

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING SEPTEMBER 11.

CRUELTY AT SEA - Vice Consul Newton, at St. Paul de Leando, has transmitted to the Fifth Auditor of the Treasury the sworn statement of two deserters, Manning and Green, who arrived there, having run away from their vessel, the D. A. Small, Capt. Winslow. The men say that they sailed on a whaling cruise from Provincetown, Mass., September 27, 1888. Peter Collins, a green hand, had died, as they say, from inflammation of the bladder or kidneys, aggravated by neglect and want of medicine. He was ordered out of his bunk when hardly able to move and driven at the rope's end up the mast-head, where he vomited blood. Because Manning would not agree to say that his death resulted from disease entirely, the captain put Manning in irons and laid him across two casks in the hold with his arms hanging downwards and an iron blubber-hook weighing about ninety pounds attached to the manacles. He was left so for fourteen hours, and when released was unable to move his arms for two days after wards. Green was handcuffed and succeeded to the rigging by a lanyard passed around the shackle of the manacles. His feet, then two feet from the deck, were lashed together and hauled on, and he was stretched out in this position until he foamed at the mouth and became insensible. The men were not allowed to post letters, go ashore or communicate with a consul, nor did they receive money or liberty, as agreed in eight months.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.

THE GAZETTE, chronologically, is in the NINETIETH year of its existence, and is not only the oldest paper in the State, but, with few exceptions, in the country.

Notwithstanding the fulness of its years, it has kept, and will continue to keep, abreast of the times in all that pertains to a news paper, furnishing its readers daily with a perfect mirror of passing events, domestic and foreign.

Its facilities for obtaining news as they increase are taken advantage of and used for the benefit of its readers, who are thus kept thoroughly posted as to all that is of interest politically, socially, financially or commercially.

Special attention is given to matters concerning the State and its welfare, while its local columns contain all that is of the slightest interest to Alexandrians.

Its regular correspondence from Washington and Richmond are features of peculiar interest, as attested by the eagerness with which they are read and copied by other papers, while its editorial department, conducted with reference to the best interests of the city, State and country, will continue to advocate what is believed to be right, just, honest and patriotic.

With a view to the interest of merchants, farmers and all interested, its commercial columns are carefully edited and its market reports are acknowledged by all to be faithful and accurate.

Through all this section of the State, and in all parts of the country where Virginians have located, there will the GAZETTE generally be found, and thus as an advertising medium it has few equals outside the large cities.

In the household, counting room and workshop it is an ever-welcome visitor, acceptable alike to old and young, the grave and the gay.
