To the Memory of Miss Laura Virginia Summers, Deceased, March 22, 1879.

Happy, bliss, and sainted Laura,
Now all thy pain is o'er;
Resting in thy Heavenly mansion,
Sole on the other shore—
Resting sweetly with thy Saviour,
His whom thou didst adore;
How blest, to know that thou wilt dwell
With Him, forever more.

We see thee by the eye of faith,
In thy new home above;
Clothed with the robes that angels wear,
Thy face aglow with love.
We see thee wave the victor's palm,
Among the Heavenly throng;
Thy ransomed soul with glory crowned,
Thy tongue attuned to song.

Then plume thy wings, dear Laura,
Fly o'er the Heavenly plain;
Thus sweetly soaring to thy flight—
I'll know you more of pain.
I'm free from all earth's care and toil;
Dear Lord, to earth with thee
Is more of bliss than Satan can tell,
Throughout eternity.

MAUD.

The Fashions.

The coming season is the spring.
Lace is the feature this spring in millinery.
Suzette's of all kinds are revived for spring wraps.
No toilet is complete without a jacket of some kind.
Shirred linings for bonnet brims take precedence of all others.

Black net and black lace bonnets are the vogue of the moment in Paris.
Satin and French bustle make a beautiful combination for walking suits.
High frills and lace collars will be the leading styles for neckwear this spring.

French bustling takes precedence of all other semi-dressmaking spring fashions.
For certain styles of beauty gay Chinese silks and toulars make lovely morning robes.
Albatross, Norwalk, and Lorraine buff ruffs are favorites of fashionable courtiers.

The latest novelties in shoes are the Henri Trois and the Catherine de Medici soles.
Parisian coiffures are still in vogue on the back of the head, or rather on the cap of the head.

Durby hats and ulsters should be worn only in the country and on mountain pedestrian tours.
Pretty stockings and low shoes have become a top apparel; last as a pair of bouc ladies' toilets.

Delicate lace clocked stockings should always be worn over another pair of tatted silk or L's thread.
Novelties in shoes have L. H. Quin's hat and many straps across the instep, with bows and buckles.

Bretton lace drapery softening all around bonnet crowns, and then form the strings of many bonnets.
All sorts of hats, bonnets, turbans and caps are in vogue this spring for outdoor as well as indoor wear.

Many new bonnets have the crown entirely covered with flowers, and fit on the chin, jaw or foundation.
Cocoons in trimmings and pinups of costumes are given preference over shawl of the previous season.

Worth makes his walking dresses much shorter for Paris than for America women.
White and colored Canton craps, bonnets, trimmed with flowers, fashions and last, appear at the openings among other millinery novelties.

Broad brimmed hats are more suitable for our bright, warm American summers, than English round hats, and are much more to be desired.
Gypsy bonnets have large flowing brims raised in front, and down at the sides, and falling on the neck, after being partially raised in the back.

USE OF THE LEMON.—The lemon is a necessity in every house. The following is given as one of its uses: A piece of lemon on a corn will relieve it in a day or so. It should be renewed night and morning. The free use of lemon juice and sugar will always relieve a cough. A lemon eaten before breakfast every day for a week or two will entirely prevent the falling of the hair.

HER SOCIETY.
A little mole is growing I shan,
Just underneath my chin;
It gives me such great, do, do, John,
I'm growing pale and thin.
Another one is coming I shan,
Just here beneath my ear,
And I will be disgraced, John,
For life, I say I fear.
Oh so I want to know you, John,
Will you let your love grow on?
Oh answer me at once dear John,
Will you love me when I'm not?
