

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 8, 1882.

No MATTER how the radicals talk, they always look after the main chance, and never allow such a sentiment as gratitude to interfere with the accomplishment of their schemes.

NOW THAT the summer has come, complaints about water are beginning to be heard in many of the cities of the country.

It is reported that the chief opposition among democrats to the proposition to make Mr. Massey the democratic candidate for Congressman-at-large, comes from the friends of men heretofore occupying prominent places in their party.

It is a noticeable fact that of the thousands of men now "on a strike" throughout the North nearly all were engaged in the manufacture of cotton, wool, flax, iron, silk and pottery.

THE RADICALS are not constant to their faith. "Loyalty," a few years ago, was their chief fetish, but that they have now utterly abandoned it is made apparent daily in Virginia by the large number of consistent "Union men" who have been and are being removed from federal offices to make places for such "rebels" as have followed General Mahone into the radical camp.

NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that Thomas Jefferson, in writing his own epitaph, and that, too, during the life time of other signers of the Declaration of Independence, stated that he was the author of that illustrious paper, there are men in the North who now ascribe its authorship to John Dickinson.

ATTORNEY GENERAL BLAIR and Speaker Fowler both announce themselves republicans. They at least are bold enough to avow their apostasy and brave enough to bear its consequences, and Senators Mahone and Riddleberger and the other democratic renegades would appear in a better light if they were to follow their example.

WE HAVE received an invitation to attend the final debate of the debating society of Potomac Academy, in this city, on the evening of the 9th, at the Academy building.

AND so the radicals, notwithstanding all their professed regard for the interest of Virginia, determined at their caucus last night to retain the internal revenue tax on Virginia's staple, tobacco, but to remove it from bank checks.

THERE is at least one favorably thing that can be said about Messrs. Burke and Parker—their memory is not impaired. Neither of them forgot to carry percussion caps to the "field of honor."

THE CATALOGUE of the University of Virginia for the session 1881-'82 has been received. Among the three hundred and twenty-six matriculates all the Southern States are represented except Louisiana, of the Northern States, New York, California, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, also have representatives among the students.

FOREIGN NEWS. It is now said that the coronation of the Czar has not been postponed, and that it will take place at Moscow on or about Sept. 7 of the present year.

A telegram from Caprera announces that the family of General Garibaldi have decided to abandon the cremation of his body, owing to the practical difficulties in the way of its accomplishment. The remains will be interred provisionally, at least, at Caprera on Thursday.

Dervish Pacha arrived at Alexandria, Egypt, yesterday. It is thought that if his mission fails, Arabi will openly defy the Porte. The English and French ambassadors at Constantinople have informed the Porte that their governments do not consider the holding of a conference of the powers necessary because a Turkish commission has been sent to Cairo.

FROM WASHINGTON. (Special Correspondence of the Alex. Gazette.) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—T. C. Taylor, C. M. Webber, James Frazier, J. G. Watts, Messrs. Gibson, Pomphrey, and other Mahone leaders in their respective counties, have been sent for by General Mahone, and some of them are now here, to consult about the approaching Congressional campaign in Virginia. The General, it is said, has about perfected his plan to defeat Fulkerson in the 9th district of that State. That plan is understood to be to run Messrs. Wood, of Scott; Bowen and Barnes, of Tazewell; Pendleton or Boyd and Pat McCaull and combine their votes in the convention after the manner of the Holiday nomination. McCaull, who lost his own county a year or two ago, is said to be the General's choice, and it is also said that Wood, Pendleton and Bowen are willing to get local delegations for themselves and deliver them to McCaull in convention. This information comes from those who don't talk with their tongues and effectually puts to rest the recent current rumors about a reconciliation of the political difference between Gen. Mahone and Mr. Fulkerson; and it may be said that such rumors were never believed by those who are aware of the implacability of the General's disposition.

Genlemen living along the line of the Virginia railroads leading to this city, and in the counties bordering upon the Potomac, all concur in the opinion that the wheat crop looks better than at any corresponding period for many previous years.

The House to-day, almost without opposition, passed a bill to amend the pension laws by increasing the pensions of soldiers and sailors who have lost an arm or a leg in the service to $40 a month. It has heretofore been $24. Senator Johnston, when asked if he thought the bill would pass the Senate also, replied, "Yes, I suppose so, anything passes that is nominally for the benefit of the soldiers." The pension list is now the heaviest expense the country has to bear, and this bill will increase it greatly.

At the caucus of the republican members of the House held last night Mr. Page, of California, threatened to bring up the question of the internal revenue bill, and being called to task for his threat by Mr. Bayne, told that gentleman that he would not be lectured by any one, and especially not by one who was in open revolt against his own party in his own State. Mr. Bayne is a prominent member of the half-breed and anti-Cameron party in Pennsylvania.

From Baltimore we find posted in the affairs of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company it is learned that those affairs could not be in a worse condition than they are. The company, it is said, has not paid its employees for the last six months, all the money it has, $16,000, has been attached in the Baltimore banks, the third default in the company on the $500,000 loan will occur on the 1st of next month, and as the mortgage is then liable to foreclosure, and as most of those bonds are held by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and as the interests of that road are diametrically opposed to those of the canal, it is not improbable that that foreclosure may be effected and the canal also be closed.

Private dispatches from Cumberland are to the effect that the prospect is exceedingly poor for any coal business this season, but exceedingly favorable for a disturbance at the mines next week between the strikers and the new hands, as the former seeking more of the latter coming in and working steadily, are thinking about resorting to more active means to stop them than they have hitherto been employing. It is also said that so far from the strike being a conflict between labor and capital, it is one between capital and capital, as the strikers are supported from the treasury of a hundred thousand Knights of Labor, have plenty of money, and that when they went to pay their house rent last month almost all of them produced fifty-dollar bills.

Mr. Buell, the editor of the Critic and Capital of this city, who was summoned to appear before the Senate Whiskey investigating committee to-day and substantiate the charges he had made in his papers against certain parties in connection with the passage of the Whiskey bill by the House, surprised the committee and all the spectators by doing up all knowledge of the subject and saying that he did not write under a pen, but in a pickwickian sense. Mr. Hiley, a member of the committee, asked him why he thought it a joking matter to be publishing people as thieves and liars, and if somebody were to publish him as a thief and liar would he consider it in the light of a joke? To this he replied that he opposed he would. Mr. Hill, the correspondent of the Louisville Commercial, whose letter originated the affair, endorsed every word he had written, said he had heard it all, and that the men who had told him must bear the blame of their vain pretention to important influence.

The following Virginia postmaster were commissioned to-day: Sarah A. Pumphrey, Ashland, Hanover co.; W. Taylor, Dover Mines, Goodrich co.; and C. W. Greever, Baptist Valley, Taylor co.

A caucus of the democratic Senators has been called to meet immediately after the Senate adjourns to-day for the purpose of it is stated of considering what is best to be done in regard to the Tariff Commission.

It is stated here by Marylanders that at the last meeting of the stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company the proceedings could not have been more satisfactory to Mr. Gorman if he had planned them beforehand.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.—Mr. George Moore holds to the opinion that the Declaration of Independence was written by John Dickinson, and the tangible evidence which he gives in support of this opinion is what he calls the "original draft" of the instrument. Dickinson declared that he wrote it, but Jefferson made a declaration on the same subject inconsistent with the truth of Dickinson's claim, and Jefferson's authority is at least as good as Dickinson's. Other evidence, therefore, is necessary, and it is pretended that a copy of the document in Dickinson's handwriting is satisfactory evidence on this point.

NEWS OF THE DAY. "To show the very age and body of the Times." Hanlan, the oarsman, is ill at Toronto, Canada. Guiteau has received a letter from Mrs. Scoville saying she will not relax her efforts to save him.

Nearly half of the Baltimore and Potomac line to Washington has been double-tracked. The United States Senate yesterday agreed to the House resolution regarding the death of Garibaldi.

It was stated at the session of the Grand Lodge of Masons in New York yesterday that Garibaldi, while in this country, was made a Mason.

The twelfth annual conference of the Secretaries' Association of the Young Men's Christian Associations of America assembled at New Haven yesterday.

A. J. Cassatt, first vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, yesterday announced that he would tender his resignation in October next.

Wm. H. Ramsar, superintendent of the New York Unsectarian Home, is under arrest, charged by a coroner's jury with manslaughter of children in the institution.

Rev. Mother St. Bernard, superior of the congregation of Notre Dame, at Montreal, has been elected superior of the convents throughout Canada and the United States of that order.

Fifty applicants for admission have arrived at West Point, and there has been but one rejection, that of Clarence Rupert Stearns, of Michigan, on account of physical weakness.

The Manchester, Eng., Chamber of Commerce recommends that the influence of the British embassy at Washington be brought to bear against the practice of adulterating cotton.

Senator Ben Hill and family arrived in Louisville late last night, and went to Atlanta this morning. The Senator's son says his father will be in the Senate before the close of the session.

In the Senate yesterday the resolution to pay the administratrix of John C. Underwood $5,000 in full compensation for his time and expense in prosecuting his claim to a seat in the Senate from Virginia was laid aside without action after a statement from Senator Cockrell that at the time of his pretended election Underwood was a judge of the United States court, and receiving a salary as such.

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate yesterday, to members of the Tariff Commission: Wm. A. Wheeler, of New York (chairman); John L. Hayes, of Massachusetts; Henry W. Oliver, Jr., of Pennsylvania; Austin M. Garland, III, of Missouri; Robert P. Porter, of District of Columbia; John W. H. Underwood, of Georgia; Duncan F. Kenner, of Louisiana. The nominations, while looked upon as highly protective, are thought to be exceedingly weak.

The republican State convention of Ohio yesterday nominated Charles Townsend secretary of State, John H. Doyle for judge of Supreme Court, and C. A. Flickenger as a member of the board of public works. Resolutions were adopted expressing confidence in the present administration, endorsing Gov. Foster, affirming the principle of protection, and recommending the revision of the constitution so that by specific taxation the liquor traffic may be made to bear its share of public burdens through congressional regulation. The greenback State convention also made nominations.

The North Carolina liberal or anti-prohibition convention met at Raleigh yesterday. Out of the 200 delegates only one-fourth were democrats. Oliver H. Dockery, republican, was nominated for Congressman at large. Resolutions were adopted opposing sumptuary laws and demanding the repeal of the prohibition law passed by the last Legislature, favoring a liberal system of public instruction, and urging the application of the fund from the tax on distilled spirits to the general government to the support of common schools. It is thought the republican convention on the 14th will endorse the nominations.

FREDERICKSBURG is about to expend between $2,000 and $5,000 on a new poor house. Hon. John S. Barbour, Gen. W. H. Payne, and the unanimous democratic delegation in the Legislature from the counties composing this Congressional district, all openly favor the Massey movement.

Among the graduates from Virginia, at the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, were Lewis Nixon, W. R. M. Field and Hammond Fowler, as Cadet Midshipmen, and James H. Pitts, as Cadet Engineer.

A letter from Judge O'Ferrall, of Rockingham, says that public sentiment among the democrats in that section of State seems to favor the policy of nominating Massey for Congressman-at-large. The Judge will be a candidate for the nomination for Congressman in the 7th district against Paul.

Pleasant Hicks, who lived on Dr. McCandish's farm, in Henrico, about seven miles from Richmond, was found Tuesday in a friend's house near the city, where he retired late Monday night, lying lifeless, with his head in the fire. It is supposed that he had a fit and fell over in the fireplace and was burned to death. His clothing was on fire when he was discovered.

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES. To-day's Congressional Proceedings. SENATE. The Senate soon after 1 o'clock dispensed with the calendar and resumed the consideration of the District Appropriation bill.

On motion of Mr. Curtin, of Pa., a bill was passed increasing to $40 per month the pension of any person who in the late war, test an arm, leg or foot, or received disabilities equal thereto.

The House, at 11:15, went into committee of the whole, and resumed the consideration of the general deficiency appropriation bill.

Salvation Troops Arrested. PATERSON, N. J., June 8.—A detachment of the Salvation Army here have been in the habit of marching through the streets on Saturday evenings singing a song to which the refrain was "Right, left, right, left; the Lord is right and the Devil is left." The 3d ward in Paterson contains some very religious residents, and when the Salvation Army on Sunday last paraded their streets singing the above refrain and songs to the tune of "Champagne Charlie," "Up in a Balloon," &c., &c., the people became shocked and objected. Their objections were, however, of no avail, and the "Army" started a meeting in the most crowded part of the ward, and held the fort nearly the whole day.

The result was that the Recorder charging them with disorderly conduct. The warrant was served yesterday, and Major Jonas Inman and Lieutenant Charles Wood were arrested. They were followed to the police court by the rest of the members of the "Army," including several women, two of whom were dressed in uniform. The female contingent fell upon their knees and uttered a fervent prayer, after which the Recorder thought it was time for him to begin his proceedings. The officers indignantly denied the charge of having been disorderly and declared that the vengeance of the Lord would fall heavily upon all who had been concerned in arresting them. The Recorder asked them whether they desired a trial, and they wanted to know who would have the hardihood to appear against the emissaries of the Lord. The Recorder replied that the city counsel would run that risk, and set the case down for hearing to-morrow afternoon. The Army then endeavored to convert some of the police, but not succeeding in making even the first impression, retreated in good order.

Shocking Accident. NEW YORK, June 8.—Dominick Jeffri, an Italian laborer, was struck in the back with a pickaxe in the hands of John Cannon, a fellow workman, and fatally injured yesterday. The men, who are recently arrived emigrants, were employed in making an excavation for gas pipes on Atlantic street, Brooklyn, when Jeffri stepped backward in a stooping position just as Cannon's pick was descending. The full force of the blow drove the sharp-pointed, heavy pick through the back, near the spine, for a depth of five or six inches, causing the blood to flow from a terribly lacerated wound. Jeffri was removed to Long Island College Hospital, where the doctors said he could not live.

A Robbery. KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 8.—Particulars are received of an attack on the Bank of Brookfield yesterday by six armed and mounted men, who rode into the town of Brookfield just as the bank was closing for the day, dismounted and covering the clerks with their revolvers robbed the safe of about $5,000. They kept up a rapid fusillade with their firearms as they rode through the place, overawing the town's people. The men were all masked.

The Jews. CONSTANTINOPLE, June 8.—A deputation representing over forty Russian and Roumanian Jewish communities have waited on General Wallace, earnestly urging him to exert his good offices with the Sultan to enable them to colonize Syria in groups of 200 to 500 or 1,000. The Jewish refugees here are starving and more are still coming. General Wallace has asked for instructions from Washington.

Fearless Balloonists. JACKSON, Mich., June 8.—A balloon, high in the air and drifting rapidly northward, was seen here about noon yesterday. The occupants of the car were performing evolutions on a pendant trapeze bar.

The Oregon Election. PORTLAND, Oregon, June 8.—The Legislature is evidently republican by a majority of two, and the returns from remote counties may increase it to six or seven. The telegraph lines to Eastern Oregon are still down; but the mail advices indicate a republican majority in that section will be smaller than usual, and that yesterday's figures on the majority for the State republican ticket are probably too low.

Foxhall Wins. LONDON, June 8.—Mr. J. R. Keene's 4-year-old best colt, Foxhall won the race for the gold cup to-day.

A Real Duel. As stated in yesterday's Gazette a duel was fought at New Orleans, that morning between Major E. A. Burke, of the Times Democrat and C. H. Parker, editor of the Picayune. Major Burke, feeling aggrieved at certain editorial articles which recently appeared in the Picayune, on Friday sent a peremptory challenge to Mr. Parker, editor of the Picayune to fight him a duel. Parker accepted, and his representatives, named Mississippi rifles as the weapons. Burke had the choice of distance, and his seconds, fixed it at 2 1/2 paces. Though no reasons were given by Burke's friends for naming so short a distance, it is generally understood they did so because of the reputation of Parker with the weapons selected. The distance named not being satisfactory, after a conference, regular duelling pistols were finally agreed upon as the weapons to be used, and the distance twenty paces. The ground selected was in St. Bernard parish, near the slaughter house. Parker's seconds won the toss for position. The principals took the positions assigned them, and at the word the weapons were discharged almost simultaneously, neither of the gentlemen being hurt. An effort was made by the seconds to adjust the difficulty, but Burke's friends held that their principal had been wronged, and asked if the wrong would be righted. Parker's friends admitted that Burke was a man of courage, and thought that was sufficient. Burke's friends claimed that the Picayune had criticized him too freely; that the criticisms were outside the pale of journalism. Parker's friends stated that he had a right to criticize any public official and still reserved that right.

As no compromise could be effected, the principals, took their positions for a second shot, which, like the first, was without result. Unsuccessful efforts, similar to those made after the first fire, followed the second round. After the third round a long parley ensued. Burke's friends demanded that Parker should acknowledge the bravery and personal and official integrity of Burke, which his friends claimed Parker had impugned in a series of articles in the Picayune. As Parker's friends declined to make a satisfactory disclaimer, no further effort at compromise was made, and the fourth and fifth rounds followed. At the fifth fire Major Burke was shot through both legs, about eight inches above the knee, and would have fallen, but he was caught by his seconds, who discovered that Burke had been wounded. They asked permission for their party to retire from the ground. This request was granted by the other side. The parties then separated, Burke being conveyed to his residence on Camp street. The physicians in attendance, who had examined Major Burke's wounds, and do not consider them dangerous.

A Card. I noticed an article in the Washington Evening Critic of Tuesday, to the effect that I had been discharged from the service of the Virginia Midland Railway, by Mr. Robt. Rudd, foreman of the Railroad, on account of my refusal to go out on the road because I was suffering severely from a felon on my finger, and was otherwise sick. I beg leave through the columns of the Gazette to deny that I have or ever had a felon on my finger, and deny also that Mr. Rudd said that I could "get off and stay off."

When I reported sick to Mr. Rudd, he told me it placed him in a very awkward position to have men report sick to him when he had the crew made up and the train ready to leave, and also to me that I had been sick so much lately that he could not rely on me, and I had better get another job, and supposing he meant what he said, perhaps I mentioned, unintentionally to some person, not with any view of casting any reflection on Mr. Rudd, the conversation that occurred between Mr. Rudd and myself, I had dreamed it would ever find its way to the newspapers. I beg leave to state that I have never been discharged and am on duty now.
