

PUBLISHED DAILY AND TRIWEEKLY BY EDGAR SNOWDEN.

THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 1.

"Roberts," the well-known and popular correspondent of the Washington Capital, has been removed from her position as clerk in the Agricultural Bureau...

The revolt of the colored voters from the radical control under which they have heretofore been such obedient subjects, is extending, as will be seen by reference to another portion of to-day's Gazette...

Now that the immediate effect of the announcement of the Congressional standing committees has worn off, and opportunity has been allowed for a deliberate consideration of the real qualifications of those committees...

Senator Morton. A dispatch from Indianapolis at 11 o'clock last night, says Senator Morton is yet alive, but is evidently sinking, and it is only a matter of conjecture how soon death will be upon him...

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—11.30 a. m.—Efforts are now being made to relieve Senator Morton's sufferings by the inhalation of chloroform, morphia having ceased to have any effect...

President Hayes in Richmond.

After breakfast yesterday morning the Presidential party were driven in carriages to the various places of interest under the escort of the Citizens' Reception Committee...

The party were conducted to the building occupied as the headquarters of the Agricultural Society, and from the upper porch the speeches were delivered.

Mr. President—In coming to this ancient State you are naturally reminded of the principles which underlie its earliest foundation. It was here that our forefathers devised the first complete written constitution of government...

It is in her name that I greet you to-day, and I welcome you, sir, as a friend, not of Virginia, not of Ohio, not of any section, State, party or class...

Fellow-citizens I have the pleasure to introduce to you the President of the United States. The President responded as follows:—

Governor Kemper, Ladies and Gentlemen—I am admonished by the leaders of the crowd to come mistaking my remarks in reply to the welcome which I have just listened to must be very welcome...

The President responded as follows:—I am glad to contribute something to the work of the Agricultural Society of Virginia in endeavoring to do the State of Virginia has wisely undertaken to make known to the world her advantages...

Secretary Sherman was next introduced by Mr. Hayes. He said: I cannot express the gratification with which I appear before this large assembly of representative farmers of Old Virginia...

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—11.30 a. m.—Efforts are now being made to relieve Senator Morton's sufferings by the inhalation of chloroform, morphia having ceased to have any effect...

Englishman, better preserved than in Virginia. It is then a good climate. The pretentious foreign good people will emigrate here and, besides the various advantages, I might allude to that which will give a market to the farmer...

I think few States have done so much as Virginia to improve their educational system of education for both races. It is very good and it is increasing. It is not yet what Governor Kemper and you would be glad to have it everywhere...

Does some one say there is a prejudice against new comers? Descending myself from one of the earliest settlers of Ohio, I know how the old settlers felt towards new men. At the same time I do not desire to repel the coming of good citizens from every quarter...

The President then introduced Secretary Sherman and Fellow Citizens of Virginia. There has never been any doubt on two points: First, that the people of Virginia thought very well of themselves [laughter]...

Foreign News. The Paris Francis says:—Although difficulties may exist among the Ministers as to the best method of sustaining the policy of May 16, the Marshal does not admit that there can be any doubt of the necessity of sustaining it...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

Justice Strong on the Presidency. Justice Strong, of the United States Supreme Court, and one of the Electoral Commission, in a letter to a friend, written on the 26th of last February, says:—

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—The Illinois express East, on the Philadelphia and Erie Railway, collided with a freight train, one mile east of Middletown, this morning...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

General Devens said that when a son of Massachusetts stood on the soil of Virginia, and in the presence of a Virginia audience, he was entitled to remember that their forefathers were credited with the independence of the United States...

News of the Day.

The funeral of Gen. Forrest took place at noon at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, in Memphis, yesterday, Rev. Dr. Staiback, who had been a private soldier under Gen. Forrest, officiating.

The resignation of Mr. Howard as Solicitor of the Pennsylvania Railroad was accepted by the Board of Directors yesterday. He resigned because the officers of the road did not approve of his action in instituting a suit to test the validity of the lease of the United Railways of New Jersey.

The trial of Theodore L. Adams, of Syracuse, indicted for placing an obstruction on the Central Railroad track, at Dewitt, during the strike last July, commenced in Syracuse yesterday. Adams was the leader of the two hundred and twenty-five strikers at Dewitt.

A Norfolk dispatch says the ship of war Enterprise has been ordered to follow the Plymouth to Vera Cruz, previous to which, however, a board of inspection will examine and report upon the construction of the Enterprise.

The First Baptist Church at Salem, Mass., was damaged by fire last night to the amount of $25,000. The litigation over the Singer estate, in N. Y., has been amicably settled.

Virginia News. The Lynchburg News says:—Monday afternoon a large gang of wild turkeys were found in the trees and off Mr. R. L. Luce, on Diamond Hill. A portion of them flew over to the vacant lot of Mr. J. W. Stone, in the same neighborhood, and there the fun and slaughter commenced.

Robt. L. Dudley, Lynchburg, won the prize of a fine knife offered at the late fair at that place for the highest man, E. N. Eubank, of the same city, being regarded the second in the order of merit.

Miss Donoghue Yost, daughter of Major Samuel M. Yost, of Staunton, was badly burned last Saturday by flames from her clothing, which took fire while she was dressing.

The Episcopal Congress. At yesterday's session of the Protestant Episcopal Church Congress, in New York, after the Gazette's report closed, the Rev. Mr. Abercrombie, of Jersey City, held that civilization was but a term and meant the moral elevation of mankind and destruction to barbarism.

Gen. Grant's Reception.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Herald gives the following account of the reception given by U. S. Minister Noyes to Gen. Grant last Monday:—

A heavy rain had been falling all the afternoon and evening, but of course it had no deterrent effect on the invited, although it gave a dreariness to the streets without, which, out of the selfishness of human nature, imparted an additional air of warmth to the spacious and splendid apartments of Gen. Noyes.

The guests were received by General Grant, Mrs. Grant and their son, General and Mrs. Noyes, Consul General Torbert and Secretary Vignaux making the introductions.

The reception drew together the largest assembly of the American colony known in years, and they compared favorably with the many European visitors present.

The refreshment tables were exquisitely arranged and well patronized, which is just how such a host as General Noyes would desire to have his sumptuous hospitality appreciated.

The Eastern War. A dispatch from Belgrade says in consequence of a violation by Croats of the Turkish frontier of Serbia a Serbian brigade has left Gradiska for Satschbar.

Gen. Melekoff has been appointed Provisional Guardian of Turkish Armenia. LONDON, Nov. 1.—It appears from a Bucharest telegram, dated last night, that an effort is being made to gain possession of the Plevna and Rihova road.

Congressional. In the Senate, yesterday, Mr. Barns introduced a bill to remove all restrictions now existing in regard to the enlistment of the colored citizen in any arm of the United States army.

James Munley, a Schuylkill county Miller, was arrested near Wilkesbarre this morning upon a charge of being accessory to the murder of Uren and Sanzer, near Pottsville, in September, 1875.