

Alexandria Gazette

TUESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 12

A FEROCEOUS DUEL.—At Bodie, Mono county, on Tuesday afternoon, Jack Braslan and a man named Blair, who have for some time been in partnership in their business of mining and prospecting, met in the barroom of Pollock's boarding house and commenced an angry dispute concerning the term of a certain location they had recently made. They were both under the influence of liquor, Braslan more so than Blair. After quarreling for some time Blair exclaimed that he was "chief," which claim Blair disputed, saying that he was willing to fight him at any distance, from a handkerchief to forty paces. This challenge Braslan, whose pistol and belt were lying on the floor a short distance from him, accepted, asking for time to "heel himself," which he proceeded to do by bucking on his belt. The two men went out in the street, appearing more pleasantly disposed toward one another than they had been at any other time during the day. Placing themselves less than eight feet apart, at a signal from one they both fired effectively, Blair being struck in the shoulder, and Braslan in the side. After the first shot they both returned to the barroom and Blair started around the corner of the house, where he secured another pistol from an aqua stance, with which he returned to the barroom and shot Braslan in the abdomen, inflicting a wound of which Braslan died in about fifteen minutes. Blair returned to the barroom and Blair started around the corner of the house, where he secured another pistol from an aqua stance, with which he returned to the barroom and shot Braslan in the abdomen, inflicting a wound of which Braslan died in about fifteen minutes. Blair returned to the barroom and Blair started around the corner of the house, where he secured another pistol from an aqua stance, with which he returned to the barroom and shot Braslan in the abdomen, inflicting a wound of which Braslan died in about fifteen minutes.

The Alexandria Gazette

Already read by three generations, now enters into its SEVENTY-NINTH VOLUME.

Few newspapers in the country have lived so long; nowhere enjoyed more the confidence of the people.

The GAZETTE will put forth its utmost endeavor to continue a model newspaper, and its success during this entire century in catering to the wants and meeting the wishes of the people, guarantees that with this paper promise means performance.

Washington is now the point to which all eyes look and all ears are directed. Almost at the base of the Capital, and yet in a Virginia town, amid a community which has proved its faithfulness to Virginia in more than one fiery trial; surrounded by the traditions and hopes of the Commonwealth, the Gazette has a position unique among journals and promises to continue worthy of it.

Its contiguity to Washington gives it an early precedence over all the journals of the State in intelligence of the operations of the General Government, now of such vital importance to the people.

The proceedings of Congress will be regularly reported in succinct form for its columns, but all matters of special interest to Virginia will be given in detail. Two gentlemen connected with the paper are constantly at the Federal capital, and the Washington news of the Gazette has for a long time been the fountain of Washington news for the State.

As the interests of the people mainly centre at home, no pains will be spared to chronicle all matters occurring in their different with the care that the only thieftly and neighborhood justify excluding unseemly expressions or gross narrative as unfit for a journal that is treasured at many thousand hearthstones of Virginia.

From the State Capital it will receive early and accurate accounts of the proceedings of the General Assembly and of all the operations of the State government likely to interest the people.

Special attention will be devoted to presenting, as well from original sources of information as from its exchanges, the news of Virginia. Concisely and completely it will give the news of the world.

In its Commercial columns the special feature will be promptness and accuracy. The farmers, drovers and commercial people of the State know they MAY DEPEND upon the Gazette.

Early and reliable reports of the Grain, Cattle, Grocery and other markets will be furnished, and the prices and position of the stocks, which are the subjects of business transactions in this section of the country, carefully quoted.

The continual favors of those who have once used the Gazette as an advertising medium is a warrant for saying that it pays to advertise in its columns.

During all this period its prominent object has been to advance the interests of the people of whose life it is the daily chronicle. Its fortunes have been their fortunes; it has shared their prosperity and suffered in their disasters. Its inspiration has been the desire to forward the best interests of the community in which it is located, and its own prosperity is, as it has been purposely made, inseparable from that of the community it aims to represent.

When they grow rich it hopes for a reward commensurate with its labors. While they are poor it expects to work with them and for them, expecting to make their success the measure of its own.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION. DAILY—One year $6; six months $3; three months $1.50; one month 50c.

TRI-WEEKLY—One year $6; six months $3.50; three months $1.25.
