

LOCAL NEWS.

MEETING OF THE COMMERCIAL EXCHANGE. After the transaction of the usual business at the Corp Exchange, this morning, the President, R. M. Lawson, called the meeting to order and stated that Mr. Lewis McKenzie desired to make a statement to the Exchange.

Mr. McKenzie said that it was known to most of the members of the Exchange that a meeting was held in Richmond on the 4th of May last, to consider the question of the currency, and that a delegation of the Tobacco Exchange had been appointed to a Convention to be held at Cincinnati on the 25th of October next, and that a delegation of twenty-five had also been appointed in New York of some of the leading men of that city. It was thought desirable that a delegation should be sent from Alexandria to attend that Convention, and it was for the Exchange to consider whether it was expedient to do so; it committed no person or committee to any definite course of action. It was proper to say he had no particular interest in the matter, but was governed by a desire to co-operate in any measure that looked to an improvement in our financial affairs.

The National Banking system, in his opinion, did not suit the South and West. The establishment of such banks, instead of increasing the capital of the community, was just the reverse, for every bank of $100,000 capital established and subscribed, the community was $35,000 or $40,000 poorer as regards accommodations than before, except the deposits were large, and the establishment of such banks furnished a plea for deposits. It might be said that he was opposed to the National Banks because, being one President of one in Alexandria, and turned out, that he would like to see them expanded, but all such people knew very little about him; he had no such unworthy motives, and trusted he was governed by higher considerations; mean people could have such opinions, but to him it made no difference; that under the new currency act a strange state of affairs exists; that while the authority to increase the circulation was intended to aid the South, West, and Southwest, yet all the new banks established were in Vermont, Maine and other eastern States, and yet some of the first organized National Banks are withdrawing their funds and reducing their circulation. The result is that the banks North lend their money on call, or on government securities, and it looks very much like as if the South will be nothing but drawers of wood and drawers of water, looking to the North for everything. It seems that in the next Congress there is to be a great fight on this subject, and the tendency of public sentiment in the South and West is in favor of greenbacks, changeable into three-sixty-five bonds. Whether this will prevail or whether the National Banks will be strong enough to prevent it time will determine. In his opinion a National Exchange co-operation with the people, and a local banking currency will suit us best, however, all these matters will doubtless be considered when the Convention meets.

George R. Shinn, R. M. Lawson, P. B. Hope, G. H. Robinson, Lewis McKenzie, W. A. Moore, J. H. Burroughs, C. F. Lee, Jr., and G. Y. Worthington were then appointed delegates to the proposed convention, though Mr. Worthington declined to serve, saying that in his opinion it was not worth the cost of currency from which the South was suffering, and that he thought we had better let well enough alone.

A RUFFIAN'S ASSAULT.—The Washington Republican says:—On last Wednesday night Mr. Thomas W. Berry and wife arrived in this city on the steamer Pilot Bay. As they were about embarking one of the negro hands named James Gray, was in the way on the gang plank and Mr. Berry told him to move off. He stepped aside, as directed, but as he did so he dealt Mr. Berry a fearful blow on the back of his head, knocking him senseless for a moment. He then fled and escaped. Determined that he should, if possible, be punished for the offense, Mr. Berry last night, in company with Detective George O. Miller, was at the wharf on the arrival of the steamer, for the purpose of arresting him, but it was ascertained that he had been discharged from the boat. Mr. Miller, after inquiry, found that he lived on C street north, and proceeded at once to the house, where Gray was found and taken into custody as charged with assault and battery before the Police Court. The accused is a stout, very large man, and it is a matter of surprise that his brutal attack upon a man the size of Mr. Berry did not result more disastrously.

MONTPELIER HUMANE ASSOCIATION.—The drawing of the Montpelier Female Humane Association of Virginia, which has been postponed several times, will certainly take place in this city on the 30th inst. The wheel from which the prizes will be drawn—a beautiful apparatus that cost $400—was received here from New York this morning by Adams Express, and many there are who hope that it will prove a wheel of fortune to them. It is an exhibition in the window of Adams Express office. The managers give the most positive assurance that there will be no further postponement, and though they have labored under many difficulties, owing to the almost universal depression in money matters, the untiring energy of the officers, and the commendable charity proposed, viz: The establishment and endowment of a "Home for the Old, Infirm and Destitute Ladies of Virginia at Montpelier, the former residence of President James Madison," have achieved a great and deserved success.

POLICE REPORT.—The following cases have been reported at police headquarters since yesterday afternoon: Charles and Mollie Minor, colored, for abusing Mrs. Phips, were fined and discharged. William Vallin, for whipping the child of policeman James Walker, was fined and discharged. Jony Bell, colored, for disorderly conduct was fined and discharged. Peter Blue, a colored inmate of the Poor's House, for disorderly conduct and abusing Superintendent Stephenson, was dismissed from that institution and locked up for further examination.

The Jenny Bell mentioned above is not Miss Jennie E. Hughes, the colored belle of south Columbus street.

Richard Hall, colored, for stealing a satchel from another colored man on a colored excursion, was locked up for examination.

COLUMBIA STEAM FIRE ENGINE COMPANY. The regular meeting of this company was held last night, with D. A. Windsor in the Chair and R. W. Heat, Secretary.

The Committee on Elections failed to make their report, and consequently the election of members was postponed until the next regular meeting. These applications for membership were received and placed in the hands of the Committee.

Mr. T. V. Rishell reported on the part of the Executive Committee that the Fire Wardens had made some necessary repairs to the engine house, one of them being to the smoke flue which conveys the smoke from the engine, but as it does not work with satisfaction the Wardens were requested to have it put in good order.

After transacting some routine business, the meeting adjourned.

EXCITEMENT.—Quite an excitement was created in the Market Square this morning by an impatient stampede among the horses of the market people. The wildest of the alarmed animals were soon quieted, however, and quiet restored, the only damage that had resulted being the breaking of a wagon belonging to Charles Biaden.

THE OYSTER LAW.—It has been positively determined that the corporation oyster law prohibits the landing of oysters in the shell at the wharves of this city prior to the 30th inst., but as that law was passed when the only oysters landed here were those that arrived by sailing vessels, and which consequently were several days on the way up the river, and not as now by rapid steamers which put them here in ten hours after they have left the water, there is no reason why the law should be enforced or its penalties exacted. Law or no law, the oysters that now come here are good and wholesome, and many people want to eat them, and the few who want to sell them ought to be allowed to do so.

SHOOTING ON THE LONG BRIDGE.—In the Police Court of Washington, yesterday, the case of James Coleman, charged with assault with intent to kill Newman Cole came up. Cole testified that on Saturday night on the Long Bridge, as he was crossing over with two others, Coleman, who was with two women, drew a pistol and fired at him twice, one ball taking effect in his arm, without saying a word to him. Mary Bowie and another woman testified that they were crossing the bridge with Coleman, when Cole and two others stopped them, and Cole struck at him. Held for the action of the grand jury.

HEN HOUSE ROBBERY.—The hen house of a colored man named Pointexter, in the hollow formerly known as Bruner's lumber yard, was robbed about one o'clock last night. The noise made by the chickens was so great that Pointexter was awakened, and thrusting a blunderbuss out of his window, he discharged it in the direction from whence the cackling proceeded, the shot flying in every direction, and striking several houses near by, raising a commotion in the whole neighborhood, during which the thief made his escape.

A SMASH UP.—Yesterday afternoon, says the Washington Tribune, as Mr. Wm. Strother, a charcoal dealer from Fairfax county, Va., was driving along Ludlow Avenue, near the Baltimore and Ohio railroad depot, he was run into by one of Adams' Express wagons and had his hind axle-tree torn away. The driver of the express wagon assisted Mr. Strother with his wagon to the nearest wheelwright's and paid the cost of repairing it.

HID HIMSELF IN A WELL.—Frank Brookes, son of Justice Robert Brookes, who lives on the opposite bank of the river, after being missing for five hours last Tuesday, was found neck deep in the water in the well in his father's yard, and almost chilled to death. He had descended the well by sliding down the well rope during what is hoped to be a fit of temporary derangement.

AN ALEXANDRIA BELLE.—A letter in the Richmond Whig from Buffalo Springs, in Mecklenburg county, speaking of the attractive features of the place says: "On looking for a while into the ball-room last night I was lost in admiration of the exquisite dancing of the beautiful and vivacious Miss L. B. of Alexandria, who is undoubtedly one of the most faultlessly graceful persons upon the floor."

PROPERTY SALE.—The lot on the west side of Washington street, between the residences of Gen. Corse and Major Johnston, was sold this morning by Mr. C. F. Lee to Father O'Keane, pastor of St. Mary's Church, for $5,500. It is understood that a fine church will be built upon this lot, but not immediately.

ANOTHER TOURNAMENT.—Tournaments, judging from the number of them this season, must be exceedingly popular. There to be another one on the 21st inst. at the farm of Justice J. O. Kerby, just below the city.

AMONG the many new features introduced by Messrs. Lord & Taylor, the well-known dry goods firm of New York city, for the benefit and accommodation of lady patrons residing at a distance from their establishment, is to send them by mail full lines of samples of the newest Spring Silks and Dress Goods, with the prices marked distinctly on each sample. With so complete a supply of samples a selection can readily be made; the order is then filled, and the goods sent to the address of the writer, thus saving time and the trouble and expense of travelling. The business standing of this eminent house makes this announcement to the ladies well worthy of attention.

PERSONAL.—Mr. A. J. Reynolds, the inventor and proprietor of the celebrated Reynolds' Fruit Evaporator, is in our city completing arrangements for the manufacture and sale of his invention in the entire State of Virginia, with Alexandria as the base of operations. This may be regarded as an important business enterprise for this city, and the entire fruit interest of the State. Any communications on the subject may be addressed to this office. See advertisement in another column.

Travellers should wear the Elmwood collars. They are easily carried, wear well, look nicely, and do not require washing.

Deservedly Popular.—We mean Dr. Bull's Vegetable Pills, for everybody has derived much benefit from their use. Physicians recommend them.

BY TELEGRAPH.

From Colombia. PANAMA, Aug. 31.—The people of Panama and the Isthmus continue in a state of trepidation and anxiety, their fate depending on the result of the conflict now going on between the States of Magdalena and Bolivia and the federal government. If the former are conquered it will then come to be the turn of Panama and its authorities. As this State is virtually at war with the government at Bogota, of course the authority of the latter has ceased to exist. The President of the State, who is ex officio agent of the federal government, can no longer be recognized as such, and the administrator of the National Treasury was removed from his office, and the State authorities are trying to intercept any funds that may come directed to him, to be used for war purposes.

On the 23d ultimo three arrived at Colon from New York some 500 rifles, purchased there by government agents, to be forwarded to Bolivar to aid that State from being obliged to submit to the federal forces. Capt. Simpson, of the U. S. steamer Omaha, on being informed of the fact, requested the American Consul at Aspinwall to prohibit their landing, as being intended to be used against Colombia, with which the United States was at peace. This caused a great deal of excitement in Panama, and a little ill feeling exists toward officers in general. Capt. Simpson finally withdrew his opposition to the landing of the arms, which were eventually shipped to Bolivar.

The English Consul has asked for an English man of war to be stationed at Aspinwall. The State of Cauca has endeavored to mediate with the general government in favor of the rebel States, though without any good effect hitherto. President Perz is determined to bring them back to their duties as sections of a Federal Republic. He has called for an increase of the army to 3,000 men.

Indian Affairs.

RED CLOUD AGENCY, 7th, VIA FORT LARAMIE, WYOMING, Sept. 5.—Maj. Bingham, of the Cheyenne Agency, Maj. Burke, of the Standing Rock Agency, and Maj. Howard, of Spotted Tail Agency, yesterday a. m., endeavored to bring the Indians encamped there to this agency to hold a council here. It is understood there is considerable dissatisfaction among the Indians there on account of the failure of the commissioners to go to Shadron Creek to hold a council, according to a previous understanding, this creek being half way between Red Cloud and Spotted Tail. Under these circumstances nothing can be done until the return of these agents, which will be about the last of the week. Red Dog came in today and had a little informal talk with the commission. He favors a sale of the Black Hills, and will have more influence with his people than Red Cloud.

Foreign News.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—Admiral Raza, has been appointed Commander of the French Mediterranean squadron in place of Admiral De La Roubiere Le Novry.
