

PUBLISHED DAILY AND TRI-WEEKLY BY EDGAR SNOWDEN THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 10, 1870

It is rumored that an agreement has been entered into by several of the European nations...

A Paris journal informs its readers that Lincoln was assassinated by a strolling player named S. Wilkes Booth...

And now they are to have elevated railroads in Philadelphia. As one on terra firma failed here some time ago...

This is the season of the year when conventions, associations, reunions, anniversaries, &c., are at their zenith...

We are no advocates of the use of unparliamentary language, especially on the floor of the Senate...

We trust that the evidences of mid summer madness that are beginning to manifest themselves on the floors of Congress...

The captain of a mud scow was fined heavily, in New York, yesterday, for dumping his load in the harbor of that city...

The July number of Scribner's Magazine, with an interesting table of contents, and no slurs upon the South or southern institutions, has been received...

CATHOLIC PROGRESS.—The dedication of the new Catholic Cathedral in New York suggests to the London Saturday Review...

At the late Episcopal Church council in Fredericksburg, Va., a valuable ring was dropped in the contribution box...

KILLING LOCKS BY THE WHOLESALE.—A lighthouse keeper, near the mouth of the Potomac, has devised an ingenious plan...

ECHEBERG! ECHEBERG! ECHEBERG!—Barrage! Barrage! Barrage! Rusli! Rusli! Rusli! is all the opinion here...

S. DEALHAM has just returned from New York, and has now the best and most select stock of CLOTHING, HATS and GENTS' FURNISHINGS...

5 BOXES PRIME MESSINA LEMONS received to day and for sale very low by my 16 J. C. MILBURN.

CANNED MOUNTAIN SUGAR CORN AND GREEN PEAS received to-day by my 16 J. C. MILBURN.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Alexandria has been the best corn market in or out of the State this season. The trial of Jamison, for killing Ream, at Culpeper Court-house, will take place in July...

The first new wheat of the season, being 100 bushels of prime Palz red, was sold in Richmond yesterday, at $1.28 per bushel.

Norfolk has asked the Navy Department for a vessel on which to place persons infected with contagious diseases who may arrive at that port.

An adjourned meeting of the stockholders of the Paquier White Sulphur Springs Company is to be held in Warrenton, on Saturday the 28th.

Mr. John W. Booker, one of the most popular young men in Richmond, died here yesterday after a long and painful illness.

Revolution is rampant in Mexico, and anarchy is feared next year on account of the multiplicity of presidential candidates.

General W. H. Payne, of Fauquier, is to go to the House of Delegates as the "flatter" from Fauquier and Loudoun.

A talking tournament is proposed after the walking business winds up, so that the ladies can participate.

A Paris journal informs its readers that Lincoln was assassinated by a strolling player named S. Wilkes Booth.

And now they are to have elevated railroads in Philadelphia. As one on terra firma failed here some time ago...

This is the season of the year when conventions, associations, reunions, anniversaries, &c., are at their zenith.

We are no advocates of the use of unparliamentary language, especially on the floor of the Senate.

We trust that the evidences of mid summer madness that are beginning to manifest themselves on the floors of Congress...

The captain of a mud scow was fined heavily, in New York, yesterday, for dumping his load in the harbor of that city.

The July number of Scribner's Magazine, with an interesting table of contents, and no slurs upon the South or southern institutions, has been received.

CATHOLIC PROGRESS.—The dedication of the new Catholic Cathedral in New York suggests to the London Saturday Review...

At the late Episcopal Church council in Fredericksburg, Va., a valuable ring was dropped in the contribution box.

KILLING LOCKS BY THE WHOLESALE.—A lighthouse keeper, near the mouth of the Potomac, has devised an ingenious plan...

ECHEBERG! ECHEBERG! ECHEBERG!—Barrage! Barrage! Barrage! Rusli! Rusli! Rusli! is all the opinion here.

S. DEALHAM has just returned from New York, and has now the best and most select stock of CLOTHING, HATS and GENTS' FURNISHINGS...

5 BOXES PRIME MESSINA LEMONS received to day and for sale very low by my 16 J. C. MILBURN.

CANNED MOUNTAIN SUGAR CORN AND GREEN PEAS received to-day by my 16 J. C. MILBURN.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette. WASHINGTON, D. C. June 10, 1870.

The whole interest not only at the Capitol but in the whole city today was centered in the Senate, and the rumors about the probable result of the presidential election...

Mr. Logan made a speech in the afternoon, and his party did not sustain him, and the motion was carried.

In the House of Representatives, yesterday, the "judicial expenses" bill was reported from the appropriation committee.

The House then returned to one of the jury rooms in the court house and subsequently to their room at the hotel.

Lily Duer occupied the same seat within the bar where she has sat since the trial began.

A WONDERFUL STORY OF CHOPIN.—It is related that Frederic Chopin could always quiet his father's people, no matter how much noise they were making in the house.

AN ECCENTRIC CHARACTER.—Captain Calvin Ball, who recently died in Somers, Mass., at the age of 94, was one of the most eccentric farmers in Western Massachusetts.

AN INCIDENT.—The way of the suspected is hard in St. Petersburg. Among the indiscriminate arrests made during April was that of a clerk in a Government department.

THE HOUSE.—The House to-day, after listening to a speech from Mr. Giddiss in opposition to the report of the conference committee...

APPOINTMENTS.—Among the nominations sent to the Senate to-day by the President were those of Mr. Mc Crary, formerly postmaster of the Senate, and Mr. Robinson, who preserved the late Secretary Seward's life from the assassin's knife...

NO DECISION.—The H. U. Election Committee to-day had under consideration the Indiana contested election case of McCab against Oth, the sitting member.

THE INDIAN CASE.—Notwithstanding the assertions of some of the members of the election committee of the Senate yesterday to the contrary, a determination was arrived at with reference to the Logan case.

WHY OF COURSE WE DO THE BUSINESS.—We have the largest stock, the best goods and the lowest prices. All alive at I. EICHEBERG, Successor to Slaymaker Co.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Ex-Senator Bismarck, of Connecticut, is ill of erysipelas.

The workmen's municipal convention at San Francisco, yesterday, nominated Rev. Isaac S. Kalloc, pastor of the Metropolitan Baptist Church, for mayor.

The Lexington Enterprise states that since the operation on Hon. J. Ran. Tuckey's eye a cataract has formed in the other eye, which, while it does not at present affect his vision, will necessitate another operation at some future time.

The California republican State convention yesterday adopted a platform affirming that Congress should regulate freights and fares in inter-State commerce.

The Governor of Minnesota was summoned at midnight Tuesday night to Tracy mines, at the terminus of the Hastings and Dakota railroad, to suppress a riot.

In the House of Representatives, yesterday, the "judicial expenses" bill was reported from the appropriation committee.

SNOW HILL, Md., June 10.—The jury in the case of Lily Duer for the homicide of Elia Hearne came into Court at 9:15 a. m.

Gravelly Sickers, the foreman, when called, answered "Guilty of murder with recommendation to the mercy of the Court."

Judge Wilson informed him that the verdict must be formal and the reply must not be guilty of murder, but guilty of manslaughter.

The formal answer was made, but before the clerk recorded the verdict, Mr. Gilfield, of the counsel for defense, demanded a poll of the jury.

Judge Wilson then said as the jury had not agreed they would again have to retire to further consider.

The jury then retired to one of the jury rooms in the court house and subsequently to their room at the hotel.

Lily Duer occupied the same seat within the bar where she has sat since the trial began.

A WONDERFUL STORY OF CHOPIN.—It is related that Frederic Chopin could always quiet his father's people, no matter how much noise they were making in the house.

AN ECCENTRIC CHARACTER.—Captain Calvin Ball, who recently died in Somers, Mass., at the age of 94, was one of the most eccentric farmers in Western Massachusetts.

AN INCIDENT.—The way of the suspected is hard in St. Petersburg. Among the indiscriminate arrests made during April was that of a clerk in a Government department.

THE HOUSE.—The House to-day, after listening to a speech from Mr. Giddiss in opposition to the report of the conference committee...

APPOINTMENTS.—Among the nominations sent to the Senate to-day by the President were those of Mr. Mc Crary, formerly postmaster of the Senate, and Mr. Robinson, who preserved the late Secretary Seward's life from the assassin's knife...

NO DECISION.—The H. U. Election Committee to-day had under consideration the Indiana contested election case of McCab against Oth, the sitting member.

THE INDIAN CASE.—Notwithstanding the assertions of some of the members of the election committee of the Senate yesterday to the contrary, a determination was arrived at with reference to the Logan case.

WHY OF COURSE WE DO THE BUSINESS.—We have the largest stock, the best goods and the lowest prices. All alive at I. EICHEBERG, Successor to Slaymaker Co.

A Scene in the Senate.

In the Senate last night, after numerous votes, in which an apparent want of a quorum was shown by republican Senators refraining from voting, and scenes of confusion and disorder, Mr. White being in the chair, and the roll having been called on a motion to adjourn, Mr. Blaine humorously remarked that he would like to have Mr. Eaton's reasons for not voting.

Mr. Eaton said he did vote.

Mr. Blaine said that the Clerk had not read his name as voting, and moved that Mr. Eaton be required to vote.

The Chair said that, upon Mr. Eaton's assurance that he had voted, his vote would be recorded.

Mr. Blaine, O which side?

The Presiding Officer, inasmuch as the Senator from Connecticut votes so regularly with the democrats, I presume his vote will be recorded on that side.

Mr. Blaine, I would like to know how the Senator's vote is recorded.

The Presiding Officer. The clerk will again call the Senator from Connecticut.

The clerk called Mr. Eaton's name?

Mr. Eaton. How is my vote recorded?

The Presiding Officer. It is recorded in the negative.

Mr. Eaton. That is correct.

Mr. Blaine. By what authority is it recorded in the Journal?

The Presiding Officer. The Chair cannot state by what authority the clerk performs his duty.

A long and heated discussion ensued, Mr. Blaine insisting that the method by which Mr. Eaton's vote was recorded was unparliamentary.

There was great confusion. Several Senators were on the floor at once, Mr. Salsbury demanding that the Sergeant at Arms be instructed to remove Mr. Blaine unless he came to order, and was himself called to order by the Chair.

Mr. Blaine appealed from the decision of the chair that the vote of Mr. Eaton was correctly recorded.

A motion was made to table the appeal.

Mr. McMillan, speaking to the motion, was called to order for saying that the Chair had instructed the clerk to record Mr. Eaton's vote in the negative.

Mr. Blaine said there would have to be a democratic quorum before a decision of the chair involving such an unprecedented departure from parliamentary procedure could be sustained.

Senators were required to vote by yeas and nays, and were not recorded in the negative or affirmative because some one else voted another way.

The Chair stated that it was shown that Mr. Eaton had voted in the negative, and the reporter had heard and recorded it, though the clerk had not.

After further debate the vote was taken on the motion to table the appeal. There was no quorum. A recess of ten minutes was ordered, during which Mr. Eaton returned.

At 10 p. m. Mr. White said [Mr. Cockrell being in the chair]: "As there seems to be no end to this filibustering, I move to adjourn." [Cries of "No!" "No!" from both sides.]

Mr. Blaine. I want this appeal settled first. [On a division the yeas were 18, nays 16.]

The Chair. "The yeas have it, and the Senate stands." There was a vociferous demand for the yeas and nays, Mr. Blaine saying he wanted the names of those who would adjourn without a vote on his appeal.

Upon the roll being called the motion to adjourn was lost.

At 10:30 p. m. Mr. Hill, of Ga., said he had taken no part in the proceedings to-night. He regretted the misunderstanding, and thought the gentleman entitled to the floor, Mr. Cockrell, should be allowed to go on in the morning without limitation. With the kindest feelings for both sides, he moved to adjourn. Lost.

At 11:30 p. m. the situation was unchanged and no intention to compromise was shown on either side. An occasional motion to direct the Sergeant at Arms to summon absentees led to a running discussion of the rules.

Mr. Herford said, under the rulings of the Chair the thing would continue to go round and round all night.

Mr. Cockrell. It is a revolution. [Laughter.] Mr. Herford. Yes, you are engaged in a revolution, and we are trying to get out of it.

Mr. Burdette. If it is in order, I will ask why we are staying here?

There was no election this year except in California and Westchester. This state was very palpable. If the President should die he would have to sign another like bill passed at the next session, and at next year there are elections. He was glad to accept the responsibility for any proceeding—call it obstruction or anything else—to prevent the passage of such a bill without debate to show the real cause.

Mr. Cockrell having charged the other side with bad faith in not allowing the time taken up by the Mississippi River Commission bill this morning to be allowed in the debate on the army bill, Mr. Lamar rose at the conclusion of Mr. Cockrell's remarks and said that after any intimation of bad faith to him was conveyed, he had lived in vain if he was not superior to such a charge from such a source. It is not my purpose, he said, to indulge in personalities, but I will say to the Senate in parentheses, but I intend to intimate that anything I have done was not in good faith. I pronounce his statements a falsehood which I repeat with all the vomitigated contempt that I feel for the author of it.

Mr. Cockrell, who had been walking slowly back and forth behind the benches, returned to his seat, and said: "Mr. President, I was diverted during the commencement of the remarks the objection of which I heard from the member from Mississippi. If I understood the member right, he intended to impugn, and did in plain unparliamentary language, attempt to me an intentional misstatement—[Pause.] I cannot do so. I intended, in so there can be no mistake."

The Presiding Officer [Mr. Cockrell] called Mr. Lamar to order, and Mr. Cockrell proceeded: "Whether I am willing to respond to the member from Mississippi depends entirely upon what that member intended to say, and he did say, and for the time being I do not choose to hold any communication with him. I understood the Senator to state in plain unparliamentary language that the statement of mine to which he refers was falsehood. If I thought his words right, I have only to say, 'so be it,' and to measure with my own capacity to violate decency, to violate the rules of the Senate, or to commit any of the improprieties of life, I have only to say that if the Senator—the member—from Mississippi did impute or intend to impute to me a falsehood, nothing except the fact that this is the Senate would prevent my denouncing him as a blackguard and a coward. [Applause and hisses.] Let me be more specific. Mr. President, should the member from Mississippi, except to the presence of the Senate, charge me with any falsehood or otherwise with falsehood, I would not permit him as a blackguard, as a coward and a liar, to make the charge in the presence of the Senate, or to restrain upon me. I do not think I need say anything else, Mr. President. [Applause and hisses.]"

The Chair demanded quiet in the gallery.

Mr. Lamar—I have only to say that the Senator from New York understood me correctly. I did mean to say just precisely the words and all that they implied. I beg the pardon of the Senate for the unparliamentary language. It was very harsh; it was severe; it was such as no good man would desire, and no brave man would wear. [Renewed demonstrations of approval and disapproval.]

The Chair. The galleries will be cleared up on repetition of applause.

Mr. Cockrell. What is the question before the Senate?

The discussion of the power to read for absent Senators was resumed. At one a. m. there seemed to be no prospect of adjournment.

At 1:30 a. m. Mr. Thurman made a brief argument upon the rules. He held that a Senator cannot be compelled to vote under extenuated rules. When the Democrats were only a dozen against fifty or sixty in the Senate they often delayed a vote, but they did it by much talking, not by breaking up a quorum. He had never before seen filibustering like that of to-night in the Senate. He was very sorry to see it now. It was not worthy of the decorum of the body. But every Senator must settle the matter with his own conscience.

At 2:15 a. m. the situation remained unchanged.

At 2:35 a. m. another call of the Senate was ordered, and the Sergeant at Arms was directed to require the attendance of absentees.

Pending the report of the Sergeant at Arms business was suspended, and the Senators gathered in groups and discussed the incidents of the evening.

Army of the Potomac. ALBANY, N. Y., June 10.—At the banquet of the society of the Army of the Potomac which was given at the Federal House last night there were present about 200 guests, including all the distinguished persons in the city from abroad, and many leading citizens of Albany.

THE JUDICIAL BILL.—The Judicial Bill, as agreed to in conference, has been very materially modified by the Democrats. In its final form it places no restriction upon expending money under title 26 being that which refers to election laws, except in the case of deputy marshals. It prohibits their appointments and their payment, the proviso applying to this year alone. It allows all other expenditures under this title. Supervisors can be appointed and paid under another law. Many Democrats think the President will sign this, but the Republicans regard it as certain that he will veto it. His own friends say that, while it pretends to contain only a very slight restriction, it really nullifies the law in that it leaves the supervisors without any legal protection or any means of getting them by the government. [Washington Ball Room.]

THE REFORMED CHURCH.—The death of Thomas H. Powers, the millhouse droggist of Philadelphia, has left the various congregations of the Reformed Episcopal Church hopelessly in debt to the estate. The executors and trustees of the estate find mortgages amounting to $100,000 against church buildings in all parts of the country. They have no disposition to pay for the money, but in the absence of any directions in the will of the deceased in relation to this indebtedness, they are required by law to recover the amount and hold it in trust for the minor heirs of the estate.

KILLING LOCKS BY THE WHOLESALE.—A lighthouse keeper, near the mouth of the Potomac, has devised an ingenious plan for the slaughter of ducks and geese which light on a scaffold near his station. He has a battery of twelve market army fastened to two heavy timbers, six above and six below; these are heavily loaded and connected with the lighthouse by a long wire cable. As soon as he sees geese enough he pulls his cable and explodes all the guns, and then takes his skill and picks up the game. His most successful shot was two year ago, him thirty three geese.—Shoo Hill Messenger.

Very many of the healthiest people keep themselves in such condition by the occasional use of a reliable Cathartic, and they give the preference to Dr. Bull's Baltimore Pills, as more fully serving their purpose than any other similar remedy.

ECHEBERG! ECHEBERG! ECHEBERG!—Barrage! Barrage! Barrage! Rusli! Rusli! Rusli! is all the opinion here. Go and see the im-reese stock. He is just getting in a full line of Dress Goods, Selling off cheap.—cheap. is 27

S. DEALHAM has just returned from New York, and has now the best and most select stock of CLOTHING, HATS and GENTS' FURNISHINGS ever brought to this city; as astonishing low prices.

5 BOXES PRIME MESSINA LEMONS received to day and for sale very low by my 16 J. C. MILBURN.

CANNED MOUNTAIN SUGAR CORN AND GREEN PEAS received to-day by my 16 J. C. MILBURN.