on Saturday week last. After the meeting was called to order by the President, N. W. Ford, the best method of raising the potato was ably discussed by Mr. B. Bell and others. A committee was then appointed to examine the farm, and to be reported upon at the next meeting. A more sumptuous repast could hardly have been gotten up, for not only was there substantial refreshment for the inner man, as the table seemed literally to groan beneath its inviting load; but flowers to please and fascinate the eye. The head of the table was graced by Mrs. J. B. T. S., who presided with her usual grace, and whose affableness of manner added additional charm to the good cheer provided for the occasion. Dinner being over, a beautiful goblet was presented to J. B. T. Suttle, for the largest amount of corn raised to the acre, also one to Mrs. S., bearing the inscription, "to the wife of the best 'corned man.'" The presentation was accompanied by an appropriate speech by Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, in his usual bappy style, which was responded to by Mr. Suttle. The Society then adjourned until its next meeting, to be held at the residence of Mr. G. V. Moncure.—Fredericksburg Herald.

Moulton's part in the Brooklyn business is not yet positively defined, but the letters which he has written to Mr. Beecher, and which were published yesterday, are proof enough that he is the latter's enemy.

The Beecher-Tilton Scandal.

There were no very startling developments in the Beecher-Tilton scandal yesterday. Judge Morris, counsel for Tilton, says that he has never seen a case so strongly fortified at all points as that of his client. He showed a receipt of Wm. Page, dated February 25, 1869, for a portrait of Beecher purchased by Tilton, and now hanging in Moulton's house, saying that in the following year, 1870, after Mrs. Tilton informed her mother of her guilty relations with Beecher, her mother threatened to cut the canvas into slits, and Tilton, unwilling to see a work of art destroyed, removed it to Moulton's house, where it still remains.

Mr. Morris also said that Mrs. Tilton's statements concerning her husband's cruelty and his locking her in a room like a prisoner, and his freezing and starving her, will be shown to be fictitious, and if there be any insanity in the family at all the charge will not lie at the door of Tilton, but of his wife.

It is reported that Moulton's statement is already prepared, with the help of Gen. Butler. The services of the latter gentleman, said to have been offered to Beecher, were not declined, but were replied to with thanks. Moulton said that he had not just anything, either with tongue or pen, to say against any one in assuming that he was in the slightest degree unfriendly to Beecher. He had thus far endeavored to maintain peace between Beecher and Tilton, and should continue to do so, and by the removal of misunderstandings and the intelligent realization of self-interest he should never despair of maintaining or renewing peace.

The Burning of the Pat Rogers.

Additional particulars of the burning of the steamboat Pat Rogers on the Ohio river, have been received. The fire occurred in that particular part of the river that it was impossible for the boat to reach the shore, drawing as much water as she did. The limit of time between the first alarm and when everybody had left the boat is said to be twenty minutes. At the time there was dry land on the starboard side, only thirty yards distant, but a wall of flames intervened. On the larboard side land was a long distance away. The wind was blowing toward the nearest shore, and drove the flames in that direction. Many of those who got to the nearest shore are disfigured for life, the exposed part of their bodies being actually roasted by the excessive heat. One of the most thrilling and miraculous escapes was that of Miss L. J. Williams, of Louisville, who threw away her valise and extra clothing, and after securing the services of a gentleman in throwing overboard a crate of peaches, she leaped into the water after it with a life-preserver, when she attempted to cling to a log. It revolved like a top, and for two terrible hours she struggled with the crate, and was just about to give up in despair when she was drawn into a skiff by Mr. Huff, who rendered valuable services in several other cases.

Miss Rawdon, of Louisville, jumped from the boat toward the Indiana shore, and the hungry tongues of flame licking along the surface of water horribly burned her head and face. She had no life-preserver, and secured only one end of a plank by clinging to the pantalon leg of a man who swam past her. She says that while moving through the water several gasping, drowning persons extended their hands toward her—some even grasping her hair and tearing it out by handfuls.

The last living object seen on board of the boat was a little child, three or four years of age, running about screaming with fright, surrounded by flames, and its legs, arms, and face exposed to the terrible heat. The negro crew behaved badly, hurrying off the boat before there was any imminent danger, and monopolizing all available means of support. Two colored men and one white man rowed away in the lifeboat, which could have been used to convey twenty to thirty persons to the shore. The river is being dragged for bodies this morning. The cargo of the boat was valued at about $70,000. Insurance not known.

The number on board, all told, is supposed to have been from 72 to 75 persons. The exact number cannot be told.

Reports of the lost have ranged from 16 to 28 persons. Probably 25 is the number nearest to the fact.

Citizens and passengers do not attach blame to the captain and officers; at all events it has not been expressed.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday evening last about half past ten o'clock, Mr. James Dixon of Georgetown was thrown from a buggy near Fredericksburg, and so seriously injured that he died about a half hour after the sad accident occurred. A company of young men and ladies had attended a party at the house of John R. Sumner, near Massaponax church. Dixon and Miss Hurkamp were returning home in a buggy drawn by two horses. While descending a hill near Massaponax run, the horses driven by Mr. Dixon took fright and at the same instant he was attacked with apoplexy or vertigo, of which he had felt some symptoms during the day. The reins fell from his hands and Miss Hurkamp endeavored to catch him as he was falling from the buggy, but the horses became unmanageable and the young man fell with his head between the wheels; one foot caught under the footrest in front of the dash board and one hand grasping the rear axle-tree. In this position, with his head against one of the wheels, he was dragged along until his hold was loosened by falling strength, then his face struck the ground and he was dragged still further, receiving numerous disfiguring wounds, and his head coming in contact with a log at a bridge. The runaway horses dashed into Mr. Hurkamp's carriage, which was in front, the pole penetrating the carriage and endangering the lives of the occupants and breaking off. After the horses freed themselves from this carriage, they ran with the buggy, dragging Mr. Dixon fully half a mile. He was a Master Mason, and his brethren took charge of the remains with all the fraternal kindness of the Order. His relations being telegraphed for arrived in Fredericksburg yesterday, and his remains were taken to Georgetown for interment. The lady in attempting to jump from the buggy received several severe bruises and cuts, but was providentially unharmed otherwise.

A DEAD TOWN.—On the south side banks of the Rappahannock, about thirty miles below Oxon and Clows at 3 00a55 62; inferior and lowest grades of Cattle 0 00a55 01—general average of the market to-day $4 75; extreme range of prices 3 00a55 62. Most of the sales were from 4 00 to $5 37 per 100 lbs. Total receipts for the week 214 head, against 1633 last week, and 109 head same time last year. Total sales for the week 1675 head, against 1302 last week, and 1280 head same time last year. The market opened more active this week, and a full 1/2 higher than last week for top grades. Several hundred were left over, and will either go to the country as stockers or be reshipped East at their owners' risk.

Sheep and Lambs—Nearly one half the receipts recorded this week consisted of stock intended for New Jersey if this market did not offer superior inducements for operations, and they have gone on. The market here was a shade more active than last week, though Eastern dealers have not taken near as many Sheep, yet the country demand has supplied the deficiency, and prices have been well maintained. We quote 1st Sheep at 4 00 per lb gross. Stock Sheep 2 00a55 50 for good open wool, and in good demand; 2 50 per head for fine wool. Lambs full at 2 25 35 per head, as to quality. Receipts this week 734 head.

Hogs.—The very fair increase in numbers of the receipts which came in early in the week, consisting mostly of common grass Hogs, caused a temporary decline in prices, and they receded to 20 75 for top, of which there were very few. These having soon been nearly all disposed of, prices recovered again on Tuesday, and have been well maintained ever since, though the quotations for common Hogs show no improvement. The market closes firm for the best, with good prospects for the continuance of present prices. We quote best Hogs at 3 25a39 50 per 100 lbs common and grass Hogs at 3 25a39 50 per 100 lbs net. Receipts this week 8840 head.

NEW YORK CATTLE MARKET, August 6.—Beeves—To-day's receipts 2433 head. The quality was not averagely good, and a number of natives and foreign Cattle were decidedly poor. Good Beaves were readily sold at Monday's prices, but inferior and common grades ruled lower. The range for the native Cattle was 1 1/2c to 1 1/2c per lb dressed, with best selections at 1 3/4c. Texas and Cherokee Cattle ranged from 8c to 1 1/2c per lb dressed.

Calves—Receipts 686 head. The demand was fair at unchanged prices, and the market was firm at 4 00 per lb for butter milk Calves, and 95c for Veals.

Sheep and Lambs—Arrivals 4110 head. Sheep steady at 14 1/2c for prime business, and 10c for prime. Lambs were a shade firmer at 6 00 per pound.

Hogs—Receipts 5104 head. A car-load of sloped State Hogs, 208 lbs average, sold alive at 7 1/2c per lb. Dressed Hogs were inactive at 9 1/2c per pound.

CHICAGO CATTLE MARKET, August 6, 1874.—Cattle—Receipts 2800; rather more active and firmer for shipping grades; sales of Texans at 2 25 75; fair to choice Steers 0 50; medium 4 25 34 75; shipments 2000. Live Hogs firm and higher; receipts 8000; inferior to extra sold at 12 25 75; bulk of sales 6 00a20 85; shipments 0 00. Sheep firm; receipts 300; poor to best sold readily at 26 25.

GEORGETOWN CATTLE MARKET, August 6.—The offerings of Beef Cattle reached 430 head, all of which sold at rates ranging from 4 to 14 1/2c per lb. One thousand five hundred Sheep and Lambs were offered, with sales of old Sheep at 4 50c per lb; Lambs from 3 to 5 50 per head. All sold. Twenty Cows and Calves were sold at from 25 to 3 50. The market was brisk.

BATIMORE HORSE AND MULE MARKET.—The horse and mule market has been unusually dull during the past week. The market is overstocked with horses of all classes, and their owners do not look for any great change in the prices or demand until late in the fall. There are no notices upon the market.

BALTIMORE SUGAR AND COFFEE MARKET.—For sugars the market continues steady and firm, though there has been little movement to-day, the only sale reported being one of 88 bags Porto Rico to a grocer at 8 1/2c. Prices are steady all round. We still quote: Cuba grocery grades 8 1/2a8 1/2; Porto Rico grocery grades 8 1/2a8 1/2, and Demerara vacuum pan 9 1/2a10 1/2. Stock to-day 11,427 barrels.

The market for Coffee is dull, and though there are rumors of sales we do not note the making of any transactions. Holders are firm, but the feeling generally is heavy. We quote: Rio jobbing lots at 19 1/2c for ordinary to choice, all gold. The stock in first hands is 31,000 bags.

RICHMOND MARKET, Aug. 6.—The offerings of Wheat on "Change to-day" reached about 2800 bushels, and the market was flat, the views of buyers and sellers not according, and not more than 1000 bushels changed hands at 127 1/2a128 for common to good white, and 128 for red of fair quality. Offerings of Corn very light, with sales of yellow at 93. Oats in moderate demand, and prices declining; small sales at 55a56.

LYNSBURGH MARKET, August 6.—The receipts of Wheat still continue light, with a good demand; white 140a145; red 130a135. Corn is also in light receipt, and fair demand at 100a105. Oats are in good demand at 60a65.

FREDERICKSBURG MARKET, August 6.—The market is quiet, with comparatively light receipts, and prices are nominally unchanged. Wheat is quoted at 130a147 for good to choice; Corn 56a57; Oats 45a50; and Rye 70a75.
