[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

The April monthly of the Farmers' Club of this section was held at the residence of E. Camp, on Thursday evening last. The highways being in fine order, and the elements tranquil and balmy, a good number were present. The topic before the club for consideration, "How to make a farm pay," elicited animated remarks from Geo. Auld, A. Martin and J. T. Haring, which waxed with such zest that the evening was too short to elaborate satisfactorily the crop of knowledge imbedded in the subject. It is therefore to be continued at the next meeting, when it is anticipated that after a month's deliberate maturity of the question, the participants will be well drilled with facts to substantiate broadcast their opinions. The residence of Geo. Auld was selected for the May meeting and Thursday evening, May 24th, as the time therefor. Critical committee, A. Martin, G. K. Pickett and J. T. Haring. In conclusion, the members mingled with the ladies present and a more sociable and festive entertainment of the kind has not been enjoyed in this realm since the winter equinox was so liberal with its cold waves and Aquarius lessened his waterfalls; several ladies and gentlemen were present from Falls Church and contributed much to the pleasures of the evening. Readings, recitation and music were woven in admirably. The theme of love broke out and brought forth impromptu jovial, sentimental and moral remarks. The crown prince of bachelorism in this suburban principality was unique in his peroration on love. Altogether, the menu of the evening's doings was of such pleasing nature that when time was called it was apparent that the spirit of the old refrain, "We went home till morning," was insidiously catching on when a very appreciative collation, under the neat supervision of the amiable young hostess, Miss Maud Camp, was served, and the happy throng sought their respective abodes.

The Ladies' Mite Society had a pleasant gathering at Mr. Camp's April 5th and its next meeting will be at the home of Miss Mary Cowling, Thursday evening, May 10th. The object of the society is of such meritorious character that many are induced to attend its gatherings, and cheer the efforts of the ladies in their good works of benevolence and charity.

The weather indicating "set fair," farmers are energetically putting the soil in order, seeding and planting, the work having been delayed by the seemingly tenacity of winter lingering in the lap of spring.

The recent frosts struck the low lands sharp, but the uplands escaped the nip. To what extent these nips have affected pomological prospects, is a mooted idea. On the lowlands, frost may have said to bloom, "Wilt thou," and she wilted.

It is said that several Washington people will commence their summer abode in this locality this week. The railway trains, morning and evening, are so arranged that transit between our station, "Bush Hill," and Washington is very convenient, and as the fine views and rural enjoyments of this section yield abundant happiness and pleasure, a lively influx from the city may be anticipated. City equines may not be feasted on muggump delicacies as they are not propagated in this district of "sacred soil."

The old occurring epidemic, "politics," does not rustle the rustic tranquility of this precinct. It is given the go-by, as its dividends do not manifest even an glittering generality worthy of time and labor. X.
