CHURCH SERVICES, &c., TO-MORROW.—CHRIST CHURCH—Service at 11 a. m. and 7 30 p. m. by Rev. Mr. Dame. Communion in the morning.

WATER PROBABILITIES.—War Department, Office of the Chief Signal Officer, Washington, D. C., Dec. 1, 1877.—10:30 a. m.—For the Middle States, rising barometer, northerly to westerly wind, clear or partly cloudy weather and in the northern portions possibly light snows are probable, with slight rise in temperature.

CITY SCHOOL BOARD.—The Board met very punctually last night—present: S. C. Nault, esq., Chairman; Messrs. Addison, Gregory, Kemper, McKeezie, Marbury and Whittington, Trustees, and the Superintendent of Schools.

THE MINUTES of the last meeting have been read and approved. Mr. Kemper, from the Committee on Schoolhouses and Parochial, reported that the division fence of the Washington building, on the south, having blown down, the committee had it repaired at a cost of $21.50, and presented bills for that and some other repairs at Washington and Peabody buildings, which were referred to the Committee on Finance and Accounts.

THE SUPERINTENDENT, from the Committee on Studies and Discipline, to whom was referred the communication of J. S. C. Dalay & Co., asking for the redemption of Blackbar & McDonald's History of the United States, reported a resolution redeeming that book until September 1, 1878, which was unanimously adopted.

MR. MCKEEZIE, from the Committee on Finance and Accounts, reported as correct two bills of Charles E. Glover, one for repairs at the Washington building, $21.50, the other for repairs at the Peabody building, $2.95, which were ordered to be paid.

MR. KEMPER, at the request of the Chairman, then offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted, viz: Resolved, That the Superintendent be requested to engage Prof. J. H. Siddons to deliver three lectures, or readings, before the public schools, at a compensation not exceeding five dollars for each reading or lecture.

THE CHAIRMAN then appointed the following special committee to visit the different schools and report their condition at the next meeting, viz: Washington School—Messrs. Kemper, S. E. Beach and Whittington; Schools—Messrs. J. S. Beach, Gregory and Burke; Hallwell and Custis Schools—Messrs. McKeezie, Whittington and Neale; Snowden School—Messrs. Addison, Marbury and Herbert.

AND, at 8 p. m., the Board adjourned.

THE POET BURNS.—There was a very good attendance at the Methodist Church last night to hear Professor Moffat's lecture on Burns, which gave great pleasure and enjoyment, and was, in fact, a great treat to all the admirers of Burns, who heard him. The Professor first gave a few introductory remarks on the poets in general, and the place and power of poetry in the intellectual development of the world.

HE characterized the bard as a great high priest of nature, her true interpreters, who grasp by intuition her most profound secrets and reveal them in sweet song. They are the heralds of the dawn, the pioneers of mind, whose thought ennobles, not themselves, but those they leave behind. In tracing the progress of human development he showed that before the philosopher reasoned the poet sang. He then gave a brief historic sketch of the poor Ayrshire peasant bard, and a close analysis of the man and his mission. He said the world was slow to comprehend true greatness; it took nearly a hundred years for those to learn Burns. At first they were dazzled by the brilliancy of his genius but they could not comprehend the man. We are just beginning to realize that those utterances, which at first were thought to emanate from a scoffer at truth, were only the protests of an earnest nature against the cold formality of the age.

HE noticed his failings and put in a plea for them with the utmost delicacy and beauty. He then showed that in accordance with the conception of the poets given in his introduction, Burns occupied one of the highest places among the songsters of the world. It was not the power of the culture bestows, but that power of one who laid his head and heart close to nature's bosom. He then read several extracts to prove his position, among them the Cotter's Saturday Night, Tam O'Shanter, his Vision, and several other exquisite pieces.

IDENTIFIED.—The hat of the man who jumped from the steamer Lady of the Lake, some week's since, and is supposed to have been drowned, has been forwarded to the Chief of Police of Philadelphia, and identified as the property of James V. Peterson, the missing man of an early age, and after various hardships finally settled in Philadelphia, where by industry and study he entered the bar and secured a handsome competency. His mysterious suicide is so far unaccounted for. He is represented to have been a man of quiet, unobtrusive and unassuming habits, and an intelligent observer of men and things, and having sounded the depths of poverty in his early life was one of the most gentle and charitable of men. It is supposed that he made the fatal plunge in some moment of aberration and under some irresistible impulse.

THE CANAL.—The work of repairing the breaks in the Georgetown level of the C. & O. Canal is being pushed forward vigorously. There are three gangs of men at work. It is proposed to work the men day and night, in order to carry out the agreement of the canal company to have the repairs completed in ten working days.

THE STATEMENT published in some of the news papers that the Alexandria Canal had been badly damaged is incorrect. That canal is in thorough order from end to end.

ABOUT fifty boats are in the Georgetown level, which will be opened in about a week. These are the only boats that can get to port this winter.

ALEXANDRIA'S HOSPITALITY.—The Central Presbyterian in an article on the late Synod in this city, says: "The Board had been expressed late Alexandria might be smothered under the effort to entertain so large a number of guests. But we judge Alexandria breathed as freely under the operation as ever, from beginning to end, and in her enjoyment of the meeting, her hearty hospitality, manifested with an elegant, hearty hospitality, and with the gratification of her guests, we certainly had, in all this respect, a good time of it. May the good seed sown in the faithful preaching of the Word spring up and ripen into precious fruits of righteousness."

COLLISION.—A collision occurred this morning, off the mouth of the Eastern Branch, between the ferry steamer City of Alexandria and a loaded schooner, bound up. The ferry boat was on her way down when the schooner undertook to cross her bows, and the steamer being on the channel bank, the collision ensued. The damage to the schooner was confined to the tearing of her masts, while her main boom carried away a considerable portion of the steamer's upper deck and joister's work, entailing a loss of about two hundred dollars.

THE WEATHER.—The weather last night was even colder than that of Friday night. The wind continued to blow from the north with considerable force until after midnight. The beach on the Maryland shore, opposite this city, was covered with ice this morning, and a few more such nights would close the river. Several of the ponds on the suburbs were sufficiently frozen over this morning to bear the weight of the boys who ventured upon them. During the day, however, the temperature moderated considerably.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—E. A. Kerby, auctioneer, sold, this morning, under a decree of the Corporation Court, the following property: Store and lot of ground at the northeast corner of Cameron and Royal streets, to O. G. Henderson for $3,600. House and lot, immediately east of the above, to John Lawson, for $1,525.

POLICE ITEMS.—There were no cases at police headquarters, this morning. Justice Padgett had before him the complaint of George Ross, colored, against several of his neighbors, for slanderous language in accusing him of marital infidelity, but the defendants proved the truth of their assertions, and the case was dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

SCALDED.—While officer Matthew Latton was looking himself, at his residence on Columbus street, yesterday, preparatory to going on duty, his little child upon a pot full of hot coffee, which was standing on the stove near by, emptying the boiling liquid on Mr. Latton's foot, and scalding him so badly as to incapacitate him for duty.

AN ALEXANDRIA CASE.—In the Circuit Court of Richmond, yesterday, in the case of the Washington and Ohio Railroad vs. the Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings Bank of Alexandria and others, a motion was made by the First National Bank of Alexandria to dissolve the injunction heretofore awarded against it. The motion was overruled.

NEW LAMP.—A handsome new lamp has been placed over the Royal street entrance to the market building and was lighted last night for the first time. It is a great improvement to that side of the building, which has heretofore been dark and difficult of access.

Local Brevities.—The schooners Julia A. Ward and Eos P. Phillips, which were swept away from the wharves of the Kennebec Ice Company, at Georgetown, during the freshet, were yesterday towed back to that company's wharves and unloaded.

In addition to those mentioned yesterday, Mr. Lewis McKeezie has presented handsome maps to Washington School, No. 1, and Lee School, No. 1.

There were ten licenses issued and eight deeds recorded in the office of the clerk of the Corporation Court during the past month.

Mr. Goode, of Va., said that Capt. J. J. Guthrie, of Norfolk, who is attached to the life-saving service, although his term of duty did not begin until Dec. 31, yet as soon as he heard of the wreck of the Huron he gathered a crew, and, animated by feelings of humanity, put out in the storm to the assistance of the wrecked vessel, and he, with others, who lost their lives in this heroic undertaking. He hoped their widows and families would be included in the bill.

The bill was, on motion of Mr. Garfield, amended so as to include the families of Capt. Guthrie and his associates, and passed unanimously.

Mr. Goode introduced a bill removing all political disabilities created by the 14th amendment, and said it was the same bill which passed the House in the 43rd Congress.

Mr. G. moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill. On this the yeas and nays were demanded. Mr. Garfield suggested an amendment that all disabilities be removed on the making of an application to the Attorney General. Mr. Goode accepted the amendment.

An attempt was made by some of the radicals to exclude the amendment, but on the suggestion of the Speaker, Mr. Goode withdrew the bill and re-introduced it with the amendment attached.

The bill, which requires by the Constitution a two third vote, was lost—yeas 99, nays 52, not two-thirds.

Garfield, Butler, Hale and other leading republicans voted "no." Mr. Jorgenson, of Va., rad., voted with his democratic colleagues, "aye."

DISABILITIES.—Mr. Goode, of Virginia, today, made an ineffectual attempt to have passed by the House, a general amnesty bill, extending to Mr. Garfield that an application should be made to the Attorney General. Notwithstanding the concession, and the assurance by Mr. Garfield that with such a modification the bill would go through, that individual and all his companions among the radicals, voted against the bill, which was defeated. How Mr. Garfield reconciles his act with his assertion is one of those things that a deep and radical can explain. The passage of the bill would have indicated a desire for peace and harmony, but that is what the radicals don't want.

Mr. Mill, of Texas, introduced a resolution to revise the tariff so as to make it solely a tariff for revenue and not to oppress one class for the benefit of the other.

Mr. Mill's resolution was lost. The House then recessed until Monday at two o'clock.

ABSENTIES.—One of the most striking evils of the present session of Congress has been the number of absentees, especially on the Democratic side. Could they be kept in their places many measures that have failed would have passed, among them the Amnesty bill.

A SQUARE DEGREE.—At the vote of the Senate early this morning on the admission of Butler Judge Davis, of Indiana, although his name was three times called, set in his seat, and did not vote, thus dodging the question. Had not Patterson and Conover stood firm, or had there been present, Butler would have been defeated.

GENERAL EPPA HUNTON, of Virginia, is absent from the House, and on all political questions is paired with Mr. Frye, of Me., Mr. Cabell, is also paired with Mr. McKinney.

LUCIAN YOUNG, ensign of the Huron, sat beside Mr. Knott in the House of Representatives today, when the Huron bill was under discussion.

From Washington. (SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1. SENATE.

The Senate met at two o'clock this afternoon, and, after the usual opening, Mr. Mitchell presented and read a long petition from Oregon, relative to ordering an investigation into Pacific Railroad matters.

Mr. Withers introduced an order referring the papers in the Hodge's case to the Committee on Revolutionary Claims. A bill authorizing the binding of Congressional documents at the cost of the member of Congress ordering the same, was called up and passed.

REPORT IN FAVOR OF EUSTIS.—Mr. Wadleigh, from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, reported a resolution that James P. Eustis is entitled to a seat as Senator from the State of Louisiana for the present Senatorial term.

Mr. Mitchell announced that the other members of the committee concurred with him in a minority report against the admission of Mr. Eustis. The reports were ordered to be placed on the calendar.

The Senate then took up the General Deficiency bill, and afterward went into executive session.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—As soon as the journal was read, the unfinished business of yesterday, the resolution in respect to suits for infringement of patents, and to prevent suits, &c., was taken up, the question being on instructions to the committee to bring in a bill, and the resolution was adopted—aye 113, noes 43.

Mr. Wood, of N. Y., introduced a joint resolution for a final adjournment at 3 p. m. to day, which was adopted.

Mr. Knott, of Ky., reported a bill for the relief of the families of the officers and seamen lost in the steamer Huron last week, and to reimburse the officers and seamen who survived the wreck with a new outfit for sea.

Gen. Garfield asked that Mr. Knott explain the bill so that the House might understand it and vote for it unaniously.

Mr. Knott explained that the bill, so far as regards the officers, gave them a sum barely sufficient to place them in statu quo as to their losses by the wreck. The bill then gives $100 to each of the seamen, which, he was informed, would barely give them a new outfit in place of that which went down with the vessel. The bill then provides for the widows, children and dependent relatives of the officers and seamen who were lost on the wreck. The residue of the bill related to the settlement of the paymaster's accounts. Similar relief bills had been passed after the wreck of the Sumpter in 1848, the Washington in 1853, the Grampus in 1854, and the Onetida in 1870. To the honor of the American Congress all these bills passed unaniously.

Mr. Garfield suggested that the crew of the live-saving station be included in the bill. Gen. Butler and Mr. Hale, of Me., supported the bill.

Mr. Goode, of Va., said that Capt. J. J. Guthrie, of Norfolk, who is attached to the life-saving service, although his term of duty did not begin until Dec. 31, yet as soon as he heard of the wreck of the Huron he gathered a crew, and, animated by feelings of humanity, put out in the storm to the assistance of the wrecked vessel, and he, with others, who lost their lives in this heroic undertaking.
