NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21, 1876.—The Senate postponed until Monday next the further trial of W. W. Belknap, as the counsel were not ready to proceed.

The Senate then took up the River and Harbor Appropriation bill. After discussion by Messrs. Sherman, Eaton, and others, Mr. Dawes, of Mass., and Mr. Craigie, replied at length to the speech made by Mr. Merrimon a few days since.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—In the House of Representatives, to-day, prior to the receipt of several bills were introduced but objected to, and were with drawn.

There was a debate of some length upon a bill to extend a shoe patent, which was finally rejected—yeas, 62; nays, 110.

A report in reference to the construction of the post-office building in New York was made and referred.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the private calendar, and took up the bill to confirm certain land claims in Missouri, upon which there was a long discussion.

Gen. Terry, of Va., from the Committee on Military Affairs, made a report in reference to the renting of Winder's building for the use of the quartermaster, setting forth the facts in reference to the renting, and showing that by the renting of the Randall House instead of the Riggs House by Assistant Quartermaster Loggins the government lost $11,000.

THE SENATE DEBATE.

The discussion on the River and Harbor bill in the Senate, to-day, wandered far from the text and roamed over the whole field embraced in the presidential election.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Edwin Allen, chairman of the National Liberal Republican Committee, has issued an address to the liberal Republicans annulling the call for a National Convention to be held July 26, at Philadelphia, and supporting the Cincinnati ticket.

The prevailing protracted heat has had the effect of producing a frightful and unparalleled mortality among the children of New York. In three weeks no less than 2,136 little ones, all under five years, and a large proportion under one year old, have perished.

The Indian War.

NEW YORK, July 21.—A dispatch dated camp of the 5th cavalry, Sage Creek, July 19, by Cheyenne, 5th, says: "Out of 2,300 Cheyennes, belonging to the Red Cloud agency, all have gone north except about 300 men and children. There has been a great demand for ammunition. The Indians have even offered a pony for thirty rounds of cartridges. About 100 Indians were wounded in Gen. Crook's fight on the Rose Bud, in June, and they are now distributed among friends at the agency. There is much mourning for Indians from that agency who were killed in that engagement. The Indians acknowledge a loss of 80 killed in Gen. Crook's fight and of about 280 in Gen. Custer's fight. Red Cloud has armed and sent out a great many warriors to Sitting Bull, even taking the rations of beef issued on the 10th from the women and children to supply these warriors with something to eat on their way north. Out of 13,000 Indians belonging to the agency there are about 4,000 not present now, and the agent is no longer able to deny that his Indians have mostly gone north to join Sitting Bull. Many were mounted to go immediately after the success of last June, but were restrained. When the news of Gen. Custer's defeat came to them they began leaving at once in large and small parties, until now the Cheyennes are nearly all gone, and almost the entire fighting strength of the Sioux. The post in White River Canon has been withdrawn, as the mail contractors are unable to get the mail carried from Fort Laramie to Red Cloud, and all mail for the troops there is sent in and out with military escort. When Gen. Merritt's command returns from its present march it will proceed at once to join Gen. Crook. It consists of the entire 5th cavalry, 12 companies, recruited to a good standard."

Foreign News.

LONDON, July 21.—In the House of Commons, this afternoon, Sir Edward Williams Watkin asked Mr. James Lawson, one of the Under Secretaries for the Colonial Department, if he could give any information regarding the conflict between the U. S. troops and the Sioux Indians, many of which tribe are British subjects, and whether the origin of the conflict was not a breach of a treaty regarding the Indian reservation and subsidies which the Indians and whites on both American and British territory. He asked whether the government proposed to tender its good offices in the interest of the Indian subjects of Great Britain and of humanity. Mr. Lawson replied that so far no information had been received regarding the conflict, and he could not express an opinion as to its origin or possible consequences. He had no information extending to show that any British subjects are connected with these events. As at present advised the government has no intention to interfere.

The Turkish War.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 21.—Bulletins posted here claim that the Turks defeated the Servian army near Dubnitza on Wednesday, near Kladovo. This is in contradiction of the official report from Belgrade.

PARIS, July 21.—A telegram from the Russian Agency says the Montenegrins have had a real success at Podgoritza. Prince Nicholas has taken the heights commanding Moslar, and a decisive engagement is imminent.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 21.—The Russian Ambassador will start for St. Petersburg Monday on leave of absence.

A Woman and Two Children Suffocated to Death in a Limekiln.

A dispatch from Pottsville, Pa., dated July 19, says: John E. Cameron lives on a farm one mile from this village. He has a limekiln a quarter of a mile from his house, near the main road. Yesterday he started a fire in it and went away to his work in a hay field. Two of his children, a boy nine years old and a girl aged five, were playing about the kiln. Over the mouth of the kiln is a windlass by which a large bucket is lowered to the bottom. The oldest of the two children thought it would be nice to ride his little sister up and down in the bucket. She clambered in, and he let her get down into the pit. The fire had by that time got under good headway, and the stone was becoming heated and emitting poisonous gas.

The little girl screamed to come up, but her brother tried to pull up the bucket, but could not start it. After several attempts he started on a run for home, where he told his mother and grandmother, who were alone in the house, the situation as above. The two women ran to the kiln. Mrs. Cameron saw her child lying on the bottom. She had fallen out of the bucket, being overpowered by the gas. Thinking the child might be restored if taken out at once, Mrs. Cameron drew the bucket up. She placed her little boy in it, and telling him to place the body of his little sister in it as quickly as possible, and get back into it himself, she lowered him into the next pit. The little boy succeeded in placing the body in the bucket, and, clinging to the side of it himself, was drawn a few feet upward, when he succumbed to the influence of the gas and fell back unconscious to the bottom.

Mrs. Cameron drew the body of her little girl to the top and hastily removed it from the bucket and placed it on the ground. She then gave the crank of the windlass to her mother-in-law, a lady nearly seventy years old, and told her to lower her quickly into the pit, to the rescue of her other child. She then got into the bucket. Her weight was more than old Mrs. Cameron could handle, and whirling round struck her on the head and knocked her senseless to the ground. Her daughter-in-law was hurled violently to the bottom of the kiln, and no doubt rendered unconscious before the gas affected her.

The Pottsville stage came along about the time Mrs. Cameron was precipitated into the bucket. John Kane, the driver, seeing the bleeding body of the old lady and the apparently lifeless body of the little girl, stopped the stage and jumped out. He discovered the bodies of the other two in the kiln. Calling a gentleman to the stage to his aid, he went down into the kiln by means of the windlass rope, and placed the body of Mrs. Cameron in the bucket. It was drawn up, and the bucket lowered. Kane succeeded in getting into the bucket with the boy's body, but became unconscious soon afterwards, and was taken from the bucket in that state. It was some time before he was restored.

Old Mrs. Cameron was brought to consciousness in a short time, her wounds not being serious. Her daughter-in-law and the two children were dead. As soon as Kane recovered sufficiently the three bodies were placed in the stage and taken home, and Mr. Cameron summoned from his work. Mrs. Cameron was thirty five years old.

The prevailing protracted heat has had the effect of producing a frightful and unparalleled mortality among the children of New York. In three weeks no less than 2,136 little ones, all under five years, and a large proportion under one year old, have perished. The Board of Health has appointed, in addition to its present medical corps, fifty physicians whose duty it is to look after the children of the poorer classes. In all the cities of the country the mortality of the children has increased greatly since the commencement of the heated term. Those having control of children should see that they have fresh air, wholesome food, and light clothing, and that they be kept clean.

Mr. M. B. Buck who was arrested on the charge of forgery has been examined and honorably discharged.

Ever moment of our lives every part of our body is wearing out and is being built up anew. This work is accomplished by the blood, and if the blood does not perform its work properly the system is poisoned. Cleanse the blood by the use of Dr. Bull's Vegetable Pills. Harmless but efficient.

Hardly to be credited, but it is nevertheless true, that a sick horse or a bad-conditioned cow can be brought up in a few days, by the use of Simmons' Liver Regulator. The powers should be mixed with the food, and they will eat it readily; and it is surprising to see what improvement immediately takes place. It opens the bowels, strengthening them, and does all and even more than the best Condition Powders. A small quantity in the food for chickens will cure cholera, and keep the poultry healthy.
