

LOCAL NEWS.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—War Department, Office of the Chief Signal Officer, Washington, D. C., Feb. 15, 1877.—10:30 a. m. For the Middle States north and east winds, partly cloudy weather, followed by higher temperatures and falling barometer, possibly preceding a storm of the Carolina coast.

A SINGULAR CASE.—Mention was made in the Gazette last week of a confession made by Simpson, one of the Everett murderers, shortly before his death, wherein he confessed having been the person who committed an assault on and robbed an old man near this city several years since, and for which a colored man named Lewis Emanuel was now undergoing a term of imprisonment in the penitentiary. The confession was forwarded to Gov. Kemper, and he has sent the papers to the Judge of the Corporation Court of this city for examination. The Clerk of the Corporation and County Courts have made an examination of the records in their offices, and find that no man of the name of Lewis Emanuel has been convicted in either court, but that in the County Court at the February term, 1873, a negro man named Lewis Manley was convicted of assaulting and robbing an old man named James McKinney, who kept a shop at "Nanny Goat Hill," just outside of the northern boundary of this city, and was sentenced to ten years' confinement in the penitentiary, where he now is. The crime was committed three days prior to the presidential election of 1872. The old man, McKinney, was very severely beaten on the head with a pistol belonging to himself, and the weapon and a small sum of money were carried off. Manley and a man named Miles Stearn were arrested, charged with the crime. Manley was tried before Judge R. H. Cocke, of the County Court, in February, 1873, as above stated. A. W. Chilton, esq., acting as Commonwealth's attorney, and John N. Johnson, esq., representing the prisoner, McKinney could not positively identify the prisoner, but thought that he was the man. The defense produced Manley's brother and three other witnesses to prove an alibi, and they swore that Manley was at another place at the time of the robbery. The jury, however, declined to credit this testimony, and brought in a verdict of guilty. Stearn was not tried until several months afterwards, when he was sentenced to the same punishment. As the negro Simpson confessed that he was the robber, that Manley confessed him, and that he was supposed when the crime was committed, it is alleged that both Manley and Stearn will be pardoned by the Governor. Manley is a brother of Charles Manley, who was hanged in this city a few years since for the murder of an old white pedler.

MEETING LAST NIGHT.—A meeting of those opposed to the amendments to the city charter was held at the colored Odd Fellow's Hall, on south Columbus street, last night. About fifty negroes were present at the commencement of the meeting, but not a single white man. Hannah King was called to the chair, after which some considerable time was consumed in getting a secretary, various persons being elected and declining. Finally, Thomas Allen accepted the office and the meeting proceeded. Chas. Stables, colored, as the caller of the meeting, stated the object, which was to oppose the amendments, now pending, to the city charter. He spoke at some length in denunciation of these amendments. While he was speaking, Dr. J. B. Johnson, the Mayor, arrived, and taking the stand, addressed the meeting in opposition to the amendments. At the close of his remarks, the meeting adjourned.

DEPOT AT STRASBURG.—The differences which have for some time past existed between the people of Strasburg and the B. & O. R. Co. in regard to requirements of the charter of the Winchester and Strasburg road, have been reconciled by the agreement of the latter to build a depot at Caton's crossing, in the western end of the town. There was quite a contest among the people as to the location of the depot, one party desiring it to be at the east end of the town, where the road crosses the Valley turnpike, and the other at Caton's crossing. A vote was taken a few nights since which resulted in favor of the eastern site. The vote stood 68 to 33. Property in the "west end" is expected to largely appreciate in value under this compromise.

M. E. CHURCH.—Last evening the service in this church was largely attended. The exercises were conducted by the pastor. Mr. Webb selected for his text Luke, xxiv. chap. and 47th verse:—"That repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem." After the sermon, the usual invitation was given, and was responded to by seven or eight persons. In the course of the evening, several of the new converts related their experience. Two persons professed conversion. From what the pastor stated, the meeting is likely to be continued for some time to come—at any rate as long as the interest is sustained.

THE CANAL.—The Cumberland Allegiance, of yesterday, says:—"We think it hardly possible that the canal will be in navigable order by the middle of March. There is a large break in the canal near Hancock, which cannot be repaired until the frost leaves the ground, and will then require two weeks work to repair. Besides, it has been customary to clean out the basin here before the opening in spring, and as yet no movement is being made to this end. The mill-race is continually making bars in the canal, and the canal company should purchase the right and turn the water in another direction."

BAPTIST CHURCH.—If the interest manifested in the prayer meetings of a church is any indication of church life, then one would judge from the large attendance, and the deep feeling manifested in the sweet songs and earnest prayers of the congregation, that the Baptist Church is a live, working church. It was refreshing on last evening to see their spacious lecture room almost crowded with a congregation who seemed to feel that they had come up to a feast. We understand that the young men of this church are holding cottage prayer meetings in different parts of the city with gratifying success.

ANXIOUS TO SELL.—Another instance of the stagnancy in all kinds of business, from the largest to the smallest, and the desire to make sales, was furnished in the market, a few days since, when a negro man wanting to buy a turkey and objecting to the large size of one which a dealer wished to sell, the latter walked to a butcher's stand, had the fowl split down the breast and back and sold the negro one half of it, taking chances for the sale of the remaining half.

SUPPOSED MURDER.—Mention was made yesterday of the mysterious disappearance of James Campbell, colored. Captain Thomas Rudd, of the Midland Road, says that Campbell did not walk up the road, as was at first supposed, but went up on his train, and told him that he was going to Fairfax C. H., to see his wife, who, it is reported, had left him. It is now believed that, if the body found was Campbell's, he was murdered.

OVERBOARD.—A colored man named Anderson Barber fell overboard at the American Coal wharf yesterday, but succeeded in scrambling out with no other damage than a very cold bath. Barber was reaching for a piece of drift wood at the time, and stretching too far, lost his balance and went in head foremost.

MARINE ACCIDENT.—A dispatch from Crisfield says:

"Two schooners, the Delmay and the J. H. C. Coulburn, were capsized in Tangier Sound during the gale on Monday. The crew of the former were picked up by a passing vessel, but the latter perished. It is all hands on board three oyster puggies were capsized, and it is feared their crews were lost. No particulars can be obtained at present.

COLUMBIA FIRE COMPANY.—The Columbia Steam Fire Engine Company held its regular monthly meeting last night, with M. McLean, President, in the chair, and Thomas Leadbeater, Secretary pro tem. Various matters of routine business were transacted, and most of the time of the meeting was devoted to the revision of the Constitution, to which several minor amendments were made, after which the meeting adjourned.

SINKING FUND.—The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund held a meeting at the Auditor's office last night, all of the members being present. It was resolved to rent the fish beaches in the market on March 1. The market was authorized to settle up the market rents now in arrears by taking notes at thirty days, &c.

The union prayer meeting will be held in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at 7 o'clock to-night.

Special Dispatches to the Gazette.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 15.—In the Senate to-day during the morning hour Mr. Cookling called up the bill for the payment of the awards of the Mexican commission and urged action thereon.

Mr. Stevenson, of Ky., said that information had just been communicated to him, that there was evidence lying in one of the banks here to show the fraudulent character of many of the awards in this bill. He desired to call the attention of the Senator from New York to this fact.

Mr. Cookling said he thought there was some mistake about the matter, but that after the statement of the Senator from Kentucky, he would not press the bill at present.

The District tax bill was then taken up and discussed.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House met this morning at 10 o'clock, but extended the recess till 11, at which time it reassembled and at once went into committee of the whole on the Naval Appropriation bill, which was further considered until 12 o'clock, when

After prayer and the reading of the journal a number of bills were introduced and referred, and

A bill to remove the political disabilities of George W. City, of Portsmouth, Va., was passed.

A bill to prevent any but persons in the navy from being sail-makers in that branch of the public service, was objected to and went over.

After the disposition of several resolutions and bills of no general interest the House again went into committee of the whole on the Naval Appropriation bill.

The bill was after consideration reported to the House and finally passed.

THE ELECTORAL COMMISSION.

The Electoral Commission, Justice Clifford presiding, met at 10 o'clock, this morning, when Mr. Everts of the republican counsel, took the floor and argued to show that the rulings of the Commission in the Florida case held good in this; that the certificates of the electors came up to all the requirements of the laws of Louisiana and the constitution of the United States; that Brewster and Levesque, about whose eligibility there is a contest, were properly and duly chosen, and that the Commission had nothing to do with hypothetical elections that might be introduced to invalidate the action of the Returning Board. His argument was able and ingenious, and from his stand-point logical, but his premises were, according to an unprejudiced mind, altogether untenable. Mr. Everts concluded for the republican side, when Judge Campbell, of Louisiana, of the democratic counsel, closed the case, giving a full and fair statement of the political situation in his State, showing a thorough knowledge of the laws of Louisiana, the manner of conducting elections, the operations of the radical party and its returning board, the palpable frauds that have been perpetrated, and the means resorted to to override the will of the majority and give the vote of the State to Hayes and Wheeler. He contended that the Commission had and should exercise the right to enquire into the frauds by which the Returning Board had subverted the expressed desire of the people, and that the votes of the illegally chosen and ineligible electors should and ought to be thrown out. The speech of Judge C. was a clear and able expose of the corrupt practice of the radical leaders in Louisiana, and a cogent and convincing argument why the electoral vote of the State as purporting to be held by the Hayes electors should not be received and counted by Congress. Judge Campbell's argument made a decided impression, and was listened to with the greatest attention. A point that though the Commission could reject the vote of a State, yet it could not enquire into the legality of that vote, was most ingeniously and pointedly put, and seemed to have weight.

INVESTIGATION.

The committee on the conduct of the President in sending troops to the South met this morning and examined several witnesses from Virginia, the evidence showing clearly that there was not the slightest necessity for any interference whatever in that State, where the election was most peaceful, and all that was accomplished was to enable the radicals to carry out their purpose of voting the negroes solidly, in opposition, in some cases, to their known and expressed views.

FAREWELL DINNER.

General Grant will give a farewell dinner to the Cabinet.

PERSONAL.

Among the visitors at to-day's sitting of the Electoral Commission were Gen. W. H. Payne, Capt. A. D. Payne, Judge Thomas Smith and Capt. Garden, of Warrenton.

Y. M. C. A.—The members of the Young Men's Christian Association are hereby notified that a delegation from the Washington Association will meet in our room for prayer and conference at 6 o'clock next Sunday evening.

JAS. ENTWISTLE, Jr., General Secretary.
