LITERARY SOCIETY IN LONDON.—Literary society in London has a charm peculiar to itself, borrowed possibly, in some degree, from the quaintness and historic interest of its surroundings. A literary dinner in old Kensington, under the very shadow of Holland House, has a character distinctively its own; a supper in an old house on the Strand, where Goldsmith and Dr. Johnson supped a century ago, has an air which could hardly be given to the most delightful supper party in New York or Boston. There is a well-established air of bonhomie and culture and freedom, with no taint of elegance, about the English literary which makes them charming company on all occasions, a gentle combination of the Bohemian and the man of society, above all a cordial disregard for cast, a quick recognition of genius or merit, and a wide, unobtrusive hospitality. No houses are more charming than those of the London literati; weekly receptions are held among them; dinners, suppers, a supper party the other night a little out of town revived one's ideas of the days of "Elia." Around the table was the younger generation of that older one, sons and daughters of the men who graced Lamb's "Flora" and Wordsworth's boards; a sprinkling of the profession; a celebrated novelist, a well-known singer, a leading authoress from Kensington. We sat about the hospitable board until the "small hours." Anecdotes were told, public events, and people, and works discussed. There were sparks of wit which would not have disgraced those earlier days which were here shadowed, songs sung, and music contributed which would have roused an audience of 1830 to enthusiasm. We remember this as a typical English party. The very dishes were English in character; the smoking game pipes, the claret cup were all part of the English element, which we newly experienced.—The Galaxy.

THE ORIGINAL CONFEDERATE FLAG.—At a recent meeting the Palmetto Guard were made the recipients of the first Confederate flag raised in the late struggle, and as this banner was identified with the career of the company, it is doubly prized as a relic of the past. The donor, Mr. John S. Bird, of Laurens, an old member of the company, in a letter accompanying the flag, thus tersely gives its history: "In 1860, before the passage of the ordinance of secession by this State, Capt. Edward Mills, of the bark Jago, belonging to the Palmetto Line of New York packets, raised this flag at his mast-head in New York harbor, and his vessel was mobbed, but they could not compel him to strike his colors. On his return a gold-headed palmetto cane was presented to him by some of the Palmetto Guard, and in turn he transferred to them the custody of the flag. The secession of the State was quickly followed by aggressive military movements, and the flag accompanied the Palmetto Guard in their various encampments. At the siege of Sumter it marked their parade ground, and was used in the true boat that met the United States barges. The Palmetto Guard occupied the fort immediately after the surrender of Anderson, and this flag was the first raised on its walls after the salute, and before F. J. Moses, jr., had arrived at the fort. The flag remained with the company until they were mustered for the war, and was then taken by Mr. Bird to his home, and has since remained in his charge."

CANDIDATES.
MY NAME HAVING been announced as a candidate for a seat in the next House of Delegates of Virginia, I avail myself of this method of soliciting the suffrages of the voters, subject to the decision of a convention.
aug 9-1f HUGH LATHAM.

TO THE VOTERS OF FAIRFAX COUNTY.—At the solicitation of many friends, I announce myself a candidate for re-election to the next House of Delegates of Virginia. Recognizing the importance to the best interest of the State and of the success of the Conservative party, I make this announcement, subject to the action of the party in determining who shall be their candidate, believing that the harmony and success of the party can be best maintained by organization; and I trust that at the meeting to be held at August Court some satisfactory mode may be adopted by which, in the selection of a candidate, that result may be attained.
