SATURDAY EVENING, MAY 6.

NO ONE COULD STOP HER.—In Essex Market Police Court to-day, says the New York News of yesterday afternoon, a group of newly dressed persons gathered around Judge Duffy.

Judge Duffy: "Well, madame, what charge have you against this young man?" "Your honor, he abducted my daughter, who is only sixteen."

"No, he didn't," sang out a pert and rather pretty miss as she brushed her way up to the judge; "I went with him on my own free will."

"Have you been living with him?" "No, sir," replied the girl, boldly; "I have lived with his parents for the past few days."

"Do you intend to marry him?" "That I am, and no one can stop me."

"Madame," said the magistrate to the young lady's mother, "are you willing to let them be married?"

"Well," said she, "it looks like as if she would go through fire and water for him, and he for her, and perhaps it is best to let them be married."

Ten minutes afterward the sixteen year old girl went out of court in the arm of her nineteen year old husband.

THE ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER will soon celebrate its centennial year. More than three quarters of a century ago it grew into life a creature of wants and needs of the people of this section of Virginia.

During all this period its prominent object has been to advance the interests of the people of whose life it is the daily chronicler. Its fortunes have been their fortunes; it has shared their prosperity and suffered in their disasters.

Its inspiration has been the desire to forward the best interests of the community in which it is located, and its own prosperity is, as it has been its purpose, inseparable from that of the community it aims to represent.

When they grow rich it hopes for a reward commensurate with its labors. While they are poor it expects to work with them and for them, expecting to make their success the measure of its own.

The Gazette is offered as an index of its future. It has never failed to avail itself promptly of all the improvements which come with the greater growth and more extended experience of journalism.

Every year NEW FEATURES will be added. THE GAZETTE MEANS TO BE THE NEWSPAPER OF VIRGINIA. It will furnish daily a complete account, with superlatives only lopped away, of all the current news of the world.

As the interests of the people mainly centre at home, no pains will be spared to chronicle all matters occurring in the city and neighborhood, carefully excluding unseemly expressions or gross narrative as unfit for a journal that is treasured at many thousand hearthstones of Virginia.

Special attention will be devoted to presenting, as well from original sources of information as from its exchanges, the news of Virginia, especially such as relate to the development of the resources of the State.

Its contiguity to Washington gives the Gazette an early precedence over all the journals of the State in intelligence of the operations of the General Government, now of such vital importance to the people of the South.

The proceedings of Congress, seldom so interesting as now, will be regularly reported in succinct form for its columns, but all matters of special interest in Virginia will be given in detail, and the full text of all bills of local interest will be given.

From the State Capital it will receive early and accurate accounts of the proceedings of the General Assembly and of all the operations of the State government likely to interest the people.

In its Commercial columns the special feature will be promptness and accuracy. The farmers, drovers and commercial people of the State know they MAY DEPEND upon the Gazette.

Early and reliable reports of the Grain, Cattle, Grocery and other Markets will be furnished, and the prices and position of the stocks, which are the subjects of business transactions in this section of the country, carefully quoted.

The continual favors of those who have once used the Gazette as an advertising medium is a warrant for saying that it pays to advertise in its columns. Never before did it pay so well to tell the public what is for sale.
