

ALEXANDRIA, VA. TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 6.

THE WASHINGTON POST SAYS: The record of General Thomas shows that there was never any halting on his part as to the direction he should take.

And this the Post says in the face of General Thomas's own letter of March 12, 1861, after some of the States had seceded, in which he says he will stay in the U. S. army until his State, Virginia, shall leave the Union.

SENATOR INGALLS recently said "the decalogue and the golden rule have no place in a political campaign." The democratic members of the Senate committee on elections were convinced that Senator Ingalls acts upon this idea when that committee investigated the charges of bribery and corruption against him several years ago.

GENERAL LONGSTREET says he joined the republican party in order that "the whites of the South should have control and not the blacks, and that our best men might be in office." Having now, after many years, realized the fact that the republican party has not only failed to accomplish his object, but is actively striving to defeat it, and tends to put the negroes and the worst white element in control, he thinks he will hereafter vote with the democrats.

THE FEW Americans who visit Spain unite in saying that almost everything they bought when there was imported into that country, and that nothing seemed to be the product of the people thereof. And yet of all the European countries Spain has the highest tariff.

THE LOWER house of the New York legislature has just passed a bill to abolish capital punishment. Judging from recent proceedings in New York such a bill may as well become a law in that State, as the most deliberate and cold blooded murderers there escape the punishment assigned them by the law of God, and by that of man, outside of New York.

IN VIEW of the fact that a U. S. marshal in Florida, with the countenance and support of the U. S. judge and district attorney of that State, wrote a letter to his deputy, telling him to summon none but republicans for a jury to try democrats, and that of a grand jury of twenty-three, twenty-two republicans were selected, the fairness of southern elections held under the proposed Hoar election law, and conducted by officers appointed by such men as those referred to, may be as well imagined as described.

A beautiful song, "The Baltimore," composed by Adam Itzel, jr., for the Baltimore Sun, has been dedicated by that journal to the new warship named after the monumental city. The new ship will soon visit Baltimore and receive the flags which the proprietors of the Sun have had made for, and will present to her.

FROM WASHINGTON. [Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6, 1890. The House committee on rules will meet to-morrow morning and formulate the action of the House republican caucus of yesterday limiting the time for the debate on the tariff bill to twelve days, four for general debate and eight for debate under the five minute rule. The report will be immediately submitted to the House and be immediately adopted. General debate on the bill will therefore commence to-morrow and last until Saturday night, the House in the meantime meeting at eleven a. m. On Monday the debate under the five minute rule will be commenced and will continue for eight days. The democrats will simply protest against the application of the gag law but will make no factious opposition. Indeed some of the wisest men among them think it would be better if the bill should be passed at once and without any attempt to improve it, upon the ground that the worse it is the better for their party, as the voters of the country by the operation of the bill would soon experience a realizing sense of the injurious effects of republican legislation. The following changes in the 4th class postoffices of Virginia were made to-day: East View, Floyd county, Susan A. Boyd, appointed postmaster, vice Mary J. Earles, resigned; Slatesville, Pittsylvania county, Jas. F. Motley, vice F. C. Slate, deceased; Springville, Tazewell county, G. A. Faulker, vice Martha A. Carter, resigned; Tucker's Hill, Westmoreland county, W. G. Askins, vice V. O. Dohy, resigned. Senator Barbour has been confined to his house since Saturday last in consequence of a severe cold which involved his throat. He is so much better to-day, however, that he expects to be in his seat in the Senate to-morrow if the weather be favorable. Representative Buchanan of the 7th Virginia district, being asked this morning why he and Mr. Edmunds voted against the copyright bill, while all the other democratic Congressmen from Virginia present voted for that bill, said he couldn't speak for Mr. Edmunds, but that for himself he would say the bill referred to was framed not merely for the protection of foreign authors, but so as to create a monopoly of the words, form in the interest of the publishers and in entire disregard of the rights or interests of book buyers. It practically prohibited the importation of a book copyrighted under it and left book buyers and readers at the mercy of authors and publishers. If authors would have justice done them they should be willing to do justice to others and not urge the passage of such a bill as the one voted on—which cared for no one's rights but the rights of authors and publishers. If, he said, those who are condemning others for voting against the bill would read it carefully they would see, probably, that those they condemned voted right. Representative O'Ferrall, of Virginia, who has been detained at home for two weeks by the expected arrival of a stranger here, has returned to this city and was in his seat in the House to-day, the stranger referred to having arrived safe and sound and under the most favorable conditions. The caucus committee of the House of Representatives which is engaged in the preparation of election bills providing for the extension of the supervisory system and for a national election law, held a meeting this morning, but as neither Mr. Lodge, who is preparing the national election bill, nor Mr. Rowell, who is preparing the bill for the extension of the supervisory system, was not ready to report, nothing was done. John J. Davis, election supervisor of New York city, was present and his views were sought concerning the operation of the supervisory system in that city. He gave it as his opinion that the law, as supplemented by the state laws, had proved beneficial and valuable. Representative Bottelle, of Maine, to-day introduced in the House a bill intended to repair the damage inflicted upon the State prohibition laws by the recent decision of the Supreme Court in the original package case. The bill is in the shape of an act which it is proposed to add to the interstate commerce act, and reads as follows: "That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to authorize the sale or traffic in intoxicating liquors in any State contrary to the laws thereof." J. M. Langston, the negro contestant for Mr. Venables' seat in the House, was at the Capitol to-day. He says he will be the republican candidate for Congress in his district next fall, and that he does not think he will have any effective opposition for the nomination. It is expected that the silver bill will come up in the Senate to-morrow and remain on the boards continuously until finally disposed of. VIRGINIA NEWS. Rev. T. W. Snyder, a well known Baptist minister, died suddenly at Blackstone yesterday. The following were among the pensions allowed yesterday: Virginia—Original, John Hardy, Norfolk; Jacob Sallor, Richmond; Thomas Sheldon, Alexandria. Original widows, etc., Minor of Richard Elliott, Norfolk. Increase, John T. Lawrence, Portsmouth; Mexican soldier, Wm. H. Parker, Richmond. At Petersburg yesterday between one and two hundred lumpsummers employed in the large tobacco factory of George Cameron, struck for more pay. They were receiving one dollar per hundred pounds. Mr. Cameron told the strikers that he was paying as any other factory for like work, and that he was unwilling to pay any more. An electric street car, loaded with passengers who were returning home from church in Danville on Sunday, became unmanageable, owing to the snapping of a brake rod, and came down the Main street grade with its heavy load of human freight at lightning speed. Most of the passengers jumped off without injury, but Mrs. Peter C. Penn, the wife of a prominent tobacconist, in attempting to jump fell violently to the pavement and was seriously injured, her head being badly gashed and the skull injured. A shocking accident occurred Sunday night on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad within the corporate limits of Lynchburg. Brakeman R. H. Swartz fell to the track under the passing cars with his lamp in his hand. His head and one arm were entirely severed from the body. The cars were moving on a high plane, and the head of the unfortunate man rolled down the thirty foot embankment to near the river's edge, while the body and severed arm remained on the track. Swartz was twenty-four years old, and had only been married three weeks to a young woman of Clifton Forge. The Lee Statue. The case containing the statue of General Robert E. Lee arrived in Richmond yesterday evening on Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock the statue will be removed to the site of the monument. It will be placed upon four heavy wagons, to each of which will be attached two ropes about two hundred feet long. The veterans will man one of these, the sons of veterans another, citizens another, and another is reserved for the ladies, some of whom have signified their desire to assist in the removal. The statue will probably be headed by a brass band. Some persons have expressed a willingness to pay a hundred or more dollars for the plain boards in which the statue is boxed. Their idea is to carve this timber into canes and other mementoes of the occasion, which they would probably expect to find ready sale for on the day of the unveiling of the statue. END OF THE CLUB FORMED BY GROVER CLEVELAND.—Despite many attempts to avert it, the famous City Club of Buffalo, N. Y., is at last a thing of the past, the furniture and belongings of the club having been sold at auction last week. Costly rugs, fine pictures, bronzes, plate, and pool room furniture brought fair prices, but the club's library was sold for a mere song. George W. Hayward bought the club's Bible, which was in excellent condition. Mr. Hayward presented the Bible to the club when it was formed, and placed in it a $10 bill. Just one year later Mr. Hayward, who had retained a memorandum of the part of the book where he had deposited the money, opened the volume with great ceremony and found that he had put his trust in a safe place, for the bill was untouched. Mr. Hayward bid the Bible up to $2. The City Club was organized about twelve years ago by Grover Cleveland and many lawyers and business men. A WOODEN LEG ON FIRE.—A curious accident recently happened to a veteran of the late war named Henry Wills, of Baiting Hollow, L. I. He has a wooden leg which caught fire while he was engaged in lighting a fire in the woods near his home. The "limb" was partly burned off before he discovered it. His clothing took fire and his hands were badly burned quenching the flames.

Gambling in the County. To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette: An article in last Friday's GAZETTE regarding Mr. H. C. Gray's attempt to commit suicide at the south end of the Long bridge on Monday night, the 28th ult., and your comments that "the county authorities are determined to put a stop to gambling in the county," &c., has suggested the idea to my mind that it is about time the aforesaid county authorities were attempting to do something. They surely must have known of the nefarious character of the business carried on at Jackson City and that the laws of the State were being systematically evaded and openly set at defiance. It seems to me that an investigation of these officials should be the first thing in order, and if found incompetent or unwilling to fulfill their duties they should be removed and a new set of officers appointed who will not shirk the responsibilities the laws impose upon them. Respectfully, F. M. R. Four-Mile Run, Alex. co., Va., May 5.

ASLEEP WITH A SUICIDE.—The inmates of a boarding-house at Williamsburg, L. I., were startled at one o'clock yesterday morning by a pistol shot, followed by a woman's screams. The cries came from Mrs. Horatio H. Hammel, who, with her husband, occupied the back parlor on the first floor. Her husband was stretched on the bed in his night clothes with a bullet wound in his right temple and a smoking .38 calibre revolver at his side. He had thus committed suicide while his wife slept beside him, because she had repeatedly upbraided him for intimacy with another woman who had trice been a widow.

PEACE ON A WAR FOOTING.—France and Germany maintain vast standing armies on a constant war footing. The total cost of the French army, according to the "Statesman's Year Book," is $111,343,000. The total cost of the German army is $91,726,203. The republican House of Representatives has passed pension bills for $146,000,000 already and proposes more yet. Perhaps the republican Senate will think of these things. —N. Y. Herald.

Course Upon a Court. A most sensational scene occurred in the Criminal Court room in Cincinnati yesterday. Joseph Morris, 63 years old, was on trial for an attempted criminal assault on a seven-year-old girl. He had vehemently protested his innocence, but the jury found him guilty, and Judge Schroder, without leaving the Bench, sentenced him to fifteen years in the penitentiary. As the Court pronounced the sentence Morris sprang to his feet, and bringing both his clenched fists down upon the Judge's desk, cursed him with vehement rage. Such a flow of language was perhaps never heard in the room before. With upraised hands he prayed heaven to rot the bones of judge and jury, and that they might die in sight of hell. Judge, bailiffs and jurors at a stand with the awful imprecations. Morris half turned and began to curse the audience, when suddenly his face turned black, he gasped, clutched at his throat, and, with a huge, fell unconscious at the Judge's feet. He was removed, and last night was dangerously ill.

Mrs. John Penn became agitated at her 10-year-old son yesterday at Hantdale, Pa., because he did not bring her some wood as told, and shot him.

Senator Beck's Funeral. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6, 1890.—The remains of Senator Beck, previous to being carried into the Senate chamber, were placed on stands in the marble room, where they were viewed by all who chose to look at them. The casket was covered with black cloth and bore a silver plate with the words "James Burnie Beck, born Feb. 13, 1822, died May 3, 1890." On the casket lay a bunch of roses from Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Breckinridge, and the glass through which the face and bust of the deceased were visible, was wreathed with lilies of the valley. The features of the late Senator were unchanged and had a very natural and lifelike look. A number of floral tributes were brought to the Senate chamber and displayed on the clerk's desk. Among them was a wreath of lilies and roses from President and Mrs. Harrison. The Senate galleries were not filled at 12 o'clock when the Senate was called to order. The Senators seated themselves at the left of the presiding officer's desk. After the members of the House had entered the Chamber and taken seats on the opposite side, the members of the U. S. Supreme Court and the diplomatic corps entered, and after them the President and his Cabinet. Soon after the casket was borne to it. It was preceded by Chaplain Butler and ex-Chaplain Bullock, the Senate and House committees, wearing white robes with black rosettes, and the honorary pallbearers, wearing black sashes fastened with white rosettes. Following the casket came Mrs. Goodloe, Senator Beck's daughter, and Major Goodloe, her husband, and friends of the family, who were seated at the left of the casket opposite the President and his Cabinet. As the procession moved down the aisle Chaplain Butler read from the burial service beginning, "I am the resurrection and the life." After all had been seated ex-Chaplain Bullock read the 9th Psalm. He then offered prayer, in which he spoke of the hearts that were filled with sorrow in performing the last end of kindly affection towards the beloved friend whose body lay in the coffin that was soon to be borne away to be buried in his own loved State of Kentucky. Rev. Dr. Butler then offered prayer. This closed the ceremonies. A procession was then formed which proceeded to the 6th street depot, where a special train was awaiting, on which the remains and the funeral escort started for the dead Senator's home in Kentucky.

Foreign News. BERLIN, May 6.—The Reichstag was opened by the Emperor to-day. In his opening address his majesty declared that the efforts to maintain the peace of Europe will increase the pacific policy of the empire. Germany, the Emperor says, recognizes that it is her duty to protect peace by cultivating alliances for purposes of defence and also by perfecting her armaments, for which purpose a new military credit will be asked. The Emperor then announced that measures will be presented for improving the condition of the workmen, by organizing courts of arbitration for the settlement of disputes between employers and employed.

LONDON, May 5.—An official statement was issued to-day showing that the revenues of the United Kingdom for the year ending March 31 were £89,304,316, and the expenditures £86,083,314.

EDINBURGH, May 6.—The authorities of Edinburgh have resolved to confer the freedom of the city upon Mr. Henry M. Stanley.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 6.—About 200 witnesses have testified before the Clayton-Breckinridge investigating committee, the majority of them being negroes. A sensation occurred about eight o'clock last evening, when Hon. Carroll Armstrong arose and addressed the committee as follows: "Mr. Chairman, some foul charges have been made against the people of Morrilton, and Conway counties by the mouthpiece of Powell Clayton, and I insist that witnesses from among the good people of Conway county be heard to refute the charges that have been made by the infamous and vile slanderer." No sooner had Mr. Armstrong uttered these words than Judge McClure sprang from his seat and struck the attorney in the face. Everybody was on his feet. Colonel W. H. Clayton reached for his pistol. Friends caught hold of Mr. Armstrong who was struggling desperately to get at the Judge to resent the blow, and he was led out of the room, and quiet being restored the investigation proceeded without further interruption.

Knights Templar. BALTIMORE, May 6.—With waving plumes and prancing steeds and flunting banners, the Sir Knights assembled here to-day in great force to unite in a grand parade and review in honor of the centenary of Maryland Commandery Knights Templars. Rain came down very heavily the early forenoon, followed by annoying showers with ever threatening skies. The committee of arrangements held a conclave, but up to noon had not announced an abandonment of the parade.

Soon after noon there were indications that the rain was about to cease, and it was decided to have the parade. The line had scarcely begun to move, however, when a penetrating rain commenced and continued almost until the last man of the marching knights had entered Harris' Academy of Music.

The programme arranged for the Academy of Music was carried out in its entirety, and the company later lunched together. In the evening there will be a grand hop.

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—A destructive cyclone visited the eastern portion of Cook county, Texas, after five o'clock Sunday evening. At Granbury three persons were killed and four seriously hurt and may die. At Fall Creek several persons were fatally hurt, houses wrecked and the damage to outbuildings, fences, crops and timber is very great. At the little town of Acton four persons were killed and a number seriously injured, while many houses were demolished. At Robinson eight persons were killed, five of whom belonged to the family Mr. George Griffin. A heavy hailstorm fell throughout the section, doing immense damage to crops. The country from Fulton down is flooded, and the situation is distressing. Thousands of heads of cattle and hogs have been drowned. Fortunately there has been no loss of life though the damage to property is immense. Many families who were driven from their homes left them standing in three and four feet of water.

The Panama Canal. PARIS, May 6.—The commission sent out to investigate the condition of the Panama canal estimates that it would cost 900,000,000 francs to complete the canal on the lock system. The report further says that it would take between 7 and 8 years to complete the canal. The material of the old company and the work already performed are valued by the commissioners at 450,000,000 francs.

The Cotton Exchange building has been insured for 5 years, the rate being one fifth of one per cent. per annum.

The building is to be a small frame, and when completed it will be the first church in Logan county, the home of the famous H. Field and B. B. Bledsoe. The county is 600 square miles in area and contains only 15,000 people, but the moonshiners and other lawless elements have been so strong for years that no church has sent ministers into the region.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL. NEW YORK, May 6.—The stock market opened extremely active and strong this morning, first prices being generally from 1/8 to 3/8 per cent. higher than last night's figures. The offerings in the early trading, however, were very large, and the pressure to sell forced quotations of small fractions as a rule, though the early losses were generally made up again later. The business done was more evenly distributed among the active stocks, and at 11 o'clock the market was active and strong, but at slight changes from the opening prices.
