SANTA CLAUS is harnessing up his reindeer and packing his sledge, preparatory to his annual visitation. The variety of the stock presented for Santa Claus' selection in the stores is beyond precedent, and joy and gladness will follow in his track as he scatters his favors among the young hearts that are looking forward with such keen anticipation to his coming.

COUNTY COURT—Judge James Sangster presiding.—Alexander Hunter and others vs. Alexandria and Washington Turnpike Company, on application to have the turnpike declared abandoned, &c.; this cause came on again to-day to be heard, and was argued by counsel, upon consideration whereof, the Court ordered to be certified to the Township Board of Jefferson Township the fact that the turnpike from the Long Bridge to this city is abandoned, to which ruling of the Court the defendant excepted and tendered its bill of exceptions, and this order is suspended 60 days to allow the defendants to petition for a writ of error or superedeas.

An account of R. C. Powell, M. D., for post mortem examination on the body of — Bennett was allowed and ordered to be certified for payment. An account of Wm. H. Gant, for coffins, digging graves and burying two unknown infant children, was allowed and ordered to be certified for payment.

The administration account of James M. Steuart, administrator of Henson Turley, deceased, was returned to Court and ordered to lie 30 days for exceptions. Louis E. Payne was appointed a commissioner in chancery, and designated as Commissioner of Accounts for this Court in the place of R. A. Sinclair, who is required to turn over all books and papers pertaining to said office.

COLUMBIA FIRE COMPANY.—At a regular meeting of the Columbia Steam Fire Engine Company, held last night, D. A. Windsor, esq., in the chair, and R. W. Wheat secretary, three new members were elected and four applications for active membership were received and referred to the appropriate committee. The report of the executive committee, stating that the Fire Warden had purchased the hose carriage bought by the President and Vice President of the company in Georgetown, and had ordered the same to be repaired and painted in the most artistic style and placed under the charge of the company, and had also ordered some necessary repairs to the engine room, was received and accepted. After transacting some other routine business the meeting adjourned.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.—Yesterday morning, Mr. M. Thompson, attorney for Norman Pruitt of this city, began a suit in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for $5,000 damages against the Baltimore and Potomac R. R. The declaration states that the plaintiff purchased from defendant a "coupon commutation ticket," which entitled the plaintiff to one seat and passage between Washington and Alexandria, for twenty-five times at any time the plaintiff should think fit and proper; that after riding some fifteen times on said cars, the plaintiff was refused passage by the conductor on said ticket on the 9th of June, 1874, and was violently ejected by the conductor when near the end of the Long Bridge.

THE WASHINGTON AND ALEXANDRIA TURNPIKE.—In the County Court of Alexandria in the case of Hunter et al., relators, vs. the Washington and Alexandria Turnpike Company, the order declaring the turnpike road abandoned being entered, a suspension thereof for sixty days was directed to enable the turnpike company to apply for a superedeas, an appeal bond in the penalty of $250, to be executed by the company before the clerk of the court within ten days. The effect of this suspension is to leave the turnpike, for the present, in the possession and under the control of the Washington and Alexandria Turnpike Company.

POLICE REPORT.—Affairs at police headquarters were very quiet this morning. Iko Lomas, for an assault upon Oscar Turner, both colored, was sentenced by Justice Padgett, to thirty more days on the chain gang, of which corps he has been a member for some time past.

Jacob Knight and Frank M. Donald, builders from Washington, against whom judgment was given by Justice Wright, of the county, for non-payment of laborers' wages, were in default of bail committed to jail on a capias.

DISTURBANCES.—A disturbance occurred in Devil's Row, at Fishtown, yesterday evening, between some of the colored women living there, which was renewed this morning, and during which one of the combatants had her head crushed.

A fight occurred yesterday afternoon, at the double bridge, on the Washington turnpike, between some canal boatmen, whose boats were there at the time, in which seven men were engaged and in which, as a witness expresses it, they "fit the rub."

MEMORIAL SERVICES.—The Confederate dead, at Silver Spring, who fell there on Early's advance, in 1864, will be reintroduced tomorrow with appropriate ceremonies. Dr. A. F. P. Garnett will deliver an address and Bishop Plockney will conduct the services. Those from this city who may wish to attend will find, if they leave here on the 9 a.m. train, omnibuses waiting for them at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and 9th street in Washington.

U. S. COURTS.—As Judge Hughes did not return to the city to-day, the U. S. Circuit and District Courts were adjourned until the next regular term, which begins on the 4th of January, 1875.

In the order issued in the Turbull-Thomas case, published yesterday, it should have been added that the decree was final and no further reference is required.

ACCIDENT.—Last night, about 8-30 o'clock, whilst Nicholas Porter, a well-known driver on the Seventh street line of cars, in Washington, was engaged in shifting his horses from one end of the car to the other, they took fright and ran off, dragging him for some distance, inflicting him in a most severe and probably fatal manner. He was well known in this city.

LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

A wagon load of people from Fairfax county, who had been to Washington trading, sight-seeing and pleasure-seeking, stopped here night before last on their return, and unhitching their horses and baiting them to their wagon in front of Police Headquarters, applied for and obtained sleeping accommodations there. "Though on pleasure bent they were of a frugal mind."

Chas. Sorrell, (colored,) who was reported in yesterday's Gazette as having been seriously injured during a row on the canal, was yesterday conveyed to the Georgetown Free Dispensary. Upon examination he was found to be in a semi-comatose state, with a compound fracture of the skull.

A new felt hat, with a broad band, was found yesterday morning under the Stone bridge by those who heard the cries proceeding from that spot the night before, and who found the blood stains there mentioned in yesterday's Gazette.

Nothing has yet been heard of young Mr. DeVaughn, the telegraphic operator who mysteriously left his post here last Monday evening, nor of the young man who is said to have accompanied him.

A large force has been employed for the past week in repairing the road running south, known as the Telegraph road, and which is the best of the bad roads over which people have to come on their way to this city.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Congress. WASHINGTON, December 10, 1874. SENATE.

The Senate, to-day, after a number of unimportant memorials had been presented, adopted a resolution for binding 150 copies of the newly revised statutes of the United States, for the use of the two houses of Congress.

The House bill to prohibit members of Congress from being counsel in cases against the United States was referred.

The House bill removing the political disabilities of Henry Baker, of Henry county, Va., was referred.

The bill making an appropriation to enable the Postmaster General to carry out the act for the prepayment of postage was taken up. The bill appropriates $50,000 to provide scales for the use of the Postoffice Department.

Mr. Sherman said the bill should go to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. Ferry said that unless the bill passed immediately there would be a stoppage of the entire circulation of newspapers through the mail after the first of January next, as they must by law be weighed before transmission, and there were no scales.

Mr. Sherman insisted, saying the Committee could report to-day. The bill was referred, but afterwards passed.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. In the House of Representatives a number of bills were presented, read and referred.

The House then took up the report of the Committee on Private Land Claims.

THE NAVAL CADETSHIP SALE. In the House of Representatives Mr. W. H. Stowell, of Virginia, rising to a personal explanation, addressed the house in reference to the charge made against him in the Virginia Legislature of selling a cadetship at the United States Academy. He denied the charge and said he demanded the fullest investigation, and that at the earliest moment. On his motion the Committee on Naval Affairs were ordered to make an investigation.

Benj. Moran, now of the Legation at Paris, has been nominated to be Minister to Portugal. R. R. Hill, private secretary of Senator Morton, has been nominated as Secretary of the Legation to Paris.

THE TAYLOR-HUTCHINSON CASE. RICHMOND, Dec. 10.—The case of Taylor vs. Hutchinson, which has attracted considerable attention, was decided by the Court of Appeals of Virginia, to-day. The decree of the Circuit Court for the county of Alexandria was reversed. H. O. Cloughton for appellant; Messrs. Wattle, John Howard, W. W. Crump and R. T. Daniel, for appellees. This decision is in favor of Mr. Maris Taylor, of Alexandria.

THE TRANSIT OF VENUS. NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—A Nagasaki dispatch says: During the observations of the transit of Venus the weather was unusually cloudy and unpromising. The time at which it was calculated that the transit would begin, passed away without our being able to record the exact moment of the first contact with trustworthy results. After about a quarter of an hour and before Venus reached the stage of her second contact, the observer at the equatorial, caught a glimpse of the sun and planet and was quite successful in taking several measurements of the planet's cusps, during the intervals between the first and second contacts. The time at which the latter contact occurred was obtained with success and recorded. Shortly after the second contact further measurements of the distance between the cusps and the sun's western edge were made with the micrometer. In all, there were taken, 150 micrometric measurements of the line between the cusps. Besides these, thirty-one micrometric observations were made of the passage of both edges of the sun, across the meridian of the station, and similar views of the right and left rims of Venus in crossing the same line. Eighteen micrometric surveys were made of the respective declinations of the sun and planet by observing the upper and lower limbs, while passing the meridian. About sixty excellent photographs of the transit during various periods of its occurrence were taken. Extreme good fortune attended the astronomer, for just as Venus departed from the sun, clouds began to gather and threatened rain.

A dispatch from Vladivostok says: Clouds obscured the sun from dawn, but as morning advanced, the sky cleared and the luminary was distinctly visible through the equatorial telescope. His beams gradually brightened and as the decisive moment of the commencement of the transit drew near an image was distinctly printed on the back ground of the camera, used by the photographers. The equatorial ran splendidly with the clock-work and the segment of the sun about to collide with the planet remained fixed steadily before the observer's eye. As the planet advanced and touched the sun's limb, the moment was signalled with accuracy, but owing to a drifting haze, and clouds between, it was impossible to obtain good photographs of these contacts. The vapory state of the atmosphere lasted until about an hour after the second contact. Nevertheless the moment at which this contact occurred, was likewise obtained. When clouds had crept nearly half-way across the solar disk the haze disappeared sufficiently to admit of photographic images, being obtained. Thirteen negatives well and distinctly executed were taken on glass plates while the planet was in this position so that it will be possible to map the planets track on the photographic image of the sun after the return of the observers home.

A Hobarttown, Tasmania, dispatch says: "Although the weather was bad our observations at the time of the transit, were particularly successful. We succeeded in taking one hundred and thirteen photographs of Venus during her passage over the disk of the Sun.

THE CAPTURED BRITISH SCHOONER. NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—A letter from Havana, dated December 5th, says: The British schooner, towed into Santiago de Cuba, on the 26th ult. by a Spanish gunboat, proves to be the Eclipse of Port Antonio. She was hired by a Spaniard to take him to Santiago de Cuba and was properly dispatched. The current carried her to the leeward and she lost her reckoning and headed the wrong way. She was captured by the Spanish gunboat, but the British Consul protested, and the schooner and crew, after a lapse of three days, set at liberty. The passenger remains a prisoner. This taking of a passenger out of a British vessel on the high seas and detaining him may give rise to questions about the legality of the transaction.

LEGAL NOTICES. VIRGINIA: At Rules held in the Clerk's office of the County of Alexandria, December 10, 1874: Eliza S. Childs, administratrix de bonis non with the annexed of George E. Bayne, deceased, plaintiff, against Patterson Bayne and James E. Waddey, defendants. In chancery. The object of this suit is to state and settle the partnership transactions of the late firm of Geo. E. Bayne & Co., which was composed of Geo. H. Bayne and Patterson Bayne, and to attach the estate of the said Patterson Bayne within this Commonwealth.

The defendant, Patterson Bayne, not having entered his appearance and given security according to the act of Assembly and the rules of this Court, and it appearing by affidavit that he is not a resident of this State, it is ordered that the said defendant appear here within one month after due publication of this order, and do what is necessary to prevent his being forthwith inserted in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the city of Alexandria, once a week for four successive weeks, and posted at the front door of the Court House of this county. A copy of this order is filed in the office of the Clerk of the Court. D. L. SMOOK, p. q. dec 8-14
