STREET RAILROAD.—The meeting held at Sarepta Hall last night to endeavor to perfect some plan by which the street cars could again be run was largely attended, and was very enthusiastic, many of our most prominent and solid men being present.

On motion, Mr. Samuel H. Janney was chosen Chairman, and G. Edwin Entwistle Secretary.

Mr. Janney, on taking the chair, stated that the object of the meeting was to devise some plan by which the running of the cars could be resumed.

Mr. H. C. Slaymaker said that he thought a feasible plan was to sell as many tickets as possible, and a gentleman had offered to lease the road and try the cars, provided he was guaranteed the sale of $3,000 worth of tickets.

Col. Suttle thought the road should be leased by the company to some private individual, as it would then have more chance of success; but to make those subscriptions for tickets for the road to be run under the same management, it would be putting money in the same rat hole as before.

Mr. McKenzie said he had had nothing to do with calling this meeting, but he would say that the road had been run very prudently and at an expense of only $25 per car, as there were no salaried officers whatever. He said the stockholders did not want to run the road at all, but were willing to sell or lease. They had been offered $1,000 rent per annum.

Col. Suttle asked Mr. McK. if they would take that offer.

Mr. McKenzie said it was not worth while for an individual to talk about running the road. They would sell the cars for $600 each and lease the road for $750 per annum, and would give 3 months, 6 months, or 12 months' credit to a purchaser of the cars if he had good evidence.

Col. M. D. Ball said the stockholders held a meeting and instructed the directors to lease the road, and wished to know why their instructions had not been carried out, as an offer had been made. He said there were many things to take into consideration for the failure of the road, such as inexperience, the late panic, &c., and he thought that business would soon improve, and he was convinced the road would then do well.

Mr. McKenzie replied that it was not a public matter, but was the affair of the stockholders. He said a few could not rule the majority, as the majority of the stockholders were not willing to lease the whole road and equipments, but wished to sell cars and lease road. He then said that the receipts of the road for twelve months were $7,200, while the Washington and Georgetown railroad received the same amount in one week. The company had lost $3,000 in two years trying to run the road. The middle and the poorer classes had patronized the cars, while those who could better afforded preferred paying shoe-makers for leather to riding in the cars.

Mr. Geo. R. Shinn said the thing could be done very easily; appoint a committee, confer with stockholders as to what arrangements could be made, then consult with the party or parties who wished to lease the road, and then canvass the city carefully for subscriptions.

Col. Ball said there was no difficulty in the price. Mr. Thornton would buy the cars at the price asked by the company, and also lease the road for two years; and all that was necessary was to raise the $3,000 in subscriptions for tickets which Mr. Thornton required as a condition of his lease.

A call was made for subscriptions and various parties responded, the sum of $575 being raised in a short time, making the total amount subscribed $1,451.

Mr. Slaymaker moved that a committee of eight, two for each ward, be appointed to canvass for subscriptions, confer with railway company, and in case $3,000 were collected, to make all arrangements for the running of the cars.

The following gentlemen were appointed as the committee and the meeting adjourned: H. C. Slaymaker, W. F. Creighton, George Wise, G. R. Hill, Henry Cook, J. E. Wadley, Rose Catts and A. Schofield.

The above committee will meet at the office of Wise & Co. to-morrow afternoon (Saturday) at 4 o'clock. A punctual and full attendance is earnestly desired, as the success of the enterprise depends much on it.

There is now hardly a doubt that the cars will soon be running again, as nearly one-half of the required sum is already subscribed, and the remainder will doubtless be quickly raised by the committee appointed for that purpose, and our main thoroughfare will soon be again culminated by the frequent passage of the cars.

ASLEEP ON THE RAILROAD TRACK.—As Mr. John Phillips was waiting at the Fayette-street railroad depot last night, about ten o'clock, he heard the groans of a man a short distance off, and upon going in the direction of the spot from whence the sounds proceeded, found a man lying on the railroad track fast asleep and totally unconscious from the effect of liquor. Had it not been for the stillness of the night, which enabled his groans to be heard, he would probably have been run over and killed, as a train passed soon after he was removed.

POLICE REPORT.—The only case reported at police headquarters since yesterday was that of a life-time member of the chain gang named Watkins, who was caught early this morning with a bag of cabbages on his back, and who, when asked where he got them, replied that he had raised them on his lot in West End. As he has no lot at West End, and never is out of jail or the work house long enough to raise anything, his story was not credited, and he was locked up in the station house for examination.

PROPERTY SALES.—The two-story brick house on Washington street adjoining the Methodist Protestant Church, for $1700, and will in the future be the parsonage of that church.

MURDER TRIAL.—The Corporation Court, Judge E. M. Lowe presiding, has been engaged all to-day in the trial of the case of the Commonwealth vs. Nettie Green, indicted for the murder of Samuel Eichelberger, a canal boatman, at the house of the former, on the 20th of September. Several witnesses have been examined and the testimony taken at the Corner's inquiry, published in the Gazette at the time. A full report of the trial will be published to-morrow.

ENGINE HOUSES.—The committee appointed at the meeting of the Columbia Fire Company last Wednesday night, met yesterday afternoon and after a consultation with Mr. John Lambdin adjourned until next week when that gentleman will present to them plans and specifications for the proposed improvement to their engine house.

PROPERTY SALES.—For sales of valuable property to take place in this city to-morrow, and at Fairfax Court House on Monday, see advertisements.

RACE.—In the stallion race of yesterday for $5,000, on Herring Run Course, Baltimore, "Jay Gould" came home winner in 2:40, the Baltimore horse, Bashaw, jr., going dead lame in the first heat almost from the start. "Gould" jogged home in 2:40, when Mr. Fawcett withdrew his horse to the mortification and loss of the Baltimore men. "Gould" jogged over the course the second heat, and the judges announced to the five or six thousand people present that "Gould" would make a fast heat, which he did amid the wildest enthusiasm in 2:19. The betting was 4 to 1 on "Gould." Among the crowd present were many from Alexandria.

ASSAULT CASE.—Justice Brown, of Fairfax, says that in the Dishman assault case, which was mentioned in yesterday's issue, such was the conflict in the testimony, that he expressed an intention to send the case to court, to which the complainant objected, saying, "let it drop, let it drop, I have not the means to travel up and down, to and from Fairfax Court House," and that he then held the accused to keep the peace in the future, but not as a punishment for what had already been done.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A portion of the earth bank, near the ferry slip of the Alexandria boats in Washington, fell in this morning, burying two of the colored laborers who were engaged in leveling it, one of whom was dead when exhumed and the other badly hurt. The name of the one killed was Overton Triplett—that of the other, Robert E. Irlin, and what saved him was Triplett's body, which fell across him.

MORE SETTLERS.—Two more families from Ohio, well-to-do people, arrived here to-day and went on up the Midland railroad to settle on farms in Prince William county, which they had purchased through the agency of Green & Wise, real estate agents of this city.

LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

The young gentlemen of Leesburg gave a grand ball at the Osborn House last night. A band from Washington furnished the music and everything passed off in the most satisfactory manner. A festival for the benefit of the Presbyterian church is in progress in the same town.

A mule found by the police tied to a post near the post office this morning and carried to the station house was afterwards claimed by a canal boatman named Arington, from whom it had been stolen.

At the Loudoun County Agricultural Fair, which closed yesterday, the first premium was awarded to "Woodbridge" a full-blooded stallion from Kentucky, the property of Mr. Henry Sillman of Leesburg.

The editor of the Gordonsville Gazette who was in this city last week, says: "On the whole, we were pleased with our visit to the city. We were treated with real politeness and courtesy by her business men."

A boat race between the Annapolis club of Washington, and the Nassau club of New York, on Harlan river, yesterday, was won by the former.

A heavy fog prevailed upon the river early this morning necessitating the continuous blowing of fog horns and ringing of fog bells in order to avoid collisions.
